ich to his perations

yourself," ation

FEATURES All about hunger and what students are doing to make a difference.

SPORTS

The Flying Frogs explain some of the intricacies of the long jump. PAGE 6

DAILY SKIFF

Director: Lending changes not affecting university

By BAILEY SHIFFLER Staff Reporter

One of TCU's preferred lenders, amidst the threat of a lawsuit, is changing its policies on its revenue-sharing program, but an administrator said Monday that the university already complies response to New York Attorwith the new policies.

Briones, founder and chief for deceptive business practices,

Finance Partners, said the company will increase disclosure and require explicit terms for what revenue-sharing payments can be used for.

The press release was a ney General Andrew Cuomo's In a press release, Tamera intent to file suit against EFP protocol, adding clear admissions to its marketing material and customer communications. They will also require schools payments to use them for the benefit of students.

executive for Education part of an ongoing investigation. arships and financial aid at the attorney general's plans to Briones said they will immedi- TCU, said the changes will not file suit. ately enhance their disclosure affect TCU because the university is already in compliance interested in what the schools cerns the attorney general with the terms. He said he likes are actually doing with these the new terms of the loan pro-funds," Scott said. grams and is in favor of them that receive revenue sharing being a requirement for all par- has not returned multiple school customers in court, if ticipating schools.

Mike Scott, director of schol- EFP's policy changes will alter all questions to the release.

phone calls regarding EFP's necessary." Scott said he does not think press release and EFP deferred

"While we hope that the changes we are announcing Cuomo "doesn't seem to be today will address any conmight have," Briones said, We are fully prepared to The attorney general's office defend our program and our

See LENDING, page 2

Officials seek controlled drill period

By JAMES BROWN Staff Reporter

In a second natural gas discussion with the TCU community Wednesday, an administrator revealed tentative details of TCU's drilling calendar and said the university would have the authority to temporarily cease drilling during certain periods.

Brian Gutierrez, vice chancellor for finance and administration, told participants that within the first year the producer would put the pipeline underground, drill a test core to ensure gas was in the area and drill one to two wells.

'We actually want the drilling See GAS, page 2

FOR YOUR INFO

Anyone with questions or concerns regarding TCU's natural gas opportunities may send an e-mail to news@tcu.edu.

MICHAEL BOU-NACKLIE / Staff Photographer CFO Brian Gutierrez fields questions from students and faculty Wednesday in the Student Center Lounge about possible gas drilling

HEELING HUNGER

BILLY WESSELS / Photo Edito

A group of students begin the 3rd Annual Heel Hunger 5K Run/Walk outside the University Recreation Center, This event was part of the 25th Annual Hunger Week, an effort to raise awareness and money for the hungry.

Students design, model outfit for charity

By ELIZABETH DAVIDSON

Staff Reporter Dressed in white surgical masks, blue latex gloves and a rhinestone stethoscope, a TCU student paraded down the runway at a benefit auction and walked away with an award Maelen Richie, a junior interior design major, competed in the fashion show segment of the International Interior Design Association Auction 2007 on Friday at the Grand Pavilion at Dallas Trade Mart. It was the tenth year for the annual event. Titled "Lights, Camera, Auction," the event includ- doctor category. ed a silent auction, sit-down dinner, variety show, fashion show and a live auction. The proceeds from the auctions benefit the Make-A-Wish Foundation of the North Texas Chapter and will sponsor at least two children's wishes. Three children from the Make-A-Wish Foundation fashion show, said Rachael Yoss, a junior interior design major who attended the event. The categories were picked the themes for the design and construct our own costume to fit the category we were given," Richie said. "I came up with the concept for the design, constructed it doctor, dinosaur and Cinder- myself and modeled it during ella; Richie appeared in the the fashion show.'

Members of the Interior Design Association at TCU came up with the theme of "The Doctor Wears Prada" for their outfit, a play on the movie "The Devil Wears Prada," said Erica Bailey, a junior interior design major and president of TCU's Interior Design Association.

Richie said she spent about 20 hours creating the dress.

The outfit was a skirt made out of white surgical masks, a belt of blue medical latex gloves, a bodice covered with white gauze and blue medical gloves. She also carried a blue Prada purse and slung a white "It was our challenge to medical lab coat over her shoulder on the runway.

"The idea was to create an outfit out of materials that doctors use instead of making an outfit a doctor would

See FASHION, page 2

Environmental impact subject of cross-campus bicycle ride

By ASHER FOGLE Staff Reporter

Students will have a chance this afternoon to do more than of the Purple Bike Program. just spin their wheels for the environment.

The TCU Purple Bike Program is hosting Le Tour de Frogs from 4 to 6 p.m. today to start up the organization and educate students about their impact on the environment.

ute bicycle ride, beginning on the lawn in front of Sadler Hall and continuing to three other stops on campus where students will take a quiz of 10 to 15 questions about the environ- was developed two years ago

During the reception after the event, volunteers will grade the quizzes and award prizes to the winners, Whitworth said.

become more aware of their environmental footprint and what they can do to reduce Le Tour de Frogs is a 20-min-their footprint," Whitworth said. "The other point is to get test them out.'

The Purple Bike Program

ment, said Keith Whitworth, a in Whitworth's applied sociology sociology professor and founder class as a project to decrease students' environmental impact on the earth by providing bicycles for their use. Fifteen bicycles are available through the program, although Whitworth said he "The goal is to help students hopes to purchase 85 additional bicycles this year with a potential Vision In Action grant.

