

Dean and Mrs. Leftwich will entertain the class in Philosophy 128 next Tuesday, April 15. Dr. Wilmer Allison will be a special guest. The party will be at the home of the Dean.

The boys of Clark Hall entertained all the girls of the campus with an Easter party Thursday night. About eighty-five attended. The refreshments were of an Easter design and the decorations carried out the Easter motif. Music was furnished by the girls of Jarvis Hall. All rooms of the dormitory were open for inspection.

"Monday, April 14, is a Jewish holiday and all Jewish students who observe it will be excused from classes," said Mr. Tucker. "It is customary for Jews to attend the services of the Passover on that date."

Mrs. Bryson will lecture Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Brite Club Room. Her subject will be "The Authurian Romances as an Index to Changing English Attitudes."

Prof. Smith has made a number of talks this past week. Wednesday he spoke in Brite Chapel on "The Gospel for an Age of Jazz." Thursday he addressed the Pender Avenue Parent-Teacher Association on "Tuberculosis and the Schools." Friday afternoon he spoke to the T. C. U. Mothers' Club and Friday night he talked to the Eighth Ward Parent-Teacher Association on "Tuberculosis and the Schools."

"The freshman banquet was the best success of any class banquet that T. C. U. has had for a long time," said Dean Beckhan. "About 120 persons attended. I think that a great deal of the credit should go to their sponsor, Miss Spragins. She and her social committee worked out a good program that left no lapses in the program."

The faculty plays have been postponed until sometime in May, according to Dean Beckhan. So many of the characters were going to be out of town that it was thought best to wait until next month.
