TCU Daily Skiff

Friday, January 29, 1993

Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Texas

90th Year, No. 62

Cowboys fans await 'super' game

Cheerleader gets chance to experience her dream

By GINGER RICHARDSON TCU Daily Skiff

When Super Bowl XXVII takes place on Sunday, Jan. 31, most people will be glued to their television sets, wishing they were there. One TCU student, however, will actually be in attendance — not as a spectator, but as a Kirsten Krueger, a senior radio-TV-film major has been a member of the Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders for the past three years.

"I tried out for the line during the '90-'91

season, and I was so excited about making the team, that I didn't even consider the possibility of going to the Super Bowl," Krueger said. "Now I am so excited. The whole thing has just been incredible — it's just like a

Despite all the glamour and celebrity treatment that goes along with the job, Krueger said being a cheerleader for the Cowboys is a lot of hard work.

"The cheerleaders practice four-to-five see Chance, page 8

Sophomore writes song to honor Dallas Cowboys

By CHRIS NEWTON TCU Daily Skiff

The Dallas Cowboys are back on top and, thanks to one dedicated fan, they have a new anthem that highlights their long-awaited

Angi Anderson, a sophomore pre-major and up-and-coming country western star, is paying tribute to the 'Boys in an unusual manner. Her song, "America's Team," has recently become a local hit.

"I wrote it right after the Cowboys beat the '49ers," Anderson said. "It's just my way of supporting them."

The song is being played frequently on major country music stations, such as 105.3 FM, 99.5 FM and 96.3 FM. It's even being played by Cowboys merchandise stands in local department stores like Foley's. The country music bar Billy Bob's Texas also requested that Anderson perform her song during a radio promotional party. "Performing at Billy Bob's was a great

see Song, page 8

Dedication caps ranch building

By R. BRIAN SASSER TCU Daily Skiff

TCU will dedicate the new Winthrop Rockefeller Building for Ranch Management Saturday at 10

The building is named for the late Winthrop P. Rockefeller Sr., governor of Arkansas from 1967-70, and Winthrop P. Rockefeller Jr., a 1974 ranch management graduate and TCU trustee.

Rockefeller Jr. began the campaign for donations for the building by giving a challenge gift worth more than $1 million from the Winthrop Rockefeller Charitable trust. In addition, more than $2.5 million was raised and used to pay for the building, an endowment for scholarship programs and four professorships.

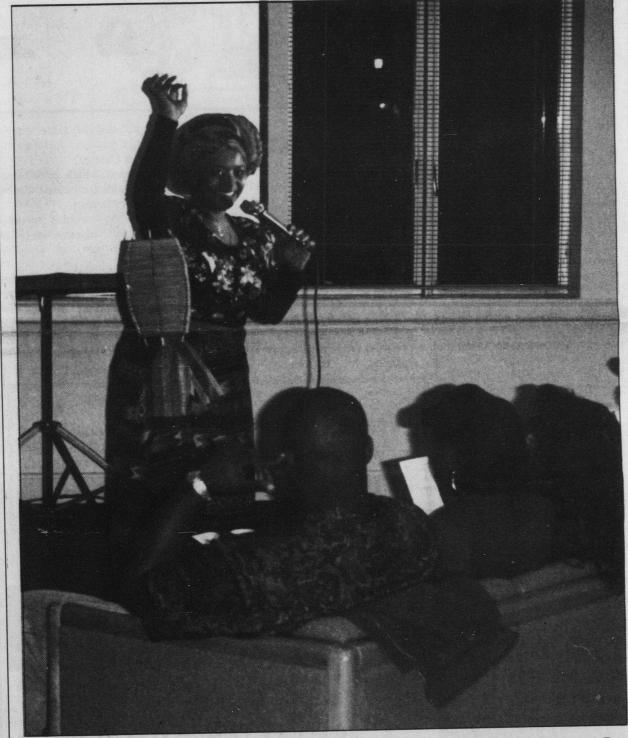

The Rockefeller building, which is almost twice the size of the former building, has a state-of-the-art classroom, resource room and student

The classroom has individual desk areas which are wired for computers that are networked to the library and computer mainframe. It also has a large rear-projection screen.

The student lounge contains a market news screen which allows students to see current livestock and commodity quotes that are used in marketing projects.

The ranch management program, which began in 1956, is a practical program designed to prepare men and women to manage ranches and other resources profitably. The program has served as a model for other ranch programs in the United States

see Ranch, page 2

TCU Daily Skiff/ Catherine Fuss

Kijana Wiseman, a singer and storyteller of African and African-American tales, performed in the Student Center Wednesday night.

Weapon violations increase on campus

By JOE LATTANZI TCU Daily Skiff

The seizure of firearms and the number of arrests for possession of illegal weapons on campus property at some north central Texas colleges has increased since 1990, according to campus police records.

However, most of the arrests and seizures involved non-students like trespassers, persons attending campus functions and student parties and persons found with weapons during the enforcement of traffic regulations, campus police officials said.

Student-related violations are due to a lack of knowledge of laws prohibiting weapons on school property, the officials added.

"All of our violations have been students who bring firearms on campus during hunting season," said Tom McGaha, assistant chief of the TCU Campus Police. "They just don't realize that bringing prohibited weapons on campus property violates state law and the student code of conduct."

The TCU Campus Police recorded eight firearm violations during 1992. Four of the violations occurred during October, shortly after the start of hunting season.

In 1991, police seized six firearms and two illegal knives, and one prohibited weapon in 1990, according to records.

In contrast, the University of Texas at Arlington recorded a total of 38 prohibited weapon violations in 1992. The police confiscated weapons such as pistols, rifles, shotguns, knives, daggers and clubs.

"The numbers look like a lot, but they aren't an accurate reflection of our situation," said Officer Tom McCarthy, UTA Campus Police training officer. "A major public road runs through the middle of campus, and, as a state university, we have the authority to enforce traffic regulations on public roads."

McCarthy said the majority of weapon violations happen during traffic stops. The officers usually sees the weapon in plain view, such as on a gun rack or lying on the car seat, he said.

Only eight of the 38 weapon violations involved UTA students, according to police records. The remainder of the violations occurred during the enforcement of traffic regulations, or involved non-students.

"The student violations were students bringing guns on campus during hunting season," McCarthy said. "They just weren't aware that it's a violation of state law."

According to the records, 22 people were arrested during 1991 for weapon violations, of which seven involved the possession of firearms. Eleven people were arrested during 1990 for weapon violations.

Weapon violations at the University of North Texas in Denton were similar to those at other north central Texas campuses, said Cpl. Jim Coffee, a UNT Campus Police crime prevention officer.

"Most of our weapon violations happen at student parties and campus functions," Coffee said. "Invariably, it's some non-student who brought a gun or some other weapon on campus. We generally don't have a problem with our students since we emphasize at freshman orientation

see Guns, page 2

Ceremony inspires prospective nurses Student Nursing Association, is

By NATALIE GARDNER TCU Daily Skiff

Harris College of Nursing will hold its annual dedication ceremony at 7 p.m. Saturday, in the Student Center Ballroom.

The dedication, sponsored by the Student Nursing Association, is for students who have completed their first semester of nursing classes.

The Harris College of Nursing dedication has been around for at least 35 years said Marinda Allender, professor at Harris College. The dedication was developed by Lucy Harris Linn, the first Dean of Harris

During the ceremony, Patricia Scearse, dean of Harris College, will present each nursing student with a pin shaped like the old nursing caps.

The dedication ceremony begins with a candle-lighting ceremony. Each student carries a ceramic lamp called a Nightingale lamp. The students light their lamps from a senior's lamp. Tracye Franks, president of the nurse at Harris Methodist Hospital.

reciting the innovation and the Nightingale pledge. The Nightingale pledge was formulated by a committee headed by Lystra Gretter, a registered nurse, in Four senior nursing majors involved with the ceremony are Ted Cross, Shana Davis, Jennifer Collins, and Dedera Jacobs. "Nursing majors spend lots of hours at the hospital and studying, said Franks. "We will spend nine hours at school and 14 more at the

Franks said the ceremony is a good way to start out determined in the

"The ceremony is very touching and moving," said Ted Cross, vice president of the Student Nursing Association. "The candle-lighting is to welcome them to the future and take the pledge."

The keynote speaker for the night will be Harriet Hoot, a critical care

INDEX

Super Bowl preview Read about the upcoming Cowboys-Bills matchup. Page 5

Stockshow happenings Ins and outs of the stockshow, from dancing to fashion.

Pages 6 & 7

METROPLEX

Today's weather will be rainy with possible sleet and temperatures in the

The weekend will be cold with temperatures in the 30s and 40s.

Memorial service honors student

Family, friends gather to pay tribute to Dana Ivancevich

By KRISTI WRIGHT TCU Daily Skiff

Almost 160 friends and family members remembered the jovial life of Dana Louise Ivancevich Thursday afternoon in Robert Carr Chapel. "Dana was a woman filled with life and vitality that touched all who knew her in special ways," said Suzanne Hinkle, a senior physical education major.

Ivancevich, 21, a senior child studies major from Spring, Texas, died Dec. 23 as a result of complications following routine surgery on Dec.

Doctors are still unable to determine the exact cause of Ivancevich's death, said Erin Manglesdorf, a junior child studies major. The memorial service was an opportunity to "give thanks to God for Dana's life" despite the shock of her sudden death, said the Rev. John

Three of Ivancevich's close friends, Hinkle, Lee Stinchcomb and Billie Sue Anderson, shared their memories of her. Each reflected on Ivancevich's zest for life and the selfless concern she held for her friends and for children.

Ivancevich had an "endless abundance of energy," said Stinchcomb, a senior history and health education

"I could never laugh as loud or be as enthusiastic as her, no matter how hard I tried," she said. "Even running errands was an adventure with Dana." Ivancevich expressed her vibrant and caring personality in the classroom as well.

"Dana took every opportunity to give her extra 110 percent," said Bilie Sue Anderson, assistant professor of physical education. Ivancevich possessed an "extra spark and enthusiasm that added to my classroom," Anderson said. "I knew she would become a quality teacher."

Ivancevich hoped to teach kindergarten after graduating.

She had a "love for small people" and for teaching that she attributed to her father's influence, Hinkle said. "Dana said her father gave her the gift of teaching and her mother taught her lessons in life," she said. Ivancevich's parents, John and

Margaret Ivancevich of Spring, Texas, attended the memorial ser-

Ivancevich placed the needs of-her friends before her own.

"Dana's friendship was a blessing and a gift," Hinkle said.

Friends also reflected on how

Hinkle wants to remember Ivancevich by passing her qualities of humor, thoughtfulness and sincerity to others, she said.

Ivancevich's sorority, Kappa Alpha Theta, also honored her memory by dedicating an annual award to be given in Ivancevich's memory. This year the award went to Jennifer Heartfield, a sophomore business

The TCU Gamma Psi chapter gives the Pansy Memorial Award to a TCU Theta who "works very hard for the chapter but does not always get recognized for her efforts," Manglesdorf said. "The person also needs to be thoughtful and always doing something for others-just like

Jarvis gets new residence director

Friday, January 29, 1993

By JENNIFER VOKOLEK TCU Daily Skiff

When life changes, it can change in a heartbeat.

Holly Waldmann Cole, 22, recently found out just how quickly changes occur.

Cole, a recent TCU graduate, is newly married and living under a new roof as Jarvis Hall's new hall director.

"We anticipated problems being so close in age to the residents," Cole said, "but there haven't been any."

"This is a very mature hall," said Cole's husband David, a Brite Divinity School student. "A mutual respect for her title and who Holly is exists."

Cole received a bachelor's degree in psychology in May and is now working on her master's degree in university counseling at the University of North Texas.

"I started here as a business major," she said, "but accounting changed my mind."

Finding a new major took a while, and Cole said she felt lost from her sophomore year until she discovered psychology.