Kyle Amato, a junior environmental science major, is in Whitworth's applied sociology students on the purple bikes so class and worked on a team to they can get used to them and create the program's Web site,

See BIKETOUR, page 2

Tim Nullan, Brittany Hicks, Lauren Hicks and David Kessler promote Le Tour de

Frogs in the Student Center. The bicycle ride will begin today at 4 p.m. at the ### Conference to focus on emerging markets

By LISA FALCONE Staff Reporter

Like any good Fort Worth host knows, the first thing on the agenda for international visitors is an evening at Billy Bob's.

The M.J. Neeley School of Business will play host to entrepreneurial experts from around the world attending a first-ever conference held on campus. Garry Bruton, professor and academic director for the Neeley Entrepreneurship Center, is coordinating the conference, which will focus on entrepreneurship in emerging markets. "For emerging markets, entrepreneurship is the key to the future," Bruton said. "That is where their economic growth comes from." As a result of fast-growing markets, underdeveloped economies such as Russia, China, India and Brazil are predicted to have larger economies than the United States, United Kingdom, France, Japan, Germany and Italy by the year 2050, Bruton said. "What Garry has done is brought together extraordinary academic leaders from around the world to come and talk about research issues in entrepreneurship," said Daniel Short, dean of the business school.

The conference starts tonight with dinner at Billy Bob's to give the visitors a taste of Texas. Shaker Zahra, head of the entrepreneurship center at the University of Minnesota, will speak on the future of entrepreneurial research and present the first paper on the relationship between Islam and entrepreneurship.

On Friday, the conference will relocate to Smith Entrepreneurs Hall for academic presentations from international scholars about entrepreneurship in emerging markets. Mike Hitt, editor of the Strategic Entrepreneurship Journal, will speak on the future of entrepreneurial research and emerging

"The truth is, if you get enough people doing business together, they never fight wars against each other," Bruton said. "People have enough to eat and enough to dress their families, and so many of the world's problems just disappear."

Neeley's networking and credibility will increase when the top entrepreneurship leaders see the facilities, faculty and students, Short said.

"They are going to leave thinking this is one terrific place," he

See ENTREPRENEUR, page 2

WEATHER TODAY: Strong Storms, 70/61 FRIDAY: T-Storms, 65-57 SATURDAY: Partly Cloudy, 76/53

PECULIAR FACT

PULLMAN, Wash. - A man was charged with theft and burglary after police said they found 93 pounds of panties, brassieres and other underwear at his home Associated Press

TODAY'S HEADLINES

OPINION: Self-help books deprecate, page 3 SPORTS: Alumnus enters Spanish Hall of Fame, page 4

Send your questions, compliments, complaints and hot tips to the staff at

NEWS2SKIFF@TCU.EDU

CONTACT US

ENTREPRENEUR

From page 1

Bruton said he received a lot of support from Short in promoting the conference.

"Garry Bruton came in and told me he wanted money so I gave it to him," Short said. "He's like my really old son who just comes in and tells me he wants money and I have to give it to him.'

EnviroFootprint.org, which will formally launch today.

The Web site allows users to measure their carbon output and evaluate the number of tons they are emitting into the atmosphere, Whitworth said. To counteract the effects of the carbon emis- ment," Amato said. sions, Whitworth said, users can make donations to support the chase trees for the organization Plant-It 2020.

"I'm very excited about changes that I think need to happen to start altering how people see the world and Hall 1. interact with the environ-

Rowe, president of the U.S. and said he was impressed by warming and the environment that."

of Education for Sustainable Development and co-chair of the Higher Education Associ- and believes in making changthe event's potential to raise ations Sustainability Consor- es," Whitworth said. "My goal awareness and help bring tium, will be speaking about is that, as a university, we Whitworth first heard Rowe speak about issues of sustain- students do not realize their connection, they'll turn TCU Following the event, Debra ability at a conference last year individual impact on global upside down. I really believe

"She is a pragmatic scholar about some of the social creating a healthier planet, begin thinking about sustain- incredibly sensitive, and they people and economy at 6:30 ability issues and initiatives so have all the elements to be p.m. in Sid Richardson Lecture that it becomes a part of our lives here at TCU.'

Whitworth said he believes

Purple Bike Program and pur- Partnership for the Decade her intelligence and practical- or their ability to save energy by simply shutting down their computers at night or turning off the faucet while they brush their teeth.

"I think our students are socially conscious," Whitworth said. "They're just not aware. Once they make that period to be very tight and very short," Gutierrez said. "You have to create a window that's adequate to allow the of wells it will take to drill the campus."

GAS

From page 1

Gutierrez also informed the group that there will most project. likely be only one drill site located west of Main Campus that will include six to eight

Although intermittent drilling will slow the overall process, it will provide a reprieve during high-traffic times of the year such as football season, Gutierrez said.

Apart from the details of a potential drilling schedule, TCU's message to the com- paign. munity remained unchanged: possibility.

residents gathered in the student center lounge to discuss

WFAA presents

gordon keith

People are calling

local television."

the gordon keith show

"the funniest show on the

negotiations with Four Sevens

Resources Co. and stressed that a signed lease would be required to meet the university's strict safety and environmental stipulations.

"Safety is a primary concern company to drill the number for us," said Gutierrez, restating last week's stance that if safety could not be maintained, TCU would not go through with the

> Don Mills, vice chancellor for student affairs, said TCU has hired an independent safety during each step in the process

> The first TCU-sponsored discussion, which took place March 22, saw a larger crowd than Wednesday's forum and included some outspoken critics of the potential drilling cam-

At that meeting, two TCUdrilling on campus is a distant area residents, one of which is a TCU history professor, Unable to attend last week's expressed acute apprehension session, another wave of stu- toward increased truck traffic picture," said Allen, likening dents, faculty, staff and area and prolonged construction around their homes.

