Issued by the Division of University Relations

Volume 69, No. 2, September 1, 1992

SEPT. 10 WILL BE FALL FAMILY DAY

Sept. 10 will be Fall Family Day at TCU. To begin at 5 p.m., the gathering for all University employees and their families will include fun, food and football.

Activities will begin with the Horned Frogs' practice at Amon Carter Stadium. Beginning his first season as head coach, Pat Sullivan will explain procedures and introduce team members. While spectators are seated in the stadium's west stands sipping lemonade, he will give a preview of the 1992 season.

Following the practice, a free hot dog supper will be served under the west stands.

Reservations for the supper, along with names of employees and their family members attending, are due Sept. 8 in the ticket office of Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Invitations will be in the mail this week.

ALUMNI EVENT WILL HONOR NINE

Public recognition will be given nine persons by the TCU Alumni Association at its 16th annual awards dinner Sept. 11. The 1992 honorees are J. Luther King Jr. of Dallas; Melvin M. Diggs of Fort Worth; Garry and Janet Williams of Kokomo, Ind.; Bob Bolen of Fort Worth; Winthrop P. Rockefeller of Little Rock; Martha Hackley Salmon of Austin; Ernest O. Ross III of Fort Worth; and George M. Bradford of Hurst.

Shady Oaks Country Club will be the setting for the event, with black-tie dress optional. The 7:15 p.m. reception and 8 p.m. dinner will be followed by presentations made by Chancellor Bill Tucker. Master of ceremonies will be Jerry Ray of Austin, 1992-93 president of the alumni association.

Due by Sept. 8, the $40-per-person reservations can be made by check, payable to TCU, sent to the alumni office, Box 32921.

King, who earned B.B.A. and M.B.A. degrees here in 1962 and 1966, respectively, will receive the distinguished alumnus award in recognition of prominence in his career and endeavors in a particular field that have brought credit to himself and his alma mater. Now its president and chief executive officer, he founded the internationally known Luther King Capital Management Corp. in 1979. It has grown to a current management of more than $5 billion in assets. A trustee of TCU and St. Mark's School of Texas, he is on the board of governors of Investment Counsel Association of America and on boards of several privately held corporations. On the Neeley School board of visitors, he is a chartered financial analyst and certified investment counselor.

To receive the valuable alumnus award for outstanding and continuing service to TCU or the alumni association, Diggs is a retired United States attorney. The Class of '36 member was honored by the Department of Justice with its highest honor, the Attorney General's Award for Exceptional Service, for his efforts as the court-appointed U.S. Attorney for the Northern District of Texas. Chosen one of the six most active seniors and student body president as an undergraduate, he has continued active participation in TCU events through the Lettermen's Association, alumni association and the TCU Quinq Club.

For loyalty, service and support of the University, the Williamses will receive the honorary alumni award. Their allegiance to TCU began when their youngest son, Lew, entered TCU on a baseball scholarship in 1985. Although he has completed B.B.A. and M.B.A. degrees here, the support of the athletic program by the two Depauw University graduates continues. The couple owned B-W Manufacturers Inc. Now retired, he serves on the boards of Kokomo YMCA, Ameritrust Bank of Kokomo, St. Joseph's Memorial Hospital and the Industrial Training Council of Kokomo. On the Depauw University Alumni board, she is a director of the Kokomo YWCA Open Door Program. As patrons of their city's schools, they were instrumental in founding the Kokomo High School Teacher Foundation, designed to financially assist outstanding teachers with special projects for students.

Bolen, internationally known for his nine years' service as mayor of Fort Worth and establishing its Sister Cities program, will receive the Royal Purple Award for extraordinary service and support to TCU and the community. The 1948 Texas A&M graduate, president of Bolen Enterprises, serves as senior advisor to Chancellor Tucker. He is past president of the Texas Municipal League and is a director for Happy Hill Children's Home, March of Dimes, Friends of Youth of the YMCA and Texas Wesleyan University. He has received the Exchange Club's Golden Deeds Award, Man of the Year Award from B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League and B'nai B'rith's American Eagle Award.

