Fort Worth, Texas,
January 30, 1942

President Franklin D. Roosevelt,
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President: Heartiest congratulations on this your sixtieth birthday. It is my hope and I am sure of every real American that you may be privileged to observe many, many more birthday anniversaries and when you put aside the burdens you have shouldered find time for the relaxation and pleasure you so richly deserve. We, as a nation, are indeed fortunate to have you at the head of our government and directing our war effort and with your leadership and the spirit of our people, now aroused, the outcome can not be other than victorious and a benefit to mankind.

Sincerely

Amon Carter
