HOMEcomings '94: "HATS OFF TO TCU"

"Hats Off to TCU" will be the theme for Homecoming Thursday through Saturday, as alumni, students and friends gather for a weekend of activities. Here's a look at some of the highlights:

The opening event for Homecoming '94 is Thursday night's Alumni Association Awards Dinner. Twelve individuals will be honored for outstanding contributions in their field of endeavor and to TCU. This year's recipients are: Dr. John D. Oswalt, '68; William G. Blackmon Jr., '43 ; Genevieve Able Blackmon, '44; Dr. Noel R. Bailey; William L. and Betty Adams; Spencer '59 and Marlene Hays; Bryan H. Ingram, '57; Lesbia Word Roberts, '31; Kathleen M. Martin, '94 and Jerrol J. Ray, '58. [Editor's note: Please see Page 2 for a related story.]

On Friday, reunion participants may attend the Homecoming luncheon hosted by the Century Club at River Crest Country Club.

Friday's festivities culminate with the Homecoming Parade at 7 p.m. This year's parade has 47 entries from across campus as well as the community. Radio station KPLX will cover the parade in a live broadcast. The parade route begins in Bluebonnet Circle and proceeds down University Drive to the campus. Alumni cheerleaders will participate in the pep rally immediately following the parade. The evening will conclude with a spectacular fireworks display at the stadium. A Homecoming party at Billy Bob's Texas from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. will feature the rockabilly band Confederate Railroad. Tickets are available for $5 in the Student Center. Buses will transport the partygoers.

At 8 a.m. Saturday, alumni and students may meet on the steps of the Student Center to participate in a scenic 5K run sponsored by the Student Foundation. Alumni will then gather at 11:30 a.m. for a barbecue at Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Chancellor Bill Tucker will recognize the 10 reunion classes during a brief program beginning at noon. The traditional Walk of Frogs also begins at noon Saturday in front of Moncrief Hall as the team makes its way to the locker room. The Horned Frogs collide with the Rice Owls at Amon G. Carter Stadium at 2 p.m.. Fun and games in Frog Alley and alumni receptions will precede the game.

To cap the weekend's festivities, there will be a Homecoming party at the Worthington Hotel Saturday night featuring Vince Vance and the Valiants. A reception begins at 8 p.m. followed by dancing at 9 p.m. A Homecoming concert featuring Trim, Jack Ingram and Dah-Veed Garza begins at 8 p.m. at Caravan of Dreams. Tickets are available for $7 at the Student Center. Buses will run from the campus to downtown Fort Worth throughout the evening.

Call the alumni office at Ext. 7803 for information on alumni events. Dial the Student Affairs office at Ext. 7926 for details on student activities.

ALUMNI AWARDS TO BE PRESENTED THURSDAY

Twelve distinguished University leaders will be recognized Thursday as the Alumni Association presents its 40th annual awards, which will be given during the Annual Alumni Awards Dinner at Fort Worth's Rivercrest Country Club. Chancellor Bill Tucker will make the presentations. Master of ceremonies will be Bridget Guthrie Thomas ('68), Alumni Association president.

The following honorees have been selected for their service and gifts to the University:

William L. and Betty Adams of Fort Worth will be presented the Royal Purple Award for their extraordinary service and support, as Fort Worth citizens, to TCU and the community. Mr. Adams, chair of the board for Union Pacific Resources Company, has been a TCU trustee since 1983. Mrs. Adams is a member of the board of directors of the Fort Worth Symphony.

Dr. Noel R. Bailey of Fort Worth is this year's recipient of the Honorary Alumnus Award. Now retired, Dr. Bailey was known in Fort Worth for his obstetrics-gynecology practice that he started in the 1940s. Some 74 students have been able to attend TCU because of his scholarship contributions to the University.

William Blackmon Jr. ('43) and wife, Genevieve Able Blackmon ('44), of Fort Worth will receive the Valuable Alumni Award for outstanding and continued service to TCU. Mr. Blackmon joined with former TCU schoolmate Scott Mooring Jr. ('43) to found Blackmon-Mooring Inc. and served as its board chairman. Mrs. Blackmon served as president of the TCU Women Exes.

Bryan Engram ('57) of Dallas will add the Frog O' Fame Award to his already lengthy list of athletic accomplishments. Engram served as captain of TCU's 1955 Southwest Conference championship team that played Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl. The All-SWC first-teamer received the Dan Rogers Award and was drafted by both the National and Canadian football leagues. Today Engram is an independent real estate developer and investor in Dallas.

