Dec 10 -

My Dear Addison

We had quite a cool, rainy spell Saturday night and Sunday and was quite muddy yesterday. It wasn't freezing. But there was a big frost. Yesterday morning yesterday was a nice still day. Just cool enough to have a little fire all day. There is a strong South wind. Think it will blow up more rain. Mary came back Saturday. She stopped at the College. It was so muddy she did not get down here until yesterday evening. She went home last night. She said her papa had sold the place at Hoop Springs to his partner for fifteen hundred dollars. He will ship his cattle this month. Charley will go with them.

That young man that was sent to the Hospital
died Sunday. Mr. Draper who was here at school a year or two ago died Sunday at his home. Clovis Wood was here yesterday. I have not heard today. We had letters from the Austin people this morning. They were all well. Haven't heard from Sister since you left.

Miss Jessie Warner was here yesterday to see you.
I don't know how they are getting along at the Central bank - see Co. Shelders hand to learn. I get along very well with the milking, don't worry about the cows.
I don't mind milking, and you know I don't get cold very easy. The white cow is giving about as much as she did before she left.
I will get along with them.
I send Arthur letter. I

Would send the money I have but I might need some before you can send it. I have had to use most of the latter money. There has been so many calls for
it. The Machine. Piano part of Roy's suit - and various other things. I want to save up a few dollars. So if you need any clothes, I can get them. And Roy needs some shoes and a few other things.

It was bad about Mrs
Dahmer getting killed.
We are anxious to know how you are going to like that Country. What it be rather inconvenient to room at one place and eat at another. I hope you will be comfortable situated.

This is the third letter we have sent - this week and we must get one off to Corlie tomorrow.
I fear we won't do this until every week. Good bye my dear business Sister - to the
I remain -