Cole was involved in many campus organizations while she was an undergraduate, she said. She was active in Psi Chi, the psychology honor society; Phi Alpha Theta, the history honor society; Alpha Phi Omega; and Student Foundation.

As a former resident assistant in both Brachman and Jarvis Halls, Cole said she had an advantage in obtaining the position of hall direc-

"Tami Goos and I were close," she said. "So I knew the position was opening when she left to work with a university drug and alcohol program in Kansas. It just happened to work Being back on campus is the best part about being hall director, Cole said. She enjoys interacting with her residents and watching their lives develop, she said.

"Holly just knows everybody," her husband said. "It's unbelievable. She's definitely a people person."

The newlyweds have been able to balance life between work and home although both lives occur under one roof, she said.

"Tami was married, so the transition for the residents was easy," Cole

The girls in Jarvis Hall made fast friends with the couple, making any possibly awkward situations disappear, her husband said.

"I like having her back," said Kar-

Holly Waldmann Cole

rie Huzenlaub, a junior history major and Jarvis Hall resident.

"I knew her when she was an RA," Huzenlaub said. "It's nice to have someone you don't have to break in." Her new position isn't the only commitment she has, Cole said.

An interest in art that took off during a summer job at Disney World painting props for EuroDisney has flourished into a business venture,

"My husband and I both had a booth during the crafts fair before Christmas," Cole said.

All of the new adventures make Cole thankful that, for a while, she can focus on her master's program before adjusting to a new job as a counselor with clients, she said.

Insanity Fair

Hemlock

by Andy Grieser

by Joe Barnes

Calvin and Hobbes

by Bill Watterson

by JOYCE JILLSON

CREATOR'S SYNDICATE, INC. AQUARIUS(Jan. 20-Feb.18). Past makes sense if you consider it preparation for the future; think about it. Ready or not, guests are coming; get the house spiffed up. You've fought for PISCES(Feb. 19-March 20). Extend your influence; meet at least one new person today. Making an exception to the children's usual rule doesn't hurt, just this once. Invite only the cheerful into your inner circle. ARIES(March 21-April 19). Bill-paying leaves you congratulating your-self on how you've learned to keep expenses in check. Mate wants to return to school; it's a good idea. Go ahead and make a decision about home TAURUS(April 20-May 20). Social life is bright; others ask your opinion. and they get sensible answers. Lots of energy helps carry you through daily tasks, where you've set big goals, and into evening fun, where you shine. GEMINI(May 21-June 21). This is a super time to take control of the bank account. Give the closet a cleaning, too. Relatives are coming to visit soon. Love with a Libran turns into a creative partnership. Let a child teach you a

LEO(July 23- Aug. 22). Take over and get home tasks completed. News from those who may be able to offer an educational opportunity. Follow the trend in evening activities. Discipline is satisfying, and sets good example.

VIRGO(Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Efforts of a pal on your behalf are very helpful. More new work assignments help pay the bills. Experience counts in competitive matters. Get some exercise, and do a favor for a relative.

LIBRA(Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Let mate be the decision maker. Rewards for past efforts come at last. Exciting longdistance news brings unscheduled visit or trip. Avoid possessiveness with loved ones; let them learn for them-

SCORPIO(Oct. 24-Nov. 21). A secret stash of cash should be kept; it's your getaway money. Do-it-yourself repairs work out better then you expect. Diaries and other solitary pursuits help you regain perspective.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov. 22-Dec. 21).

Laughs are abundant, and so is love. Enjoy new relationships and lots of special treatment from a certain someone. Fitness comes naturally. Jealousy can flare up if you're too friendly.

CAPRICORN(Dec. 22-Jan. 19).

Give a friend your honest opinion. Those you most care about come first tonight. Job of hosting in-laws may take patience, but mate's gratitude makes it more than worthwhile. Ask a Libran's advice.

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST: Tonight is special for strengthening a love relationship, increasing and deepening understanding. When starting a new relationship tonight, have a long get-acquainted talk. You can discover that you have more in common with a good friend than you ever knew, and warm iriendsi by the end of a lovely evening. Saturday and Sunday are right for getting that weapons of any kind will not be tolerated on campus."

Guns/ from page 1

Coffee said weapon violations have gone up, but not "drastically."

According to UNT Campus Police records, seven weapon violations were recorded by university officials during 1992, two during 1991 and two during 1990.

"As far as weapon violations, we're fortunate because we're a tran-tions of state law.

County Junior College. The manner in which prohibited weapon violations are treated varies sient college," said Bill Lace, director of college relations for Tarrant

from campus to campus. Campus police arrest all persons possessing illegal weapons on UTA property, charge them with a violation of state law. Other area universities handle the matter administratively because most student violations are usually an oversight, not deliberate viola-

"At TCU, we don't charge the students, but we confiscate the weapons," McGaha said.

The confiscated weapons are released to their student owners only with the permission of the dean of students, McGaha said.

According to state law, possession of firearm, explosive weapon or illegal knife on the premises of an educational institution is a third degree felony punishable by a term in state prison of not more than 10 years or less than two years and a fine of not more than $5,000.

Ranch/page 1

and other countries.

The nine-month program is open to only 35 students and combines classroom study with field trips that observe ranches, feed yards, markets and resource facilities. Many of the class members are older students. Twelve of the class members are over 25 years old.

Program director John L. Merrill said that the increasing number of older students is a continuing trend in the ranch management program.

"A lot of these students have been out working for several years and say they have done as much as they can without knowing more," Merrill

WEST

Serving Italian Food & Wine Serving fresh Buffalo, Venison, Quail, Ostrich, Veal, Lamb & Fish Lunch & Dinner Reservations: 738-1700 5139 Camp Bowie • Fort Worth, Texas 76107

HOLIDAY EXPRESS

D/FW Metro 817/265-7778 Nat'l Toll-Free 800/235-TRIP

THIS IS IT! OUR NON-STOP PARTY CHARTER!!

5-Star Beachfront Hotel • March Departures

What's the word on the

-800-BEACH-BUM

TRAFFIC TICKETS defended but only in Arlington, Fort Worth, and elsewhere in Tarrant County. No promises as to results. Any fine any court costs are not included on fee for legal representation. JAMES R. MALLORY

Attorney at Law 3024 Sandage Ave. Fort Worth, TX 76109-1793 9 2 4 - 3 2 3 6 lot certified by the Texas Board of Legal

Come to Half Price Books any time we're open and we'll make you an offer on the spot. Now is the time to cash in.

HALF BOOKS RECORDS.

5264 South Hulen Street in the Hulen Fashion Center

We buy anything printed or recorded daily

Serving the Entire Metroplex

Free professional assistance to find your perfect apartment, townhouse, condo or duplex

Singles, roommates, families with a Thank you gift upon move in!

545-7997

Free Hair Cut

plus $5 off any monthly membership with TCU ID

Campus

Featuring New Wolff Beds

3 months for $75 1month for $35

4 months for $85 6 months for $99 Plus...Hair - Nails - Unique Boutique

Across from TCU Campus at 3005 South University Drive 921-3900

COSTUME BALL FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1993 8:00 PM - 1:00 AM At the T&P Building

> Dance to the Zydeco Sounds ACADIANA Dinner Buffet Costume Contest Win a trip to New Orleans courtesy of La Madeleine French Bakery & Cafe! SINGLE TICKETS $25

Reservations:

(817) 927-2833

WANTED

Roommates needed to share large 3-2-2, close to campus. $250/mo.ABP. 923-9925.

NEEDS HOME! Black cat, white boots; loves people; litter trained. Call 763-5642, 6-8pm.

FOR RENT For Rent. 1 and 2 bedroom apartments. Bellaire Villa Apartments, 817-878-6322. SKIFF CLASSIFIEDS

921-7426!

599-9971. TYPING Processing, Etc.

TUTORING

Accounting

Headaches??

Professional tutor-

ing. Robyn Parks,

Processing/Typing, Resumes/Thesis. Laser Printing, 735-4631.

Word

FREE Grammar and Spelling Correction. Student Discount Budget Word Processing # 738-5040.

FAST. Laser printed. RUSH orders and credit cards accepted. Across form TCU at 3023 South University. ACCURACY +PLUS, 926-4969.

EMPLOYMENT CRUISE SHIPS

NOW HIRING --Earn $2,000+/ month + world travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Carribean, etc.) Holiday, Summer and Career employment available. No experience necessary. For employment program call

1-206-634-0468 ext. C5835. PARTY PIC PHOTOG RAPHERS NEEDED. SS GOOD MONEY* GREAT FUN !! MUST have 35mm camera, Will Train

FLASH Photography

TRAVEL

924-2626.

Ski Reno or Park City during Spring Break. Condos sleep 6. 485-8282.

Student and Faculty airfares: We will beat any airfare-domestic or international. Buy 1 European ticket and receive 1 FREE U.S. ticket (including San Juan). Spring Break in Frankfurt. $435 and London, $485, $299 Ski Padkages and Mexico. America Travel...548 8958.

> Show your

with class

call the GURU of love 921-7426

From

In 1895, when Female College Clark Jr., the son founders of the c member. He felt that stu crucial aspect of yearbook, the ins gram for the stud the school's cold The horned from ous choice to rep of its unique qua lead the establish the Waco area. Destroyed by relocated to its c tion. A quarter o

New '

transi in An What's in

Although the heed to the page to think of the w '80s, after all, as

MAGNU

ing on talk show "potato" is out, on the environn George Bush retirement. Bill McDonald's. R

but lost anyway With all that out, but the Elv sale at Gracelar on January 8. C honesty and res dons were in. T Congress is out is definitely in.

Cabinet. Foreign affa Occupying Thi protecting dem World countrie in. Thousands in Somalia, the Relying on i efforts is out, b

forcing the U.I

the U.N. forcin

tration, Lloyd I

forces is in. Bl on the way out general, the wi into the fire. There's a lo recession is ou in. Big salarie ger ones are in a while now, b

seems true for

of control and The social s pretend to be is out, but Ma ple who haver Venus de Mile and along with taste is out.

For people ness is out, bu Batman, the 3 lived through of David Brin that's OK, be are in. Fergie delity was in. but still in a c

For crimina

The insanity p good, old-fasl let through th For those o ter box and in That was 1 think, but the

P.D. Magn

capture every

treatment it d

despair and s

tentment, and

Opinion

From tadpole to SuperFrog, mascot steeped in tradition

In 1895, when AddRan Male and Female College moved to Waco, Addison Clark Jr., the son of one of the two founders of the college became a faculty

irnes

narge the stu-

fiscate the eapons are owners only

w, possession

eapon or ille-

es of an edu-

third degree

term in state

n 10 years or a fine of not

HEATRE

BALL

MA OC

ilding

unds

NA

ffet

ontest

to ourtesy leine & Café!

ETS $25

2833 uan). Spring

in Frankfurt,

and London,

$299 Ski

es and Mexico.

a Travel...548

show

love

h class

all the

URU of 21-7426

RAS

He felt that student involvement is a crucial aspect of student life. Therefore, he lead the establishment of the school's first yearbook, the institution of a football program for the students, and the decision of the school's colors and mascot.

The horned frog seemed to be an obvious choice to represent the college because of its unique qualities and abundance in the Waco area.

Destroyed by a fire, the college campus relocated to its current Fort Worth location. A quarter of a century later, the mas-

HIGHTOWER

In the fifties, a stationary horned frog was known as "Addie the Fighting Frog." This frog would sit on the football field to encourage the players and cot was appropri-

honor of the fac-

promoted pride

in being a horned

frog. Because of Addison's nickname, "Addie" spirit.

became a symbol of TCU pride and

ulty member who

ately named in

remind them of their alma mater. Thirty years later, a few administrators decided to stimulate spirit through an animated mascot. In 1984, SuperFrog made his first appearance at the football games and the theme for the year was "Frog Fever."

Spirit and tradition are an integral part of university life. Twenty years from now, we will not remember sitting through class or studying details in textbooks. Instead, we will remember the late nights spent studying at Ol' South with friends.

