Fort Worth, Texas,

April Twenty-Seventh,
1915.

Mr. A. G. Carter,
Hotel Biltmore,
New York City.

Dear Carter:

This morning Will Massey brought over your big check for $10.00 made payable to George Oliver, and suggested that I, as Notary Public, protest payment of same on account of the misuse of material used, which I did without prejudice, and of course with the understanding that there would be no protest fees. The draft is being paid today through the First National Bank, and will be returned to us with our checks. It has quite a number of endorsements on it which are very interesting, and there were a number of letters accompanying it, of which I secured copies, and am enclosing these copies herewith.

Enclosed find letter and contract which we received this morning from H.E.Bucklen, and I thought best to forward it to you for your attention while in the east, and I hope it will reach you before you go to Philadelphia. I also enclose piece of copy which is appearing in the Dallas News on Kellogg's Krumbles. Hope you will be able to land this business for the Star - Telegram, as it seems to be a very desirable campaign.

I wired you last night on the U.S.Tire business, and also gave you information that Reyer had hooked up with Stripling. I don't know whether you knew Reyer was figuring with Stripling or not, I rather think he did not begin to figure with him until after you had left.

After three days of trials and tribulations with no gas in the shop or in the city, they managed to get the break repaired and turned the gas on Sunday morning. We are now running along alright. However, after Thursday morning we got along very well by hooking up presto light tanks with the machines, which we found worked very satisfactory. We stumbled on to the presto light machine after considerable unsuccessful experimenting, and we were up against it pretty bad for half day Thursday.

It still continues to rain down here and everything is pretty badly flooded. The river is out of its banks in Fort Worth, but the levee is holding the water pretty well.

Received your wire several days ago about the 100 day cards we are having printed, suggesting that I hold them up, and advising that you were writing me, but as yet I have received no letter from you. I am still holding up these cards.

I am sending today by prepaid express to Mr. Milholland 300 cards, and also the cuts from sketches made by Hep of some of the members of the Golf Association. I am sending you under separate cover a number of the cards which we sent Mr. Milholland, which I hope you will like.

Very truly yours,

ALS-G
