

September 20, 1942.

Honorable Sam Rayburn,
Speaker of the House,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Sam:

As you know, it is my intention to be in England sometime within the next ten days or two weeks and I wonder if you would feel disposed to give me a letter of introduction to the American Ambassador, Honorable John G. Winant, to London? If so, please mail the letter to me in care of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, New York City, and mark "Hold" as I will arrive there next Sunday, October 4th.

Trusting this will not be imposing on your good nature and with best wishes, I remain

Sincerely,

AGC.KD
