Mr. Amon G. Carter,
Star-Telegram,
Fort Worth, Texas

Dear Mr. Carter:

Having just learned of your son's fate, I want to offer my expression of joy in hearing that he is safe, even though a prisoner of war. I know your anxiety was great, and it must have been quite a relief to receive word of his whereabouts.

I know you are proud, in that young Amon saw his duty and accepted it. From all indications, he is as fine an officer as they come, and indubitably he will be missed very much by his fellow officers and men during his absence.

Certainly you swell with pride because he is so well liked by all who know him, and also because he honored himself on the field of battle.

Inclosed are two clippings from April 14th and 15th Washington Post; the information therein is really something for you to cherish.

My duties as a personnel staff officer in the Air Transport Command, bring me in liaison with much activity of our Foreign Wings. I handle exclusively one of our nine Wings, and feel that I am doing my part in the performance of duty where the Army thinks I can serve best.

Best wishes, and until an early VICTORY,

Your Friend,

Harry
HARRY H. WANDRY