Wednesday's gathering TCU's natural gas opportuni- lacked such opposition and featured mostly procedural ques-

TCU had entered exclusive drill locations.

Because of a non-disclosure agreement with Four Sevens, Gutierrez would not divulge the monetary value of the deal being negotiated, but said last week that it was "significant."

Even if drilling fails to yield gas, and, therefore, fails to generate royalties, TCU would still receive a considerable bonus simply for signing the lease, Gutierrez said

Beyond the financial motivations of a deal with Four Sevens, Mills said several departments, risk manager to help ensure namely geology, environmental science and business, would benefit from the hands-on educational opportunities.

Taylor Allen, an entrepreneurial management major who worked as a landman for an energy company based in Oklahoma, said he had no safety or aesthetic concerns about the potential lease and is in favor of natural gas exploration of campus.

You have to look at the big gas exploration to current campus construction. "The middle of campus does not look very good right now, but, in a year, it will be ben-Gutierrez reiterated that tions regarding timelines and eficial to the university."

FASHION

From page 1

actually wear," Richie.

in the fashion show, four for each category. The awards given out for the show were best overall design for each category, best use of materi-Richie won the award.

said. "I had a really good an honor to have her repretime, and other people sent us."

noticed I had fun walking down the runway. It was a nice gesture."

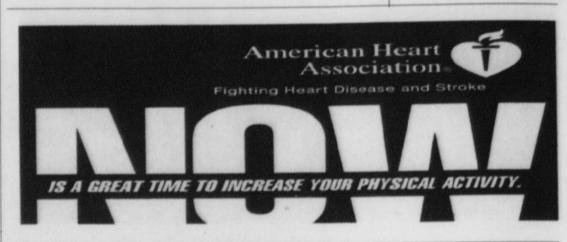

This is the first time TCU's building. IDA students participated in Twelve models participated the event. Richie said she would like to do it again next

'As president, I was incredibly pleased with the students who attended the event and als and best walk, for which how professional we were," Bailey said. "I am extremely "I was flattered," Richie proud of Maelen, and it was

Next Monday, pictures from the event and the dress will be on display in the DEMT

CORRECTION

In the "Different Mediums" article in Wednesday's Skiff, Britta Hinze was identified as a 2005 graduate. She is a 2004 graduate.

. Free Internet for Customers · Free Carwash with Oil Change

Transmission Flushing

· Windshield Repair · 48hr Raincheck

3124 Collinsworth (behind phiversity Park starbucks & Migh) • 817 335.9274

Fort Worth Tradition for Over 13 Years

SPORTS, LOUNGE These aren't Specials...

$1.50 Import Bottles Domestic Bottles

these are our Regular Prices! Wells

Premiums

Sun-Thur $4,00 Shots & Bombs

& Sports Lounge Doors Open @ 4PM 9 - 42' HD Plasmas

Comedy Nightclub

3 - 50' HD Plasmas BOSE Surround Sound & Touch Tunes Juke Box

2 - Brunswick Pool Tables Golden Tee, Big Buck Hunter & Silver Strike Bowling

Sunday Best of Texas Comedy Night . No Cover . Great Drink Prices

Calls

605 Houston Street . Downtown Fort Worth www.hyenascomedynightclub.com

ACHIEVE Summer Business Institute at TCU

You don't have to be a business major to benefit from business savvy, Today's job market requires business essentials in every career field. ACHIEVE gives nonbusiness majors the expertise and confidence to advance as a leader in any organization.

WHAT: Four-week program covering the most important aspects of business and leadership.

competitive advantage in the job market. WHO: Non-business majors completing their junior or senior year of college, or recent college graduates.

WHY: Complements your current degree and provides a

WHEN: May 14 - June 8, 2007 Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

WHERE: Neeley School of Business at TCU, ranked higher than any other Texas business school in regional rankings by The Wall Street Journal.®

> For more information, call 817-257-7115 or visit www.summerbiz.tcu.edu

TCU DAILY SKIFF

Editor in Chief: Adrienne Lang Managing Editor: John-Laurent Tronch Associate Editor: Leslie Honey Copy Desk Chief: Michael Dodd

TONIGHT 10pm

the gordon keith show

missing.

Sports Editor: Marcus Murphree Features Editor: Amber Parcher Photo Editor: Billy Wessels Advertising Manager: Natalie Haines Student Publications Director: Robert Bohler Business Manager: Bitsy Faulk Production Manager: Vicki Whistler Director, Schieffer School: Tommy

Attorney G regards to sharing pra TCU has a

Atto

Finance Part cial aid supp scrutinized b "unlawful ar The harm in this case, bounds of h

York. If the rates for stu static, why The answ motives. Per some feathe Apple.

Current in it seems littl TCU and EF

Self Walk into

America and help section

yet conspict COMMENTARY

the biggest Americans sleep over. Diet," "Chic Soul" and " Mars, Wom all claim to to a happie are these a concerned average An It seems m are just into bank accou folios. America literature"; alone, Ame million on according ing.com. W $200 semi pants find ing, "I will my destiny quick guid the Real E one of tho mercials? 1 improvem up a $2.99 apparently Americans Publishing These se tend to pr

Fai

As tax o of Americ

sense of y

return. In COMMENTAL

> As a resul inaccurate ing too m bottom lin > system is Politici: private cit numerous taxation p sitions, th

Editoria JOHN-LAU

MARCUS N

TCU Box 298050, Fort Worth, TX 76129 Phone: (817) 257-7428 Fax: (817) 257-7133

www.wfaa.com/gordonkeit

turning ey brush

ents are

and they ts to be " Whitjust not ake that

urn TCU

y believe res from ress will

e DEMT

ON -

t Medi-

nesday's

as iden-raduate.

