(Section One)

Η

b

at

The flec mea who

day pat

ers

had

inv Alg

the

din

the

aga ers.

E last

τ

A

ed

R. P).now tacstory striksea d pogani-1g of and alast miral say ce of come this about ex-, ex-been riers such en I it of sorry ne in

nass-

f key le, to gage How 2 deon ıg to acific be-5 lemy the even idual eship the was ould bat-Pearl and riers ount

John Bugned the later, S. n new l op-ik of

ested

D. G. Talbot Is Decorated

COLONEL TALBOT.

Word that their son, Lt. Col. D. G. Talbot, has been awarded the Army Silver Star for gallantry in action in Tunisia was received Sat-urday by Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Tal-bot, Worth Hotel. Colonel Talbot, graduate of Cen-tral High and Texas A&M College, was formerly general livestock superintendent for the Southwest-ern Exposition and Fat Stock Chem. and while in training at Fort ern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, and while in training at Fort Knox, Ky., returned here in March of 1942 to act as superintendent of livestock judging for the show. The Army general orders award-ing the medal, dated Sept. 20, 1943, read:

read: "Throughout this period (action at Tunisia), Colonel Talbot com-pletely disregarded his own wel-fare in performing reconnaissance missions of enemy positions, mine fields and possible routes for at-tack frequently under heavy artilfields and possible routes for at-tack, frequently under heavy artil-lery and small arms fire and aerial attacks. During the tank attacks he advanced with his leading tank elements in order to secure better observation and more effectively direct and control the operations of his hettalion direct and control the operations of his battalion. "His actions were an example and inspiration to his men and contributed materially to the success of the operation. The courage, ag-gressive leadership and devotion to duty with complete disregard for his own welfare displayed by Colonel Talbot reflect great credit upon himself and his organization and are highly commendable." Colonel Talbot's wife, the former Miss Mary Wynn, also resides in Fort Worth.