UNIVERSITY WILL CELEBRATE BLACK HISTORY

The University's February observance of Black History Month will be highlighted by a performance of the Cleo Parker Robinson Dance Ensemble and a lecture by human rights and political activist Jesse Jackson Jr. A variety of other activities will complete the monthlong celebration.

Denver Ensemble to Dance Friday

The Cleo Parker Robinson Dance Ensemble, unique in adapting its talents to suit the theatrical stage, will be presented in Fort Worth Friday under the sponsorship of New Century Danscene. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Tickets, $10 for adults and $4 for students, may be reserved by calling Ext. 7928. The performance is made possible by funding from Mid-America Arts Alliance, Fort Worth's Community Cultural Grants Program, TCU Black Student Caucus and TCU Performing Arts Committee.

Currently celebrating its 20th anniversary, the Robinson ensemble has collaborated with opera impresario Nat Merrill on "Aida" (1986), "Samson and Delilah" (1987) and "Carmen" (1989). Robinson also has choreographed and used her ensemble for more than 17 major musical theater productions, including "The Wiz," "The Emperor Jones" and "for colored girls." A documentary on the Robinson dance ensemble, "Run Sister Run," filmed in Nigeria, has been shown in 74 countries.

At the age of 15, Robinson began teaching college-level dance at the University of Colorado. Her teachers have included Merce Cunningham, Alvin Ailey and Arthur Mitchell of the Dance Theatre of Harlem. Her dance ensemble and school, located in Denver, was the first in the region recognized by the NEA Expansion Arts Program, and she serves on several NEA panels.

The Robinson ensemble also will present lecture/performances in four Fort Worth middle schools, and Robinson will teach a class on campus Saturday morning for the I Have a Dream Foundation.

Jackson Will Speak Feb. 14

Jesse Jackson Jr., president of the "Keep Hope Alive" political action committee, vice president at large of Operation PUSH and youngest appointed member of the Democratic National Committee, will speak at 7 p.m. Feb. 14 in the Student Center ballroom. Admission will be $2 for students and $5 for others.

Jackson was featured speaker at the 1988 Democratic convention where he eloquently introduced his father, the Rev. Jesse Jackson. Among other political activities, he served as a surrogate speaker in the 1984 Jesse Jackson for President campaign.

Working as statistician for the Operation PUSH Southern Crusade voter registration drive, the younger Jackson traveled throughout the South. He later accompanied his father to the Middle East to help secure the release of hostage Robert L. Goodman, to Africa with a United Nations delegation and to Central America.

Jackson, voted one of the "Outstanding Young Men in America" for 1987 and one of the "30 Leaders of the Future" in 1989 by Ebony magazine, has made numerous television appearances on such programs as 60 Minutes and CBS Morning News.

Programs Focus on Black History

Christian leader Emory Davis will discuss Christian living as it relates to African-American history at a Campus Crusade Dessert Fellowship at 7 p.m. Feb. 5 in the Student Center Woodson Room. The Word of Truth gospel choir will sing.

On Feb. 6 Colby Hall residents will sponsor a black history program at 9 p.m. in the dormitory. "Ethnic Notions," a video cassette which focuses on the way that blacks have been portrayed in the media, will be shown at 7 p.m. Feb. 19, also in the Woodson Room.

Choirs from throughout the community will perform at the Delta Sigma Theta Gospel Fest at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22 in the Student Center ballroom.

WRITING CENTER IS STILL GROWING

TCU students continue to exceed the national norm in their heavy use of the Writing Center, reports its director, Christina Murphy.

Totals for the fall semester of 1990 showed 3,514 tutorial visits to the center (a 10.2 percent increase over the 1989 fall semester). In addition, there were 801 participants in instructional classes, up 16.9 percent over a year ago, and students logged 5,680 computer hours, an increase of 13.1 percent.

5TH AVENUE VOCAL BAND TO PERFORM

A smooth blend of voices is the trademark of 5th Avenue, a vocal band which will perform today (Tuesday) as part of the T.G.I.F. series. The group's a cappella versions of contemporary music and original songs will begin at 11:45 a.m. in the Student Center lounge.

MINISTERS WEEK OPENS FEB. 4

Joey Jeter of Brite will open TCU-Brite Ministers Week at 8 p.m. Feb. 4 at University Christian Church with a sermon on "Evolution of the Flightless Bird," first of his three Wells Sermons based on the theme "On Seeing the Elephant: Fears of Ministry."