Juke Box

t TCU

ior or nal.®

raduates.

uate.

- Arthur Miller

THE SKIFF VIEW

Attorney general exceeded bounds

uring the past week, TCU financial aid officials have been going toe-to-toe with the New York Attorney General Andrew Cuomo in regards to allegedly unethical revenue sharing practices.

TCU has a partnership with Education Finance Partners, the key lender for TCU financial aid support. This partner is being heavily scrutinized by the attorney general's office for "unlawful and deceptive acts and practices."

The harm from this is minimal, and, in this case, Cuomo is overstepping the bounds of his position of power in New York. If the amount of money and interest rates for student payback on loans has been static, why is there such a problem?

The answer lies in the attorney general's motives. Perhaps, he simply wants to ruffle some feathers from the highchair in the Big Apple.

Current investigations are taking place, and it seems little evidence is pointing toward TCU and EFP being truly guilty parties.

Andrew Cuomo and the attorney general's office should be ashamed for overstepping their bounds on a subject that is not very concrete in its standing on what may be illegal or not. As of now, members of TCU financial services are expecting an out-ofcourt settlement regarding the revenue sharing to take place. Not touching the lending company would have been an equally valid alternative.

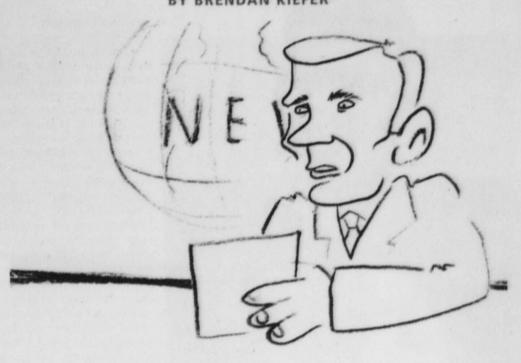

Locally, university financial aid employees have made the effort to show there are other lending and loan companies in addition to EFP available to students, proving other lending companies are always available for students needing to take out loans during the college years.

Campus workers have done their part, now it is up to the attorney general to make a decision on what is just for both EFP and the TCU financial aid office.

Sometimes a cliche is all that can be said in a situation like this, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it."

Sports editor Marcus Murphree for the editorial board.

BY BRENDAN KIEFER

"In breaking news, polls say that Anna Nicole Smith is not breaking news."

Self-help books waste of money

Walk into any bookstore in America and look at the selfhelp section to find an eclectic yet conspicuously overpopulated selection of personal advice. Authors such as Stephen R. Covey, Anthony Robbins and Deepak Chopra claim to have the answers to all the biggest personal problems Americans have been losing sleep over. "The South Beach Diet," "Chicken Soup for the Soul" and "Men are from Mars, Women are from Venus" all claim to have the answers to a happier, healthier life. Yet are these authors really that concerned with helping the average American's problems? It seems more likely that they are just interested in their bank accounts and stock port-

Americans love "success literature"; in fact, in 2006 alone, Americans spent $741 million on self-help books, according to ParaPublishing.com. What about those $200 seminars where participants find themselves chanting, "I will take control of my destiny" or the get-richquick guide to "Dominating the Real Estate Market" from one of those late-night infomercials? In 2005, the selfimprovement industry picked up a $2.99 billion check from apparently problem-riddled Americans, according to Para-Publishing.com.

These self-help advocates tend to promote a critical and constructive method.

First, they make the reader feel as though there is something wrong with his or her life, and second, they claim the only road to happiness is to buy into their messages. The problem with this mode of selling a product is not peculiar to self-help books. Nearly every product sold uses that critical/constructive method. But self-help books are personally effective. They prey on the weak by making them feel inferior to the speaker, thus, reinforcing the need to be cured of a problem that they did not know they had. Ideas such as "releasing the inner child" and "unlocking your full inner potential" lead listeners to feel that there is a problem in their lives, and the only way to fix it is by following the speaker's, say, 12 Steps to Being Sexy.

It may be safe to say that many of these works are loaded with pseudoscientific psychobabble, disguising common-knowledge sayings with medical jargon or citing obscure research results. That really gets under my skin, especially when it demeans the average consumer and creates unhealthy expectations that are not necessary for living a full and happy life. So far, I've presented a rather skeptical account about these gurus of the good life, but there are some benefits in the things they say. Psychotherapists have shown there is a measurable benefit to listening to the advice of men, such as Stephen R. Covey, writer of "The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People," for it promotes a mentality that seems to be a precondition for effectively functioning in

After Intel started running employees through Covey's program, communication between the techs and the engineers improved and productivity jumped noticeably. According to a Newsweek article from 2000, 2,500 psychologists rated their favorite books and authors in "The Authoritative Guide to Self-Help Resources in Mental Health" saying that at least two-thirds of the available material was beneficial. Yet there is no laboratory test to give empirical proof that this particular method or any particular 10-step program actually works.

All in all, these authors are self-interested swindlers who create problems so they heal the reader with clever programs that solve issues the reader doesn't actually have. With some rhetoric and a clever vocabulary, Americans are just curing themselves of a placebo effect. If that is the case, these authors have no interest in improving the human condition; they are only interested in their own selfish gains: book sales.

So, while we may find some nuggets of wisdom in literature out there, if it starts with a 10-step plan or bears the word "secret" somewhere in the title, save the money, get some free advice from those with wisdom and buy

> Win Jackson is a sophomore radio TV-film major from Fort Worth.

