Dear Mr. Monnig:

Thank you for your letter of October 4, 1961.

I am happy to learn that things are going along so well on the field work and hope that there has been no misunderstanding of my offer to assist you. It was made largely because Dr. Nininger feared you might be swarmed under if word should get out that you are collecting a carbonaceous chondrite. He thought also, and I agree, that working under your supervision on a field project would be good training for me as you have had the experience of numerous successful surveys and have undoubtedly developed excellent methods of procedure.

With best regards,

Sincerely,

Glenn I Huss
