January 1, 2010

The first Buzzard Coulee stones in the USA! Meteorites recovered by Geoffrey Notkin and Lisa Marie Morrison on their expedition to the Buzzard Coulee strewnfield have arrived safely in Arizona, with legal export permits from the Canadian government. It was the best New Year's present we could have hoped for. Pictured are a few of our favorite stones, along with the export permit.
