Cermak Gets Ovation at Formal Inauguration; Urges Economy and War on Chicago Crime

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 27.—In the City Chamber, bedecked with flags and after an ovation of thousands of his friends and wishers, Mayor Anton J. Cermak tonight at a special council as formally inaugurated his office he has held since...

A vigorous attack on crime, which was ranked second in importance in the message, was promised by Mayor Cermak. The administration, through the Police Department, he said, would accept full responsibility for the prevention of crime so far as humanly possible.

In his speeches by former Mayor Edward F. Dunne and Carrington, Mayor Cermak read a personal message. In it he outlined the present condition of the city's government, ranking as of importance the financial...

The Mayor also proclaimed a continuance of the policy of non-interference with the Police Department with which he started out his Mayorship career. He said he believes that with the cooperation of other law-enforcing agencies that Chicago can present to the world a well-governed and well-ordered city before the World's Fair of 1933.

He pledged his assistance to make the Chicago Jubilee Week a success and, for the World's Fair, outlined a program which included the completion of the subway, street widenings, the new postoffice and a unified terminal area.

Mr. Rogers Fires a Few Shots At Random From the Capital

To the Editor of The New York Times:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—Tonight's Gridiron dinner here in Washington, where the President attends and sees the cleverest kidding and satires, was put on by the newspaper men who know these big birds backwards.

Say, do you know that I run onto those D. A. R.'s still here. They run their conventions till every member gets to speak. They have been here so long that their badges are beginning to tarnish.

Times are so hard that Fort Worth, Texas, is the only town that can afford lobbyists here. Carter and his gang are after some Federal plunder.

Had a long chat with Secretary Stimson today, and he knows things about Nicaragua that none of these critics of his do.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ROGERS ADVISES STIMSON ON POLICY

Humorist Visits Secretary and Talks on Nicaragua and General Butler.

FLEW OVER FORT RIVIERE

Refers to Marine Commander's Exploit in Haiti as a "Sewer Episode."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Will Rogers, just returned from his visit to Nicaragua and other Central American countries, called upon Secretary Stimson today to give him the benefit of his observations in the Managua earthquake zone and was present at the daily conference of the Secretary of State with newspaper correspondents.

Mr. Rogers made some observations on Nicaragua, and on the episode involving Major Gen. Smedley D. Butler of the marines and Dantes Bellegarde, the Minister from Haiti, over the capture of Fort Riviere in 1915.

Accompanying Secretary Stimson into the diplomatic reception room where the newspaper correspondents were waiting, Mr. Rogers immediately went over to them. Warned by the Secretary that he should not sneak around the corner, he said: "I have left you and joined the press. From now on I am with the press. I'm not a diplomat any more; just with the press from now on."

The correspondents questioned Secretary Stimson about Nicaragua, particularly in view of a report in a New York newspaper to the effect that conditions there were not satis...

BOARD'S COUNSEL DOUBTFUL

Fears Question of Censorship Comes In—Commissioner La Fount Backs Publishers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—A ban on lotteries over the radio was asked today by the American Newspaper Publishers Association, which filed with the Federal Radio Commission, a request that it promulgate a general order forbidding the broadcasting of advertising programs, or other programs, which involve the advertising of schemes in which the prizes depend, in whole or part, upon chance.

The request was filed by Elisha Hanson, attorney for the association, pursuant to action taken last week at the annual meeting of the publishers in New York City. It was referred to the legal division of the commission.

Colonel Thad Brown, general counsel of the commission, would not discuss the communication at any length, but said "the question of censorship comes in and also the question as to whether a general order could be promulgated by the commission."

Lottery advertisement by mail, he explained, had been forbidden by Congress, but not by order of a government department or commission.

Commissioner Harold A. La Fount, said, however, he had taken up the matter some time ago, and would favor compliance with the request of the publishers.

Many Laws Forbid Lotteries.

Mr. Hanson pointed out that lotteries are illegal in the United States, not only under Federal laws but under State laws in practically all the States, but that because of the absence of any specific provision of the radio law preventing the broadcasting of lotteries, during the last few months the practice of broadcasting programs involving chance had grown to such proportions that the commission should take immediate...
