San Antonio visitors arrived this morning a little late but full of enthusiasm. However none were heard to shout "Hurrah for Dan Moody!"

If "Ma" had written that letter to Amon Carter a few days earlier we would have tried to get one of those now-famous pint-size canes for exhibition at the Valley Fair.

The press associations and some newspapers "laid off" that letter for a time but Carter announced that he was printing it in full in his own paper so it was "released" to all.

The vaudeville in Austin seems to be lagging almost as much as the Mitchell trial but probably the performers are just hesitating to recover breath.

Now that Jim is doing his talking at long distance we are awaiting the Sunday eastern newspapers to read what he has to say. Last week he refused to meet Texas newspapermen but granted a royal interview to New York men.

What the county auditor of Cameron County has to do with a special election for representative isn't exactly clear but formal announcement from Austin may get to Judge Dancy, the proper election official, soon.