Spencer ('59) and Marlene Hays of Nashville, Tenn., will be honored with the Founders Award. Mr. Hays, majority owner of Nashville-based Southwestern/Great American Opportunities Inc., is a TCU trustee. Mr. and Mrs. Hays recently made a large contribution to fund construction of the theatre complex in TCU's new performing arts center. The couple also has established the Southwestern Scholarship Fund for TCU students.

Kathleen M. Martin, who graduated in May with a degree in history and English, will receive the Distinguished Student Award. While at TCU, the Oklahoma City resident was a Chancellor's Scholar for five semesters, a Dean's List member for seven semesters and was named outstanding history student in 1994 and outstanding Panhellenic officer in 1993.

Dr. John D. Oswalt ('68), who will receive the Distinguished Alumnus Award, performed the first successful heart transplant in Central Texas in 1986. The Austin resident pioneered the use of the heart valve operation known as the Ross Procedure. The surgeon also led the effort to establish the Austin heart transplant program.

Jerrold J. Ray ('58) of Austin will be given the President's Service Award for his loyal services as past president of the Alumni Association. Ray has been president of the Austin TCU alumni chapter and a member of the Committee of 100. He is president of Family Sports Inc.

Lesbia Word Roberts ('31) of Fort Worth will accept the Alumni Service Award for continuing and outstanding service to the Alumni Association. Ms. Roberts has served as a member of the an Alumni Association board and Friends of the TCU Library, board member and president of the TCU Women's Exes and board member and president of TCU's reunion group, the Quinq Club.

THE NEXT FRONTIER

UPDATE

TCU faculty and staff caught a glimpse of the University's Next Frontier at a gala event Oct. 20 that celebrated the kickoff of the campus campaign. Hundreds gathered amid refreshments and music to see the premiere of The Next Frontier logo and a special video featuring trustees, alumni and faculty. Those in attendance also received a copy of The Next Frontier: A Vision For The Future, the campaign case statement.  This special addition to the Weekly Bulletin is the first in a series of updates that will provide insight into the University's fund-raising effort. The timeline below shows how The Next Frontier campaign is the result of years of planning by TCU faculty, staff and students.

CONSTRUCTED

1987—The Academic Initiatives

Three University committees identified five priority areas to focus future development: technology (networks and computers), global education, diversity, graduate studies and an engineering program.

1989—The Master Plan

Consultants met with committees and conducted needs assessments to determine future maintenance and physical campus needs. Their recommendations were adopted as general guidelines for how the campus might develop over the next decade and beyond.

1992—Defining TCU's Character

More than 100 faculty, staff and students met in groups to help identify what makes TCU distinctive. It was found that the values governing the life and work of the University are ideals which were nurtured on the plains and prairies of the American frontier.

1992—The Campaign

More than 70 TCU donors and friends participated in a study to determine the feasibility of a major fund-raising campaign to help this University—founded on the American frontier—shape its next frontier. A goal was ultimately set at $100 million to be raised over five years.

1994—Campus Campaign Committee

Members from all segments of the University continue to help focus the campus community on the future, involve people in discussions related to future priorities and conduct an on-campus campaign. The committee recommended a series of communications initiatives and a campus goal of $1.5 million to be raised over five years, half of which is already in hand.

1994-1996—Campaign Kickoffs

- Campus, October 20, 1994
- National-Fort Worth, November 1994
- Dallas, April 1995
- Permian Basin, May 1995
- Houston, September 1995
- Amarillo, October 1995
- Austin, April 1996
- San Antonio, September 1996

WALSH COMPLEX TO BE DEDICATED

The Walsh Complex, a new weight training and rehabilitation center named in honor of TCU benefactors F. Howard and Mary D. Walsh, will be dedicated Saturday in outdoor ceremonies led by Chancellor Bill Tucker. Ground was broken for the state-of-the-art facility in early 1994.

Located at the south end of Amon G. Carter Stadium, the Walsh Complex doubles the space available for weight and strength training, injury rehabilitation and education of professional athletic trainers. The complex includes a 7,200-square-foot weight and conditioning area and an expanded athletic training facility, including rehabilitation, treatment and examination rooms. Also included in the construction/remodeling effort were a new women's basketball complex, an expanded equipment room and storage area, and refurbished football dressing rooms. The centerpiece of the new facility's entrance is a plaque listing 100 individuals who made donations to the project before Oct. 1.

