Dear Carleton:

I have drawn the Bells, Texas, carbonaceous chondrite out of the bank vault where it has resided for some years and will send it to you as quickly as I can get someone to take it to United Parcel or the Postoffice.

It is in a round plastic box just the way I put it in there nearly 20 years ago and has been handled very little.

Two smaller plastic boxes in with it contain some fragments that broke off in early handling.

I'll put your whole thing in a much larger box for shipping so it won't get lost.

Use the material as you think best.

Sincerely,

Orin J. Pegg