Ireland needs to reunite, end IRA's terrorist actions

It's incredible that violence and bloodshed has occurred for more than 400 years in an area the size of Connecticut that has a current population just larger than

but lasting slightly

the city of Philadelphia,

peace may finally be in sight. Monday marked the first face-to-face meeting between leaders of Northern Ireland's two dominant rival parties, Sinn Fein and the Democratic Unionist Party, according to a recent

New York Times article. Even more amazingly, Gerry Adams of Sinn Fein and the Rev. Ian Paisley of the D.U.P. agreed to work together to create a joint provincial government by May 8.

For those who aren't up on their Irish history, Northern Ireland has been embroiled in conflict since the settlement of Protestants from Scotland and England in the 17th century. Ireland, as a predominantly Catholic nation, wanted independence from English rule, but Northern Irish Protestants considered themselves loyal English citizens. This Catholic-Protestant conflict, while still a hot topic, has taken a back seat to the nationalist-unionist conflict, which was exaggerated by the Irish War of Independence and the Irish Civil War at the beginning of the 20th century and still goes on today.

The most extreme nationalists, the Irish Republican Army, are notorious for resorting to acts of terrorism to pressure the counties of Northern Ireland to join the Republic of Ireland and create a single Irish nation.

It was because of a 2002 conflict where a member of Sinn Fein was accused of spying for the IRA that Northern Ireland lost the right enjoyed by the other UK provinces, Wales and Scotland, to a provincial government. In 2005, the IRA declared an end to the terror, most likely because of a lack of funding and support from U.S. citizens who had traditionally been a main source of income for the IRA but whose attitudes toward terrorism changed in a post-9/11 world.

The 2005 disarmament of the IRA seems to have paved the way for Monday's agreement. According to the New York Times article, U.K. Prime Minister Tony Blair said, "This won't stop Republicans being any less Republican or nationalist or making unionists less fiercely unionist. But what it does mean is that people will come together, respecting each other's point of view, and share power, make sure politics is only expressed by peaceful and democratic means.

For some Americans, Ireland is a place of leprechauns and Guinness, of shamrocks and St. Patrick's Day. When I visited the Republic of Ireland during my fall semester in London, my tour guide said many visiting Americans don't even know that the Republic of Ireland is an independent country and that Northern Ireland is a province of the U.K., yet there are thousands of us who can trace back to some form of Irish heritage.

Well, as a country committed to fighting a War on Terror, it's time the U.S. paid attention to Ireland because the success of a Northern Irish joint government could mean an end to one of the world's most notorious terrorist organiza-

Talia Sampson is a junior news-editorial journalism and international relations major from Moorpark, Calif. Her column appears Thursdays.

FairTax plan best resolution for confusing tax time

As tax day approaches, millions of Americans scramble to make sense of yet another income tax return. In the process, many discover the ridicu-COMMENTARY pages of tax rules govern the system, rules that even professionals do not always understand. As a result, most tax returns are inaccurate, meaning people are paying too much or too little tax. The lous complexity and unfairness of America's income tax system. Some 66,000

system is broken and needs repair. Politicians, talk show hosts and private citizens alike have proposed numerous solutions to America's taxation problem. Of all the propositions, the FairTax, proposed by bottom line is America's income tax

Georgia Congressman John Linder, is perhaps the best and most feasible option. As described in Neal Boortz's "The FairTax Book," the FairTax is a comprehensive reform plan that would abolish every form of federal taxation, shut down the Internal Revenue Service, repeal the 16th Amendment and replace all of this with a simple, federal sales tax. Thus, instead of paying taxes based on earnings, everyone would pay taxes based on spending. The rich spend more, so they pay more tax, and the poor spend less, so they pay less tax. There would be no tracking of income, the tax code would be only 132 pages long, and nobody would have to file a confusing income tax return.

If implemented, how exactly would this so-called FairTax system work? Consider the following example: A college student works

Editorial Policy

20 hours a week at $10 per hour. At the end of the week, he receives a paycheck for the entire amount of $200, because under the FairTax, there is no withholding of earnings. Perhaps he decides to save $100 of this check. This untaxed $100 could grow tax-free, earning the student more interest than he would have otherwise earned under the income tax system. Then he spends the other $100 at the mall. At the mall, a 23 percent federal tax is included in the cost of all new goods. Even with this 23 percent, however, the overall cost of goods is not significantly different from prices under today's income tax system. This is because without an income tax, economists expect the average price of goods to drop about 22 percent (visit fairtax. org or read The FairTax Book for further explanation). In the end, the college student would have more money saved and more money to spend than he would under the current income tax system.

The world's 10th largest economy uses a similar sales tax system to generate the majority of its revenue. In this economy, residents pay no income tax, while a 6.25 percent sales tax generates enough revenue to successfully fund the government. The whole system is extremely simple and successful. So, where is this booming economy? It is actually the state of Texas.

Overall, the FairTax is the best way to solve the complexity and fairness issues associated with America's income tax system. This sales-based tax would result in every individual having more spending money, the option to save earnings tax-free and the ability to control how much tax he pays through how much he purchases.

Ultimately, the FairTax is a just, efficient, transparent and intelligent solution to the frustration and inequity of America's broken income tax

Caleb Slavin is a freshman entrepreneurial management major from Flower Mound.

Editorial Board

JOHN-LAURENT TRONCHE

MARCUS MURPHREE

ANDREW CHAVEZ LINDSEY BEVER

AMBER PARCHER

The content of the Opinion page does not necessarily represent the views of Texas Christian University. The Skiff View editorial represents the view of the TCU Daily Skiff editorial board listed to the left. The Skiff View is the collective opinion of the editorial board and may not reflect the views of the individual writers. Signed letters, columns and cartoons represent the opinion of the writers and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the editorial board. Letters to the editor: The Skiff welcomes letters to the editor for publication. To submit a letter, e-mail it to LETTERS2SKIFF@TCU.EDU. Letters must include the author's classification, major and phone number. Skiff reserves the right to edit or reject letters for style, taste and size restrictions.

