Dear Mr. Monnig:

I received your letter a few months ago and am looking forward to sometime in the coming year visiting you and seeing some of your collection of meteorites.

I was just reading a book called THE CAULDRON OF HELL TONGRUSKA by Stone Eley in which he described within the book a fireball that was seen in the Dallas, Texas area on a Saturday night September 1971 and was viewed by people in an out-door movie. This was described as a brightness like the sun, an ionized trail, blacked out TV screens, fragments were found over a four mile diameter area. I was wondering if this was true and what the details were. I don't remember hearing of that kind of a thing occurring this late.

Sincerely,

Donald Rathbun, M.D.
