Will the faculty please advise their students that all unsold textbooks will be returned to the publishers. We are allowed only a 30-day, and in some cases, 60-day return privilege on 20% of the books ordered. Kindly suggest to those who sometimes wait until mid-term for buying that they at that time, have to wait for a book, and also must pay transportation one way on a book after we have once returned that item to the publishers--this makes us pay transportation three ways on a book instead of one way.

Miss Laura Shelton

Now that the Department Heads have discovered their majors, it would be a good time to study again the scores of the '34 Nation Wide tests, as sent out several weeks ago. These are valuable as they are used by the teachers.