Chancellor Bill Tucker will introduce Joey, and the worship service will be led by Gilbert Davis, director of church relations. Joey, who has preached and lectured throughout the United States for the Christian Church and other denominations and gave a series of sermons for National Radio Pulpit in 1982, also will preach at 8 p.m. Feb. 5 on "A Taste for Death" and at 8 p.m. Feb. 6 on "Christ in Chaos."

Following the service, the chancellor will host a reception in the Chancellor's Dining Room of the Student Center. Ron Flowers will be in charge of the TCU religion-studies reception at 9 p.m. Feb. 5 in the Brite Cloisters.

Gene Boring, holder of the A.A. Bradford Chair in Religion-Studies, will deliver the McFadin Lectures at 9 a.m. Feb. 5-7 on the theme "Translating the Word -- Interpreting the Fourth Gospel," in line with his recent research on Christology in the Gospel of John. A noted biblical scholar, he is best known for his work on the Gospels and the Book of Revelation. Gene's work on early Christian prophets and their role in shaping the Gospel tradition, "Sayings of the Risen Jesus: Christian Prophecy in the Synoptic Tradition," gained him an international reputation among New Testament scholars.

Oreon E. Scott Lecturer will be Don E. Saliers, professor of theology and liturgics at Emory University's Candler School of Theology and a former faculty member at Yale Divinity School. Saliers, a past president of the North American Academy of Liturgy, is well known for workshops, lectures and contributions to liturgical music conferences. An active composer, he serves as organist/choirmaster at Emory's Cannon Chapel. "The Travail of Prayer and Knowledge of God" will be the theme of his 11 a.m. lectures on Feb. 5-7.

Other Ministers Week highlights include the Brite luncheon Feb. 5, when the speaker will be Stan Hagadone, new admissions director for Brite, and the TCU luncheon which closes Ministers Week activities Feb. 7. Speaker then will be Dr. Arthur Digby, senior minister of Arlington's First Christian Church, a member of the Brite board and moderator-elect of the Christian church.

Workshops during the week will be led by two Brite faculty members, Howard Stone, professor of pastoral care and counseling, and J. Cy Rowell, associate professor of religious education. Their topics will be "Short-term Pastoral Counseling" and "Current Issues in Religious Education," respectively.

Other faculty members who will preside over Ministers Week sessions include Dean Leo Perdue, Bill Baird, David Gouwens and David Balch of Brite and Ron Flowers.

RESIDENCE HALL GPAs LOWER THAN '89

Grade-point averages for all campus residence hall students decreased slightly last fall from the previous fall semester. According to a report from Dean Libby Proffer, the 1990 figure was 2.79 compared with 2.82 for the 1989 fall term, reflecting a lower average by 12 residence halls.

Undergraduate women earned a 2.94 GPA compared with a 2.67 for undergraduate men, and freshman women outscored freshman men 2.68 to 2.47. Women in sororities outranked men in fraternities 2.91 to 2.63.

Waits Hall's 3.20 placed it above Jarvis, which had a 3.16 GPA. This was the highest average for Waits since semester averages were initiated in 1973.

Four women's halls averaging at or above 3.0 were Foster, 3.04; Jarvis, 3.16; sororities on campus, 3.12; and Waits, 3.20.

Clark Hall—up to 2.86 from 2.84 a year ago — replaced Tom Brown — down from 2.85 to 2.78 -- as leader for men's residences.

Undergraduates living off campus had a grade average of 2.88 compared with residence hall students' average of 2.79. Non-Greek men and women ranked slightly higher than Greek men and Greek women.

Residence hall averages for the last five fall semesters include:

	1986	1987	1988	1989	1990
Brachman	2.628	2.752	2.694	2.70	2.65
Clark	2.876	2.828	2.733	2.84	2.86
Colby Hall	2.820	2.895	2.802	2.80	2.75

NEED MORE COPIES OF THE BULLETIN?

Rumor is that some offices/departments are not receiving a sufficient number of bulletins each week for everyone. In instances where this is the case, Printing and Mailing should be notified of the need for additional copies.

CLASS TO HELP WITH JOB LOSS

As a result of layoffs at General Dynamics, Snapper and other area companies, the Office of Extended Education and Career Planning and Placement Center will offer a free class, "Discover Your Life's Career." Scheduled to begin Saturday, the course is designed to help those who have lost their jobs in recent months or anticipate layoff.

