Willie Stevens,
Route 1,
Celina, Texas.

Dear Sir:

I thank you for writing me about the meteor of Sept. 9th, and I am sure it looked as close to you as you described it.

However, these things do have a way of easily misleading observers, and I am sure it was east of Sherman because I have traveled all over that area trying to determine the true path. I have talked to a lot of people in and near Sherman who saw it still to the east of there.

Sunday we found a boy near Bells who had a piece of it that had fallen in that region, and this makes it certain that the meteorite ended over that region. Even when it goes out in the sky, some pieces are sometimes just cooled off and still fall to the ground.

I understand the newspaper at Celina published an article about some one there digging up a suspected meteorite, and if I get thru there to look at it I'll try to see you. Thanks again for writing.

Yours sincerely,