Rockefeller, president and chief executive officer of Winrock Farms Inc. in Arkansas, will be presented the founders award for actions and deeds made in the interest of the University or its alumni association. A member of TCU's 1974 Ranch Management class and past president of that program's alumni association, he chaired the recent campaign to fund the ranch management building now under construction that will be named for him and his father. Rockefeller chairs the boards of Allied Marine Co. in Miami, Florida's Hatteras of Lauderdale and Carlisle Bancshares. In addition to serving as a TCU trustee, he is on the boards of Arkansas Arts Center Foundation, Arkansas Cancer Research Center and Fifty for the Future. Past president of the Arkansas Cattlemen's Association, he chairs the Presidents Council on Rural America, Tactical Response Association Foundation and United States Marshals Foundation.

For continuing and outstanding service to the alumni association, Salmon will receive the first Alumni Service Award. Formerly a member of TCU's board of trustees and past president of the alumni association as well as its Austin chapter, she also is past president of the Texas Association for Counseling and Development, Texas Association for Humanistic Education and Development and Texas Association for Measurement and Evaluation in Counseling and Development. After earning degrees here in 1966 and 1971, she completed the Ed.D. degree in 1976 at East Texas State University. Currently regional executive director of The College Board, Salmon formerly headed the American Association for Counseling and Development and has been honored with awards from the Texas association.

Ross, a 1992 graduate now employed by Merck, Sharp & Dohme, will receive the distinguished student award for noteworthy activities as an undergraduate in both academics and service to the University. He served as vice president and then president of the House of Student Representatives and was active in the American Marketing Association, TCU Student Foundation and Mortar Board. Named to the Chancellor's Task Force on Minority Affairs in 1990, he was active in the University Council, Order of Omega and Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, Recipient of the outstanding sophomore leadership award, he was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

For loyalty and service to the alumni association, Bradford will receive the President's Service Award. Alumni president in 1990-92, he is chief operations officer and president of Mid-Cities National Bank in Hurst. The Class of '64 member is treasurer of the Hurst-Eules-Bedford Chamber of Commerce and serves as secretary for both the Civil Service Commission and Economic Development Committee of Hurst. He is a board member of Northeast Community Trust and Airport Area YMCA. A director of Family Service Inc., he is also active in the H.E.B. Harris Hospital Healthcare Exchange.

SEPT. 15 IS DATE FOR WELCOMING TEA

The chancellor's dining room in the Student Center will be the setting Sept. 15 for the annual welcoming tea hosted by the TCU Woman's Club. The event is planned for 3:30 to 5 p.m., according to Deanie Sewell, the organization's president.

Reservations for the complimentary occasion are due by Sept. 8.

Beginning at 3 p.m., shuttle vans will be available from the parking lot located at McPherson and Wabash streets behind University Baptist Church.

ALBIN HEADS AUGUST GRAD LIST

Patricia Morgan Albin, who completed the B.B.A. degree in finance, was the top-ranking graduate in the August class. One of eight honor graduates and one of two graduating summa cum laude, she completed her degree with a 4.0 grade-point average.

Of those who completed degree requirements, other honor graduates were Roger Shane Karr, summa cum laude, B.A. in religion; Erin Leigh Gugler, B.M.T. in medical technology, and Jonathan Wesley Noles, B.S. in computer science, both magna cum laude; and Elizabeth Nava Flores, B.S. in coordinated dietetics, Leah Kelly Green, BA. in English, Jane Louise Peters, B.S. in biology, and Anne Michelle Stewart, B.S. in speech pathology, cum laude.

The August class included 183 persons. Of these, 127 completed bachelor's degrees, 49 master's, three through Brite Divinity School and four Ph. D. degrees. Since there is no summer commencement, these graduates will be invited to take part in the December ceremony.

