Dear Walt:

Your letter dated December 21 and perishable prose, as you call it, was received yesterday after being delayed in the Christmas rush. It appears that you are really doing a bang-up job in the field of science and mathematics. Larry is quite interested in your publications and is looking them over with a lot of interest.

I checked into the name Phipps at the Jr. High School and learned that he left Manhattan three years ago and took a job at the high school located at El Dorado, Kansas. According to the information I got from the high school he is still at that place and suggest that you write to him at the above address. Incidentally his name is Bill Phipps.

Best wishes for the new year.

Very truly yours,

G. H. Larson
Head of Department