The Walshes also recently gave the University $3.5 million for construction of a new performing arts center, the largest gift given for the $11 million facility. Groundbreaking for the F. Howard and Mary D. Walsh Center for Performing Arts at Texas Christian University could take place during the 1995-96 academic year or sooner.

HOOPS MANIA TO FEATURE ACTION, GIVEAWAYS

The TCU men and women's basketball teams will be slamming and jamming their way into a new era of athletic prowess with the presentation of Hoops Mania tonight (Tuesday) at 8 p.m. in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum.

As many as 1,000 are expected to attend this free public event, which will feature the community's first glimpse of new head coach Billy Tubbs. Participants also will see the new additions that second-year women's head coach Shell Robinson has made for the up-and-coming women's basketball program.

Additionally, indoor fireworks, a slam dunk competition, a 3-on-3 basketball game and 3-point shooting contests are scheduled. Outdoors, fans will dance to live music, participate in interactive basketball booths or climb into a Space Walk and bounce around all evening.

Hoops Mania will give away more prizes than any single TCU student event this year. Among the giveaways will be airline tickets, T-shirts, gift certificates to local restaurants, music CDs and cassettes, basketball posters, movie posters and passes, official TCU Hoops Mania basketballs, food and drinks.

JUST A REMINDER. . .

We encourage you to submit items for consideration in the Weekly Bulletin. Please send them to Ma'lisa Laidlaw, Internal Communications Editor, Office of Communications, Box 30776, or bring them by the communications office, Sadler 321. Due to space limitations, items will be published as space and time permit. The deadline for submissions is noon of the Tuesday prior to the desired publication date.

FORT WORTH SPEAKERS FORUM RETURNS

Matalin and Carville to appear at Casa Manana

TCU once again joins hands with the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and Bank One to present the Fort Worth Speaker's Forum. Formerly known as the Distinguished Speaker's Forum, the series is back after a two-year hiatus with a new name and James Carville and Mary Matalin as speakers.

Carville was Bill Clinton's outspoken 1992 campaign strategist. His wife, Matalin, was equally assertive as George Bush's campaign planner. The politically polarized pair will speak at Casa Manana at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 4. Ticket details are being finalized. Mark your calendars and watch the Bulletin for more information.

NEELEY INT'L BOARD TO MEET

The M.J. Neeley International Board of Visitors will gather Friday and Saturday for its annual fall meeting. Following an informal buffet lunch hosted by M.B.A. students, Dean Kirk Downey will present his strategic plan for the Neeley School.

During the Saturday session, M.B.A. Admissions Director Peggy Conway will discuss graduate student recruitment and the International Board of Visitors Ambassadors program. Rob Rhodes, M.B.A. academic program director, will brief the group on the M.B.A. Alumni Association.

Assistant Dean Linda Roye Smith will review the summer internship program, and Jack Barrett, director of the Charles Tandy American Enterprise Center, will talk about recent activities coordinated by the facility.

The 28-member board reviews and advances recommendations on Neeley School programs and goals. Board members include local, national and international leaders recognized for their exceptional stature in a field relevant to the mission of the Neeley School.

EDUCATION SCHOOL SERVES AS BETA SITE

TCU's School of Education is serving as a beta site for a video project sponsored jointly by the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics.

The Private Universe project, which will utilize input from TCU education students and educators from across the Fort Worth Independent School District, will become a six-part professional development series for teachers. Educators and students will preview taped raw footage at the TAGER-TV studios and send their comments back to Harvard. That feedback will then be used in the editing process for the final series. Groups began watching the footage on Oct. 17. The project will continue through December.

The Private Universe Project is a video series used with teachers to explore students' conceptions about the natural world. It is believed that those conceptions, which arise from the child's natural curiosity and intelligence, could block further learning when they differ from accepted scientific views. Dale Young in the School of Education is coordinating the project.

TRUMPET SERIES BEGINS TOMORROW

A TCU series of trumpet master classes, concerts and recitals by an impressive list of musicians and educators will begin tomorrow (Wednesday) with a free master class/recital by Keith Johnson, Regent's Professor of Trumpet at the University of North Texas. Johnson is a nationally known clinician, soloist and teacher and is the author of several trumpet books. The concert will begin at 7 p.m. in Moudy 141 N.