FACULTY, STAFF APPOINTMENTS

Sheri Searcy is new principal of Starpoint School and assistant professor of education. She earned her bachelor's degree from the University of Kansas, master's from Emporia State University and Ph.D. from the University of Missouri at Columbia, has taught at the University of Maryland and at Buena Vista College in Iowa and has served as learning disabilities project manager for the National Information Center for Children and Youth with Handicaps.

New archivist for Mary Couts Burnett Library's Van Cliburn Collection is Laura Dubiel, who has been employed in the library's special collections since 1983. She earned the Bachelor of Music degree here in 1980 and recently completed her master's degree. Laura has interned as an archivist at Amon Carter Museum and has worked as an archives processor at the Texas State Library.

Currently completing the Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin - Madison, Tracy Dietz has been outreach specialist for that institution's Department of Health and Human Issues since 1990. She has the B.A. degree from Wisconsin at Platteville and the master's from Wisconsin at Madison.

Fort Worth native Paul Hood joined the staff in August as project manager for the physical plant. Holder of the B.S. degree in mechanical engineering technology from Texas Tech, he had been mechanical engineer with Vandell & Hiller since 1989.

ARMY NURSING AWARDS HOLD LEAD

With its largest class to date, the University's Army ROTC nursing scholarship program has begun the fall semester with 23 new recipients. This distinguishes it as the largest in the nation for the fourth consecutive year, according to Capt. Paul McCoy. Each fall approximately 25 scholarship winners enter the nursing program as freshmen. Currently 50 students are pursuing Army Nurse Corps commissions here on scholarships as they earn their undergraduate degrees.

The unit also serves Army ROTC cadets from Tarrant County Junior College and Texas Wesleyan University. When those recruits have reported in from their respective campuses, the Horned Frog battalion will consist of approximately 150 cadets, the officer estimated.

RIFLE TEAM RELOADS FOR SECOND ROUND

Five members of the 1991-1992 Women's Rifle Team have returned for a second year of skill-sharpening and competition with other NCAA teams. Christa Bickle, Veronica Huron, Dawn Morgan, Jennifer Ramirez and Lita Teran will be preparing for up to 13 meets with their counterparts at other colleges and universities. Last year they competed in eight events.

Master Sgt. Roger Ivy of the Army ROTC staff serves as riflery coach, assisted by adjunct faculty members Neal Stepp and Robert Hayes. Previously Roger coached at Centenary College in Louisiana and Henderson State University in Arkansas, and his Henderson State teams captured the Arkansas Collegiate Rifle League Championships in 1989 and 1990.

Rifle team participation is not restricted to ROTC cadets, Roger emphasized. Membership is open to any full-time woman student at the University who meets requirements of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. "It's a lot of hard work," he said. "It's challenging and requires a minimum of 10 hours of practice every week, but, if someone is interested, the possibility of lettering at TCU exists for someone who may not be able to letter in other areas."

In addition to a pre-season match with Tarleton State and Hardin-Simmons universities and several tentative dates, the team will compete according to this 1992-1993 schedule: Texas A&M University, Oct. 3; University of Texas at Austin, Nov. 7; Ohio State University, Nov. 13; Xavier University (Ohio), Nov. 14; University of Kentucky, Nov. 15; West Texas State University, Nov. 21; Southwest Invitational (University of Texas at El Paso), Jan. 30; Texas A&M, Feb. 6; and Texas A&M, Centenary College and West Texas State at TCU, Feb. 27.

AWARD INFORMATION AVAILABLE

Information regarding the nomination process for Mellon Fellowships in Humanistic Studies is available now from Priscilla Tate, associate dean of AddRan College.

Any faculty member may nominate one or two candidates who show unusually strong promise and who plan to begin study toward the Ph.D. in preparation for teaching and scholarship in higher education in a humanistic discipline. Recent graduates who have not begun graduate study as well as 1993 prospective graduates are eligible for consideration, Priscilla said.

