The Allen meteorite was redelivered to Mr. Willie Chandler at his home on highway 121 Saturday Nov. 18, 1967. He said he had a peculiar feeling towards it and wanted it, but promised to let me have it if he disposed of it.

He took me to McKinney where we met a Mr. Anderson at the Propane-Butane place, a close friend of his. We also visited a Mr. Roy Hall at 811 Barnes St., who insisted he had found numerous pieces of slag, of which he gave me 4, right after the fall of the Bells meteorite. One piece reputedly knocked a hole in the street not far from his house. He had traced the Bells and thought it went across the Red River east of Telephone, Tex. He had a height computed, 23 miles, and a speed. His primary interest is history of the county and meteorology, especially tornadoes.

At Anderson's, one man who came over from a filling station said Mrs. Warren's brother at Frisco was a science teacher who took a great interest in tektites.

Some one spoke of relatives in the Bedias region, named Brothering ? who had found tektites on their land.