The series, hosted by Steve Weger, principal trumpet for the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra and TCU professor of trumpet, also will include a free Nov. 2 performance in Moudy 141 N. by Jonathan Fields, second trumpet for the Fort Worth Symphony. The concert will begin at 7 p.m.

Fields, a new Fort Worth resident, is the 1993 winner of the Toulon International Trumpet Competition in France and 1990 winner of the International Trumpet Guild Solo Competition. In early December, he will compete as a finalist in the Ellsworth Smith International Trumpet Competition in Columbus, Ohio. At TCU, Fields will perform some of the pieces he will play in that competition. The program will include Neruda's Concerto in E Flat Major for Trumpet and Orchestra, Desenclos' "Incantation, Threne et Danse," Fasch's Concerto in D Major for Trumpet and Orchestra and Bellstedt's "La Mandolinata."

John Daniel, professor of trumpet at Pennsylvania State University, will conduct the second master class in the series on Nov. 16 at 7 p.m. in Moudy 141 N. Armando Ghitalla, former principal trumpet for the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will follow up a three-day residency at TCU with a performance with the TCU Wind Symphony on March 27. Clark Terry, world-renowned jazz trumpet artist, will conduct a master class on March 31 and will be a featured guest with famed drummer Louis Bellson and the TCU Jazz Ensemble at the 18th Annual TCU Jazz Festival March 31 and April 1.

All events are open to the public and all but the Jazz Ensemble concerts are free. For registration materials, further information and ticket information about the TCU Jazz Ensemble concerts, call Ext. 7640.

WORKSHOPS, SHORT COURSES OFFERED

- Writing instructors can discuss how to use the William L. Adams Writing Center as a support resource at an Oct. 31 brown bag workshop sponsored by the University Writing Program. Lunch and beverages will be provided. For more information, call Dave Kuhne at Ext. 6238.
- The human resources office is offering short courses in WordPerfect 5.1, WordPerfect 6.0 for DOS, and WordPerfect Presentations 2.0 (a graphics package). Each course involves one Wednesday and Friday morning of hands-on-training. The department is now taking reservations for November and December classes. Please call Ext. 5123 for more information.
- TCU Human Resources in conjunction with CareerTrack, Inc. will sponsor a business English workshop for faculty and staff on Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Debra Smith will instruct participants in how to write mistake-free memos and concise reports and how to maintain effective correspondence. Lunch is included. Call Ext. 7095 for reservations.

STAFF, FACULTY CAN WATCH LIVE FIRE EXERCISE

TCU faculty, staff and administrators can see, feel and hear a demonstration of the coordinated fire power currently used by U.S. military ground forces at a Combined Arms Live Fire Exercise (CALFX) at Fort Sill, Okla., on Nov. 3. TCU's military science department will provide bus transportation, breakfast and an MRE (Meal Ready to Eat) lunch. Limited seats are available. Call Maj. Bumgardner or Maj. Biggs at Ext. 7455 for more information.

MCCLAIN NAMED TO FROG BASKETBALL STAFF

Steve McClain, formerly head coach at Hutchinson Community College in Kansas, has been named assistant basketball coach at TCU. While at Hutchinson, the 32-year-old compiled a sterling three-season record of 91-16. His 1993-94 Dragon team won the NJCCA National Championship, averaging 90 points per game.

Steve has been recognized as the NJCAA Coach of the Year, the NABC-Kodak Coach of the Year and Jayhawk West Conference Coach of the Year. He has served coaching stints at Independence College in Kansas, Sioux Empire Junior College in Iowa, as well as at his alma mater, Chadron State College in Nebraska.

COLBY HALL TO HOLD HALLOWEEN OPEN HOUSE

The 22nd annual Colby Hall Halloween Open House for faculty and staff members' children will be tomorrow (Wednesday). The event will be from 6 to 8 p.m. All children under 12 years of age of faculty, staff members and students are welcome. The safe, secure trick or treat event was begun in 1973 by hall director Katie de Plata.

ART EXHIBITS BY FACULTY MEMBER ON DISPLAY

"Space as Self," a three-person show, will be on display in the NRH Gallery in North Richland Hills through Oct. 31. The works are by Terri Cummings, coordinator of art education, Patricia Warren and Cliff Dossel. The exhibit is curated by 1994 TCU MFA graduate Eddy Rawlinson.

