Fort Worth, Texas Fort Worth, Texas,
 October 15, 1934.

Postmaster General James A. Farley,
 Washington, D.C.

Regarding letter eleventh Dallas Convention thirty six, of course we will go along with you regardless of how we may feel but I did get a laugh over Administration leaders in Washington feeling Dallas had been seriously overlooked. They have at the present time more than double the governmental activities of Fort Worth. They raised sixteen thousand in last national campaign less than half of their quota STOP Fort Worth raised fifty thousand dollars, almost three times our quota. They burned your fanny by wire and through newspaper publicity on airmail without justification or even the christian spirit STOP Regardless we are "fur" (Quotations to be included in message) you meanwhile you could give us a lift with Mr. Fahey on the Home Owners Loan Corporation office for Southwestern Region now under consideration as per my wire to you twelfth. This will enable me to round up some of the boys who are timid and discouraged and at the same time give the Government the most practical setup.

Sincerely

Amon G. Carter
