

A. C. Hills, 8 1/2 S. Clark (and no breakfast yet), Saturday Aug. 2, 1879.

My dear Sallie:

I am tired waiting for breakfast, and write you a few lines. We generally breakfast about 9 o'clock and not much there. But there are good people and I must not complain.

We have had seventeen additions to date - 13 baptised - I have never found, in the way of eating, so pretty on any tour. I seldom you think I have eating on the brain.

We have good audiances and good interest.
I thank our Heavenly Father for His goodness to me. My preaching is generally acceptable. I hardly know what to say about the next place for you to address me. Your letter to Gabriel was forwarded here. Who can be the author of that piece of poetry?
Did I tell you to write to me at Caldwell, Barber Co.? I suppose I shall be there long enough to get a letter. We expect to close the meeting here Sunday night. I rec^d I shall go to Austin Monday and leave at the City, and Tuesday leave the cars for Rockdale, where I will get some company to Caldwell.

Friday or Saturday before the 3^d L. W.
I expect to be at Ennis, and go out to Dr. Jennings. You may address a letter to me at Ennis about that time, write Monday or Tuesday after 2^d L. W.

We are through with the fact, and will now hurry to be in time for baptizing. If Dr. Witt has had nothing done to the mill, tell father to please have it fixed.

Love to all.

A. C. Clark.