"Illumination," a one-person installation by Terri, will be shown at McMurray University in Abilene Oct. 5-30. "Illumination" includes photographic transparencies and sculptural tablets with texts and found objects.

CHAPTERS TO HOST PRE-GAME PARTY

The TCU Dallas Alumni chapter and Dallas Young Alumni chapter will sponsor a pre-game party before the TCU/SMU game at On The Border Restaurant, 3300 Knox St., on Nov. 12 at noon. The cost for the fajita buffet is $10 per person.

The game will begin at 2 p.m. at Ownby Stadium on the SMU campus. Tickets for the football game may be purchased by calling the TCU Ticket Office at Ext. 7967 no later than Nov. 8. For more information on the pre-game party, contact the TCU Alumni Office at Ext. 7803.

CHAPTER TO SPONSOR HUMAN RIGHTS DAY

The TCU chapter of Amnesty International will be sponsoring the second annual Human Rights Day on Nov. 9. During the day, there will be a human rights informational table in the Student Center. There will be petitions available for signing by Frog Fountain during the afternoon. A candlelight service, open to TCU and the Fort Worth community, will be held in front of the Student Center at 9 p.m.

Anyone wishing to learn more about Amnesty International or human rights issues can contact University Ministries at Ext. 7830 or Angela Kaufman at 926-8084.

SPANISH POET TO GIVE PUBLIC LECTURE

Spanish poet Antonio Porpetta will speak about "Poetry and the Mediterranean" followed by the reading of some of his poems Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Student Center ballroom.

Porpetta had published nine books of poetry, two books of essays and a humorous narrative titled Survival Handbook for Spanish Tourists (1990).

His visit is sponsored in part by the TCU Research Fund Lectureship Award in conjunction with "Twentieth-Century Hispanic Studies With the Authors," a course taught by modern languages and literature faculty member Lee Daniel.

TCU IN THE NEWS

Spencer Tucker (history) was featured in a story by WFAA-TV on the Iraq crisis in the Persian Gulf. Mary Stewart interviewed Spencer Oct. 10 for his views on President Clinton's leadership on the issue. Tucker also spoke to KKDA radio on the issue.

Ron Flowers (religion) spoke to KDFW-TV regarding the mass suicide of cult group members in Switzerland in early October.

TCU board chairman John Roach was the subject of the Oct. 17 Wall Street Journal story "Tandy, After Resisting Calls for CEO's Head, Enjoys a Comeback."

An Oct. 18 report by WFAA Channel 8 sports reporter Brian Jensen previewed TCU's eagerly awaited basketball season with interviews with several players, head coach Billy Tubbs and assistant coach Richard Bacon.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Harriet Harral (Center for Productive Communication) has accepted an appointment as a reader for the new Analytical Writing Assessment of the Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT) published by Educational Testing Services. The GMAT administered this month was the first to include a writing component.

Christina Murphy and Joe Law (both of the William L. Adams Writing Center) were invited to present a workshop on "Designing Writing Assignments/Managing the Paper Load" for the Grapevine/Colleyville Independent School District.

Spencer Wertz (philosophy) attended the joint October meeting of the Center for Olympic Studies and the Philosophic Society for the Study of Sport. He read a paper titled "Is Sport Unique? A Question of Definability" and participated in a symposium on the theory of sport actions and agency. The meeting was hosted by the University of Western Ontario in London.

Bob Doran (mathematics) is the editor of a new book titled "C*-Algebras: 1943-1993. A Fifty Year Celebration." The volume was published in the Contemporary Mathematics Series of the American Mathematical Society and contains the proceedings of a 1993 special session of the society that was organized and directed by Bob to celebrate the first fifty years of C*-algebra theory.

The Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication has appointed Doug Newsom and Anantha Babbili (journalism) as key members of committees to study the status of journalism education and make recommendations for the next several decades. Doug will chair the Committee on Alliances to forge stronger connections between the academia and media industry, while Anantha will play a key role on the Committee on International Journalism Education.

J. Cy Rowell (Brite) was in Houston Oct. 12-13 evaluating the Doctor of Ministry program of the Houston Graduate School of Theology. He represented the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

Dianna Newbern (graduate student, psychology) spoke in October to Groupe ESSEC, a group of upper level managers from various businesses. The general management workshop was held in Paris, France. She presented a paper written with Don Dansereau (psychology), "Techniques from Cognitive Psychology: Sharing Mental Models and The Self, Inc."