SWIMMING, DIVING CLASSES SET

Two sessions in both swimming and diving will be offered this fall for persons with skill levels ranging from beginners to advanced. With all classes on Saturday mornings in the Rickel Building, Session I in swimming and diving will be Sept. 12, 19, 26 and Oct. 3, while Session II is scheduled Oct. 10, 17, 24 and 31.

Under the direction of Coach Richard Sybesma, "Learn to Swim the Olympic Way" will be open to persons four years of age and older. The age minimum is 6 for those in "Learn to Dive the Olympic Way," headed by Coach Scott Anderson.

For swimming as well as diving, the beginner-level class will be held from 10 to 10:40 a.m., intermediate from 10:45 to 11:25 a.m. and advanced from 11:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

Cost for the sessions is $38 per child. Multiple sessions or children will receive a $3 discount. The charge for children of faculty and staff members will be $32 per child. Payment is in advance on a first-come basis, according to Richard.

Registrations along with checks for swimming should be sent to Richard and for diving to Scott, both at Box 32924.

PARENTS EXPRESS GRATITUDE

The University's person-centered approach often is praised by students' parents. One example is a recent letter from Margaret Lou Smith of Huntsville.

"My husband and I would like to express our gratitude for the consideration shown our son Tony at the time of his sister's death on May 9," she wrote. "The caring attitude displayed by staff, faculty and students during the final week of school convinced us that TCU was the right choice for Tony.

"We have seen that TCU not only has an exceptional instructional program but has a heart as well," she added.

DATA ANALYSTS ATTEND WORKSHOPS

Kerr-McGee specialists enrolled in a special section of the satellite data analysis workshop offered Aug. 19-21 by geologists Ken Morgan, Art Busbey and Nowell Donovan. The Oklahoma-based corporation invested in an entire workshop for six of its representatives. A private-sector consortium which markets all NASA satellite data provides support for the workshops.

The teaching team has been conducting sessions for environmental firms as well as for petroleum-industry specialists, tailoring the microcomputer use in the Center for Remote Sensing and Energy Research and the choice of sites for field visits to the needs of visiting students.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Larry Peters (management) is the program chair-elect for the Research Methods Division of the Academy of Management. He also has been elected as representative at large and member of the executive committee of the Human Resources Division of the Academy. With more than 2,000 members, the Human Resources Division is one of the Academy's largest.

Ralph Behnke (speech communication) has published an article entitled "Application of Expectance Theory and User Observations in Identifying Factors Which Affect Human Performance on Computer Projects" in a recent issue of the Journal of Educational Computing Research. The article was co-authored with Warren Watson of the School of Business at the University of North Texas.

Tommy Thomason (journalism) was a keynote speaker and workshop leader during the summer at Bill Martin/Pathways to Literacy conferences sponsored by the International Institute of Literacy Learning. Tommy spoke in Baton Rouge, Dallas, Arlington, Boston, Phoenix, Detroit, Baltimore, San Antonio, Louisville, KY, and Tupelo, MS. His keynote address dealt with how teachers can use one-on-one conferences to teach writing.

Dwayne Simpson (IBR) was one of four U.S. drug research scientists invited to make featured presentations at the "Sino-American Conference on Drug Abuse," a Southeastern Asia regional meeting on epidemiology, prevention and treatment held in Taipei, Taiwan, June 11-13. His paper entitled "Drug Abuse Treatment Evaluation Research in the United States" was presented to senior health officials from government, university and medical organizations and selected staff of about 200. Senior health officials attending from other countries represented Korea, Japan Sri Lanka, Hong Kong, Singapore and Australia. More recently Dwayne spoke on "Major Findings from National Studies of Drug Treatment Outcomes in the United States" at the 36th International Congress on Alcohol and Drug Dependence in Glasgow, Scotland, Aug. 18-21.