Rodemiro Gonzales stands in his TCU football uniform in the 1950s. He was inducted into the National Hispanic Sports Hall of Fame on March 23 in San Antonio.

Alum joins Hispanic Sports Hall of Fame

By ASHLEIGH WHALEY

Coming to TCU from South Texas on a football and baseball scholarship was like dropping in by parachute, said the 1960 alumnus inducted into the National Hispanic Sports Hall of Fame on Friday.

Gonzales said he developed a Hotel. Eight students were deep appreciation for educa- also awarded $1000 scholartion. He began to realize the ships each during the ceremopotential he never thought he had growing up in Hebbronville, where the median income is less than $25,000 and the population is 90 percent Hispanic or Latino, according to the 2000 census report.

Gonzales has been an inspi-Antonio area for the past 60 years serving as a school but also enlightening." principal, football coach and human resources administrator, said Joe Cortez, President of the Hispanic Sports Foundation for Education, Inc.

Committed to educational field. development, Gonzales has made a tremendous impact on ter of the school made me feel the lives of countless children, Cortez said, and his association with the foundation will help many students break the financial and social barriers they face.

The foundation inducted six athletes, including Gonzales, into the hall of fame at In the classroom, Rodemiro 6 p.m. Saturday in the Omni ny to be used toward college

> Gonzales is quick to remember the names of his most influential professors at TCU.

"They instilled in me the belief that I wasn't going to fail, that failure wasn't an ration to children in the San option," Gonzales said. "The academics were challenging

Although Gonzales was one of the few Hispanic students at TCU during the 1950s, he recalls being treated like everyone else on and off the

"The integrity and charac-

"They instilled in me the belief that I wasn't going to fail, that failure wasn't an option. The academics were challenging but also enlightening."

Rodemiro Gonzales

TCU Alumnus

big family," he said. "The professors knew who I was making college a reality for the entire community, Cortez said.

a Bachelor of Science in biology and a job offer from a Fort Worth oil company. He refused the job because of a "call to education" he said ners, John Hines and Robhe could not ignore, and ert Romo. in 1967 earned a master's degree in education from an umbrella group over the Our Lady of the Lake University in San Antonio.

"Economics plays a big part in whether or not kids are able to go to school," Gonzales said. "I want students to be aware that they can attend.'

Students in lowincome areas need inspiration and it is usually "long over due," Cortez said.

"Scholarship winners will call to thank us and you can just tell in their voices they never expected it, like I was a member of one that they're trying to climb a mountain," he said.

The Quiq

Very chir

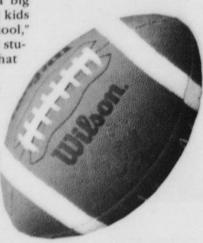

WI

APPLICATION

Mel Feldman, a member of and cared about my educa- the Hispanic Sports Foundation for Education, Inc., said Gonzales' devotion to the scholarship recipients are among the most outunderprivileged teens has standing students involved earned him respect from with Project Stay, a nonprofit organization designed to help students pursue a In 1960, Gonzales received higher education.

In addition to Gonzales, the hall of fame's class of 2007 includes two life-time achievement award win-"Members will serve as national Hispanic community," Feldman said.

CAMP LONGHORN

INDIAN SPRINGS and INKS LAKE BURNET, TEXAS

LOOKING FOR:

Counselors, Nurses, Nursing Assistants, Office and Photographers

Tuesday, February 13th, 10:00am - 3:00pm

Brown-Lupton Student Center

Want a REWARDING summer Job?

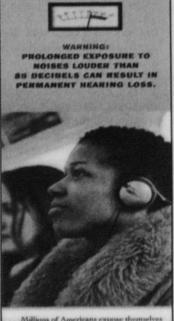

Every Saturday at Midnight of free

For June, July or August?

If you enjoy with kids ages 8 - 15 Stop by and fill out an application! We Will Be Interviewing

817.361.6161

time - the level audiologists identify as the or recorded music, power tools, even these levels. If you're around noises like ng health, visit ASAA.org

E NEEP AN EYE

Fine Dining

Reach owner Ray Jumeri personally

at 817-235-3428

5837 Camp Bowie Blv. • 817.737.4469

You've tried the rest, now come try the best.

Your TO GO order

is 15% off

with TCU I.D.

Richland Hills, Benbrook, Crowley, Hurst, Euless, Grapevine, and elsewhere in Tarrant County.

RAFFIC TICKETS

·No promises as to results. · Any fine and any court costs are not included in fee for legal representation.

> James R. Mallory Attorney at Law

3024 Sandage Ave. Fort Worth, TX 76109-1793 817.924.3236 www.JamesMallory.com for employment.

Don't Procrastinate

Business School applicants must pass Excel, PowerPoint, and Word

Thursday- No cover for ladies

$3 cover for guys before 10PM and $7 after 10PM

$1.50 Domestic Longnecks until 10:00PM

then $2 after 10:00PM

$2 wells & wines all night

For more information, contact the Neeley Student Resource Center (817)257-5220

one of the available floorplans

The Microsoft Certification Center is available to anyone who wants to take Microsoft Access. Excel, Outlook, PowerPoint, and Word exams.