Activities and friendships such as these are the things that make TCU special to each of us. Although there is a great diversity of interests across campus, all students can be bound together through school spirit and tradition.

Many people complain about our lack of tradition and spirit; however, the rich history of our unique mascot displays the ongoing tradition that has lasted for nearly 100 years.

Spirit is only made possible by each student's pride in TCU and that for which it stands. Going beyond the notion that spirit is only related to football games, it is an overall feeling of community that begins at orientation and continues for the rest of our lives.

In an attempt to revive the excitement of TCU spirit and to commemorate TCU's immense tradition, the Programming Council will sponsor a huge celebration on Feb. 5 from 9:00 p.m. to 2:00 a.m. in the Student Center. Called "SuperFrog's Birthday Bash," this party will allow all students to take part in horned frog pride and have fun. In honor of 1984, the theme of the party is a "Flashback to Frog Fever." The party will feature a velcro wall, SuperFrog, a band, TCU comedian talent, disco music, and plenty of door

This is an excellent opportunity for everyone to participate in TCU spirit, pride and tradition. I hope to see you all

Chris Hightower is a junior political science and history double major from Arlington, Texas. He also serves as Vice President for Programming.

New year marks transitions, changes in American life

What's in and what's out in 1993

Although the never-ending winds of change pay little heed to the pages of the calendar, it is often convenient to think of the world in terms of years and decades. The '80s, after all, are often considered the "me" decade,

P. D. MAGNUS

despite the fact that no one outside my family seemed very concerned about me at all. Sure, we're already well into January, but in the quest for tidiness and order, I've attempted to arrange some important transitions that spotlight flash points for the year in the simplistic, but surprisingly revealing, format of what's in and what's out.

I'll start with politics—that perennial easy target. The guy who became president by following the Reagan legacy is out, while the guy who became president by appearing on talk shows is in. The guy who couldn't spell "potato" is out, while the author of the best-selling book on the environment is in.

George Bush moves out of the White House and into retirement. Bill Clinton moves out of the cold and into McDonald's. Ross Perot moved in, out, and in again, but lost anyway. Millie, the dog, is out. Socks, the cat,

With all that out of the way, polling and voting are out, but the Elvis stamps are finally in. They went on sale at Graceland and in post offices around the country on January 8. On Christmas Eve, it became obvious that honesty and responsibility were out; presidential pardons were in. That means, of course, that lying to Congress is out, but not telling Congress anything at all is definitely in. With the dawn of the Clinton administration, Lloyd Bentsen is out of the Senate and into the

Foreign affairs have shifted quite a bit as well. Occupying Third World countries under the guise of protecting democracy is out, but occupying Third World countries under the guise of humanitarianism is in. Thousands of U.S. troops are out of the country and in Somalia, the Persian Gulf, and Kuwait.

Relying on international forces for United Nations efforts is out, but the United States is still in. The U.S. forcing the U.N. to legitimize its actions is out, while the U.N. forcing the U.S. to bail out its peace keeping forces is in. Black on black violence in South Africa is on the way out, but black on white violence is in. In general, the whole world's out of the frying pan and

There's a lot to say on matters of money as well. The recession is out, but unfounded consumer confidence is in. Big salaries for sports stars are out, while even bigger ones are in. Gross excess looks like its been out for a while now, but paying the bills is still in. The opposite seems true for the national government. The debt is out of control and in the trillions.

The social scene is even more tumultuous, so I won't pretend to be on top of it all. It looks like Rodney King is out, but Malcolm X is in. Madonna is out, while people who haven't shown their breasts as often as the Venus de Milo are in. The 1970s retro movement is in, and along with it, disco. If you ask me, that means good

For people who like shell games, political correctness is out, but multiculturalism is in. Superman is out. Batman, the X-men and all the other super heroes who lived through 1992 are in. It looks like the droll voices of David Brinkley and John Chancellor are out, but that's OK, because Howard Stern and Rush Limbaugh are in. Fergie and Di are out, but only because infidelity was in. Galileo is out of trouble with the Vatican,

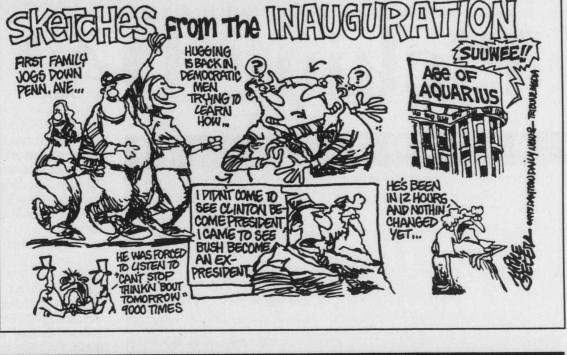

For criminals, skyjacking is out, but car-jacking is in. The insanity plea is out, but plea-bargaining is in. A good, old-fashioned knuckle sandwich is out, but a bullet through the head is in.

For those of you who didn't notice, I'm out of the letter box and into a column.

That was 1992, as it not only changed the way we think, but the date we put on checks. Words can hardly capture everything that happened or give each event the treatment it deserves. But I just hope that in 1993, despair and suffering will be out and happiness, con-

P.D. Magnus is a freshman pre-major from Burleson, tentment, and success will be in.

EDITORIAL

SmokingArlington law provides breath of fresh air

uesday, the Arlington City Council passed important new restrictions on smoking in several of the Metroplex's most popular attractions. Included in the new ban will be certain areas of the Texas Ranger's new baseball stadium, Six Flags Over Texas, and Wet 'N Wild. The new smoking ban is a major accomplishment in the fight against secondhand smoke.

The Arlington law does not completely ban smoking in public places. If an individual chooses to light a cigarette, he/she is still within his/her rights to do so. But because of the new regulations, smokers will have to become more sensitive to the lungs around them, and will have to exercise responsibility with their habits. Violators will be fined up to $1,000.

Specifically, the law will ban smoking in seating areas of the Rangers' new stadium as well as making it illegal for people to smoke outdoors while waiting in a line. The restrictions will also extend to patrons at Six Flags and Wet 'N Wild as well as any outdoor stadium in the area that seats 600 or more. The ban also affects any outdoor theatre seating 5,000 or more, including Coca Cola Starplex.

The language in the new law is specific. A "line" has been defined as "more than one person" waiting for service. This should prevent lawsuits resulting from overly ambiguous language. The language of the law clearly spells out what is acceptable and unacceptable under the ordinance.

If individuals still want to smoke while they are at these venues, there will still be appropriate places to smoke. But the Arlington City Council has made it clear, however, that smokers cannot take advantage of nonsmokers in public places.

Arlington Mayor Richard Greene and the members of the Arlington City Council should be commended for protecting nonsmokers and their lungs. Their actions mean visitors to the city's numerous tourist attractions can now breathe freely.

Ending military ban on homosexuals evidence of greater societal tolerance

People are talking a lot about our new president these days. He lied about his position on a gasoline tax. He's waffling on sending Chelsea to a public school. And the list goes on.

It seems that people want to ignore the silver lining on this cloud. President Clinton has decided to stick to his guns on one particular issue, much to the disgust of the conservative right.

One of the President's campaign promises involved the elimination of the ban on homosexual service in the military.

Right or wrong, for whatever reason, President Clinton is doing everything in his power to end this discriminatory ban. And he's doing it despite a storm of criti-

HERNANDEZ Give the man at least a little credit. So few of us are willing to stand up for something in which we believe, despite the cost. Such a trait should be admired, even if the person we're talking about isn't so high-minded on every occasion. Whatever generals may say, admitting homosexuals into the military will not reduce "unit cohesion." The same argument was made in 1948 when President Truman desegregated the military and allowed blacks to serve side by side with whites in the military. However, General Powell doesn't seem to appreciate that little tidbit of history. How easily some people forget. Besides, there is an oft unconsidered advantage to ending the ban on homosexual service. Each year, the armed services spend an average of $27 million carrying out arbitrary witch hunts to kick gays and lesbians out of the armed services. Of course, in Washington, $27 million is just a drop in the pork barrel. But to a peasant such as myself, it seems like a significant chunk of change. Surely, even such a modest cut in spending would have some affect when it comes to formulating the next budget. Rhetoric aside, admitting homosexuals into the military sets a precedent that many citizens don't want to consider. Homosexuals would demonstrate that they too are willing to fight and die for the same principles as every other red-blooded American. You may recall that 18-year-old boys did something similar when they were forced to go fight for freedom in Vietnam.

ANDY

In the same way, homosexuals would earn the same rights that straight men enjoy every day (I'm afraid that I can't include women in this group just because we haven't been farsighted enough yet to pass an ERA amendment.).

In other words, homosexuals would become a "protected class." Don't let the harsh connotation of that phrase fool you. Simply put; homosexuals would have the chance to be treated like human beings. Unfortunately, "right-minded" people all across the nation would just as soon not see such a thing happen. You don't have to drive all the way to Colorado or Oregon to see prejudice against homosexuals. Just look down at the ground when you walk across everyday this semester. One day, more likely than not, you'll come across the words "Faggots Go Home" chalked into the sidewalks. Of course, if people used the words "nigger" or "Jew" instead of "faggot," they would probably be branded a bigot on the spot. But, more often than not, even that little bit of tolerance is too

Times have changed. It is no longer desirable, acceptable, or even tolerable to ostracize or eliminate an entire group of people just because they are different. With a little bit of tolerance, the shame of the Trail of Tears won't be repeated. The horror of the Final Solution won't be allowed to occur again. Unfortunately, this is probably too . idealistic. It can be so hard to get Americans to look past their own selfish interests today and to start thinking about tomorrow.

Andy Hernandez is a senior history major from Shreveport, La.

TCU Daily Skiff An All-American Newspaper

Editor Nicole Foy Managing Editor Sarah Yoest Ad Manager Kevin Gardner

News Editor Jennifer Scott Campus Editor Jamie McIlvain Mosaic Editors Opinion Editor Jeff Jeter Sports Editors Ty Benz

Greg Riddle

Copy Desk Chief Jodi Wetuski Carl Kozlowski

Leiann Simpson Photo Editor Jennifer Biggins Graphics Editor John Lamb

Student Publications Director Paul LaRocque Production Supervisor Debra Whitecotton
Business Manager Jayne Akers
Journalism Department Chairman Anantha Babbili

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Military policy

Decisions about homosexuals affect EVERYONE, Ms. Soper. President Clinton has not only consulted military leaders, he has also consulted gay men and lesbians, not to mention that lifting the ban on homosexuals in the military was one of his campaign pledges, and the American people elected him to be our next president.

You said that those in the military "are the people who will be directly affected by the consequences of this decision..." This includes that gay men and lesbians who are already serving in the military. And don't try to tell me that the high-ranking military officials aren't aware of their presence. This hypocritical handling of the present regulation is truly a farce. If the military doesn't want homosexuals, why are there so many still serving? Because they serve well, and if they were all discharged, the ranks would be depleted. The only demoralization in the military is that of the gay men and lesbians who live in fear because they want to

The military kicks out a token few each year to pretend it is upholding its current policy while exploiting the rest by allowing them to serve while holding the threat of discharge

The only threat of blackmail comes from within the military itself. We already know that morale and discipline will not be adversely affected by the presence of homosexuals, because that presence has been there for many, many years. The only change will be the increased morale of that significant portion of our military personnel that currently has to live in constant fear of discrimination. The military should defend ALL Americans' constitutional rights rather than fight them.

Ellen J. Archambault Graduate Student

The Skiff welcomes letters to the editor if they are double-spaced typed and one page or less in length. All letters must be signed. The Skiff will not publish unsigned letters. All submissions must include the writer's classification, major and phone number. The Skiff reserves the right to edit or reject any letters to the editor. Letters may be sent to the Skiff at TCU Box 32929 or delivered to the Skiff's offices, Moudy 291S. The telephone number of the newsroom is 921-7428.

