$500,000 GRANT WILL FUND SCIENCE EQUIPMENT

Equipment for five science departments will be funded by a grant of $500,000 from the Sid W. Richardson Foundation. The gift was announced last week by Vallean Wilkie Jr., executive director of the Fort Worth-based foundation.

"We are deeply grateful to the directors of the Sid W. Richardson Foundation," said Chancellor Bill Tucker. "The generous and timely grant, directed to our programs in the natural sciences, will add strength and vitality to the entire University."

Equipment purchased will be for the departments of biology, chemistry, computer science, geology and physics in AddRan College of Arts and Sciences.

"We have pressing need to acquire new equipment and replace older items in all science departments," said Mike McCracken, dean of AddRan College. "Having access to state-of-the-art equipment is absolutely essential for training students and conducting scientific research."

The Richardson Foundation's earlier gifts to TCU include a $3.4 million matching grant in 1967 to help fund the Sid W. Richardson Science Building and $1,000,000 toward the construction and later expansion of the Annie Richardson Bass Building in 1971 and 1976. Other gifts have provided support for programs in the M.J. Neeley School of Business, the College of Fine Arts and Communication and the Harris College of Nursing. The foundation also is a major contributor to the Funding Information Center, a community resource housed in TCU's Mary Coutts Burnett Library.

FIRST DECEMBER COMMENCEMENT IS FRIDAY

Some 370 students will add to TCU's history when they receive their diplomas Friday evening in the University's first commencement held at the close of the fall semester. With Chancellor Bill Tucker presiding, the event will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum.

As announced in July, the December commencement will ease the crowding problems of May graduation and will eliminate the need for an August ceremony, beginning in 1991. An assessment of the new schedule will be made next year and a decision made concerning its continuance.

Special music will be presented by Emmet Smith, Herndon Professor of Music. The call to worship and litany of thanksgiving will be led by Minister to the University John Butler. Hymns will be led by Associate Professor Sheila Allen.

Chancellor Tucker's remarks will be followed by the awarding of degrees. Taking part will be Vice Chancellor Bill Koehler and Deans Mike McCracken, Kirk Downey, Doug Simpson, Bob Garwell, Joe Helmick, Pat Scearse and Leo Perdue along with Registrar Pat Miller. Ted Klein, Faculty Senate chairman, will assist.

Chief marshal is Anantha Babbili; associate marshal is Jim Henley; and assistant marshals are Toni Craven and Morry Wong. Assisting will be David Conn, Nowell Donovan, Arturo Flores, Alice Gaul, Dave Harbeck, Al Mladenka, Roger Pfaffenberger and Jennifer Watson. Flag bearers will be Ed McNertney and David Vanderwerken.

RECEPTION WILL HONOR GRADUATES

Members of the December 1990 graduating class will be honored Friday at a reception hosted by the University. The event is planned for 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the Student Center ballroom.

Special guests will be the honorees' family members and friends.

GRADUATES FOLLOWING TREND

The December class is following the trend of being older than "traditional-age" students, according to information from the registrar's office. Of the 381 initially listed for this week's graduation, 238 were age 23 or older.

These break down further into 52 who are age 25 or older, 29 of them over 30 and 11 over 40. While a 51-year-old is one of five persons completing the Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree, the other graduates represent many of the undergraduate fields of study.

Adult students are preventing colleges and universities from seeing the decline in enrollment predicted for the last five years, according to Carol B. Aslanian of The College Board. In "How Americans in Transition Study for College," she noted that "Younger students now 'act like adults'...they begin in any session they choose and do not attend continuously." The latest Census Bureau report indicates that more than 50 percent of total annual college credit is earned by persons 23 and older, explained Sarah Schafer, adult coordinator for extended education.

SUMMERS GRANTS TOTAL $130,000+

TCU Washington interns and other undergraduates studying in the areas of government/social sciences may receive partial tuition grants as a result of a recent $30,000 gift from the Hatton W. Summers Foundation of Dallas. The 1990 gift brings to $132,000 the total of Summers Foundation gifts to TCU since 1987.

