Fort Worth, Texas,
April 12, 1937.

Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt,
President of the United States,
The White House,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President: The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, with a membership of over seven thousand West Texans, farmers, ranchmen, professional and business men from one hundred and thirty West Texas counties, attended by a large delegation from all principal cities in the state, will meet in Brownwood, Texas, for its nineteenth annual convention May tenth to twelfth STOP Practically all of the members of this organization have been your staunch supporters and naturally nothing would make them happier than to have you spend a few hours in Brownwood during their convention provided it would not interfere with your other plans STOP Personally I almost feel like apologizing for being a party to any plan to deprive you of part of a well earned vacation however I do want you to know that we would be tickled to have you, if it were consistently possible, as we understand you contemplate being here sometime the early part of next month at which time we also hope to have the pleasure of seeing you in Fort Worth. With best personal regards,

Amon Carter
