

Wednesday

Dear Mr. Carter:

It was very kind and generous of you to call yesterday, and I'll be delighted to be with you Saturday.
Mother might come, too.
As yet, I haven't received the pictures of Amos, Jr., and I had thought they'd surely be here today. And I have no news from Capt. Raef Cannon or Gen. Oliver, and so I'm writing again today to locate them.

Our boys aren't safe, of course, but I don't believe they're in the fierce battle near Taid Pass.
They're in the northern part of Tunisia, and I have every confidence and faith that they are all right. I hope we can hear good news from them soon.

Sincerely,

James Wiederman