Of the $30,000 gift, $15,000 will be used to help Washington interns defray tuition costs while living in the nation's capital for a semester. The other half will fund partial tuition grants to be awarded primarily on the basis of need. Recipients must be full-time students in good standing, preferably those majoring in political science, pre-law or history or those who intend to teach in the social sciences.

Designed to aid in the study and teaching of self-government, the foundation was established in the 1950s after the death of longtime Texas Democratic legislator Hatton Summers. Fort Worth attorney William C. Pannell, one of the foundation's trustees, is a TCU alumnus.

GARY RECEIVES FIRST DOLAN AWARD

Janis Gary of Bridgeport, a junior majoring in journalism, is recipient of the first George Dolan Memorial Scholarship. Announced during a Dec. 10 luncheon, the award is from a scholarship fund established a year ago by a $50,000 gift from the the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and its parent organization, Capital Cities/ABC Foundation, in honor of the widely known humorist who was a Star-Telegram columnist for 31 years before his death in 1988.

Born the year Dolan moved to Fort Worth and began his Star-Telegram career, Janis was an avid reader of Dolan's columns. "She epitomizes all that George Dolan was about," journalism chairman Anantha Babbili said in calling attention to her "sensitivity to the community and the ability to look on the brighter side of life." Holder of an Associate of Arts degree from Tarrant County Junior College, Janis entered TCU last year.

STARPOINT STUDENTS LEND HELPING HANDS

Starpoint School students did double duty last week for the Food Bank of Greater Tarrant County. For the seventh consecutive year, they conducted a canned food drive. After the 1989 goal of 350 was exceeded by 50 cans, this year's goal was set at 410. By Dec. 12, a total of 565 cans had been collected.

In addition to the yearly drive for canned goods, 16 of Starpoint's eight-, nine- and 10-year-olds became helpful "elves" at the food bank last week when they spent a morning in its warehouse checking cans and filling boxes to be distributed.

The food bank project is coordinated by Starpoint faculty member Robin Davis.

BANKS GIVE $50,000 FOR M.B.A. STUDENTS

Area banks have contributed $50,000 in awards to ten Master of Business Administration students in the Neeley School of Business. Bank One/Texas, NCNB, Team Bank and Texas Commerce Bank presented TCU with $5,000 in tuition reimbursements for each student.

Selection for the award was based on the student's outstanding program performance and grade-point average, said M.B.A. Admissions Director Leslie Neugent.

Recipients include:

- Phillip Bennett, Colorado State University (1986), B.S. in business administration;
- Mike Harvey, University of Nebraska (1987), B.S. in architectural studies;
- Leslie Hollingsworth, Trinity University (1988), B.S. in business administration and sociology;
- Kevin Kyle, Louisiana Tech University (1989), B.S. in accounting;
- Kyle Moore, University of Texas (1989), B.A. in economics and business;
- Robert Brad Oldham, University of Tennessee (1984), B.S. in marketing;
- Carrie Phillips, Texas A&M University (1989), B.S. in industrial engineering;
- John Sorber, Drexel University (1987), B.S. in accounting;
- Chris Tvrdik, Southern Methodist University (1989), B.B.A.;
- Danielle Wiese, Baylor University (1989) B.A. in chemistry.

RANCH BUSINESS IS EVENING TOPIC

Subject of the spring evening class in ranch management will be Ranch Business Management, taught by Nick Wilson and Jim Link. Classes will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays beginning Jan. 15.

The course will include the study of development and use of inventory and net worth statement; methods of computing depreciation; basic financial and production records; budgets, cash flow and plan of operation; tax management; partnerships, corporations and trusts; estate planning; agri-business law; personnel management and sources of agricultural credit.

Registration information may be obtained from the ranch management office, Ext. 7145. Tuition costs $690 for the three-semester hour course, and fees total $67.50 for students enrolled for fewer than nine semester hours. TCU graduates are eligible to enroll in ranch management courses for $345 tuition.

SWC HONOR TEAMS LIST 10 FROGS, DEBESSE

Ten members of this year's Horned Frog football team and Coach Bob DeBesse are included in the early selections for Southwest Conference honor teams. Two or three teams are yet to be announced, said Glen Stone, sports information director who predicts that TCU players will be included.