Sports

Lady Frogs host to red hot Tech player, who does everything from posting up inside to bringing the ball

up court to shooting three pointers,

Krueger and Janelle Hunter must step up their efforts blocking out the

Lady Red Raiders and rebounding

The Lady Frogs can't allow the

"We've got to work really hard on our defense and take care of the basketball," Hunter said. "We've got to cut down on our turnovers and really

Offensively for TCU, the Frogs

"We need to make better passes will face Texas Tech's pesky match-

than we did against Oral Roberts," Garmon said. "If we start turning the ball over, we will never be able to up zone, Garmon said.

Lady Raiders to take more than one shot at the basket, Garmon said.

TCU posts Amy Bumsted, Donna

Garmon said.

the ball.

By RICK WATERS TCU Daily Skiff

To say that the TCU Lady Horned Frogs 1992-93 season has been storybook would be an understatement.

Unfortunately, much of their season has read something like a Charles Dickens novel: it's been the best of times and the worst of times.

The Lady Frogs (8-8, 0-5 SWC) have both won and lost five games in a row all in the same rollercoaster

Saturday they leap into a Southwest Conference matchup with the No. 14 Texas Tech Lady Raiders (13-3, 3-1) in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum at 7 p.m.

TCU is coming off a sloppy nonconference victory at home against Oral Roberts Wednesday, a win the Lady Frogs needed desperately.

"It would have been real devastating if we'd lost to Oral Roberts," said TCU head coach Fran Garmon. "We really needed the win going into a game like Tech. We are really going to have to play well Saturday and be very focused and be very ready to play.'

After ending a five game skid by clashing the Oral Roberts Titans, the Lady Frogs might fall on hard times again facing the nationally ranked Lady Red Raiders, a team TCU has never beaten. TCU is also trying to end its 30-game consecutive SWC losing streak.

The Lady Raiders have a fearsome line-up that features all five starters scoring in double figures. They are led by All-America and SWC player of the Year, Sheryl Swoopes.

"Sheryl Swoopes is phenomenal," Garmon said. "She's as good a player as we'll ever play against - period. If she doesn't get SWC Player of the Year again, then I'd like to see the girl that does."

Swoopes is a multi-dimensional

Frogs head west hoping for first SWC

By WILLIAM HATFIELD TCU Daily Skiff

Horace Greeley once said, "Go west young man," and the TCU men's basketball team will go west hoping for an elusive win.

The Frogs will head west this weekend in search of its first Southwest Conference victory when they face Texas Tech Saturday at 7 p.m. in Lubbock.

Both teams have struggled in conference play so far this year, but Tech will have the momentum of Monday's 78-74 upset over 25thranked Houston coming into the contest. It was the Red Raiders first SWC victory. Overall, Texas Tech holds a 9-6 mark and stands 1-3 in He leads the team in scoring and

TCU continues to stumble along, whether they play conference foes or non-conference teams. The Frogs lost at Tulsa on Wednesday, 88-68, to fall to 3-12 on the year and are still the only team with a winless conference record at 0-4.

"We didn't play well at Tulsa," said TCU head coach Moe Iba. "It wasn't a good game for us. We need a great effort every night to win. Without it, we are not a very good rebounding, averaging 18.1 points a game and grabbing 10 boards.

TCU will concentrate most of its efforts on stopping Tech center Will Flemmons. Flemmons, the 1992 SWC Player of the Year, is having a stellar senior campaign.

"We've got to keep the ball away from him (Flemmons)," Iba said. "He's one of the most important parts of their offense. We can't stop him one-on-one. He'll score a lot of points."

"We like to get the ball in to Will," Tech Head Coach James Dickey said. "We'll play the same we always have. We need to run when we get the opportunity."

Tech is hardly a one-dimensional team, though Guard Lance Hughes and forward Jason Sasser have chipped in 15.5 and 9.5 points a game, and freshman reserve Koy Smith is pouring in almost 10 points a game.

"Hughes can play," Iba said. "They are balanced and they execute well." TCU will look to forward Allen Tolley to provide the scoring punch.

Although limited to seven points at Tulsa, the 6-4 senior is still averaging 14 points a contest. After beating Houston and with a winless TCU squad coming to town, Dickey said over-confidence could be a factor. "We are going to build on the Houston win, but we can't take no one for granted," Dickey said. "Injuries have really burt TCU, but I'm impressed with how hard they play and am looking for a tough

Picking DA' BOWL

P U	RPI	• •	- ~ ~	,	105
Skiff	Dallas SUPER BOWL Buffalo	Bud BUD BOWL Bud Light	Georgia Tech at Florida State	N Carolina at Wake Forest	Iowa State at Oklahoma St	Houston at SMU	Texas at Rice	Michigan at Iowa
Greg Riddle last week: 6.4-0 overall: 6-4-0	Dallas	Bud	Florida State	N Carolina	Iowa State	Houston	Texas	Michigan
Ty Benz last week: 4-6-0 overall: 4-6-0	Buffalo	Bud	Florida State	N Carolina	Oklahoma St	SMU	Rice	Iowa
Alan Droll last week: 4-6-0 overall: 4-6-0	Dallas	Bud Light	Florida State	Wake Forest	Oklahoma St	Houston	Texas	Michigan
Rick Waters last week: 6-4-0 overall: 6-4-0	Buffalo	Bud	Florida State	N Carolina	Iowa State	Houston	Rice	Michigan
Billy Hatfield last week: 4-6-0 overall: 4-6-0		" Bud Light	Georgia Tech	N Carolina	Oklahoma St	Houston	Rice	Iowa

Refresh my memory. Is there some kind of important football game going on this weekend? I thought I caught something about a bunch of cowboys and some bills. Did the cowboys just forget to pay their bills or what?

Only problem with Jimmy Johnson and Jerry Jones is their names. They're just too plain for someone living in Dallas. Think Jimmy and Jerry should change their names to something like Billy Bob, Joe Bob or Tex. Then they would be true cow-

Everyone in the world that follows football in any way, shape or form knows that the Cowboys are America's Team. Did you hear all the fuss the Buffalo players and coaches were

Any $10

Dry Cleaning

Order

With This Coupon

One Coupon per Visit Please

making this week about how they thought they deserved to be called America's Team, just because they have players from such unheard of places like Kuntztown State and Winthrop U? Jimmy responded that maybe the Bills could call themselves "Little America's Team.

Well, since Dallas will be the home to the best and worst teams in sports after the Cowboys win Sunday, we will now present the awards for the best and worst around the world of sports.

Best Quote: Texas A&M basketball coach Tony Barone, who after his team beat TCU 60-58 at Daniel-Meyer Coliseum last Saturday, said "The only thing better than a road win is my wife Kathy's spaghetti." If you have ever seen the robust Barone, it is evident that he has been eating a little extra pasta to make up for the Aggies lack of road wins.

Worst Quote: Emmitt Smith after the Cowboys beat San Francisco -"God was looking down on his team." I'm sure God was up in Heaven watching the game on the big screen and sipping some beer. Jerry Rice must have committed some ungodly sin before the game, so God decided to punish the Niners.

Best sign: Dallas fans in San Francisco - "First the Mud Bowl, then the Super Bowl." The Cowboys won the Mud Bowl, now they will win the Super Bowl.

Best Dance Move: Kenny Gant's "Shark" dance near the end of the Cowboys win over the Niners. When Gant does the "Shark" you know the game is over. Best Decision: A Dallas restaurant taking buffalo wings off of their menu until after the Super Bowl. The same restaurant had taken cream cheese off the menu the week before the Cowboys creamed the Philadelphia Eagles in the playoffs.

Worst decision: Late in the Cowboys-Niners game, Dallas faced first-and-ten at its own 11-yard line. Michael Irvin, wanting to make a clutch play, took Alvin Harper's position in the slot. When Harper started to go in motion, Irvin waved him back to his flanker position. Result? A 70-yard pass play from Troy Aikman to Harper that clinched a spot in the Super Bowl.

Finally, the Super Bowl prediction: There will 100 hundred ads about beer, the halftime show will go on for hours, and the best thing about the game will be that its over because the Bills will get roped by the Cowboys, 35-13.

KKI KKI KKI KKI KKI KKI KKI KKI KKI

This space brought to you by the

TCU Daily Skiff.

BECAUSE IT FITS

Congratulations New Kappa Initiates

Heather Beckham Molly Beckman Allison Blocker Amber Camp Christi Cox Rosalyn Dugger Luisa Feagin Sussan Grady Sarah Holbrook Lindsey Langley Camille Liverman Brooke Lowell

Kelley Ludman Lisa Magliolo Scarlette Majors Mimi Mayer Elizabeth Miller Heather McKee Denise O'Donnell Tiffany O'Neal Elizabeth Page Rebecca Roberts Trudy Skiles Melissa Strake

Renee Surcouf Mary Swank Kellie Thompson Monica Thornhill Danese Tijerina Caroline Ward Elizabeth Ward Susanna Ward Lara Wilde Whitney Wilson Vicky Wollman Melissa Young

KKFKKFKKFKKFKKFKKFKKFKKFKKFKKF

Congratulations to the new initiates of

ZETA TAU ALPHA

Tracey Allely Angi Anderson Andria Blagg Jeni Burge Hilary Davis MandyDeLagerheim Andi Doerr Ashley Field Erin Finney Andrea Foy Ginger Frick Heather Funk Jennifer Glickman Erin Gray Kym Henry Jennifer Hooks Hillary Howard Susane Hudson Susanah Hughes Bryn Lewis

Shawn Lieberman Michelle Ludwig Heidi McIntire Sheryl Milling Erin O'Brien Kelli Patterson Maroulia Pontikas Natalie Powell Heather Robinson Bobbie Shosty Jennifer Spohn Liz Spradley Courtney Stroup Tracy Sykes Erika Thorp Linda Tongberg Kirsten Welch Amy West Laura Worley

Circle Cleaners TCU Area 3004 Bluebonnet Circle 923-4161

JZ OFF

Any $5

Dry Cleaning

Order

With This Coupon

One Coupon per Visit Please

Expert Alterations

AUCTION DAY'S FURNITURE OUTLET

Complete Sell-Out After 58 Years in Business Sat., Jan. 30. @ 1 pm

Liquidating entire inventory of DAY'S FURNITURE OUTLET. Top Name-brand furniture and accessories, bedding and more. Riverside, Bassett, La-Z-Boy, Hooker, Sumter, Highland House, Jasper, Kimball, Kincaid, Tell City, Singer, SK and more.

Everything MUST BE SOLD Regardless of Price 2228 N. Main, Fort Worth Stockyards

NO MINIMUM BID, NO RESERVE DEALERS WELCOME

TERMS: Visa, MC, Discover, Cash, Checks with proper ID. DC Auctioneers and Liquidation - TXE 7980

 $\Delta\Delta\Delta$ $\Delta\Delta\Delta$

Congratulations △△△ New Initiates! We're so proud of you!

Tiffany Bailey Ana Barnett Holly Beardsley Amy Bell Courtney Bigham Kelly Branton Kim Chidlow Nell Cooley Dana Cummings Kathryn Dollins Mandy Frost Lauren Garner

Vicki Griffith Kelly Herod Heidi Holt Emily Hunter Ann Husband Emily Kenderdine Shelly Kilander Jill Lansden Jackie Lokey Amy Margo Shelley Martin Molly Marxhausen

Jill Phillips Kristen Richardson Julie Roach Tanya Roberts Emily Rogers Alyce Satterwhite Sheila Schaper Rebekah Smith Vicki Taylor Claire Tillman Traci Twardowski Courtney Woods

Ty Benz

Sports With all th surrounding 1 about the Sup well skip the the JJ brother trophy and br Before y

Perignon, jus The game ha fine Buffalo to quit until th blown and th in the grave. The thing ting, the Bill team that con from two-tin

Bowl champ Wide righ These two Bills fan and scream. If fo Norwood do yards out in then the Gia 20-19 victor

The lost l Wheneve Thomas sle personal he about how then doing during intro Jordan of tl before the Super Bow and missed game. It wa game for th totally don winning 37 pletely shu and was no The last

has brough Screaming

Who's the Toughest in Da' Bowl? Da' Boys?

