Angus and Sheep Go on Sale Today

Holstein, Jersey Dairy Cattle Judging Will Be Completed This Morning

BY CHARLES K. BOATNER.

The chant of the livestock auctioneers, which sounded over livestock sections of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show Wednesday, will continue Thursday as buying attention shifts to Aberdeen-Angus breeding cattle and fat lambs.

Only other livestock event scheduled for the day is the completion of judging of Holstein and Jersey dairy cattle in the arena of the Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum during the morning. All beef cattle judging was finished Wednesday.

There was some speculation at the show Wednesday on possibilities of General Wainwright, an Aberdeen-Angus fancier, entering the bidding for breeding animals offered by the Texas Aberdeen-Angus Association in the sale at 1 p. m. in the auction arena. The general will see his first exposition here Thursday.

To Sell Champion Lamb.

The grand champion fat lamb of the 1946 show will be included in the fat lamb sale at 2 p. m. in the sheep judging tent. It is a Southdown wether exhibited by Oscar Winchester & Sons, Waukomis, Okla.

The sale of more than 400 fat barrows at the show Wednesday afternoon was featured by the $3 per pound purchase by Swift and Company of the grand champion barrow of the show, a 238-pound Poland China-owned by Carl D. Kleman of Nazareth, Castro County. The Fort Worth Club purchased the reserve grand champion barrow for $2 a pound. The hog was sold by Jack Jones of Apache, Okla.

M. F. Clipper, a heifer, brought $2,000, the highest price paid in the auction of 53 animals by the Texas Shorthorn Breeders Association Wednesday. The animal went to S. O. Harris, St. Louis, Okla., and was consigned by Merryvale Farm, Grandview, Mo. Mrs. Loyd Burr & Son of Lone Tree, Iowa, paid $1,200 for Prince Peter Marine to make him the highest priced bull in the sale.

Carnation to Open $30,000 Branch Here

Fort Worth building permits Wednesday soared to $263,150 for the day as construction of commercial and residential properties was intensified by filing of preliminary plans.

Biggest permit was for construction of 21 frame houses by the Oakhurst Land Company in the West Oakhurst Addition at an estimated cost of $5,000 each.

The Carnation Company of Texas filed preliminary plans for a $30,000 one-story retail store, 100 by 50 feet, at 3200 W. 7th, marking the entry of this company in the retail milk and ice cream business here. Specifications for the building are being drawn by an Oklahoma City architect.

Another Carnation plant of the same type is operated in Wichita Falls, and a second at Tulsa.

The plant here will not, it was reported, engage in the canning business.

Joe Driskill, Fort Worth contractor, took out a $40,000 permit for a 293 by 60 brick and tile store building at 4119 W. Rose-dale. The Will Rogers Shopping Center will erect a $35,000 business house, 76 by 80, at 1013 University Drive. It will be of brick and tile construction.

End of GM and GE Strike To Return 275,000 to Jobs

GHOST OF CLARENCE DARROW AGAIN FAILS APPOINTMENT

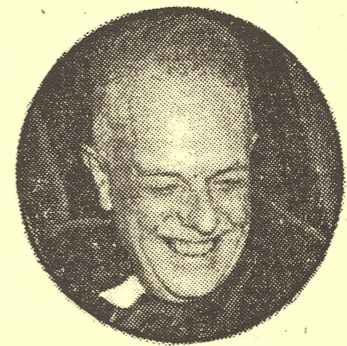

CHICAGO, March 13 (INS).—The ghost of the late Clarence Darrow failed to keep its appointment with Claude D. Noble of Detroit for the eighth consecutive year Wednesday.

Noble, as he has each year on the date since the great criminal lawyer died March 13, 1938, went to Jackson Park London, knelt on the bridge from which Darrow's ashes were strewn, and holding a photograph of Magician Harry Blackstone toward the sun, recited the Lord's Prayer and intoned:

"Clarence Darrow, I am here in fulfillment of our pact. If you can manifest yourself, do it now."

And for the eighth consecutive year, the spirit of Darrow failed to knock the picture from Noble's hand.

Noble waited two minutes, then gave up and said he would try again next year.

Settlements Bright Reconstruction Picture

By Associated Press.

Settlement of long-standing strikes against General Motors and General Electric was announced opening the way for the return of 275,000 workers to task of reconstruction.

The 113-day-old General Motors strike, which cost the company an estimated $1,000,000,000 in lost wages, sales and cut the automotive industry's production one-sixth of advance estimates, was settled mid-afternoon.

A few hours later, settlement of the 57-day-old General Electric strike was announced.

