

T. C. U. FACULTY BULLETIN

---

Vol. IV

January 13, 1933

No. 13

---

Announcements of the fellowships and scholarships available for next year in other institutions are posted as they arrive on the bulletin just outside Dean Hall's office. Faculty members are invited to watch these and advise their students concerning them.

-----

The faculty is invited to a reception Sunday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock at Collins Art Gallery where Prof. Ziegler has an art exhibit. Special showings of lithographs and etchings will be held.

-----

The Committee on Recommendation of Teachers wishes to express its thanks for the cheerful cooperation of the faculty in past years. With the spring semester requests will begin coming to you to write recommendations for students enrolled with this committee. If you will write these promptly it will expedite our work.

In order to avoid embarrassment may we request members of the faculty to work through the committee rather than independently. We heartily favor faculty members writing individual letters or even having interviews when they care to do so to help secure positions for students, but we like for recommendations to come through the committee at the same time, so as to give the student the service of this committee, and also so that we may not unwittingly recommend another student for the same position. We know that we can count on your cooperation.

The report on the nation-wide test that is sent with the bulletin today was supposed to have been sent in November, but through oversight was not sent.

-----

For the sake of economy, teachers are requested to be thoughtful on leaving a recitation room to see that lights are out, windows are not left so as to let all the heat escape, and other such thoughtful items.

-----

A cabinet meeting has been announced for Thursday at 2 o'clock

-----

The Cabinet has instructed the Classification Committee to consider and recommend a plan of "extending the offerings of the summer term in order that more teachers be employed, the teachers to teach for a prorated sum from the total of the summer term."

The Committee in studying this question needs to know how many teachers would desire to teach, if it were open to them, on this basis. It is obvious that the pay would be quite small with the larger number.

Hence, the Committee requests that each teacher who wishes to be considered under this plan will turn his or her name in at the Dean's office by Tuesday next. The Committee will meet Wednesday to study the situation.
