Dear Amon:

All I can say to you in this brief note is that I shall ever be grateful for the very generous and friendly editorial in your issue of September first. I am going to wait to see you personally to tell you how much I appreciate your kind reference to me.

I shall always consider you one of my real friends; and it is my sincere hope that the friendship which started many years ago will continue throughout our lives.

With assurances of high personal regards,
I am

Sincerely yours,
