Big Crowds Greet Truman In Uvalde, San Antonio

BY SAM KINCH, Star-Telegram Staff Writer.
ABOARD PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S TRAIN, En Route to Fort Worth, Sept. 26.—If President Truman came to Texas for encouragement about his prospects of keeping the state in the Democratic column in the general election, he got it Sunday.
Any candidate would have been pleased with a pre-dawn gathering of 12,000 persons and five bands at Uvalde, and with the crowd-lined streets at San Antonio.
And the enthusiasm with which he was received was not just the courteous reception a president deserves.
The president stuck to a long

Truman OKs Crisis Move

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 25 (AP).—President Truman “thoroughly approved” a joint United States-British-French “white paper” formally accusing Russia of threatening the peace by its blockade of Berlin.
Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters: “He knew all about it and thoroughly approved our joining in it.”
Ross said Truman had been in consultation with Secretary of State Marshall over the matter but did not know of the exact timing.

I'VE SEEN HIM, SAYS OPPONENT

AUSTIN, Sept. 26 (AP).—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, arrived here Sunday night for his only campaign appearance in Texas and indicated he does not plan to get up early in the morning to greet President Truman, the Democratic candidate, who passes through here at 7:30 a. m.
“I've seen him,” Thomas said.
Earlier, in Dallas, Thomas said in an interview he thought Republican Presidential Candidate Dewey would win.

FORT WORTH ALL SET TO WELCOME TRUMAN

Fort Worth Sunday night had an outstretched hand ready for the president of the United States.
Workmen were due to labor into the early hours Monday to make ready the specially-built platform from which the president will speak Monday afternoon in the parking area just east of the T&P Terminal.
Harry S. Truman will roll into the T&P Passenger Depot in his special train at 2 p. m. He will spend an action-packed, colorful hour in the city.
To help make the chief executive's visit here a memorable one, the city's schools will be dismissed at noon so that many thousands of youngsters—as well as their parents—will be enabled to see and hear the president.
Classes to Be Let Out.
Classes at Our Lady of Victory High School and College will be let out at 1 p. m., and a special bus will carry a representative delegation to the scene. An OLV student will present the president with a school pennant.
A pupil at Technical High School will hand the Missouri-born president a certificate making him an honorary Texan. The high school also will present him with a silk Texas flag.
The president will be greeted by a 100-member reception committee composed of Fort Worth men and women from all walks of life. Raymond Buck was chairman of all arrangements for the presidential visit.
Streets Roped Off.
At midnight Sunday, work began on the speakers' platform, and the streets in front of the T&P Terminal were roped off. Persons who normally park their automobiles in the parking lot where the platform will stand have been advised to leave their cars elsewhere.
Traffic will be diverted.
Western Union completed arrangements Sunday for handling the load of press messages which the 40 newspapermen accompanying the president will file. Eleven direct wires, Morse and teletype, have been set up in the concourse of the station.
Police Chief Dysart had 250 policemen alerted for special duty Monday, handling crowds and helping guard and escort the president.

Gracie Allen SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—Well, I see that the White Plains, N. Y., school system has started an adult education course to teach women sports terms. The idea is that it will keep them from asking their husbands silly questions. If the White Plains people think I'm going to school to spare my husband my silly questions, they've got another guess coming.
What is really needed is a course for husbands to keep them from asking their wives silly questions. Such as “Why do you need a new hat?” “What did you do with that $2 I let you have last week?” “Why do you want to go to the movies again tonight?” “Why can't you ever be on time for an appointment?”
Besides, don't get the idea that husbands are annoyed by their wives asking them silly sports questions. They love it. It's the only chance they get to show their superiority, poor dears!

ARMED FORCES MERGER RAPPED

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP).—The national security act of 1947, which unified the U. S. armed forces under one central agency, was condemned Sunday by the Air Force Association as “saturated with waste.”
The AFA, an organization of about 74,000 air veterans of both World Wars, charged that the security act placed in “the role of referee in the fight between the services.”

French Feel 3-Power Note 'Too Hasty'

PARIS, Sept. 26.—While agreeing with the views set forth in the three-power note to Russia and taking full responsibility therefor, well-informed French quarters Sunday night displayed regret that action on the Soviet answer was taken in such a hurry.
It was feared that U. S. Secretary of State Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Bevin, who supported him throughout, had not had time to study and consider all consequences of the action of the three powers in submitting their dispute with the Soviet Union to the U. N. Security Council. Furthermore, there was a feeling here that public opinion had not been prepared for the situation, the gravity of which is suddenly revealed by bringing the case for peace of the world before the U. N.
French officials, when they first saw the Soviet note Sunday morning were unanimous in perceiving instantly that it meant an appeal to U. N. by the Western powers. But they have little faith that U. N.'s action will be helpful or effective.
The three-power note completely rejected Russia's demand for Soviet control over air traffic into Berlin, as well as rail, road and water. It likewise rejected Russian efforts to control commerce and trade to the exclusion of the West. Declared the West: “The issue between the Soviet government and the Western occupying powers is therefore not that of technical difficulties in effecting.”

