Dear Amon:

Thanks for your Christmas letter which I liked far better than a present. It conveyed the thought and I feel as you do that everything we have should go toward the war effort and try to get this horrible nightmare over.

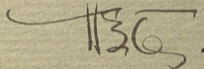

I want you to send me Amon Jr's address. I saw in the Waco paper that a boy there had written his mother that he was in a prison camp in Poland and that Amon was in the same camp. This boy said they could get packages through the Red Cross, so I want to send him something. He won't have an idea who I am but that won't make any difference, I feel certain that he will be glad to get things. Most boys seem so anxious for mail and packages. Poor children.

My lad is a Captain now and was told that he would either be sent to Africa or Scotland this week. So of course my Xmas, like many others is spent on the anxious bench. I've just been unusually lucky so far. And very thankful.

I heard your broadcast from England and was very proud, you sounded fine and what you said was to the point and mighty well done.

With all good wishes and love to you and Ruth,

Always,

Don't forget the address of Amon.