Da' Bills?

Ty Benz

Iba said.

they exe-

ward Allen

e scoring

even

senior is a contest.

and with a coming to confidence

uild on the

m't take no

ckey said.

rt TCU, but

w hard they

for a tough

bout how they

ed to be called

st because they

such unheard of

own State and responded that

ould call them-

las will be the

d worst teams in wboys win Sun-

esent the awards

orst around the

as A&M basket-

arone, who after

60-58 at Daniel-

st Saturday, said

etter than a road

y's spaghetti." If een the robust

t that he has been

pasta to make up

committed some the game, so God he Niners.

s fans in San Franlud Bowl, then the Cowboys won the they will win the

ve: Kenny Gant's

ar the end of the the Niners. When ark" you know the

A Dallas restaurant

ings off of their e Super Bowl. The

had taken cream

nu the week before

amed the Philadel-

: Late in the Cowme, Dallas faced own 11-yard line.

anting to make a k Alvin Harper's slot. When Harper notion, Irvin waved flanker position.

rd pass play from Harper that clinched

uper Bowl predic-

1 100 hundred ads

alftime show will go the best thing about that its over because

roped by the Cow-

 $\Delta\Delta$ $\Delta\Delta\Delta$ \triangleright

tes!

ardson

white

owski

ΔΔΔ ΔΔΔ

oer

playoffs.

er Bowl.

of road wins. nmitt Smith after San Francisco g down on his God was up in ne game on the big some beer. Jerry ca's Team.

Sports Columnist

With all the hype and the hoopla surrounding the Cowboys in Big D about the Super Bowl we all might as well skip the game, not play it, give the JJ brothers and the Cowboys the trophy and break out the champaign.

Before you go buy the Don Perignon, just remember one thing. The game hasn't been played, and a fine Buffalo Bills squad isn't going to quit until the final whistle has been blown and they are three feet under in the grave.

The thing that everyone is forgetting, the Bills are a fine football team that could be two plays away from two-time defending Super Bowl champs.

Wide right. These two words make every Bills fan and player yell and scream. If former Bills kicker Scott Norwood doesn't miss from 47yards out in the closing seconds, then the Giants don't escape with a 20-19 victory in Super Bowl XXV.

The lost helmet.

Whenever running back Thurman Thomas sleeps at night this is his personal hell. After griping all week about how he's not appreciated, then doing the "Funky Chicken" during introductions, the "Michael Jordan of the NFL" lost his helmet before the first snap of last year's Super Bowl against the Redskins and missed the first two plays of the game. It was the story of the entire game for the Bills as Washington totally dominated Buffalo before winning 37-24. Thomas was completely shut down the entire game and was never a factor.

The last two years the Super Bowl has brought out the worst of the Bills. Screaming headlines, locker room stop the run, and while their sec-immature cockiness have preceded them before each Super Bowl.

But this year it's been a different story for them. No big headlines, no troubles, and finally...maturity.

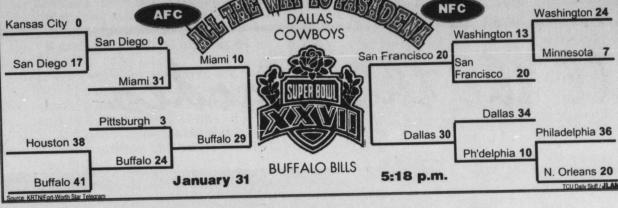

Unlike the past two years, the Bills have been the underdog throughout the playoffs and the ride through the playoffs has been miraculous.

After falling behind 35-3 to Houston with backup QB Frank Reich at the helm, the Bills rallied to win 41-38 in overtime. Against Pittsburgh the Bills fairy godmother smiled on them during the win as a sure TD was dropped on an interception. The next play, TD Buffalo. When Kelly returned against Miami, the critics were howling, where was their hero, Reich? On the bench as he watched Kelly and company romp all over Miami, 29-10.

The Bills are back for a record third time in a row as only Miami in the early 1970s has done that. And this time it won't get away as the Bills will finally find their pot at gold at the end of the rainbow this year. Why? It's simple.

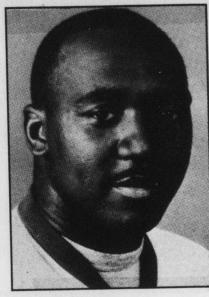

First, they are due. It's really hard to go to three Super Bowls straight and not have things go your way once. The law of averages says

Second, the Bills no-huddle, three wideout attack is the best offense in the NFL. They can bring five guys into the secondary that can burn you deep. The 'Boys haven't faced an offense like this all year long, and the times they have faced predominantly passing teams, not counting the runand-shoot, they haven't done so well. The Rams' Jim Everett scorched them and led L.A. to a win while Steve Young threw for over 300 yards last week. Dallas is No. 1 on defense because they just flat out ondary is better than last year, but it's still mortal. The Bills will pass all

Third, running back Thurman Thomas is healthy and has something to prove because of his miserable performance last year.

Thurman Thomas

Finally, Buffalo's D has been tremendous since the first half of the Houston game. Bruce Smith, Cornelius Bennett, and company have limited foes (since the second half of the Oilers game) to only 16 points while shutting down Warren Moon, Neil O'Donnell and Dan Marino. Not bad, dominating two of the NFL's greatest QBs, ever. The Bills will win because this is their year. They've been miraculous in the playoffs and will put it all together in the Super Bowl and ruin the party in Big D.

by Greg Riddle

Sports Columnist

"The boys are back in town." That song by the ever-so-popular group the Bus Boys, ought to be the theme song of Super Bowl XXVII in sunny old Pasadena, Calif. Sunday.

Yes, it's Da' Boys and Da' Bills in Da' Bowl. Eat your heart out America, America's Team is back.

After outslopping San Francisco 30-20 in the Niners own backyard, the Dallas Cowboys are back in the Super Bowl for the first time since 1978. Fans in Big D haven't gone this crazy since the Mavericks came within a game of beating the Lakers in the NBA playoffs way back when. Remember? Way back when the Mavericks used to win more than once a month? Yes, those were the days when the Mavs, and not the 1-15 Boys were the talk of the town. Jimmy Johnson, hair spray and all, is now the toast of the town, not the roast. When Michael "The Playmaker" Irvin talks, people listen, not laugh. Jerry Jones, pocketbook in hand, now has people wishing he would buy the Mavericks and do with them what he did with the Cow-

Fans around Texas have been saying that the Cowboys have all but won the Super Bowl after beating and making Joe Montana, Dwight Clark and "The Catch" the ghosts of playoffs past.

However, the Super Bowl Sunday will be no walk in the park for the Cowboys.

The Bills have an offense that is second to none (including the Cowboys) and a defense that has been as stiff as a board in the playoffs since the first half against Houston. The Bills will be tough, but the Boys will be better. Troy Aikman proved against San Francisco that he has emerged as one of the best quarterbacks in the NFL and that he can win the big games. Aikman will also be returning to Pasadena and the Rose Bowl for the first time since his college days at UCLA.

For a whole week, Emmitt Smith had to listen to all the talk about all the problems he was going to have running on the slippery Candlestick turf (if turf is what you would call that mess). The result? 24 carries for 114 yards and a touchdown. Seven catches for 59 yards and another touchdown. All in a days work. The Cowboys improved to 20-1 (remember this stat that they keep showing on CBS every time the Cowboys play?) in games that Smith rushes for over 100 yards. Just think what Smith will do on nice, dry grass Sunday.

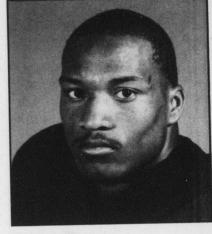

The receiving game has to be the least of the Cowboys worries. If Aikman needs a big play, all he has to do is look to No. 88 (That would be Michael Irvin, for all you that have been on another planet for the past few months). Need a key first down, just throw it to Jay Novacek, who is as dependable as the AFC losing the Super Bowl. Then you have Alvin Harper and Kelvin Martin, who broke the Niners' backs on the Cowboys last drive with their 70-yard catch-and-run and game-clinching

San Francisco touchdown catch respectively.

The Cowboys defense must feel like Rodney Dangerfield. Despite being the top rated defense in the NFL, they just get no respect, which was evident when not a single Cowboys defender was named to the Pro Bowl. For Dallas to win, the secondary, led by former Horned Frog Larry Brown, must have a big day against Buffalo's no-huddle, threewide receiver offense. Look for the Boys to be up to the test, just like they were in 'Frisco, when they shut down Jerry Rice and company.

The one reason Dallas will win though is because of their secret weapon on offense as the Boys will finally "set the moose loose."

Fullback Daryl "The Moose" Johnston, normally just a blocker for Smith, tore up the Niners and scored the go-ahead touchdown that put Dallas ahead 17-10 in the third quarter. The Bills have a great running back tandem of Thurman Thomas and former TCU Horned Frog Kenneth Davis, but neither one of them is a fullback. The game will come down to which team will be able to punch the ball into the end zone from down

Larry Brown

Dallas will win a close one and it will be "The Moose," not Smith who will be telling America that he is going to Disneyland.

TCU CADET PROFILE TODD LITTLE

AGE: 22

HOMETOWN: Fort Worth, Texas

HIGH SCHOOL: Arlington Heights, Fort Worth, Texas

CLASSIFICATION: Senior

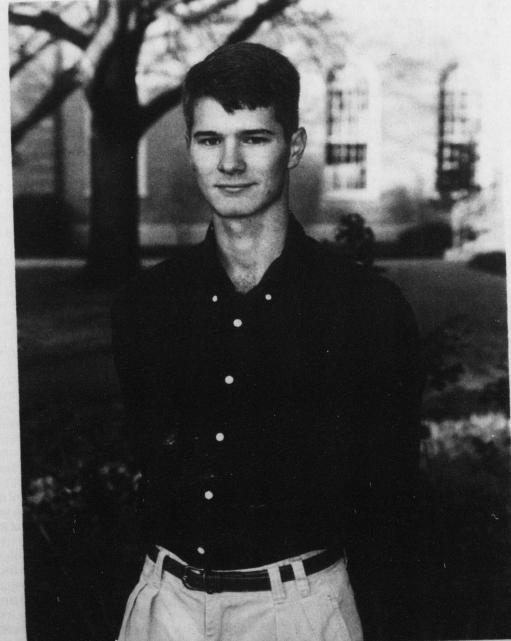

Major: Nursing

ACCOMPLISHMENTS: Recipient of Four-Year Army ROTC Nursing Scholarship. Platoon Sergeant and the Commander for the Brigadier Drill Team, Ranger Advisor and the First Sergeant for Scabbard and Blade, the national honor society for ROTC. Nominated for Sophomore Leadership Award, awarded the Army Physical Fitness Award for scoring a perfect 300 on the Army Physical Fitness Test, Qualified Expert on the M16A2 Rifle, received the Military Excellence Award for 1991-1992, and deemed a Distinguished Military Graduate.

QUOTE: "ROTC has helped me to establish myself as a leader on the campus and in the community. It has helped me to create a social bond with the people I will be serving with now and the rest of my life. ROTC has been one of the most rewarding classes that I could have ever taken."

WHY TCU? "TCU offered an outstanding student-to-teacher ratio in a mid-sized school, in a well-known academic environment. It was close to home, thereby giving the best of both worlds: a home cooked meal when desired, but the freedom of campus

CAREER OBJECTIVES: "After graduating and getting commissioned into the Army Nurse Corps, I intend to attend Officers Basic Course, then on to my specialty of critical care nursing. After serving twenty years, I will retire and start another career in nursing as the vice-president of nursing at a major hospital." PROFILE: Energetic, resourceful and dedicated in all endeavors. His character reflects a "fairness doctrine" to all he meets. Always accepts and embraces the responsibilities of sound leadership.

ARMY ROTC

THE SMARTEST COLLEGE COURSE YOU CAN TAKE.