RUSSIANS HAVE U. N. ADVANTAGE

No Matter How Big 5 Deal, Stalin Holds Aces
PARIS, Sept. 26 (AP).—Russia holds the aces in the United Nations Security Council in the Berlin case no matter which way the Western powers turn.
Some U. N. informants say the best the Western powers can do now is lay the record of the Berlin case before the world from the council forum.
Article 27 of the U. N. charter requires the five great powers—United States, Britain, France, China and Russia, to vote together for any action on a major question. If one of the Big Five votes against a major proposition, it has cast a veto.
Chapter 6 of the U. N. charter tells how peaceful settlements in a dispute can be made.
But under Article 27, any nation which is a party to a dispute under Chapter 6 must stand aside and not vote.
That means the United States, Britain, France and Russia, as parties to the Berlin case, would have to stand aside.
This would leave only seven

Big 3 Claim Treachery By Stalin, End Talks

Western Powers Taking Berlin Dispute to U. N.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (Monday) (INS).—The Western powers, charging Joseph Stalin double-crossed them, Sunday broke off negotiations with Russia over the Berlin crisis and announced the issue will be placed before the United Nations.
The U. S., British and French governments declared that the Soviet premier on Aug. 2 promised to lift the starvation siege of Berlin if the West agreed to introduction of Russian currency in the German capital.
“The West agreed, only to have Stalin go back on his word when the Soviet commander in Berlin would not bargain on the predetermined basis.”

RUSSIA SAYS U. S. 'TORPEDOED' U. N.

Copyright, 1948, by the New York Times.
BERLIN, Sept. 26.—The United States has “torpedoed” the United Nations by putting the Berlin problem before that body, the Soviet licensed press said Sunday night.
Soviet reaction to the Western powers' move, as mirrored by its German Communist leaders and its press, raised the question whether Russia will refuse to sit in on the U. N. discussions of the Berlin situation and possibly walk out of the U. N. altogether.

Runoff Fight Carried to Washington

James V. Allred, attorney for Lyndon B. Johnson, arrived in Washington Sunday to request of the Supreme Court a stay from the injunction granted by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, keeping Johnson's name from being placed on the November election ballot.
As the Johnson action extended to Washington, announcement was made that the investigation of the alleged fraud in three South Texas counties will begin at 10:30 a. m. Monday in the Federal Building at Corpus Christi.
Allred, who left Austin Sunday morning with Austin lawyer, Ernest Johnson attorney, was in telephone conversation with Justice Hugo L. Black in Washington Sunday night.
Justice Black said he had been called by lawyers who asked if he would hear a “petition for a stay.”

White Paper

At the same time, the State Department issued a 24,000-word “White Paper” which accused Premier Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov of bad faith and double dealing. This paper was a complete record of the abortive two-month effort to achieve a peaceful solution of the Berlin situation.
The Soviets were advised that the Western Powers are in Berlin by legal right—originally agreed to by Stalin personally—and intend to remain there.
Significantly, the joint note declared “pacific settlement” under Article 33 of the U. N. Charter was no longer possible.

50 JOIN MANHUNT

Cave Dweller Is Sought in Two Slayings
HARRISON, Ark., Sept. 26 (AP).—The body of a middle-aged farmer was found Sunday night near the scene where an Arkansas state policeman was ambushed and slain by an unidentified Ozark Mountain cave dweller.
Arkansas State Police here said the body of G. D. Crook was discovered in a shallow grave about one-half mile from an abandoned house where Patrolman S. A. Pravat, 27, Mountain Home, Ark., was shot and killed Saturday.
The gunman is still at large as more than 50 heavily armed police officers continued a manhunt through the rugged, mountainous countryside.
Officers are investigating the cause of Crook's death.
A search for Crook started this morning when Marion County Sheriff A. E. Hall said the farmer's empty billfold and personal papers were found in the gunman's hideout cave.
Crook had not been seen since last Thursday. The farmer lived alone in a small cabin near the cave.

FAMILY ABDUCTED, ROBBED OF $1,400

MISS BILLIE RUTLEDGE of 2100 Sandage Sunday observed a birthday—her 17th—which she will never forget.
She, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rutledge, and her 4-year-old brother, Bing, were abducted and carried on a terror-filled ride by two armed men who robbed the family of $1,400 and their panel grocery truck.
The entire family had just left the store, the Handy Dandy Grocery at 3628 McCart, and crowded into the front seat of their 1946