Named Offensive Coach of the Year by the Star-Telegram, Bob achieved the honor in his first season in that position. The Houston native was a graduate assistant at Southwest Texas State after completing his degree there and earning all-American mention as a wide receiver and special team member. He came to TCU with Jim Wacker in 1983 and, as a 23-year-old, was one of the youngest fulltime football assistants in major college ranks. Before being named offensive coach last December, he coached slot back and running backs.

Kelly Blackwell, tight end from Richland Hills who was the leading receiver among tight ends in both NCAA and SWC this season, was named to nine first teams. They include Associated Press, Dallas Morning News, Dallas Times Herald, Houston Chronicle, Austin American-Statesman, Houston Post, Raycom TV, Fort Worth Star-Telegram and San Antonio Light. His 64 receptions this fall became a new TCU single-season mark, and he had four 100-yard-plus games. He was the consensus all-SWC tight end for 1990.

Four-year letterman Mike Sullivan, co-captain from New Braunfels who receives his degree in marketing this week, made the second team of the Dallas Times Herald and joined teammate Kelly on the first string of the others, becoming the consensus all-SWC offensive guard.

On the AP's first team, co-captain Rosevelt Collins was selected for second team by both Houston papers and the Austin American-Statesman. The defensive end is a junior.

Sophomore Stephen Shipley, who lacks only two more catches to become No. 7 in all-time TCU receivers, was named to the second team of AP, Dallas Times Herald, Raycom and both Houston papers. He now holds TCU's No. 7 spot for all-time receiving yards with a 1,287-yard total.

Four-year letterman and co-captain Jason Cauble, who began his career as a walk-on, was picked for second team by the Dallas Morning News and Austin American-Statesman. The Frogs' second leading tackler in 1990 with 96 involvements, the political science major had 84 tackles his junior season.

Offensive tackle Bill Elliott, senior who has earned three letters, and safety Tony Rand, sophomore who had a season-leading team record of 10 tackles per game, were chosen for the Dallas Morning News' second team.

Offensive tackle Bret Alexander, four-year letterman who was hampered in 1990 by a recurring knee injury, was chosen by the Austin paper for its second team.

Also named to the Austin second team was Leon Clay, whose 21 touchdowns were only one short of the TCU record total of 22 scored by Davey O'Brien in 1938. The sophomore ranked No. 5 in NCAA in total offense before a fractured thumb limited his season to the first seven games. He passed for 16 touchdowns and ran for five.

Freshman Richard Woodley, slotback from La Marque, was runnerup (consensus) as SWC Offensive Newcomer of the Year. The 1990 season records include his name for most individual catches — 15 versus Houston and 18 against Texas Tech, most catches with the 18 against Tech and over 100 yards in one game with his 124-yard total against Houston.

While finishing the season at 5-6, the Horned Frogs rewrote some athletic history as they surpassed records in passing, place kicking, pass receiving, pass yardage and total offense. Several of the records belong now to junior quarterback Matt Vogler with his most-plays total of 94 and 79 pass attempts against Houston. In that effort he completed 44 passes for 690 yards and five touchdowns. His season's 10-game total included 1,646 yards passing.

Other Frog athletes receiving votes for the Star-Telegram's '90 All-SWC Team were Jarrett Ferguson as defensive newcomer of the year; Woodley, offensive newcomer; Elliott and Alexander, offensive tackle; David Breedlove, center; James Prather, defensive tackle; and Rand, cornerback.

IS 13 BAD LUCK? NO WAY!

Andrew Carlson, a Dallas resident who has been teaching tuba here and performing with the Dallas Wind Symphony, was born on Friday the 13th and always considered that his lucky number.

Recently he was one of 13 tuba players invited to a live audition for one slot in the prestigious U.S. Navy Band in Washington, DC.

Now he knows it's his lucky number. He was the one who got the job.