"This is a time for those who have been laid off to ask themselves, 'Is this what I really want to do?'," said Carol Eickmeyer of extended education. "If the answer is 'yes', this class will show them how. If the answer is 'no', it will help them decide what they want to do."

Additional information is available from the extended education office at Ext. 7132. Those calling to register need to specify the course by its number, 891 C. Space is limited.

PHI BETA KAPPA LECTURER TO VISIT

Dr. Ira Katznelson, Loeb Professor of Political and Social Science at New York's New School for Social Research, will lecture here Feb. 4 as part of Phi Beta Kappa's Visiting Scholar Program. He also will teach four classes during his Feb. 4-5 visit hosted by the political science and sociology departments.

"Liberalism in America: Reflections on Markets, Citizenship and the State" will be Katznelson's topic for the 3:30 p.m. talk in Room 320 of Tandy Hall. Charles Lockhart of political science (Ext. 7395) can provide additional information about the visiting scholar's schedule.

Founder and first editor of the journal Politics and Society, he formerly was professor of political science at the University of Chicago and director of its Center for the Study of Industrial Societies. He served as dean of the New School's graduate faculty from 1983 to 1990. Katznelson has been a fellow of the German Marshall Fund and the Danforth Foundation and a visiting fellow at St. John's College and Cambridge University.

Among his eight books, the most recent are "Marxism and the City," new from Oxford University Press; "Working Class Formation: Nineteenth Century Patterns in Western Europe and North America," published by Princeton University Press and winner of the Socialist Review Book Award; and "Schooling for All: Class, Race, and the Decline of the Democratic Ideal." Katznelson is on the editorial advisory board of Political Science Quarterly, Ethnic and Racial Studies and Comparative Urban and Community Research.

MURPHY SERVICES HELD JAN. 22

Funeral services for Clifford Murphy, who retired in 1977 after 29 years as a member of the biology faculty, were conducted Jan. 22 at Christ Lutheran Church. Burial was at Greenwood.

Dr. Murphy, whose extensive studies of Benbrook Lake and ecology of the Trinity River were widely published, joined the TCU faculty in 1948 after serving on the University of Illinois faculty and teaching in the South Bend, IN, schools. The Hanover College alumnus earned the master's from the University of Illinois and the Ph.D. from the University of Oklahoma in 1962. For his research, he received grants from the National Science Foundation, Environmental Protective Administration, Sport Fishing Institute, Texas Electric Service Co. and the TCU Research Foundation.

Retired from the Navy as a lieutenant commander, he had attended Princeton, Harvard, Duke and the University of Hawaii while serving in the military. The Indiana native, named to membership in Sigma XI and Phi Gamma Delta, was active in the society of International Limnology, American Water Resources Association, World Mariculture Association, American Microscopical Society and other professional organizations. Promoted to professor in 1968 and given tenure in 1964, he held a Hillcrest Foundation Fellowship in 1977-78 to continue work already in progress on campus.

In addition to his wife Norma, Dr. Murphy is survived by two daughters, Marian Newland of Fort Worth and Margaret Rogers of Corpus Christi, and two grandchildren.

POSTAL WORKSHOPS CLARIFY CHANGES

Imminent changes in postal rates and new specifications for mailings will give rise to countless questions.

In order to answer some of those, postal workshops were scheduled yesterday and today for University divisions customarily having the largest mailings. Coordinated by Debbie Jones, director of printing, postal and conference services, the sessions provide opportunity for directors and their staff members to meet one-on-one with U.S. Postal Service representatives to discuss relevant, and perhaps unique, concerns.

"We would welcome the opportunity to conduct similar sessions with departments anticipating a need for individual attention for the upcoming changes," Debbie said. These can be set by calling her at Ext. 7641.

Soon after the Feb. 3 postal rate increase, at least one general seminar will be scheduled for all campus personnel. According to Debbie, the discussion will center on new rates and how to plan mailings to meet postal specifications as well as opportunities for cost savings.

"I would like to invite employees to call me with suggestions for specific topics they would like to have addressed at this general meeting," Debbie said.

ART LECTURE WILL BE THURSDAY

Dr. Robert Sardello, a psychologist who co-directs the Dallas Institute of Culture and Humanities, will speak Thursday on "Sculpture and the World of Things, Reflection on the World of Gene Owens." Sardello's lecture, from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. in Room 132 North of the Moudy Building, is in conjunction with the University's retrospective of Owens' works, which will continue through Feb. 8.