TO SETTLE DOWN IN TEXAS—Welcomed here Thursday will be Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan and Corregidor. The composite photograph shows him standing beside an Aberdeen-Angus, a breed of cattle in which he has expressed interest as a breeder after retirement from service on a Texas ranch. The map shows Kimble County, where his ranch reportedly will be near that of Governor Stevenson.

PLANS TO BECOME TEXAS RANCHER

General Wainwright to Visit Fat Stock Show

Fort Worth Thursday again will welcome Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright. This time the general will not only be recognized as the hero of Bataan and Corregidor, but as a future Texas rancher as well.

Governor Stevenson in a recent news dispatch was quoted as saying that General Wainwright will become his neighbor on a ranch in Kimble County and that the general plans to raise Aberdeen-Angus cattle.

The four-star general, now commanding officer of the 4th Army at Fort Sam Houston, is due by plane at 11 a. m. He will come here with four of his aides to spend three days at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show and be the guests of Amon Carter at the Fort Worth Club.

At the stock show, he will look over Aberdeen-Angus exhibits with a view to his future herd. The general, one of his aides reported Wednesday, is becoming such a thorough Texan that he has asked civilian friends in San Antonio to call him "Tex."

Aides who will fly with him here are Colonels O. I. Holman and John Pugh, Lt. Col. Tom Dooly of McKinney, and Capt. M. M. Perkins, his pilot. Since the trip is not an official call, honors usually reserved for a visiting general will be dispensed with at the Fort Worth AAF.

Instead, he will be met by Col. Everett W. Duvall, commander of the 4th Army detachment in charge of the $1,000,000 Army exhibit at the stock show; Col. Edward A. Compton of Fort Worth, former commander of the Southern Land Frontier, and Carter.

While here he will be taken on two stock show tours and will be the guest at a Fort Worth Club dinner.

12 MPs to Form Honor Guard For Wainwright

A 12-man honor guard of military police, headed by one of his old Army soldiers, will accompany General Wainwright on his visit to the Stock Show and rodeo Thursday.

Capt. Virgil Pecor, who served under the general in prewar years, when Wainwright was a colonel and commanding officer of the 3rd Cavalry, will be in charge of the squad of MPs from the Fort Worth detachment.

The soldiers, who late Wednesday were wearing out blitz cloths on their brass, are Staff Sgt. Donald Hire, Staff Sgt. Thomas McGaha, Sgt. L. J. Lombardi, Sgt. Warren Peterson, Corp. Leroy Thurman, Corp. Charles Hickey and Corp. Robert Buchanan, and Pfc. Tobey Salas, Gene Hulsey, Camille Domangue, Robert Polk and Gerald Flaherty.

'Fair and Warmer' Forecast for Today

After two days of cloudy, wet weather, Fort Worth is expected to get a change Thursday for which the U. S. Weather Bureau has forecast "generally fair and warmer."

Rainfall here for the past two days measured 1.34 inches. Precipitation Wednesday totaled .67 of an inch.

A heavy hail storm, which damaged a school roof and several automobiles, was reported at Langtry. Waco had more rain than any other Texas City Wednesday with 3.02 inches.

Soviet Press Turns on Churchill

BY JAMES

LONDON, March 13.—Pravda scathingly denounced his war as a "warmonger," compare against any "new military Europe."

Stalin said he considered a war from the West improbable, but emphasized that Churchill and unnamed friends in the United States and Britain "will be beaten" if they attempt such a war. This was the first time a British leader had turned on a wartime co-worker with such vehemence. It was a retort to Churchill's Fulton, Mo., speech, which Stalin termed "a call for war with the USSR."

Allied Crisis.

The blast further reflected the crisis in Allied relations less than seven months after the most catastrophic war in history.

Stalin's outburst was contained in an interview with the Communist newspaper Pravda, and was broadcast by Moscow Radio.

The Russian generalissimo declared the Soviet Union was determined to secure friendly governments around its borders pointing out that 7,000,000 Russians died because of the German strike through those countries.

He also asked how Churchill could reconcile his suggestion that the British-Soviet alliance be extended to 50 years "with his preachings for a war against Russia."

'A Dangerous Act.'

Stalin branded the Fulton speech as "a dangerous act calculated to sow the seeds of disension among Allied nations and hinder their collaboration."

He was asked if Churchill's speech had harmed the cause of peace. He answered:

House Refuses to Cut Lend-Lease Funds

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP).—The House Wednesday refused to make an extra $200,000,000 cut in lend-lease funds after hearing the shipments still are going to Russia.

The chamber unanimously approved legislation cancelling out $7,194,682,459 in unspent wartime funds and spending authority, including $1,080,000,000 for lend-lease.

More Funds for OPA

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP).—The House approved by voice vote Wednesday compromise legislation giving the OPA an additional $1,600,000 for its campaign against black market operators.
