

WILLIAM P. COLE, JR.
JUDGE

United States Customs Court

201 VARICK STREET
New York 14, N. Y.

May 3, 1945.

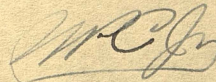

Mr. Emin G. Carter,
Fort Worth,
Texas.

Dear Mr. Carter:

I overlooked another memorandum in my pocket to the effect that the last time Captain Bill Bond, whom I mentioned in my letter mailed this morning, saw your son was on January 22, 1945, in a little town five kilometers north of Exin, Germany, just south of Danzig. It was on that date that Bond escaped.

I don't know whether this is of importance, but I want you to have it just the same.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM P. COLE, JR.
