Jim Farleys, 'Little and Big,' Pay Fort Worth a Visit

James A. Farley Jr. doesn't have to "see Dad about this" now. A strapping lad of 13, the son of the former Postmaster General visited in Fort Worth Saturday in company with Farley. The two are shown at left, shortly after their arrival, wearing Shady Oak hats. The photo of young Farley at right was published widely in 1933, soon after the former National Democratic Committee chairman was appointed to the Cabinet. It's the youth's first visit to Texas.

Farley Gives Son Taste of Hospitality in Texas

Former Postmaster General James A. Farley, bringing his son, James Jr., 13, to Texas "to let him see what Texas looks like and give him a taste of Texas hospitality," visited Fort Worth Saturday afternoon and night.

The one-time Democratic National Committee chairman was a guest of Amon Carter at Shady Oak Farm. At the farm, Farley participated in the filming of an episode on the Texas film which is being made for "March of Time."

Accompanied by Burriss Jackson of Hillsboro, past president of the Texas Postmasters Association and president of the Texas Cotton Association, Farley and his son left late Saturday night for San Antonio and Uvalde, where on Sunday they will call on former Vice President Garner and Mrs. Garner.

"I'm enjoying this vacation trip especially because this is the first time my son has visited Texas," Farley said. "I am anxious for him to see Texas and to meet Texas people. I feel there is nothing better for him than to show him this great country down here and let him meet the kind of folks who live in Texas."

"Genial Jim," who retired as National Democratic chairman shortly after the party convention last year, said he always enjoyed visiting Texas, particularly Fort Worth.

"The hospitality of this city and Amon Carter's reputation as a host make me look forward to coming here whenever the opportunity presents itself," Farley declared.

After visiting in Uvalde, Farley and his son will spend a short time in Austin and at noon Monday will be guests of honor at a luncheon tendered by Jackson in Hillsboro. They will return to the East by train.

U. S.-Made Fighters Down Six U.S.-Made Bombers

British Public Calls for Daring Raid on Continent

Use of Amphibian Tanks for Hit-and-Run Attacks Upon Coastal Areas Held by Germans Is Suggested by General.

LONDON, June 28 (AP).—Agitation grew in Britain Saturday night for daring attacks by army and navy raiders on the German-held continental coasts, now that the Nazis' backs are turned, and one general suggested that amphibian tanks join them in a general offensive teamed up with the great, continuing RAF aerial assaults.

Bucharest Is Torn by Bombs

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP).—The Budapest radio reported at 8:15 p. m. (EST) Saturday night that Bucharest, capital of Rumania, was "just now" bombed, with considerable damage and many civilian deaths.

No casualties were caused by Russian attacks on Constanta, said this report heard by NBC, because the city had been evacuated.

The Budapest radio also said Russians were blowing up bridges and tunnels leading into the Carpatho-Ukraine and were retreating swiftly in the Baltic States with violent fighting on all fronts.

Soviet bombers attacked Hungarian territory in the Carpathian region and damaged a highway. A passenger train was machine gunned during the action and an engineer wounded.

Long an exponent of amphibian tanks, General Fuller said that in 1931 Vickers-Armstrong put "an efficient amphibian light tank" on the market, and he added that "if we have such a tank our path is easy."

The public is growing restive now that there seems to be a special opportunity to strike at Germany while she is preoccupied with Russia on the East.

They want more than the heavy air raids, already of record proportions, that continued Saturday with a smashing victory on a huge power plant at Comines, near Lille, one of the key plants in heavily-industrialized Northern France.

Raiders operating in skies almost cleared of German opposition knocked down three German planes, boosting the British figures of German losses for the year to 2,086 in

Roosevelt to Speak July 4

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 28 (AP). President Roosevelt is expected to speak to his fellow Americans at 3 p. m. (CST) on July 4, leading them in what he has termed a "grand rededication to liberty."

The place for the address has not yet been announced but it may be the south portico of the White House in Washington.

Roosevelt will speak briefly, and he is expected to ask every American participating in a nationwide Independence Day celebration to join him in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.
