Fort Worth, Texas, March 31, 1910.

Pathfinding Party, Glidden Tour,
437 Fifth Ave., NEW YORK CITY.

Some place up in Arkansas you will be met by one of our bright young men who has instructions to escort you into Fort Worth, the cultured cow town of the Southwest. We've heard a lot about you and we want to see you. We trust you will come peaceably and quietly, and feel that you will be glad to have someone show you the way out of Arkansas. We are waiting for you here. A fat calf is growing fatter for your arrival; our own cowboy mayor will whisper sweet words of welcome in your ear and our husky chief of police will forget the speed ordinance. Wire us you will come.

P.S.

FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM

Our young man's car will carry an ice box.