And they call the thing rodeo

By ELISA C. KEE TCU Daily Skiff

"...Bulls and blood, it's the dust and mud, it's the roar of the Sunday crowd, it's the white in the knuckles, the gold in the buckle he'll win the next go 'round...It's boots and chaps, cowboy hats, spurs and latigo ... It's the ropes and the reins and the joy and the pain, and they call the thing Rodeo!"

arth Brooks' song touches on the excitement that cowboys bring to the arena when it is time to compete. And if you've driven north on University Drive towards the Kimbell Museum and noticed an unusually high number of pickup trucks parked around the Will Rogers complex, the reason is, yes, the 97th edition of the Southwestern Exposition and Live Stock Show and Rodeo has begun.

The 1993 Fort Worth Stock Show and Rodeo celebrated its opening last weekend. The Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo is the home of the original indoor rodeo and includes bull riding, bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, calf roping, team roping, steer wrestling, cutting horses, live music, a comedic announcer and those wacky, bullfighting clowns.

The Fort Worth Stock Show actually began in 1896 with a rather informal gathering of ranchers who wanted to show their livestock in an effort to better the quality of meat as well as provide a source of entertainment. The show was originally called the Texas Fat Stock Show and is the oldest stock show in the country, according to a press release from Will Rogers Coliseum.

In 1908 the Cowtown Coliseum, which is located north of Main Street in the Stockyards, was built as the Stock Show's official headquarters. The new indoor arena added several advantages such as the carnival midway and the expanded show was then called the National Feeders and Breed-

Late in 1917, one of the local boosters of the Stock Show suggested that a competitive event featuring cowboys be incorporated into the Stock Show. The term suggested as a name for this competition was spelled r-o-d-e-o and pronounced "ro-DAY-o" - a Spanish word for such cowboy competitions. The word "rodeo" was then adopted as the title for the new stock show event but was eventually pronounced "rode-EE-o". The indoor rodeo became an official event of the Stock Show in 1918 and was held at the North Side Coliseum. The name for the event was then changed to the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show. The first rodeo contest had a total purse of $3,000; comparatively, this year's prize money totals more than $600,000.

The Stock Show Rodeo has scheduled 28 performances during 17 days of the Stock Show. Each performance includes typical rodeo activities along with music, an upbeat announcer, dancing horses and clowns.

The voice of the rodeo, broadcast over the majority of the Stock Show grounds, is baritone Bob Tallman. Tallman is an Oregon native and has been announcing rodeos for 25 years.

Tallman says he is away from his Oregon ranch more than 300 days a year. He spends his time on the rodeo circuit and admits that the world of rodeo and television occupy

TCU Daily Skiff/ Elisa Kee

Calf roping is one of many events featured at this year's rodeo.

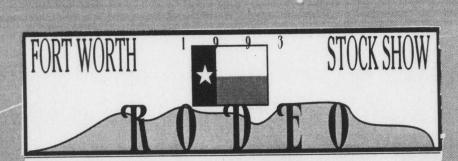

much of his time. He is also the voice of the "Great American Cowboy," a radio show which airs each day on more than 200 stations nationwide.

Tallman is a personable emcee. From observing him, one gets the impression that it's really second nature for him to have a microphone in his hand. If crowd reaction is any measure of Tallman's success, it is understandable why he spends so many days each year away from his ranch.

Tickets for the rodeo are $12 for Friday night and weekend performances and $10 for Monday through Thursday nights and all weekday matinees.

Tickets are available at the rodeo box office located in Will Rogers Coliseum, which is open from 9 a.m. through 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from noon until 5 p.m. on Sundays. Tickets are also available through Rainbow Ticketmaster. For further ticket information call (817)877-2420.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 1993 2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

SATURDAY, JANUARY 30, 1993

10:00AM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

1:30PM Suffolf followed by Southdown Sheep -- Open Show, followed by selection of Supreme Champion Ewe

and Ram -- Sheep Arena

2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum 7:00PM Minature Horse Performance Classes--Justin Arena

SUNDAY, JANUARY 31, 1993

2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum 2:00PM Shorthorn Cattle Show--Cattle Arena

8:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

MONDAY, FEBUARY 1, 1993 9:00AM National Hereford Cattle Show--Justin Arena

2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

2:00PM NRHA Reining Horse Show--Justin Arena

8:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

TUESDAY, FEBUARY 2, 1993

10:00AM Southwestern Exposition Championship Team Penning--Justin Arena

2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

WEDNESDAY, FEBUARY 3, 1993

1:00PM Club Calf Pen and Champion Prospect Show--West Arena 4:00PM Southwestern Exposition Championship Team Penning--Jusin

THURSDAY, FEBUARY 4, 1993

2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum 2:00PM Brahman Cattle Show--Cattle Arena

8:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

SATURDAY, FEBUARY 6, 1993 1:00PM Southwestern Exposition Invitational Ranch Horse Show,

followed by demonstration of Quarter Horse Sale Horses-

SUNDAY, FEBUARY 7, 1993

2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum 8:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

Stock Show style hits mainstream

By NICOLE FOY TCU Daily Skiff

With all the fuss about the Stock Show, it's important to focus on the real issue: What do you wear to an event like

Well, boots and belt buckles aren't just for cowboys anymore.

The western phenomenon is sweeping the nation, and it's attracting all walks of life. Country is now the most popular music in the nation, and the lifestyle seems to be contagious, said Alan Luskey, manager of Ryon's western store in the Stockyards. "I think Garth Brooks and all those other new singers have a lot to do with this explosion," Luskey said. "We usually cater to an older, more serious crowd, but young people and the fads are good business."

Angie Cumbie, manager of the Maverick Saloon and Trading Post, said she can't predict who her customers will be from day to

"All types of people, and especially students who usually dress preppy or conservative, are coming in here looking for a change.

"It's fun to dress different," she said, "but you don't have to drive a truck or wear starched Wranglers and lace-up ropers to fit in."

Fashion experts say the western trend has bucked its way into the mainstream. Blue denim buttondown shirts, shoe boots and suede vests are only a few of the hottest sellers of the year.

Other specialty stores offer the latest in "cutting edge" country. There are black jeans for women with attached sequined or leather chaps, along with racy bra tops to match. Boots come in colors like yellow neon, sea green, pink and purple. And here's materialism at it's finest — Justin makes boots to match the top-selling Dooney and Bourke purses.

On the same scale, Stetson offers an El Presidente cowboy hat that comes in its own glass case with a certificate of ownership. The emblem on the hatband is 14karat gold. Grand total: $1,000.

> Rows of fashionable hats and boots decorate the walls of the Maverick Saloon and Trading Post located in the Stockyards. TCU Daily Skiff/ Jenni Wallis

For the "serious customers," money is no object when it comes to clothes, Cumbie said.

"I'd say that a lot of the people you'll see at the Stock Show will have spent over $1,000 on an outfit," she said.

That doesn't mean there's a limit, though. At Ryon's you can get a pair of Louisiana alligator boots for anywhere from $1,500 to $4,000. Custom-made boots are also available at the Stockyard's Sean Ryan for up to $5,000.

Fort Worth store owners said business has boomed since the Stockshow opened Friday.

"We always have more customers during the show," said Betty Fincher, co-owner of Fincher's. "But lately they're not all the traditional type. It's

'd say that a lot of the people you'll see at the Stock Show will have spent over $1,000 on an outfit."

ANGIE CUMBIE, Manager, Maverick Saloon and Trading Post

more of a crossover, sporty crowd." As country moves from the older, Roy Rogers stage to the era of Garth Brooks, fashion will surely change with it, Cumbie said. "It will probably grow and attract even more types," she said. "So for the people who say things like 'I'd never be caught dead in boots,' then I say think

By BET

Left, two step pop mu go, cou two-ste tion sin music.

country Wende Billy B formal until at a need Nels

> Thurs noons Febru

Elimpses of a Texas Tradition

Yep, the annual Fort Worth Stock show and rodeo is back in town giving real life cowboys a chance to show off their hard work and giving others a chance to dig out their cowboy boots and ten gallon hats.

For two weeks the Will Rogers Coliseum has been transformed into myriad of beautiful livestock, western wear, pick up trucks, farm equipment and sales demonstrators selling anything from domestic knives to car polish.

As usual a highlight of the Stock Show is that the crowds are able to mingle with llamas, emus, sheep, horses, pigs and almost every breed of cow under the sun.

To keep little and big kids alike amused there is a fairground where those who are brave can test their courage on such rides as the "Kamikaze" and "The Ring of

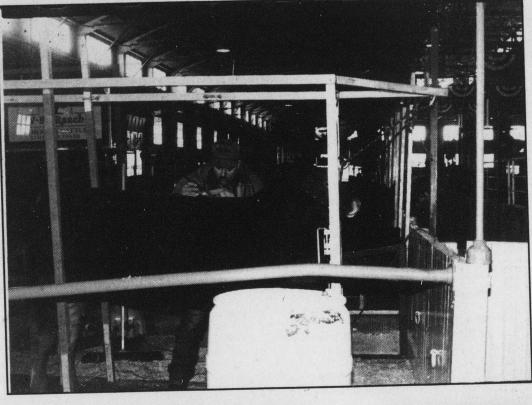

On every corner, there are booths full of funnel cakes, turkey legs, smoked sausage and corn on the cob to keep hunger at bay.

A day at the Stockshow is a true Texas tradition the entire family can enjoy.

The show runs daily until Sunday, February 7. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children.

Photos By Leiann Simpson.

Two stepping through Texas

By BETH AINE BOLLINGER TCU Daily Skiff

y Skiff/ Elisa Kee

he rodeo box Rogers Coliom 9 a.m. igh Saturday n Sundays. ough Rainbow ket informa-

eam

a lot of the at the Stock spent over

IE CUMBIE, verick Saloon Trading Post orty crowd." from the older, he era of Garth rely change with row and attract said. "So for the ike 'I'd never be then I say think

> Left, right, left, together, step right, together, start again. That's two stepping in a nutshell. Although pop music and fad dances come and go, country music and the classic two-step have been a Texan tradition since the beginning of country

"Two stepping began as early as country music got started," said Wendell Nelson, dance instructor at Billy Bob's Texas, "There was no formal instruction in country dance until after The Urban Cowboy, then instruction began because there was a need to standardize."

Nelson's lessons are for people who have no previous experience two stepping as well as those who want to brush up on the skills that they already have.

Lessons at Billy Bob's are on Thursday nights and Sunday afternoons. As a part of Metroplex Appreciation Night, admission and lessons are free to those who show a Metroplex Driver's license. A series of basic lessons begins Sunday, February 14. The series will be taught from 5 to 6 p.m. for the following eight Sundays. Each lesson costs $3. Once the series begins, no new students will be allowed to enter so more advanced steps can be

Nelson said that he teaches large groups often. He works with the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce to offer lessons to large groups outside of the metroplex. He recently travelled to Toronto, Canada to teach a group of 3000 people. He also recently taught a large group from the World Trade Center in

Nelson also said that he gets quite a few TCU students coming in. Last Saturday morning a group of Chi Omega's went to Billy Bob's for a group lesson.

"I came to college and started two stepping as a freshman," said Brian Caylor, a junior from Arkansas, "When I started, I was terrible and I'm still not very good, but I enjoy it.

"I have never had a formal lesson. Willing girls would always take me under their wings. It's rare for people to take lessons. Most people just go, their friends are willing to teach them."

For Nelson, growing up with dancing is what led him into teaching the two step. Nelson learned to dance from his six sisters who used him to try out new dance steps.

He got into dancing as a career when he attended a party for Casa Manana. " I was dancing with the wife of a dance school owner. She complemented me on my dancing and urged me to come in for training. My country dance teaching didn't mushroom until after The Urban Cowboy came out," said

Nelson said that since then, his dancing has turned into a career that keeps all of his time occupied.

Nelson believes that the popularity behind two stepping and country music is the ease in the music and the dance. "The music is so easy to like and it doesn't require you to get too involved in it. The two step is an easy dance," said Nelson, " I always tell people that it is the most fun you can have standing up."

