Mr. Amon Carter,

Dear Amon:

This is March twenty-fourth, 1945 and the pecans finally arrived. When you sent them they must have gone astray many months ago as we did not receive them, but after much correspondence we have them and are enjoying them so much.

Cannot tell you how much we appreciate your constant kind thoughts of the Whitemans.

Hope it won't be long before we will be seeing you.

Fondly,

Margaret
