COME CAROLING ON DEC. 17

Bells sounding across the cool night sky will summon the TCU community to the annual Carols by Candlelight service Dec. 17 in Robert Carr Chapel. Emmet Smith will play the carillon beginning at 10:15 p.m.

Following luminarias that light the way to the chapel, audience members will hear a brief performance on the chapel steps by the Brass Ensemble, conducted by Steve Weger.

The Chapel Choir, led by Ron Shirey, will sing a pair of Christmas anthems, and Betty Boles will conduct the University Christian Church bell choir. The Christmas prayer will be led by University Minister John Butler.

CAMPUS GIFTS ADD TO SCHOLARSHIPS

Contributions are being received now in the financial aid office for scholarship gifts in lieu of Christmas greetings to on-campus friends. Last year's gifts of $645 brought the fund's balance to $8,602.50.

A complete listing of this year's donors will be included in the Jan. 15 bulletin.

Persons who wish their gifts to go to a specific scholarship fund must make that designation on the check and/or attached note. Contributions can be made through the financial aid office, Sadler Hall 108, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

'GREAT MEET' ENDS SWIMMERS' SEMESTER

Described as a "great meet to end the semester" by Coach Richard Sybesma, the Arkansas Invitational Nov. 30-Dec. 2 ended with the TCU men's and women's teams in third place along with three Horned Frog first-place rankings.

"All three first places were great times for this part of our season," according to Richard. Mark Graves took first place in the 200 free-style race with 1:40.8. Katie Tredennick's first place came in the 50 free with 23.7, while Gretchen Brannon's top spot honor was in the fly with 2:04.8.

Finishing one and two in the men's competition were Louisiana State and the University of New Mexico. The University of Arkansas took top honors in the women's total with LSU in second place.

Chancellor Bill Tucker will give a Yuletide message at the Dec. 18 Christmas luncheon for the TCU Retirees Association. The event will begin at noon in Weatherly Hall.

SIGN UP FOR CAROLS

Last year's campus caroling by band societies Tau Beta Sigma and Kappa Kappa Psi proved such a hit there will be repeat performances this week. Three carols for $5 is the going price, but a minimum of $25 is necessary for off-campus caroling.

Tentative schedule for the caroling is between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Thursday and Friday, said director Paul Burrer. Orders need to be turned in to the band office (Ext. 7640) today (Tuesday) or to band members selling carols in the Student Center from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. today.

The 1990 carol repertoire is "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Away in a Manger," "Deck the Halls," "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "Silent Night," "Jingle Bells," "Joy to the World," "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" and "The First Noel."

Proceeds will help the band sorority and fraternity host the Southwest district convention of their societies here in April. TCU band members expect between 700 and 800 conventioners from some 80 universities and colleges in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

NOTES ON FOLKS

EUGENE BORING (religion-studies) attended the Southwest Biblical Studies Seminar Nov. 2 in Dallas. He was in New Orleans Nov. 17-20 for the 1990 annual meeting of the American Academy of Religion/Society of Biblical Literature, where two of his papers were presented in the Q Seminar.

The guest list for Sarah McLendon's recent 80th birthday party at the National Press Club in Washington, DC, included such notables as Sam Donaldson, Bill Moyers and TCU senior SUSAN BESZE. Currently interning with the Star-Telegram's Washington Bureau, Susan met McLendon by fulfilling an internship requirement that she interview a professional in her field. The party was a $100-per-person scholarship fund-raiser, but McLendon invited Susan to take the place of a guest who had paid but could not come.

Geologist NOWELL DONOVAN took a party of approximately 30 seventh graders plus parents and teachers from the Wichita Falls Episcopal School to visit the Meers fault in southwestern Oklahoma. This fault, which was active as recently as 1,000 years ago, is the closest proven "capable" (i.e., active within the past 30,000 years) fault to Fort Worth. For those worried about property values, the quake that struck a millenium ago had a Richter magnitude of about 7. Residents of Lawton, OK, if there had been any at that time, would have seen most of masonry and frame-built structures destroyed to their foundations. "Denizens of Cowtown would have been frightened; some slight damage would have been done to grandmother's best china tea service," Nowell said.

JOHN LOUD (modern languages) spoke on two occasions during November to local organizations interested in the current upheaval in Eastern Europe. To the "Great Decisions 1990" study group at the Dan Danciger Community Center, he spoke Nov. 18 on "Continuity and Change in the USSR and East Europe." The Greater Fort Worth Council on World Affairs heard John's views on the clash of American with Russian values Nov. 26.

BOBBYE STEWART (facility services) is recovering at John Peter Smith Hospital from a semi-paralyzing stroke he suffered Nov. 17. He appears to be making good progress in regaining strength and coordination in his right side, according to Russell Gray, and he appreciates cards and visits from his TCU friends. Due to celebrate his 25th year with TCU next July, "he has been very proud, as have we, of his 100-percent attendance since he last went home sick in September of 1986," Russell said.

DOUG NEWSOM (journalism) presented a paper on "Values at the Foundation of Corporate Culture as a Source of Societal Conflict" at the International Conference on the Latin American Crisis in Mexico City Nov. 15.

MARGARET-ROSE MAREK (English/Writing Center) presented "Using Computers in the Classroom to Meet Instructional Needs and Student Goals" at the recent Computers on Campus Conference in Myrtle Beach, SC, sponsored by the University of South Carolina.