Nelson said that he thinks that he will be signing up his 8000th student when his next eight week long series begins.

Caylor said that two stepping is " a total blast."

The college crowd sees that it isn't necessary to drink to have a good time out two stepping. With all of the different things to do in the Stockyards, alcohol isn't necessary, said Caylor. "More country artists are emerging and pop music is kind of fading," said Caylor, "In Texas, country music will probably always be popular. The music can be repetitive but it is easy to pick up and change steps around. Some partners just

"Most people don't care how they look, its really no big deal," said Caylor, "Good dancing boots are necessary. The style is personal-

Caylor said that almost everyone wears boots and jeans, either tight or loose. People wear T-shirts, funky duster shirts or sweaters. He said that undershirts are a must for men because the activity can really make them sweat. Some people also choose to wear hats, he said that not more line dances. " People either enjoy the line dances or really hate them," said Caylor, "It's something that everybody can get on the floor and get involved in though."

don't know to dance with

you. It is a through.'

dance that any girl can be lead

" If you notice that the girl knows

all of the steps that you know and it is obvious that she knows more than

" Now, two step is basic and more advanced people are doing the three step and shuffle dances," said

"It is hard to learn how to two

just the basics then you could go on step without help, but once you and ask her if she would like to try learn and get bored with it you can or shuf-

The two step is a safety

dance

when

ask a

Nine Acres offers free lessons with admission on Friday nights from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Regular admissions on Fridays is $10, but admission between 7 and 8 p.m. is reduced to $5. Both line and couples dances

Cheyenne Cattle Company, located off Bryant Irvin Road, offers lessons on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7 p.m. Lessons are free with price of admission. Tuesday's class offers a basic lesson while Thursday offers a more advanced lesson.

'The lessons offer two different breakdowns of the dance," said club owner Tommy Gerow.

And they call the thing rodeo

By ELISA C. KEE TCU Daily Skiff

"... Bulls and blood, it's the dust and mud, it's the roar of the Sunday crowd, it's the white in the knuckles, the gold in the buckle he'll win the next go 'round...It's boots and chaps, cowboy hats, spurs and latigo ... It's the ropes and the reins and the joy and the pain, and they call the thing Rodeo!"

arth Brooks' song touches on the excitement that cowboys bring to the arena when it is time to compete. And if you've driven north on University Drive towards the Kimbell Museum and noticed an unusually high number of pickup trucks parked around the Will Rogers complex, the reason is, yes, the 97th edition of the Southwestern Exposition and Live Stock Show and Rodeo has begun.

The 1993 Fort Worth Stock Show and Rodeo celebrated its opening last weekend. The Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo is the home of the original indoor rodeo and includes bull riding, bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, calf roping, team roping, steer wrestling, cutting horses, live music, a comedic announcer and those wacky, bullfighting clowns.

The Fort Worth Stock Show actually began in 1896 with a rather informal gathering of ranchers who wanted to show their livestock in an effort to better the quality of meat as well as provide a source of entertainment. The show was originally called the Texas Fat Stock Show and is the oldest stock show in the country, according to a press release from Will Rogers Coliseum.

In 1908 the Cowtown Coliseum, which is located north of Main Street in the Stockyards, was built as the Stock Show's official headquarters. The new indoor arena added several advantages such as the carnival midway and the expanded show was then called the National Feeders and Breed-

Late in 1917, one of the local boosters of the Stock Show suggested that a competitive event featuring cowboys be incorporated into the Stock Show. The term suggested as a name for this competition was spelled r-o-d-e-o and pronounced "ro-DAY-o" - a Spanish word for such cowboy competitions. The word "rodeo" was then adopted as the title for the new stock show event but was eventually pronounced "rode-EE-o". The indoor rodeo became an official event of the Stock Show in 1918 and was held at the North Side Coliseum. The name for the event was then changed to the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show. The first rodeo contest had a total purse of $3,000; comparatively, this year's prize money totals more than $600,000.

The Stock Show Rodeo has scheduled 28 performances during 17 days of the Stock Show. Each performance includes typical rodeo activities along with music, an upbeat announcer, dancing horses and clowns.

The voice of the rodeo, broadcast over the majority of the Stock Show grounds, is baritone Bob Tallman. Tallman is an Oregon native and has been announcing rodeos

Tallman says he is away from his Oregon ranch more than 300 days a year. He spends his time on the rodeo circuit and admits that the world of rodeo and television occupy

TCU Daily Skiff/ Elisa Kee

Calf roping is one of many events featured at this year's rodeo.

much of his time. He is also the voice of the "Great American Cowboy," a radio show which airs each day on more than 200 stations nationwide.

Tallman is a personable emcee. From observing him, one gets the impression that it's really second nature for him to have a microphone in his hand. If crowd reaction is any measure of Tallman's success, it is understandable why he spends so many days each year away from his ranch.

Tickets for the rodeo are $12 for Friday night and weekend performances and $10 for Monday through Thursday nights and all weekday matinees.

Tickets are available at the rodeo box office located in Will Rogers Coliseum, which is open from 9 a.m. through 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from noon until 5 p.m. on Sundays. Tickets are also available through Rainbow Ticketmaster. For further ticket information call (817)877-2420.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 1993 2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

SATURDAY, JANUARY 30, 1993

10:00AM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum 1:30PM Suffolf followed by Southdown Sheep -- Open

Show, followed by selection of Supreme Champion Ewe

and Ram -- Sheep Arena 2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum 7:00PM Minature Horse Performance Classes--Justin Arena

SUNDAY, JANUARY 31, 1993

2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

2:00PM Shorthorn Cattle Show--Cattle Arena 8:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

MONDAY, FEBUARY 1, 1993

9:00AM National Hereford Cattle Show--Justin Arena 2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

2:00PM NRHA Reining Horse Show--Justin Arena

8:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

TUESDAY, FEBUARY 2, 1993

10:00AM Southwestern Exposition Championship Team Penning--Justin

Arena 2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

WEDNESDAY, FEBUARY 3, 1993

1:00PM Club Calf Pen and Champion Prospect Show--West Arena 4:00PM Southwestern Exposition Championship Team Penning--Jusin

THURSDAY, FEBUARY 4, 1993

2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum 2:00PM Brahman Cattle Show--Cattle Arena

8:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

SATURDAY, FEBUARY 6, 1993 1:00PM Southwestern Exposition Invitational Ranch Horse Show,

followed by demonstration of Quarter Horse Sale Horses-

SUNDAY, FEBUARY 7, 1993

2:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum 8:00PM Rodeo and Horse Show--Coliseum

D FISHER

Stock Show style hits mainstream

By NICOLE FOY TCU Daily Skiff

With all the fuss about the Stock Show, it's important to focus on the real issue: What do you wear to an event like

Well, boots and belt buckles aren't just for cowboys anymore.

The western phenomenon is sweeping the nation, and it's attracting all walks of life. Country is now the most popular music in the nation, and the lifestyle seems to be contagious, said Alan Luskey, manager of Ryon's western store in the Stockyards "I think Garth Brooks and all those other new singers have a lot to do with this explosion," Luskey said. "We usually cater to an older, more serious crowd, but young people and the fads are good business.'

Angie Cumbie, manager of the Mayerick Saloon and Trading Post, said she can't predict who her customers will be from day to

"All types of people, and especially students who usually dress preppy or conservative, are coming in here looking for a change.

"It's fun to dress different," she said, "but you don't have to drive a truck or wear starched Wranglers and lace-up ropers to fit in."

Fashion experts say the western trend has bucked its way into the mainstream. Blue denim buttondown shirts, shoe boots and suede vests are only a few of the hottest sellers of the year.

Other specialty stores offer the latest in "cutting edge" country. There are black jeans for women with attached sequined or leather chaps, along with racy bra tops to match. Boots come in colors like yellow neon, sea green, pink and purple. And here's materialism at it's finest — Justin makes boots to match the top-selling Dooney and Bourke purses.

On the same scale, Stetson offers an El Presidente cowboy hat that comes in its own glass case with a certificate of ownership. The emblem on the hatband is 14karat gold. Grand total: $1,000.

> Rows of fashionable hats and boots decorate the walls of the Maverick Saloon and Trading Post located in the Stockyards. TCU Daily Skiff/ Jenni Wallis

For the "serious customers," money is no object when it comes to clothes, Cumbie said.

"I'd say that a lot of the people you'll see at the Stock Show will have spent over $1,000 on an outfit," she said.

That doesn't mean there's a limit, though. At Ryon's you can get a pair of Louisiana alligator boots for anywhere from $1,500 to $4,000. Custom-made boots are also available at the Stockyard's Sean Ryan for up to $5,000.

Fort Worth store owners said business has boomed since the Stockshow opened Friday.

"We always have more customers during the show," said Betty Fincher, co-owner of Fincher's. "But lately they're not all the traditional type. It's I'd say that a lot of the people you'll see at the Stock Show will have spent over $1,000 on an outfit."

ANGIE CUMBIE, Manager, Maverick Saloon and Trading Post

more of a crossover, sporty crowd." As country moves from the older, Roy Rogers stage to the era of Garth Brooks, fashion will surely change with it, Cumbie said. "It will probably grow and attract even more types," she said. "So for the people who say things like 'I'd never be caught dead in boots,' then I say think again."

By BETI

Left, 1 right, to two step pop mus go, cour tion sinc music.

"Two country Wendel Billy Bo formal i until aft instruct Nelso who ha want to they alr Thursd noons. Metrop

Elimpses of a Texas Tradition

Yep, the annual Fort Worth Stock show and rodeo is back in town giving real life cowboys a chance to show off their hard work and giving others a chance to dig out their cowboy boots and ten gallon hats.

For two weeks the Will Rogers Coliseum has been transformed into myriad of beautiful livestock, western wear, pick up trucks, farm equipment and sales demonstrators selling anything from domestic knives to car polish. As usual a highlight of the Stock

Show is that the crowds are able to mingle with llamas, emus, sheep, horses, pigs and almost every breed of cow under the sun.

To keep little and big kids alike amused there is a fairground where those who are brave can test their courage on such rides as the "Kamikaze" and "The Ring of

On every corner, there are booths full of funnel cakes, turkey legs, smoked sausage and corn on the cob to keep hunger at bay.

A day at the Stockshow is a true Texas tradition the entire family can enjoy.

The show runs daily until Sunday, February 7. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children.

Photos By Leiann Simpson.

Two stepping through Texas

By BETH AINE BOLLINGER TCU Daily Skiff

ly Skiff/ Elisa Kee

the rodeo box Rogers Colirom 9 a.m. ugh Saturday n Sundays. ough Rainbow ket informa-

eam

a lot of the at the Stock spent over

SIE CUMBIE, verick Saloon Trading Post orty crowd." from the older, the era of Garth rely change with grow and attract said. "So for the like 'I'd never be then I say think

> Left, right, left, together, step right, together, start again. That's two stepping in a nutshell. Although pop music and fad dances come and go, country music and the classic two-step have been a Texan tradition since the beginning of country

> "Two stepping began as early as country music got started," said Wendell Nelson, dance instructor at Billy Bob's Texas, "There was no formal instruction in country dance until after The Urban Cowboy, then instruction began because there was a need to standardize."

Nelson's lessons are for people who have no previous experience two stepping as well as those who want to brush up on the skills that they already have.

Lessons at Billy Bob's are on Thursday nights and Sunday afternoons. As a part of Metroplex Appreciation Night, admission and lessons are free to those who show a Metroplex Driver's license. A series of basic lessons begins Sunday, February 14. The series will be taught from 5 to 6 p.m. for the following eight Sundays. Each lesson costs $3. Once the series begins, no new students will be allowed to enter so more advanced steps can be

Nelson said that he teaches large groups often. He works with the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce side of the metroplex. He recently travelled to Toronto, Canada to teach a group of 3000 people. He also recently taught a large group from the World Trade Center in to offer lessons to large groups out-

Nelson also said that he gets quite a few TCU students coming in. Last Saturday morning a group of Chi Omega's went to Billy Bob's for a group lesson. "I came to college and started two stepping as a freshman," said Brian Caylor, a junior from Arkansas, "When I started, I was terrible and I'm still not very good, but I enjoy it.

