The two following students have withdrawn from school and should be dropped from the rolls of the teachers: Names redacted.

An interesting document has just been received in the Registrar's office in the form of "Abstracts from Selected Theses in Religious Education". This data has been assembled by The Bureau of Research of the International Council of Religious Education. These theses are from Ph. D., men of Teachers College, Union Theological Seminary, and Yale. Here are a few of the subjects considered:

"A Community Serves Its Youth"

"Negro-White Adjustment"

"Methods of Education in International Relations"

"Studies in the Free-Time Activities of Children"

Any member of the faculty who so desires may look over this data.

The "zero hour" for mid-semester grades to be in the Registrar's office is tomorrow, Saturday at noon. Teachers are requested to post their grades for information for the students.

Keep in mind that where a student remains in class beyond the first six weeks of school, then drops the course, he is to receive the grade he was making at the time of the "Drop". This grade should show in the teacher's report. This will prevent a student dropping a course just before the mid-semester exam thereby thinking he can avoid receiving an "F" grade against his record. Other than "F" grades do not prejudice his record, but an "F" does.