Andrew and his wife, a dancer with Ballet Dallas, will leave Jan. 15 for Washington. The Chicago native, a graduate of Indiana University, will be joining the Navy to take the job. But, with his luck, he doesn't have to worry about desert fighting. His Navy contract specifies "Washington, DC, only."

NEW STAFF APPOINTMENT

JILL ALLYSON MIRA, director of student activities at John Brown University in 1989-90, joined the development staff as an associate Oct. 22. The former Tulsa resident, who earned the B.S. degree at John Brown in 1988, was a TCU hall director in 1988-89.

NOTES ON FOLKS

JAMES COMER and DICK RINEWALT (computer science) were recently honored for their contributions to the Computer Science Engineering Department at the University of Texas-Arlington. The honors were presented at the department's 10th Anniversary recognition banquet in appreciation for their contributions to the department during its infancy.

DENNIS GIBBONS, the library's coordinator for collection development, attended a workshop on "The Reality of Collection Evaluation: Facts, Myths and Practices." The AMIGOS Bibliographic Council sponsored the workshop in Dallas Nov. 29-30. Its objective was to provide librarians an introduction to methods of assessing strengths and weaknesses in their library collections and to provide practical case experiences. About 70 librarians from all parts of the United States participated in the workshop.

HARRIET RISK WOLDT (music) performed Dec. 9 with the Early Music Consort of Kansas City on the campus of the University of Missouri at Kansas City. The next day she played with an Austin early music group in a chamber music concert at the Governor's Mansion.

COL. ANDY RIVERA, aerospace studies chairman, will be the Air Force ROTC commissioning ceremony guest speaker at the University of Puerto at Mayaguez Friday. Andy is a graduate of the University of Puerto Rico.

Several members of the religion-studies department were active in the Nov. 17-20 national meeting in New Orleans of the American Academy of Religion and Society of Biblical Literature. RANDALL MORRIS presided over the session on Eastern Orthodox Studies and chaired its steering committee. NADIA LAHUTSKY presided at a session of the Roman Catholic Modernism group. IMTIYAZ YUSUF was elected to the steering committee of the Study of Ismal section, where he read a paper, "An Analysis of Swahili Exegesis of Sura al-Shams in Shaykh Abdulla Saleh al-Farsy's Swahili Tafsir--Qurani Takatifu."

CLAUDIA CAMP read a paper, "Understanding a Patriarchy: Women in Second Century Jerusalem Through the Eyes of Ben Sira," for a combined session of the Israelite and Early Christian Wisdom and the Social Sciences and Interpretation of Hebrew Scriptures sections. In the International Q section, GENE BORING presented position papers on Q 12:10 and Q 13:28-29 and responded to a paper on Q 3:7-9; 16-17. DARYL SCHMIDT was named to the steering committee of a new group, the Biblical Greek Language and Linguistics Consultation. RON FLOWERS presided at a session of the Church-State Studies group and continued to co-chair its steering committee.

On Nov. 30 GAIL ZIMMERMAN (academic services) was invited to present an inservice seminar, "Understanding Learning Style Preferences Using the Myers-Briggs Type Inventory," to the staff of Cassata Learning Center, an alternative high school.

JEFF COFFER (chemistry) presented a paper on "Nucleotides as Templates for the Self-Assembly of Quantum-Confined Cadmium Sulfide" at the fall meeting of the Materials Research Society Nov. 26-Dec. 1 in Boston.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

JOHN BREYER (geology) has been appointed for the fourth time to the Geological Society of America committee on research grants. This year the six-member committee will distribute almost $400,000 in support of thesis and dissertation research by graduate students in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Central and South America.

GARY WHITMAN (music) presented a performance and clinic at R.C. Clark High School in Plano Nov. 28 on the 1990-91 all-state band audition music for clarinet and saxophone. He made performance and pedagogy recommendations to some 20 students. High school students from across Texas audition for the all-state band, which will perform at the Texas Music Educators Association convention in San Antonio Feb. 7-9.

Representing the American Academy of Pediatrics, JULIAN HABER (adjunct, Miller Speech and Hearing Clinic) presented a paper on "Attention Deficit Disorder. What Is It? Should It Be Addressed in the Education of the Handicapped Act?" at an American Association of School Administrators meeting Nov. 27 in Arlington, VA. Also represented were the American Psychological Association, National Association of State Directors of Special Education, NCAAP-legal defense and education fund and staff from the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Education.

