With the aid of Mrs. Rogers, effort was made to pick out manuscripts which would cover a space three by four feet, the size of your case. The enclosed will just about do that. Photostatic copies have been retained, but, of course, the return of the originals is desired.

They are sent registered mail, insured for $500. They are, of course, irreplaceable and Mrs. Rogers is naturally relying upon you and the exposition officials to see that they are carefully preserved and returned at the proper time.

With warmest regards, I remain

Sincerely yours,