Rent *with this ad

3601 Westridge Avenue Fort Worth, TX 76116 (817) 735 • 9595 Fax: (817) 735 • 9428

www.ridgleavillageapartmenthomes.com email: ridgleavillage@riverstoneres were

g."

e's class of wo life-time ward win-

applications

class today, will be paid people think expensive.

TODAY IN HISTORY

1973: Two months after the signing of the Vietnam peace agreement, the last U.S. combat troops leave South Vietnam as Hanoi frees the remaining American prisoners of war held in North Vietnam.

WORTH A LAUGH — BUT ONLY ONE

Q: Why do bees have sticky hair?

A: They use honeycombs.

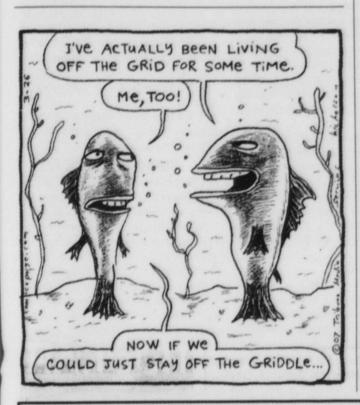

5

The Quigmans

by Buddy Hickerson

"You seemed very stiff, very wooden. Hollow, even. Very chirpy. Very fishy. What happened, Totem? We used to worship you!"

SUDOKU PUZZLE

Sponsored by:

FREE PIZZA TONIGHT AT TENNIS!!! COME BY TO SUPPORT YOUR #41 TCU WOMEN'S TENNIS TEAM AS THEY HOST THE #58 NEW MEXICO LOBOS TONIGHT. DOUBLES PLAY WILL BEGIN AT 5 PM AT THE BAYARD H. FRIEDMAN TENNIS CENTER.

			9	4			8
			6		5	7
	8					3	9
2		8		3	9			6
7			1	5		9		8
	2	5					1
		9	5		7
	3			2	8

Directions

Fill in the grid so that every 3x3 box, row and column contains the digits 1 through 9 without repeating numbers.

> See Friday's paper for answers to today's Sudoku puzzle.

Wednesday's Solutions

- 1
	7	1	9	4	3	8	2	5	6
1	6	2	5	7	9	1	3	4	8
1	8	3	4	6	2	5	7	1	9
1	1	6	2	5	8	7	4	9	3
1	5	8	3	9	6	4	1	2	7
	4	9	7	3	1	2	8	6	5
	2	7	8	1	5	9	6	3	4
	9	4	6	2	7	3	5	8	1
1	3	5	1	8	4	6	9	7	2

GET TIPS AND MORE SOLUTIONS AT WWW.SUDOKU.COM

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

Sponsored by:

10 Silver-tongued 14 Dennis the Menace, for 15 Scandinavian 16 Take the bus

17 Greek letter 18 Projecting bay window

19 Very long time 20 Start of Moliere quote 22 Early-stage seed 23 Unit of force 24 Take to court

growths 33 Vexed

volcano 36 Part 2 of quote 40 Tokyo, once 41 Move very 42 Archibald and Thurmond

46 Isolated 47 Argon or neon 48 "__ Lang Syne 49 Piece of paper 52 End of quote 57 Mown grass

58 Spy's garme 59 Radames' 60 With, in Paris

63 Extremely 64 Interminable 65 Evening in Padua 1 NYC theater

2 B.C. or Ont.

with oil 6 "SNL" produce Michaels 7 Ship's jail 8 Exploits

Comic Brooks 10 Mixture of 21 Nijo Castle's

22 On the marke 24 Last year's 27 Man of fabler 28 Philosopher

29 Solemn word 30 Make joyous 31 Drying cloth 32 Full of tip

38 Suburb of

39 Continent 44 NASA, for one 45 Common rodent 46 Skulked 48 One more time 49 Czech or

Slovak 50 Be down with

51 Pitcher with a spout 52 Mulfin topper 53 Golfer's shout 54 Common rodents 55 Hebrew month

56 __ avis 58 Half a dance?

See Friday's paper for answers to today's crossword.

Questions about your writing assignment?

You'll find skilled help free at your on-campus Center for Writing.

Schedule Online at www.wrt.tcu.edu

TCU CENTER FOR WRITING

Failed, failed, failed. And then ...

PERSISTENCE Pass It On.

"THE BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!" "EXCEPTIONAL.
SMARTLY CRAFTED, IMPECCABLY ACTED." WWW.SONYCLASSICS.COM SONY PICTURES CLASSICS

ACADEMY AWARD WINNER BEST FOREIGN LANGUAGE FILM

March 16-18 AND March 30-April 1 Fri 6 & 8:30 pm, Sat 5 pm, Sun 2 & 4:30 pm tickets $7.50 members $5.50

Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth 3200 Darnell St, Fort Worth 76107 817.738.9215 www.themodern.org VIEW THE TRAILER AT WWW.THELIVESOFOTHERS.COM

www.tcudailyskiff.com/classifieds TO PLACE YOUR AD

HELP WANTED

BARTENDER APPRENTICE WANTED. Showdown Saloon. 4907 Camp Bowie Blvd. 817.233.5430

ROE & WHITE PHOTOGRAPHY IRVING Needs additional photography and production help. Applicants should be proficient in PhotoShop with strong organizational and office skills. Starting $8 to $10/ hr. depending upon skills. 972.256.1258

Great $$$. Hoffbrau Steaks 1712 S University, 817,870,1952

HIRING PT & FT NANNIES

817.442.0225

PRESCHOOL TEACHERS NEEDED Primrose School at Eagle

Ranch. Private Preschool/Daycare needs part-time caregivers. Afternoons M-F. Located in NW Ft. Worth off Boat Club Rd. Call 817.236.6760

FOR SALE

BBQ SMOKERS Sales and Rentals, Wood, Rub and Access. www. sweetsmokebbq.com 817.292.2393 '98 BMW 318I

SERVERS NEEDED Flexible hours; White w/ tan leather, 82,000 mi., 5speed, excellent condition, $8,900.00 817.247.8868

FOR RENT

Flexible hours with great pay! GRAND MARC ROOM FOR RENT I am looking for someone to take over

4 person set up, D4 floor plan, 663 a month. Please contact asap if interested. 605.641.6265

FOR SALE

MCCART AVE. TCU TOWNHOME. Updated 3/2.5 with large deck & 2 car garage. 1942 sq. ft. $163,000 Cecile Montgomery, Williams Trew 817.632.9472.