The sculpture show in Moudy Building Exhibition Hall is open 11 a.m.-6 p.m. Mondays, 11 a.m.-4 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays and 1-4 p.m. weekends.

Sardello, former dean of the University of Dallas Graduate School, earned the Ph.D. in psychology from St. Louis University with specialization in human learning, personality theory, developmental and individual differences in learning and cognitive processes and language. A prolific writer in the field of psychology, he also has directed the Institute of Philosophic Studies at the University of Dallas and has chaired its psychology department. He continues in the private practice of psychotherapy.

The lecture is made possible in part by the Community Cultural Grants Program, a cooperative effort of the Arts Council of Fort Worth and Tarrant County and the City of Fort Worth.

FACULTIES JOIN IN CONCERT

A quartet of music faculty members from TCU, the University of North Texas and Arizona State University will perform a TCU Music Series recital at 8 p.m. Feb. 4 in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Pianists Tamas Ungar of TCU and Adam Wodnicki of UNT will be joined by percussionists Robert Schietroma of UNT and J.B. Smith of ASU. The performance is being given at all three universities. The program will include Sonancias III for two pianos and two percussions by Marlos Nobre and Bela Bartok's Sonata for two pianos and percussion.

UNIVERSITY TO HOST SPECIAL OLYMPICS

The Greater Fort Worth Area of Texas Special Olympics basketball tournament will be hosted by the University Saturday. More than 350 athletes on 27 teams from Tarrant and four other counties will participate in the area contest from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Rickel Building. Opening ceremonies will begin at 10 a.m.

Texas Olympics is a non-profit organization designed to improve the quality of life for mentally challenged citizens through sports training and competition. Participants are male and female athletes ranging in age from eight to 80. Those interested in officiating or keeping score should contact April Culver, area director of Special Olympics Texas, at 284-5551 or report to the Rickel Building Saturday morning. Approximately 50 volunteers are needed.

SPRING LEADERSHIP SCHEDULE SET

The Leadership Development Program, now in its fifth year, has grown from preparing a handful of students for leadership roles in its first year to more than 300 annually. Kickoff for the spring leadership classes has been set for 10 a.m. Friday in the Student Center ballroom.

Leadership I concentrates on development of basic leadership skills by freshmen and sophomores, while Leadership II focuses on group and individual skills for sophomores, juniors and seniors. Those who have completed Level I or have obtained an organizational leadership position are eligible.

The Senior Symposium for Women offers preparation for life after graduation, including sessions on entering the job market and utilizing career opportunities.

In the interactive programs, two team leaders are selected to assist the class facilitator, a Student Affairs staff member or a University staff professional.

Friday is the deadline for student team leader applications and Leadership I and II student applications. Additional information about the program is available from the Student Center information desk, Ext. 7927, or the Student Activities office, Ext. 7926.

FROG SNOWBOUND IN ANTARCTICA

Geologist Richard Hanson, awaiting rescue from a blizzard, has discovered that research in Antarctica can be hazardous. The most recent information about Rick and his party, Nowell Donovan reported, came when he contacted the geology department via a ham radio in South Texas.

"Conditions are grim on the Beardmore Glacier," Nowell said. "A blizzard has been blowing for about a week, and Richard and his colleagues are tightly hemmed in, awaiting rescue from support helicopters stationed in McMurdo Sound. His party members are safe, if not snug, in their tents."

Richard was due back on campus at the beginning of the semester. "Clearly, the weather gods are no respecters of academic timetables," Nowell said. "His colleagues are keen to see him again. The day when he finally makes it back to campus has officially been designated 'Penguin Day; 'tuxedos are de rigueur'.

NOTES ON FOLKS

JACKIE BYARS (radio-TV-film) attended the Modern Language Association convention in December in Chicago. She chaired a session entitled "Gender, Race, 'Othering' and the Narrative Arts" and delivered a paper entitled "'Othering' in Televisual Narration."

GARY WHITMAN (music) presented a clarinet clinic and served as section rehearsal clinician for the Richardson ISD All-City Junior High Band on Jan. 10. He made performance and pedagogy recommendations to the directors and students in preparation for their All-City Band concert Jan. 19.

The Physical Plant Employee of the Quarter Award has been given to DOUG MENDEHALL for the fourth quarter of 1990. He is a craft technician I in the plumbing department. The recognition for outstanding service includes a $150 cash award, a commemorative coffee mug and an engraved entry on the TCU Physical Plant performance board.