Angela Taylor (alcohol/drug education) attended the statewide advisory council meeting of the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse in Lubbock Oct. 5-7. Angela was the representative for the Texas region of the Network of Colleges and Universities Committed to the Elimination of Drug and Alcohol Abuse. Angela and Stephen Cummins (alcohol/drug education) attended the fall conference of the Texas Association of College and University Student Personnel Administrators in Austin Oct. 9-11, presenting a workshop on "Prevention Through Service."

Neil Easterbrook (English) recently presented a lecture at Southeastern Oklahoma State University called "What is Deconstruction Anyway? And Who Wants to Know?" The current issue of the South Central Review includes his deconstructive article, "'Somehow disturbed at the core': Words and Things in William Carlos Williams." Fred Erisman (English) presented a paper on "Mary O'Hara, Harold Simonson, and Regional Acceptance" at the 29th annual conference of the Western Literature Association, held Oct. 6-8 in Salt Lake City.

NOTES ON FOLKS

"Song of the Bard," a work by Ralph Guenther (emeritus, music), was performed recently in Portland, Ore. The work, written for five flutes, was performed by members of the Greater Portland Flute Society at the society's annual concert featuring the works of Northwest composers.

Mezzo-soprano Sheila Allen (music) presented an artist series recital and voice masterclass Oct. 6-7 at Southeastern Oklahoma State University. Included on the recital program were "Chansons d'Eluard," three songs by Gerald Gabel (music).

Gregory Clemons (music) has been invited to be a guest conductor, clinician and adjudicator for a number of music festivals during the 1994-95 year. In October, he will be involved in activities for the New Mexico Pageant of Bands in Albuquerque and at the University of Nevada-Reno. During the spring semester, he will participate in the World of Music Festivals at Six Flags Over Texas in Arlington and at Sea World in San Diego, Calif. He also has been invited to participate in a special festival for the Arlington Independent School District at the University of Texas at Arlington. In addition, Region V of the University Interscholastic League has invited Gregory to be guest conductor of the All-Region Honors Band for 1995.

Sympathy is extended to Nancy McCauley (theatre) in the death of her father, Frank Myers.

Sydney Payne Howell (music) performed with the Texas Harp Ensemble on Oct. 9 at the Dallas Public Library. The Texas Harp Ensemble will be performing at Ed Landreth Auditorium on March 23.

Harold Nelson (engineering) attended a colloquium on "Turbomachinery-1994" Oct. 9-14 at the Institute of Advanced Machinery and Design at Seoul National University in Seoul, Korea. He presented a paper, "Computational Methods in Rotordynamics."

Bill Graham (physics) attended an international conference on "The Future of Spectroscopy: From Astronomy to Biology," at Sainte-Adèle, Québec, Sept. 25-28. The meeting was held in honor of the 90th birthday of Nobel Laureate Dr. Gerhard Herzberg, with whom Bill worked prior to coming to TCU. Bill presented a paper titled "Recent Fourier Transform Infrared Matrix Studies of Silicon/Carbon Clusters" which was co-authored by Magnus Rittby (physics), former student Txomin Presilla-Marquez (Ph.D. '93), and Ph.D. candidate Richard Kranze. Students Dongsheng Han and Richard, currently doing their dissertation research in Bill's lab, presented papers at the Texas Section of the American Physical Society meeting held in Austin Oct. 14-15.

Sarah Schafer (extended education) was a roundtable panel presenter at the National Academic Advising Association national convention in Las Vegas Oct. 9-12. The roundtable discussion topic was "Psychosocial Issues of the Adult Student." Roberta Corder (academic services) represented TCU with Sarah at the conference's Adult Learner Commission meeting.

The 8th Annual Fall Break Classic Golf Tournament, sponsored by the Recreational Sports Department, was held Oct. 14 at Lost Creek Golf Club. With a score of 11 under par, the "Big Hitters" won the tournament. The team included Lance Brown (baseball), Donnie Watson (baseball), and students Britt Shoptaw and Randy Day. There was a second place tie between the music department team of Kurt Sprenger, Ken Raessler, John Burton and Steve Burton, and a combined Physical Plant/Campus Police team of Dan Dehart, Jimmy Brown, Oscar Stewart and Tom McGaha.
