Virgil Fox Will Give Organ Recital at First Presbyterian Church Wednesday; Pro Arte Quartet to Play Friday.

BY E. CLIVE RUTHERFORD

One of the leading artists of his profession is Virgil Fox, who will give a recital at First Presbyterian Church Wednesday. He will be heard at 8:30. His monthly concert, and Saturday night's program will feature many of the works that are favorites with organists. The concert will be presented by the local chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

Fox, who has been described as "the world's foremost organ virtuoso," is a member of the American Guild of Organists and has been active in the field of organ music for many years. He is known for his mesmerizing skill and his ability to capture the attention of audiences with his interpretations.

A resident of New York City, Fox has performed in front of audiences around the world, including in Europe and Asia. His performances have been well-received, and he has received numerous accolades for his work.

On Friday evening, the Pro Arte Quartet will perform at First Presbyterian Church. The quartet, consisting of four renowned musicians, will provide an impressive performance that is sure to delight audiences.

The quartet's repertoire includes a variety of classical and contemporary pieces, offering a diverse and captivating musical experience.

Both events promise to be memorable, offering music lovers an opportunity to experience the talents of some of the world's foremost musicians. Tickets for the concerts are available at the church's box office or online.