As part of the IBR's research grant on "Drug Abuse Treatment for AIDS Risks Reduction (DATAR) Project," Dwayne and George Joe presented recent findings at the third annual meeting of Applied Research Demonstration Projects July 16-17 in Bethesda, MD. George gave a paper on the "DATAR Client Assessment Battery," and Kevin Knight presented a poster on "Relapse Prevention Training" at the 1992 annual meeting of the American Psychological Association in Washington, DC, Aug. 14-18.

Other IBR staff activities included workshops on "Women's Health and Communication Skills" presented by Norma Bartholomew and Lois Chatham at the 6th National Alcohol and Drug Problems Association Conference on Women's Issues in Chicago June 17-20 and the TCADA 35th annual Institute of Alcohol and Drug Studies in Austin July 12-17. In addition, Don Dansereau (psychology) held a "Mapping Training Camp for DATAR Counselors" at the IBR July 10-11.

From the IBR's grant on "Drugs in the Workplace," Wayne Lehman presented papers dealing with employee drug use and related consequences at meetings of the Society of Industrial/Organizational Psychology and the American Psychological Society in Montreal in May and San Diego in June. His paper entitled "Employee Substance Abuse and On-the-Job Behaviors" was published in the Journal of Applied Psychology this summer, and Wayne has attended several meetings as a member of the National Research Council's Committee on Drug Use in the Workplace.

IBR's "AIDS Intervention Project" has focused recent efforts on a collaborative multi-site study of AIDS intervention effectiveness, and Mabel Camacho, Melynda Cloud and Dwayne gave summaries of findings at the Southwest Region Research Meeting for the National AIDS Demonstration Research (NADR) Project in San Antonio June 25-26.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Biologist Rudy Brun organized a panel on "Music and Organismic Morphogenesis" at the July 7-9 meeting of the American Society for Aesthetics and Art Criticism, Rocky Mountain Division, in Santa Fe, NM. Panel participants were Professor Charles Bestor of the University of Massachusetts Department of Music and Dance and Professor John Mackay of Pennsylvania's West Chester University Department of Music Theory and Composition. Rudy presented a paper entitled "Principles of Morphogenesis in Embryonic Development, Music and Evolution."

Funeral services were conducted Aug. 21 at Laurel Land Funeral Home for Marie Conway Stegall, retired clerk. A TCU staff member in 1969-74, she died Aug. 19 in a local hospital.

Bob Frye (English) is the author of a newly published small book entitled Winston M. Estes, part of the Western Writers Series from Boise State University Press. Estes (1917-82), who gained national attention for his well-received novel Another Part of the House (1970), grew up in northwest Texas, retired from the Air Force after 28 years of service to write full time and is the author of six books, most set in Texas.

Curt Wilson (music) is the composer of several works chosen by the Fort Worth Symphony and Chamber Orchestra for performance during the 1992-93 season. The chamber group will play his Trumpet Concerto twice on early-season tour concerts, Sept. 15 in Graham and Oct. 3 in Temple, with Steve Weger as soloist. The symphony will open its Hollywood Concert in February with his "Hollywood Fanfare," and Curt also orchestrated a Cole Porter Tribute for the symphony's "I Love Cole Porter" concert in March. Gary Whitman will be soloist on the tribute.

Senior Susan Firestone (chemistry) has received one of three undergraduate research awards from the American Society of Pharmacognosy. A stipend of $2,000 for the student accompanies the award as well as $500 to be awarded to her adviser, Manny Reinecke, to help defray research costs. The society places no limitations on the type of research to be conducted other than that it should be in the area of natural products. Other undergraduate researchers receiving 1992 ASP awards are at Florida Atlantic University and Ferris State University.

Accounting's In-Mu Haw and Kooyul Jung were notified recently that two of their papers have been accepted for publication in the Journal of Accounting, Auditing and Finance. The papers are "The Factors Associated with the Market Reaction to New Information About Foreign Operations -- Operational Savings Versus Agency Interpretation" and "The Accuracy of Financial Analysts' Forecasts after Mergers." The first paper was co-authored with Victor Pastena of SUNY--Buffalo and the second one with William Ruland Baruch College.