The newest issue of Sociological Perspectives contains an article by MORRISON WONG (sociology) entitled "The Education of White, Chinese, Filipino, and Japanese Students: A Look at 'High School and Beyond.'" He analyzed differences in social and demographic characteristics, academic characteristics, extracurricular activities and sociopsychological characteristics. He also made a presentation last month on Asian stereotypes to the Fort Worth Police Academy.

Funeral services for VERLENE NOBLES, formerly with the campus food service, were conducted Dec. 9 at McMillan United Methodist Church. She died at her home Dec. 5.

The current issue of The Fourth R: An Advocate for Religious Literacy (September 1990) has three short articles on the Gospel of Mark by DARYL SCHMIDT (religion-studies). They are on "The Year of Mark," "Mark: A Synoptic and Wartime Gospel" and "Irony in Mark's Gospel."

A number of TCU folks are heavily involved in University Christian Church's Boar's Head and Yule Log Festival, to be performed at 3 and 5 p.m. Jan. 5-6. Executive committee members include GILBERT DAVIS, director of church relations who recently has served as interim pastor at the church; RON SHIREY (music), director of music; LALONNIE LEHMAN (theatre) and KEN LAWRENCE (religion-studies), artistic advisors; HENRY HAMMACK (theatre), festival director; MARY RUTH JONES (housing), casting director; KRISTI HOBAN (development), head of publicity; and assistant controller DICK HOBAN, treasurer.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

Donald McKayle, internationally known dance teacher and choreographer, taught a master class to MODERN DANCE STUDENTS Dec. 10. McKayle directed his own company in New York and has choreographed for many dance companies of note, including Alvin Ailey, Dayton Contemporary Dance Company and Chuck Davis Dance Company. He currently is a professor in the dance department at the University of California-Irvine.

TCU IN THE NEWS

"That old college try: School ties continue to pay off long after graduation" was the Business Press' headline for a lengthy story in the Nov. 23 edition that called attention to TCU, A&M and the University of Texas having the most alumni in this area. Alumni director DEVONNA TINNEY, pointing to some 18,000 TCU alumni in the Metroplex, noted that the best avenue of job hunting after graduation probably is remaining in the same region as that institution.

"We demand a program with honesty and integrity...and there's not anybody in this business who has more honesty and integrity than JIM WACKER," a quote from Athletic Director FRANK WINDEGGER was included in the USA Today story about Jim's new rollover contract. The story also cited Jim's "enviable academic record" with 16 of 18 current seniors expected to graduate in May and the other two to be in summer school.

Jim was also the example of good news in college football coaching used in the Chronicle of Higher Education's Dec. 5 issue. In its story about this being the season for bad news for coaches, the Chronicle gave half the story's length as it noted Jim bringing boosters' rules violations to NCAA attention in 1985 "and then watched as his team was clobbered with penalties." It concluded by saying he "was rewarded for his 'honesty and integrity' with the contract extension by university officials, who said he was 'good for college football and for TCU.'"

Opportunities offered by TAGER-TV and the 21 educational institutions participating in the network were discussed in the Nov. 23 Business Press. TCU is among the institutions that have nurtured the network from its founding until today.

The study of how shad impact the supply of zooplankton used as a food supply by young white crappie currently being conducted by biologist RAY DRENNER in cooperation with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is the subject of an article in the December issue of New Waves, the research newsletter of the Texas Water Resources Institute.

"Our purpose is to have a national cemetery second only to Arlington National Cemetery, and, if we can be first, so be it," was a statement by Col. ANDY RIVERA quoted in the Nov. 4 issue of the Grand Prairie News. Andy, among those of the Texas National Cemetery Commission at its first meeting recently in Arlington, TX, also noted that the advisory board members will provide access to local, state and national leaders who can help TNCC make things happen. The Veterans Administration listed the Dallas/Fort Worth area in the top 10 sites needing a national cemetery.