FOR SALE 3129 Merida TCU Cottage 2/1 Four minute walk to campus 832,444,3066

Skiff Advertising 817-257-7426

GIDDY UP See how the equestrian team stacks up against the South Carolina Gamecocks.

LEAPS AND BOUNDS

Long jumpers reveal their secrets for competition

By MARCUS MURPHREE Sports Editor

His eyes are fixed on the sand pit 15 meters ahead of him.

He takes a deep breath.

"And one ... and two ... and three." He silently counts his strides as he approaches the board.

Junior Jonathan Jackson and freshman Neidra Covington are the two jumpers for TCU who are leaping in the NCAA qualifying meets this season.

These two jumpers are scoring points in meets for the Flying Frogs while showcasing their prowess in an event dominated by finesse and technique rather than brute strength and athleticism.

There is a science to being airborne from the final stride touching the board to landing the jump in the fine grains of the pit.

"There are three main forms in long jump," jumpers' coach Jeff Petersmeyer said. "The sail, the hitch-kick and the hang."

Each method has its respective uses depending on the jumper, and it is as much an act of physics as it is acrobatics.

THE TAKEOFF

Before the techniques are put into effect in the air, the jumpers have to master the strides it takes to reach the platform.

Covington counts out eight strides with focus on the first three steps er NCAA qualifying mark.

ROBYN SHEPHEARD / Staff Photographe

1. Neidra Covington thrusts her body into a 'C' position for takeoff. 2. Spread arms help restrict forward body rotation. 3. She begins to point her heels down for the landing. 4 Heels and butt draw together in the pit.

having the most force.

"I make sure my first three strides are strong," Covington said.

The stride count is one of the more important adjustments made in the approach to the board in order to center both the runners' focus and timing.

"I count all eight strides," Covington said. "Each time my right foot hits, I count one.

Jackson has a similar method while preparing for his jump. He starts with his jump leg — the one he pushes off with when he reaches the board - out in front and then from his first step, he starts a cadence.

"And

Then his jump foot touches down.

The process continues following a methodical pace as he counts under his breath until he reaches the platform and begins to fly toward anoth-

THE HANG

Both horizontal jumpers, Jackson and Covington, have taken a liking to the hang style of long jump.

The hang is an act of physics for the jumper once he or she is airborne.

"The key is to deter forward rotation by extending the body in a 'C' position," Petersmeyer said.

Covington is attending TCU on a full scholarship while chipping away at personal and school records in the long jump, but she said parts of her approach that still need practice.

"I am still trying to work on the degree of my body when I hit the board (for takeoff)," Covington said.

Although she has not bested her personal record in the long jump yet, the technique has brought Covington regular improvement through the season.

"Sometimes you have a new jumper and a new coach and it takes some time to get adjusted," Petersmeyer said.

THE LANDING

Long jump rules and regulations have been static over time and the landing is a point in the jump in which a contestant can lose valuable inches on the measurement. If a jumper falls backward after landing in the pit, the measurement will be taken from the point furthest back, not forward.

In order to prevent a backward tumble, Petersmeyer coaches his jumpers on letting momentum take its toll during the landing. He did mention, however, that other jumpers throughout history have had some different techniques of "sticking the landing."

"Jessie Owens would land and then pop up and move forward," Petersmeyer said.

The step-by-step landing Petersmeyer tries to teach involves pulling the butt to the heels once in the sand and then using the hands to roll to the side when the momentum is done carrying the jumper.

Jackson said his landing is based entirely on his momentum just carrying him through the pit while trying to glide through a landing on his butt or heels.

Covington's final approach is

"I try to land on my butt and scoot, letting my force bring me forward," Covington said.

THE FINAL PRODUCT

For a brief second in the air, the long jumper is in flight making a glorious arc toward the sands below.

While suspended above the pit, the jumpers are calculating and adjusting for the landing before them. For the Flying Frogs, the two jumpers, Covington and Jackson, every stride to the platform is another chance to engrave their names in the TCU record books.

fight broke out...

www.TejasStorytelling.com

Four days of storytelling fun! American Indian Tales, Ghost Tales, Cowboy Tales, Tales for EVERYONE!

March 29-April 1 Civic Center Park Denton, TX

National Endowment for the Arts

Some o

in the natio Dartmouth versity of ! students of live togeth a TCU adi in TCU's f A new to

Higl brin

By REBEKA Staff Repor High s Worth C performi

the chair departme Richard "Return t 2005 wh him to w er, befor the work mind.

"Retur comedy dents put said. The mond, wi around a he has a Allen sai Thoug plot may popular Musical," is deeper Allen sai "It was wanted t Allen said it around

A frier just grad Allen in bach, th FWCDS, students the scho Allen sai The st ing of th

they like audition son, a hi taken the fifth grad Willian girl nan dents ha January theater o "It's n original together own," W

Pro Staff Repo A pro

> woman on her o of a one Hays Th ence wi a one-w Residence