Dear Mrs. Deakins:

I thought Mr. Carter might not have seen this picture from the New York Times, so I am sending it along, hoping you will hold it for him until he returns and inform him of the source.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

AMON CARTER'S SON FREED, MEETS FATHER

WITH THE UNITED STATES EIGHTY-THIRD DIVISION, Germany, May 5 (AP)—Lieut. Amon G. Carter Jr., a prisoner of the Germans since Faid Pass, Tunisia, more than two years ago, was reunited here today with his father, publisher of The Fort Worth (Tex.) Star-Telegram. The elder Carter is making a tour of the front after visiting atrocity scenes.

Lieutenant Carter's first words were, "Here I am, Dad." He promptly started figuring out how to get his buddies out of Luckenwalde prison, from which he was liberated by a special patrol sent to get him in time for the reunion.

Overcoming visible embarrassment before the party of Army personnel and press representatives, he kept saying not only to his father but to the general officers present: "We've got to go back and get those other fellows. They're worried about the Russian-German fights going on all around them and we've got to get them." He was reassured that arrangements were being made to evacuate all Luckenwalde prisoners. His father came to Europe with a group of American editors and publishers to view German atrocities at first hand.

Lieutenant Carter said the worst treatment he had received since his capture came at the hands of Italians during the early phases of the war. After being seized at Faid Pass he was flown to Italy in a German JU-52 and the formation was among those attacked regularly by American fighter planes. From Italy he was taken to Germany, then to Poland, back to Berlin, and finally to Luckenwalde.

Coventry Plans Unity Chapel

LONDON, May 5 (AP)—A special chapel of unity, where members of the free churches and Anglicans can worship together, will be a feature of the reconstructed Coventry Cathedral, it was disclosed today. The new edifice will be constructed of rose-red stone, around the old spire and apse that still stand.

still trying to get away from the Russian zone into ours.

German towns and villages in the Russian rear were hushed. We saw hardly any Germans on the streets, only Red Army soldiers. Occasionally we would see a German or two standing at a door, watching what he had never dreamed in 1941 could happen—Russian soldiers occupying his town—or worried German faces at windows. The Germans, who may have some hint of what the Germans did in Poland, White Russia and the Ukraine, have an unholy fear of the Russians.

The correspondent took advantage today of the meeting with Marshal Koneff to ask permission to go to Berlin, a city that any of the armies of the Twelfth Army Group have taken last month. We were unsuccessful.

Mrs. Churchill Back in Moscow

MOSCOW, May 5 (AP)—Mrs. Winston Churchill, wife of Britain's Prime Minister, returned today from Kursk on her tour of inspection of Red Cross facilities in the Soviet Union. Mrs. Zhemchuzhina Molotoff, wife of the Soviet Foreign Commissar, was among those who met her.
