

Brooklodge, Aug. 24, 1885.

My dear Sallie,

When I wrote you from Seymour I did not expect to hear from you till today. But Sat. just as I had eaten dinner Bro. Martiny drove up after me. He had driven all night and till noon to get to me - 80 miles. So I left my meeting unfinished at Seymour, we started about 2 o'clock to come 80 miles in time to begin meeting yesterday. He drove to Threshington 85 miles for supper, then drove all night and reached here just at daylight. I lay down and slept about two hours. We had a large crowd yesterday and an immense one last night. There additions last night. I am feeling pretty well this morning.

Have to preach under an arbor, and don't know how long I can hold up at it.

I am getting a little better sick. The time passes slowly.

I left my meeting for bro. Frutkin and bro.

Bedford to finish at Seymour.

I was very sorry to leave I am sure there would have been several other additions.

We were getting all the people nearby in town to come out to our meeting.

May the dear Father bless you all.
