Will Rogers Thursday morning paid $500 for a ticket to one of the Presidential Birthday Balls to be held in Fort Worth Tuesday night.

He purchased the ticket while waiting at the Municipal Airport for a plane to take him to Claremore, Okla.

Rogers arrived by American Airways from Los Angeles on his way to Washington to attend the dinner which Vice President Garner is giving Monday night in honor of President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Rogers will be with her husband in Washington and the two will assist Jesse Jones in running the square dance Tuesday night in that city, one of the many Presidential Balls to be staged in more than 5,000 communities in the United States as a tribute to President Roosevelt. All of the funds raised will go toward the endowment of Warm Springs, where infantile paralysis victims are treated.

Rogers was in Fort Worth only a few minutes Thursday but he took time to call up Presidential Ball headquarters and say he wanted to send his check for a ticket.

"Everybody ought to buy one or more of these President's Ball tickets," Rogers said. "It is a chance for every citizen of this country who can dig up the money to show his appreciation for President Roosevelt. We ought to make this thing a real tribute to him for what he has done for this country since he went to Washington.

"I'm glad to hear Fort Worth is coming across for this cause. You can always depend on this city to do its part in any worthwhile cause. I'll never forget the fine response you folks here made to the Red Cross emergency fund for the flood victims when I passed the hat here two years ago. I hope Fort Worth will do even better on the President's Ball fund than it did for the Red Cross."

Furthermore, Rogers said, too much could not be said in praise of the movement to banish infantile paralysis from this country.

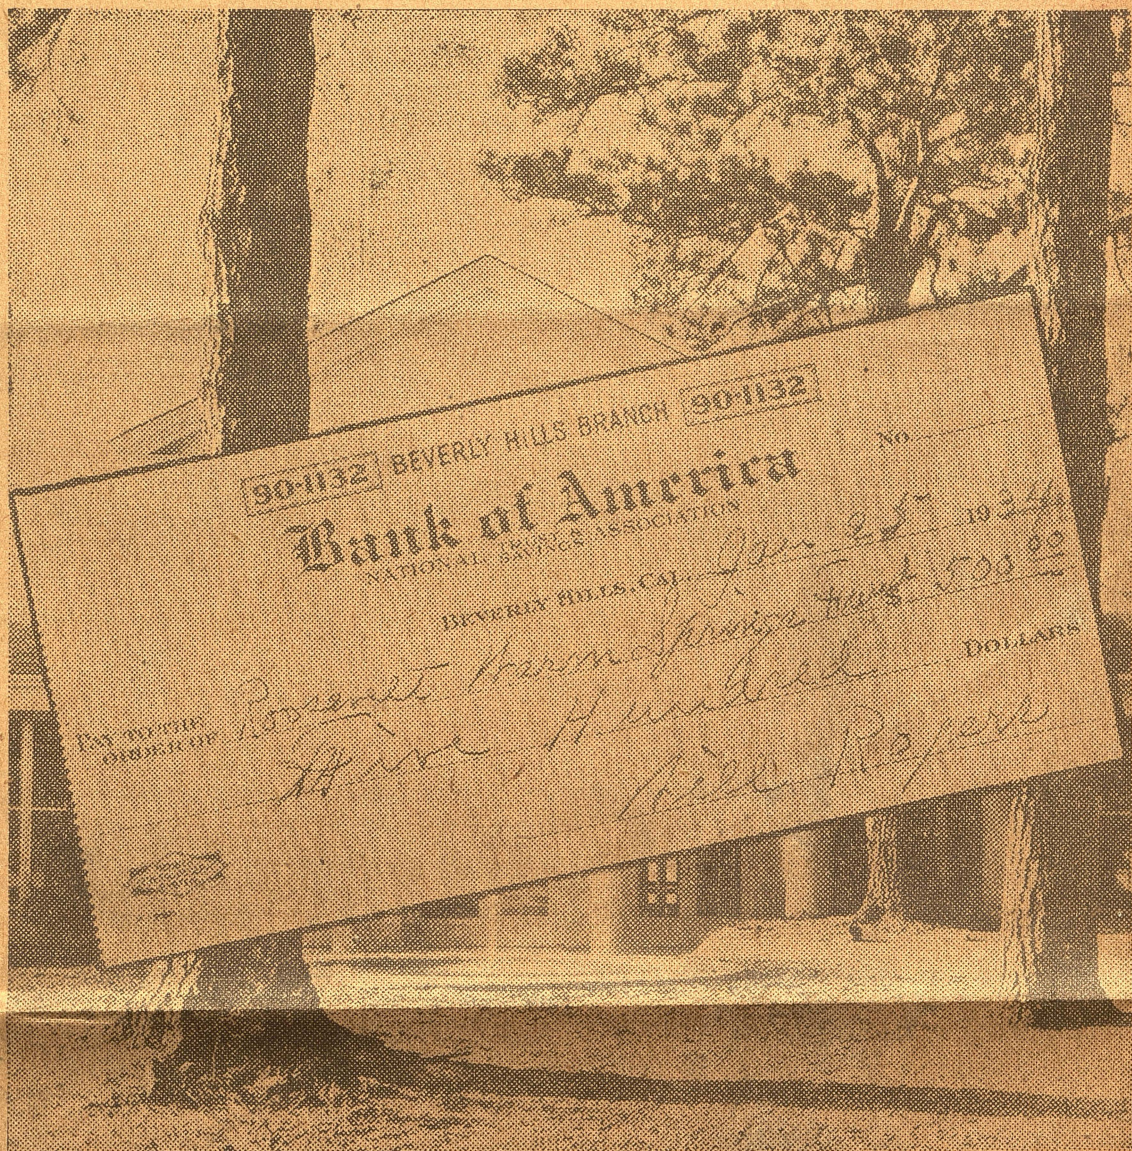

The Birthday Ball was indorsed Wednesday by the City Council. A resolution urging full support of the movement to pay tribute to President Roosevelt was adopted. Eight more employe groups joined the 100 Per Cent Club Thursday by subscribing for at least one ticket for each employe. They are Gulf Refining Company, Continental Oil Company, Fort Worth Sand and Gravel Company, Harry Snyder Grocery, William Wieschahn Grocery, H. C. Cartwright Grocery, George F. Clark Grain Company and J. F. Pritchard Optical Company.

Twenty-two dances have been arranged here for observance of the national movement. Those who want tickets can secure them from representatives of sponsoring organizations or by calling 2-8549, headquarters for the President's Ball, in the clubroom of The Star-Telegram Building.

$500 Check Will Rogers Gave for Ball Ticket

The $500 check of Will Rogers, given by him Thursday in payment for a ticket to the Presidential Birthday Balls to be held here Tuesday night, is shown against a background of the stately pines which flank

Georgia Hall, a unit of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The contribution of the cowboy humorist, who stopped here on his way to Claremore and Washington by plane, and all other proceeds of the Birthday Balls will be placed in an endowment fund for the foundation. Georgia Hall was the gift of the people of Georgia and recently was dedicated.

WILL ROGERS says:

CLAREMORE, Okla., Jan. 26.—
The old homing pigeon flew back to its nest Thursday. Crossed Arizona, New Mexico and Texas last night, asleep nearly all the way.

Fort Worth for breakfast. Amon Carter meets all planes and sells tickets for the big Roosevelt ball Tuesday night. I bet Fort Worth raises more money for that splendid cause than any city five times its size.

Bill Murray has taken good care of the old State since I been gone. In California we had forgotten there was such a thing left as a bootlegger, but back in these States, Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas, they are thicker than CWA workers. Yours,

Will Rogers.
