Wainwright Flies Here For Gift of Pointer Dog

A lemon-colored pointer, descendant of field trial champions, changed owners here Tuesday afternoon and lost no time at all in making friends with his new master, Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright.

The year-old pedigreed dog was a gift to the commanding general of the 4th Army from Ben E. Keith, president of the Ben E. Keith Company. Destined to be the general's hunting companion this fall, the animal was presented to fulfill a promise made by Keith last month.

The dog is a logical complement to a special shotgun, which General Wainwright received when he was a Fort Worth visitor for the Tarrant County Victory Loan campaign last September. It was presented to the general at that time by Keith, chairman of the general committee of the War Finance Committees, on behalf of Fort Worth citizens. When the general visited the recent Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Keith saw him and promised that a pointer was forthcoming.

General Wainwright and his senior aide, Col. O. I. Holman, flew here Tuesday from 4th Army Headquarters at San Antonio to receive the gift. The officers and Keith were luncheon guests of Amon Carter at the Fort Worth Club.

Flying back to San Antonio at 3 p. m., General Wainwright took the pointer right along with him.

The general, who has one other dog, a Labrador retriever, said he was especially pleased to have a bird dog. He plans to put him in training right away.

General Wainwright asked Keith about the good hunting grounds in this vicinity, indicating he might do some shooting around Fort Worth with the pointer.

"This dog looks like he has the stuff," said the general as the presentation was made. "If he turns out good, as I think he will, I'm going to name him Amon."

Keith owns the dog's mother that raised the pointer. The ancestry includes "Governor Murray," famous for his records in field trials.

SOUTHERNERS WILL AWARD WAINWRIGHT.

SAN ANTONIO, April 9 (AP).—The first Yankee ever awarded an honorary life membership in the Sons of Confederate Veterans will be Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan.

Presentation of the membership and also the S. C. V. distinguished service medal will be made Wednesday to the Northern-born, Northern-reared military leader.

Gracie Allen Says:

HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—Well, I see that in a New York hotel the other day, a Chinese official of the United Nations was handed a package of laundry by a woman who asked him to please have it back by Friday. Personally, I think it's a very encouraging sign when people are willing to entrust something of real value to the UN right from the start.

Naturally the official handed the laundry right back. After all, the UN had enough on its hands trying to get the Iranian situation through the wringer.

The report didn't say whether the woman was embarrassed by her mistake; but, in a way, it was a natural one. Washing soiled linen in public has always been too much a part of the American political scene, and I suppose she thought it would extend to the UN. Let's all hope she was awfully wrong.

Iran Again Appeals to UN Council

Wants Red Dispute On Agenda; Soviets Ask It Be Dropped

BY BOB CONSIDINE.
(International News Correspondent.)
NEW YORK, April 9.—Iran asked the UN Security Council Tuesday night to keep on its agenda the Russo-Iranian dispute, despite demand by the Soviets that the matter be dropped.

The new appeal, signed by Ambassador Ala, was revealed at the close of a day in which the Security Council confined itself to modifying and adopting new council rules and studiously averting immediate consideration of the latest Russian demand.

Ala's newest letter came as a surprise to some delegates who last week agreed with Secretary of State Byrnes, that the dispute was virtually solved by Russia's promise to evacuate the Red Army from Iran "unconditionally."

Internal Trouble.
Since that time, Tehran has announced a new 50-year agreement with Russia and there have been reports of internal troubles in Iran.

The case had appeared near settlement Tuesday when Ambassador Gromyko, who strode out of the council meetings March 27, took part in the day's deliberations over new rules.

Ambassador Ala's new letter, released by Secretary General Lie, read:

"Permit me to thank you for your note of April 1946, forwarding for my information a copy of Mr. Gromyko's letter dated 6 April 1946, requesting that the questions brought to the attention of the Security Council by Iran be removed from the agenda.

Position Unchanged.
"I am instructed to state that the position of the Iranian government remains the same as stated to the Security Council in the session of 4 April 1946. It is the desire of my government that the matters referred by Iran to the Security Council remain on its agenda as provided by the resolution adopted on 4 April 1946."

The "resolution adopted on 4 April 1946" was one introduced by Secretary Byrnes calling on Russia and Iran to report to the council, on May 6, as to the status of the promised unconditional evacuation of the Red Army.

Gromyko announced Sunday night that he would seek to remove the Iranian question from the council's docket. When it became known late Tuesday afternoon that a new Iranian note would be released it was generally felt that Iran was about to support the Gromyko request, in view of the oil deal signed last week.

Convair Talks Stalemated; Eye San Diego

Negotiations failed for the second consecutive day Tuesday to effect a settlement of the machinists strike at Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation while representatives of both management and International Association of Machinists prepared to focus their attention Wednesday on similar strike negotiations at San Diego, Cal.

Roland G. Mayer, Fort Worth division manager of Convair, said he expected that the opening of negotiations to settle a similar strike at the San Diego plant will have an influence on the settlement of the seven-week-old strike at the Fort Worth plant.

The discussions were carried on Tuesday at Hotel Texas between representatives of the management and union without the intermediary help of T. F. Morrow, commissioner of conciliation, who was called out of the city on another labor dispute. The negotiators will resume their conference again Wednesday morning.

In the meanwhile, quiet prevailed along the picket lines outside the plant Tuesday. Sheriff Rhodes and 11 of his deputies directed traffic, and District Attorney Clyde, two of his investigators and one assistant were present during the hour and a half that automobiles and buses left the plant.

The scene was quite different Monday when a series of fights developed outside the plant gates between non-striking employees and union men.

Five non-striking employees made affidavits at the district attorney's office Tuesday, asserting

EYEBROW RAISER FOR EYES OF EXES

AUSTIN, April 9 (AP).—University of Texas exes might say this couldn't happen on their campus—but it has. An A&M club has been formed by Aggie exes now enrolled in the university.

Explaining why he quit the life of an Aggie farmer to become a Texas "teasipper," one club member said that after three years of Army life, he couldn't go back to a military school.

Meeting Monday night A&M club members offered assurances they will not carry on fifth-column activities against the Orange and White—not even on Thanksgiving Day, when the Aggies and Longhorns renew traditional football rivalry.

New OPA Rule May Aid Owners

Fort Worth landlords—as well as property owners in other Texas cities—may be permitted soon to increase rents under a new OPA regulation which goes into effect Wednesday.

Office of Price Administration spokesmen in Washington Tuesday said the new rule provides for consideration of hardship petitions for rental increases where landlords have had to pay higher wages or taxes effective a month ago.

The order applies to the Fort Worth area; Abilene, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Brownwood, Brady, Gainesville, Killeen, Temple, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Lucian H. Wright, area OPA rent director, refused to comment on the new rule Tuesday night, declaring "this is the first I've heard about it."

Mrs. Mildred F. Chadwick, secretary of the Apartment House and Property Owners Association of Fort Worth, declared:

"We have tried to obey all OPA regulations and be good citizens. We felt that OPA eventually would get around to giving us some relief and are glad they are now giving us consideration."

Petitions for rent ceiling increases filed with the local OPA offices have not increased for five or six months, OPA reported Tuesday.