"I have never had a formal lesson. Willing girls would always take me under their wings. It's rare for people to take lessons. Most people just go, their friends are willing to teach them."

For Nelson, growing up with dancing is what led him into teaching the two step. Nelson learned to dance from his six sisters who used him to try out new dance steps.

He got into dancing as a career when he attended a party for Casa Manana. " I was dancing with the wife of a dance school owner. She complemented me on my dancing and urged me to come in for training. My country dance teaching didn't mushroom until after The Urban Cowboy came out," said

Nelson said that since then, his dancing has turned into a career that

keeps all of his time occupied.

Nelson believes that the popularity behind two stepping and country music is the ease in the music and the dance. "The music is so easy to like and it doesn't require you to get too involved in it. The two step is an easy dance," said Nelson, " I always tell people that it is the most fun you can have standing up."

Nelson said that he thinks that he will be signing up his 8000th student when his next eight week long series begins.

Caylor said that two stepping is " a total blast."

The college crowd sees that it isn't necessary to drink to have a good time out two stepping. With all of the different things to do in the Stockyards, alcohol isn't necessary, said Caylor.

"More country artists are emerging and pop music is kind of fading," said Caylor, "In Texas, country music will probably always be popular.

The music can be repetitive but it is easy to pick up and change steps around. Some partners just

" Most people don't care how they look, its really no big deal," said Caylor, "Good dancing boots are necessary. The style is personal-

Caylor said that almost everyone wears boots and jeans, either tight or loose. People wear T-shirts, funky duster shirts or sweaters. He said that undershirts are a must for step without help, but once you make them sweat. Some people also choose to wear hats, he said that not three step a lot of the college crowd or shufdoes though. fle," said " A lot of people Nelson, " go all out with The two belt buckles step is a and wransafety glers," said dance Caylor, " that you but the colcan use lege crowd when doesn't really get that in to it." ask a "With all of the new dance moves that that are being used, I've seen girls literally get dropped on their heads from five or six feet off the ground or thrown across the floor," said Caylor. He added that there are new dances and variations on the two step that people are beginning to use. He mentioned the pretzel which is a fast variation on the two step that can be done to country or rock music. people are also doing don't know to

dance with

you. It is a

dance that any girl can be lead

is obvious that she knows more than

" People either enjoy the line dances or really hate them," said Caylor, "It's something that everybody can get on the floor and get involved in though."

more line dances.

men because the activity can really

" Now, two step is basic and more advanced people are doing the three step and shuffle dances," said

" It is hard to learn how to two

learn and get bored with it you can three step or shuffle," said Nelson. Nelson's dancers will also be featured in an upcoming Miller Lite commercial with John Lovitz of Saturday Night Live. Nelson said that his dancers were taped about a week ago at Filthy McNasty's, a local club. In the commercial, Lovitz tries to hustle free drinks off of the club he is in by saying that he is the Two Stepping World Champion. Nelson's dancers prove him Nine Acres offers free lessons just the basics then you could go on and ask her if she would like to try with admission on Friday nights from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Regular admissions on Fridays is $10, but admission between 7 and 8 p.m. is reduced to $5. Both line and couples dances taught.

Cheyenne Cattle Company, located off Bryant Irvin Road, offers lessons on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7 p.m. Lessons are free with price of admission. Tuesday's class offers a basic lesson

while Thursday offers a more advanced lesson. 'The lessons offer two different 'If you notice that the girl knows all of the steps that you know and it breakdowns of the dance," said club owner Tommy Gerow.

News

Positions: Effective Interviewing"

will detail what on-campus interviewers are looking for. Students interested in resident assistant or orientation student advisor positions are recommended to attend this program. The session will be held in Stu-

host a panel of TCU graduates discussing how their majors led them to jobs in fields ranging from business to social work. Sigma Pi Chi is sponsoring this workshop in Moudy 320S job possibilities in intramurals. Moncrief Hall and the Rec Sports Department are sponsoring this workshop in the Moncrief 4th floor lobby at 8 p.m.

over finances, future contacts and fun. This program will be held in the Career Week 1993 is: Monday, Feb.

- Business and Industry Day, Tuesday, Feb. 2 - Health Professions Day,

Wednesday, Feb. 3 - Human Services Day, Thursday, Feb. 4 - Fine

The schedule of events for TCU

Colby Hall lobby at 10 p.m.

"Finding a Summer Job" will go

"Rec Sports Careers" will detail

"Careers for Speech Majors" will dent Center 215 at 5 p.m.

at 7 p.m.

Career advice given at job fair

By SHANNON SILL TCU Daily Skiff

How do I get a job? Did I choose the right major? What can I do with my degree? Will anyone hire me? For answers to these questions and more, the Career Planning and Placement Center is hosting TCU Career Week 1993.

The week, Feb. 1 through 5, is designed to help educate students about career issues no matter how far along they are in the career planning

Career fairs and workshops are planned to help students get information. Each day is designated for a specific interest area, but all students are encouraged to attend.

"This is not really about getting a job," said Sara Turman, student coordinator of Career Week. "It's more a chance to make the contacts, meet the employers, and consider some options other than the very obvious ones."

Each of the days - business and industry, health professions, human services, and fine arts and communications - is for all students, not just set up each day and will be staffed by

KΔ

KΔ

ΚΔ

ΚΔ

 $K\Delta$

ΚΔ

 $K\Delta$

KΔ

 $K\Delta$

 $K\Delta$

 $K\Delta$

KΔ

KΔ

 $K\Delta$

 $K\Delta$

ΚΔ

KΔ

KΛ

 $K\Delta$

KΔ

for those majors, Turman said.

Friday, January 29, 1993

"Students often become so focused on the jobs directly related to their degrees that they do not think about their other choices," Turman said.

"This is an opportunity for them to consider their options in an informal situation," she said.

Any students with questions about jobs, internships, or companies should participate regardless of their classification or major, said Carolyn Ulrickson, director of the Career Planning and Placement Center.

"This (Career Week) is for people to get information about careers," Ulrickson said, "but there are going to be some people who get jobs as a result of this week.

"More and more companies today are hiring through internships, so I would like to see freshmen, sophomores and juniors going to the fair and asking questions about internships," Ulrickson said.

Employers will be in the Student Center lounge from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Approximately 30 booths will be

Kappa Delta would like to thank its outgoing council...

Melissa Buysson ... President

Gretchen Adkins ... Panhellenic

And Congratulate its New Council ...

Kristal Griffith ... President

Suzanne Rumac ... VP Public Relations Melinda Estoll ... Asst. Treasurer

Cheri Hester ... VP Pledge Education

Melissa Wharton ... VP Membershp

Julie Gentry ... VP Pledge Education

Patricia Hankenson .

Lori Radke ... VP Membership

Tasha Metz ... VP Standards

Karri Lovitt ... VP Public Relations

Gena Schallehh ... VP Standards

company representatives.

"The people are coming because they want to answer students' questions," Ulrickson said. "The worst thing that could happen is that no students go up to them and ask questions about their companies or careers."

Students are also encouraged to attend the workshops sponsored by various campus organizations throughout the week.

Workshops are intended to appeal all students, especially freshmen and sophomores who are not sure of their majors, Turman said.

Six workshops will be offered on campus Monday. "The CPA Exam" will feature accountants discussing the current exam and the changes which will soon go into effect. This workshop will be in the Student Center from 11:30 a.m. to noon.

"Positioning Yourself for the Job" will cover how a degree does not have to limit your job possibilities. A TCU graduate will tell how to target the company you would like to work for and how to interview successfully. The workshop will be in Student Center 218 at 5 p.m.

Amy Clutz ... Treasurer

Anne Nellis ... Secretary

Beth Osterchill ... Efficiency

Karen Jones ... Treasurer

Amanda Jones ... Secretary

Beth Osterchill ... Efficiency

Panhellenic

Karen Jones ... Assistant Treasurer

Arts and Communications Day. "Obtaining Campus Leadership

ΚΔ

 $K\Delta$

 $K\Delta$

 $K\Delta$

 $K\Delta$

 $K\Delta$

KΔ

ΚΔ

 $K\Delta$

KΔ

ΚΔ

KΔ

KΔ

ΚΔ

KΔ

 $K\Delta$

KΔ

KΔ

Song/ from page 1

experience," Anderson said. "It's the first time I ever sang there, and it was wonderful.'

Anderson currently performs with her back-up singers, Selina Johnson and Wendy Gallatin, who are known as "Double Take."

She said her next step in advancing her career is signing with a major record company.

"I feel like I've had a lot of experience, and now I'm just hoping I can get a label," Anderson said. "I've tried to sing as much as possible, and I feel like I really have a chance to take my career one step further."

Though she has entertained audiences with her verbal skills since the age of seven, her career really began when she met Curtis Wilson, a professor in the TCU music department.

"It all began when Curtis Wilson heard me audition for a show and wanted me to meet Gene Howel, who is president of Premier Entertainment of Dallas," Anderson said.

"It was total coincidence that I had already met Gene," she said. "When I was in fourth grade, Gene heard me sing and wrote a letter to me saying that if I was still singing in a few years he would love to help me start a career.'

To launch Anderson's career, Howel took her to Nashville, otherwise known as "Music City." There she met country music personalities Gary Morris, Laurie Ann Crook and

"It was a great opportunity to meet these people and talk to them about how the business works," Anderson

With the backing of Premier Entertainment, Anderson produced her first tape titled "I'm Ready." It included six songs, all written by Anderson.

"You can't just put a demo-tape together," she said.

"Without my mother, father and Gene I could not have done any of this," she said. "It takes a lot of money. My parents, because they believe I have a chance, are helping me to achieve that dream."

Other events in Anderson's singing career include performing on the television variety show, "Sunday Night Showcase," where she was interviewed by Randy Galloway, sports columnist for the Dallas Morning News. She performed "Doctor in the House", a song from her demo-tape.

Anderson also met country singer Janie Frickie while both were playing at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene. Fricke, who had heard about Anderson's singing ability, asked if she would like to perform a duet on stage.

Currently, Anderson is trying to form a band and go on a Southwest concert tour.

15TH ANNUAL NURSING CAREER ROUNDUP

Opportuntities for Networking and Career Development for Nurses and Students of Nursing

TARRANT COUNTY CONVENTION CENTER EXHIBIT HALL

> THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1993 OPEN 9:30AM-4:00 PM

FREE 100 Exhibitors, Refreshments, Door Prizes

Chi Omega Proudly Congratulates Our New Initiates

Chance/page 1

hours every night, and four-to-five nights a week," she said.

She compares her schedule to that of a person with two completely sep-

"Sometimes my job is hard - I enjoy it, but it's hard. I feel like I am two different people," Krueger said. "On one hand I have all of my responsibilities to the team; on the other, I'm just a normal college student attending classes."

Her schedule has gotten even more hectic ever since the Cowboys won the right to play in the Super Bowl after clinching the NFC Championship over the San Francisco '49ers.

Krueger said Super Bowl authorities chose the music that the cheerleaders must perform to, and much of their time has been spent re-choreographing their dances. "We've been working very hard trying to learn and adapt to the parts of all 27 songs they've given us," Krueger said. "Our choreographer, Judy Trammell, and our director and assistant director have done a great

> Skiff Ads Sell 921-7426

HAROLD'S

Now through February 7, save even more at Harold's by deducting an x-tra 20% from the markdown price of merchandise already reduced 25% to 50%!

EXAMPLE: Original price $70, on sale for $39.90... extra 20% off...your price $31.50!

LOOK FOR THE RED X TAGS AND SIGNS!

University Park Village, Fort Worth

$AX\Omega$

Congratulates our 1993 Initiates