The Fall 1990 issue of The Victorian Newsletter included an article by LINDA HUGHES (English) entitled "Sartor Redivivus, or Retailoring Carlyle for the Undergraduate Classroom." The article grows out of Linda's experience of teaching Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus" to her 19th-Century British literature class at TCU. For the classroom text, Linda used a photocopy of the serialization of "Sartor" in Fraser's Magazine in 1833-34 and taught the work in parts throughout the semester. The article argues that this teaching method makes accessible to undergraduates a work that often strikes them as particularly difficult and generates enhanced scholarly understanding of Carlyle's work as well. The article also quotes from one TCU student's essay on "Sartor Resartus" on the final exam.

GEORGE GILBERT (mathematics) had an article entitled "Positive Definite Matrices and Sylvester's Criterion" published in the January issue of The American Mathematical Monthly. The paper contains a new proof of a standard result from linear algebra.

Chancellor BILL TUCKER has been named to the board of trustees of the Association of Higher Education of North Texas.

New president of the AHE Council of Library Directors is Mary Coutts Burnett Library director FRED HEATH, who also has assumed editorship of the Library Administration and Management Association Journal.

DON PITTMAN (Brite) delivered a paper entitled "Towards a Modern Buddhism and Beyond: Teachings of the Chinese Master T'ai-hsu" at the Fo Kuang Shan International Buddhist Conference Dec. 25-29 on "Buddhism in the Modern World." After the conference, held in Kaohsiung, Taiwan, Don visited in Hong Kong and the Peoples Republic of China.

The December 1990 issue of the international journal Meteoritics contained an article entitled "The Olton, Texas, H Chondrite Regolith Breccia: Paired With Dimmitt" co-authored by Klaus Keil (University of Hawaii), ART EHLMANN (geology) and Rainer Weiler (ETH-Zurich). This paper is a continuation of study on the Monnig meteorite collection housed in TCU's geology department.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

RALPH BEHNKE (speech communication) has had a book chapter entitled "Audience Analysis Systems in Advertising and Marketing" published in Applied Communication Research. The chapter was co-authored with former TCU communication professor DAN O'HAIR.

GENE BORING and NADIA LAHUTSKY (religion-studies department) attended the Dec. 5-12 meeting of Disciples of Christ/Roman Catholic International Commission for Dialogue in Toronto, Canada. On Jan. 10-14 Gene attended the MacWorld Expo in San Francisco keeping abreast of the latest technology Macintosh has to offer in furthering Bradford Chair research and publication.

Historian FRANK REUTER has been invited to join the Society of Fellows of the University of Durham for the Michaelmas (October) term. He will be research fellow at Hatfield College, doing research in the Earl Grey family papers.

CHARLES LATHAM (Upward Bound) presented a grant proposal writing workshop Jan. 21 in New Orleans. Secondary and elementary school computer curriculum coordinators from Louisiana attended the workshop sponsored by Apple Computer Inc. Charles is part of Apple Computer's "ACE" Program (Apple Consultants in Education) in the Southern region of the United States.

DAVE CRAVENS (marketing) has been named to the editorial review board of Marketing Management Review. Published by American Marketing Association, the new journal is designed to appeal to senior-level marketing executives.

Recently TCU personnel organized and participated in two conferences concerned with the study of basic processes such as learning and motivation underlying the behavior of animals, including the human animal. The first, which took place on campus, was the second conference of the North Texas Society for Animal Learning and Behavior, a group composed mostly of faculty and students from TCU, SMU and UTA. Speakers included MAURICIO PAPINI and TIMOTHY BARTH (psychology), GARY FERGUSON (biology) and Ph.D. graduate ROBERT BATSELL of the SMU psychology department.

The second conference, the ninth annual Winter Conference on Animal Learning in Winter Park, CO, also included contributions from Mauricio and from WAYNE LUDVIGSON (psychology). The Winter Park conference is international in scope, drawing participants from all over the United States and Canada and occasionally from Europe, Asia, Australia and New Zealand. Both conferences were organized by Wayne, serving a third consecutive year as chair of the organizing committee for the Winter Park conference.

The conferences featured an invited address by one of contemporary psychology's most distinguished scholars, Nicholas J. Mackintosh, professor and chair of experimental psychology at Cambridge. A Professorial Fellow of King's College at Cambridge and a Fellow of the Royal Society, he is known for his important work in animal learning and conditioning. His addresses concerned the topic of an associative theory of perceptual learning.