All This Week

Black answered for: “I told them I would be here all this week.”
Allred announced in Washington: “I think we will have something by Tuesday.”
At Austin supporters of Stevenson announced that Dan Moody, head of Stevenson's legal staff, would present a brief of the entire case before Justice Black Tuesday.
Justice Black is in charge of cases originating in the fifth circuit in which the federal courts of Texas are located. He has authority to stay the injunction granted Stevenson.
James McCollum Burnett and W. R. Smith Jr., San Antonio attorneys, made plans to begin the inquiry after receipt from Judge Davidson of their appointments as special masters to investigate the voting in the three counties.
Smith and Burnett.
Davidson instructed Smith to investigate the Jim Wells County charges and Burnett to make inquiry in the voting in Zapata and Duval.
Attorneys for Stevenson and Johnson will be heard at the meeting in Corpus Christi Monday, the masters said.
Stevenson said in Austin he would go to Corpus Christi for the opening voting investigation.
The special masters have been ordered to report their findings by Oct. 2. State statutes show Oct. 3 as the last day on which the secretary of state may submit names for the November ballot.
Attorneys for Johnson last week sought a stay of execution of the Davidson order, but U. S. Circuit Judge J. C. Hutcheson Jr. of Houston ruled he was without authority to grant such a petition.
Hutcheson set Oct. 4 as the date for the full circuit court to hear the case.
Johnson's attorneys Saturday asked for a writ from the circuit court in hopes of obtaining relief from the injunction before Oct. 4.

Final Tribute Paid To Folke Bernadotte

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 26 (AP).—To the beat of muffled drums and in the glare of flaming torches Sweden paid a final tribute Sunday to Count Folke Bernadotte, the assassinated Palestine mediator.
Last rites were held in Gustav Vasa Church in the presence of the aged King Gustaf V, foreign diplomats and representatives of the United Nations.
After the church services, 40 Boy Scouts drew the coffin on an open catafalque wagon to the Northern Cemetery. Throngs of silent, mourning Swedes watched.
Stevenson said in Austin he would go to Corpus Christi for the opening voting investigation.

BODIES FOUND IN AUTO

Friends in Dual Suicide To End 'Love Triangle'
JAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 26 (AP).—The pair and from a note written by Deshaies, police learned that both men had loved Deshaies' former wife, Helen, with whom Deshaies had had a brief reconciliation a few days earlier.
“Ralph may have loved you, but he and I were good friends,” Deshaies wrote.
Police said they had not yet located Mrs. Deshaies. Touschette's estranged wife, Janice, was reported en route here from Nevada.
Friends of the men told police that the two picked up their paychecks together at 3 a. m. Saturday. They added that both men had intimated they had resolved to end the love triangle “once and for all.”

peach preserves, grape jelly and Uvalde honey.

The 79-year-old Garner's hospitality was praised by Governor Jester as "symbolic" of Texas.
The governor gave added strength to the Truman campaign when he added that Texans were grateful to Garner for the "warmth of greeting he's given to our great president."

No political matters were discussed at the breakfast meeting of the two former vice presidents.
They reminisced and spent an hour away from the campaign.

Six Texas congressmen were on hand when the president rolled into San Antonio.

Congressmen Sam Rayburn of Bonham, Ken Regan of Midland and O. C. Fisher of San Angelo were on the train with him, and they were greeted by Congressmen Lyndon Johnson of Johnson City, Wright Patman of Texarkana and John Lyle of Corpus Christi. Former Congressman Maury Maverick also was in the reception group.

Adding further political weight to the visit were the additions of Mrs. H. H. Weinert of Seguin, national committeewoman who got on the train at Uvalde, and national Committeeman Wright Morrow of Houston, who boarded it at San Antonio.

Mayor Alfred Callaghan introduced the president when he spoke from a flag-draped platform in front of the Alamo and facing the cenotaph erected in 1936 as a centennial memorial to the men who died there.

The president listened attentively as Maverick read Col. William Barrett Travis' historic letter stating he would never retreat nor surrender, and he and Mrs. Truman were given mementoes from the Alamo museum.

The president laid a wreath on the grave where lie the remains of four unnamed persons whose bodies were disinterred and reburied in 1937.

The president was entertained at a luncheon at which 40 Democratic leaders of San Antonio were guests, and later in the day administration at the seminary, was the speaker at an afternoon service.

The rural church was celebrating its 78th anniversary.

Many old members and ancestors of the founders were among the overflow crowd which attended morning services and stayed to have lunch and an afternoon meeting.

Rev. Mr. Howse told them that too often a church is judged merely by the number of members it has, its plant and budget.
He stressed the importance of attendance, and said "Life is richer and sweeter because we assemble together." He added:

"This church stands as a light-house to the community because back through the years people paid a price for its being."

Rev. Carl A. Collins Jr., pastor, recalled historical incidents from the church clerk's book.

Participating were Mrs. Jennie Race and G. P. Farmer, of Everman, granddaughter and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Press Farmer.
Mrs. Farmer was one of the church's charter members when it was founded July 12, 1870.

Oldest member present was Mrs.
G. W. Vaughn, 87, of Everman.
She has been a member for 67 years.

regated meetings."

greeted some 400 more persons at a reception arranged by a committee under direction of Woodville Rogers, one of the leaders in the Truman campaign in Texas.

daughter and son-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. Howard L. Burris, joined the party for the reception, and will travel northward with the train Monday.

While in San Antonio the
