The train—or trains—will be operated over the T. & P. and the finest equipment available will be used. Midfield seats at the game will be provided for those going on the specials, which are expected to set a high-water mark for such a movement out of Fort Worth, with a holiday jaunt to one of America's most interesting cities as the attraction.

The T. C. U. band and a large part of the student body are expected to make the trip.

WILL ROGERS

SAID

(A Daily and Sunday Feature by That Famous Philosopher Made Up of the Best of His Published and Unpublished Notes and Letters to His Family).

I have asked prominent men in America this question, "What group have been more responsible for this financial mess. The Farmers? Labor? Manufacturers? Tradesmen, or who?"

And every man, Henry Ford, Garner, Newt Baker, Borah, Curtis, Barney Baruch, every one of 'em without a moment's hesitation, said, "Why the big bankers."

We have just flown 825 miles in less than five hours, and part of it in a snow storm, with Captain Dickson doing a fine job of piloting Hal Roach's fast plane.

We finally found one of our boys in New Mexico that we hadn't heard of in months. He has learned to play polo but hasn't learned to write. Asked him why we never hear from him, and he said he had forgot our address.

If Wall Street men had these old cattlemen's nerve and "tripe" you would have never heard of this panic.

I am going to ask for contributions for funds to build a home for delegates who have been sent off to conferences and forgotten.

BANKS SENDING ROGERS CHECKS

Texas banks which have been receiving contributions to the Will Rogers Memorial Fund have begun to send drafts to T. B. Yarbrough, state treasurer of the memorial organization, who Tuesday announced the first list of donations from this source.

The Texas contributions, when complete, will be sent to Jesse Jones, national treasurer.

Kyle S. Hamblen, assistant cashier of the Second National Bank, Houston, inclosed a draft for $116.65, representing contributions received to date.

H. M. Ainsworth, president of the First National Bank, Luling, forwarded $7.40, listing as contributors himself, Mayor H. G. Stein, Tom Allen Smith and family, J. J. Davis, Mrs. J. M. Pierce, Dorothy Lee Landry and Hallie McDonald.

Other contributions received from banks in which money had been deposited to the credit of the fund were:

Citizens National Bank, Lubbock, $30.50; Alamo National Bank, San Antonio, $62.51; National Bank of Commerce, San Antonio, $91.75; Farmers State Bank, Meridian, $3, and Seguin National Bank, Seguin, $4.75.

BOWIE BANK ADVERTISES ROGERS CAMPAIGN FUND.

BOWIE, Dec. 4.—The First National Bank, which recently opened a Will Rogers Memorial account, has published an advertisement in the Bowie Blade, calling attention to the campaign for funds now being conducted throughout Texas and the Nation.

The advertisement says: "Thousands of Will Rogers' friends have signified a desire to perpetuate his memory in some continuing form of a charitable, educational and humanitarian nature.

"The Will Rogers Memorial Commission has been formed for this purpose.

"An opportunity is being given to the millions who hold Will Rogers and his humanitarian principles in affectionate regard to express their sentiment by contributing to a fund for memorial purposes."

ONLY 25 ABSENTEE BALLOTS ARE CAST

Only 25 persons cast absentee votes for the local option election to be held in Tarrant County Saturday, Deputy County Clerk Morgan reported Wednesday.

Absentee voting ended Tuesday night.
