MID EAST WILL BE HAIG'S LECTURE TOPIC

General Alexander M. Haig Jr., whose career has included serving as U.S. Secretary of State and Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, will speak on campus March 27 for the seventh Distinguished Speakers Forum. The event will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

Sponsored by Team Bank in cooperation with TCU and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, the series was inaugurated in March 1988 with a presentation by former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Other speakers have been Ted Koppel of ABC News, syndicated columnist George F. Will, Wall Street Week host Louis Rukeyser, former Joint Chiefs of Staff chairman Adm. William J. Crowe Jr. and Ambassador Gennady Gerasimov of the Soviet Union.

Tickets, priced at $15 and $30 each, may be ordered by mail from Team Bank, Box 470353, Fort Worth 76147. Checks should be made payable to the bank.

"Global Implications of the Crisis in the Mid East" will be the topic for the lecture by Haig, who heads World Wide Associations Inc. of Washington, DC, his own advisory firm for public and private corporations.

After he graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1947, his 26-year military career included assignments in Japan, Korea, Europe and Vietnam. He was military assistant to the secretary of the Army and deputy special assistant to the secretary of defense in the Pentagon in 1962-65. In the White House in 1969-73 as senior military adviser and then deputy assistant to the president for national security affairs, he made 14 trips to Southeast Asia to negotiate the Vietnam cease fire and return of U.S. prisoners of war.

Haig coordinated the historic visit to China for then-President Richard Nixon, who named him White House chief of staff. In 1974 he was recalled to active duty as commander-in-chief, U.S. European Command, and two months later was appointed supreme allied commander. During five years in that position, he was responsible for the integrated military forces of the 13-member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

After retiring from the Army in 1979, he was elected president and chief operating officer of United Technologies Corporation. In 1981 he became the nation's 59th secretary of state. Since resigning that position, he has served on the President's Commission for Strategic Forces, the President's Commission for Chemical Warfare Review and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

HAIG (continued)

Haig's first book, "Caveat: Realism, Reagan and Foreign Policy," focuses on the future of U.S. foreign policy based on his 30 years' experience in government. It has been published in this country by MacMillan Publishing Company, and it also has been issued in the United Kingdom, France, Italy, West Germany and Japan. He is editorial adviser to the U.S. publishers of The People's Republic of China's "Official Guide: American Business & Industry," a project to enhance further U.S.-China business cooperation.

An honorary member of the Atlantic Council of the United States, Haig serves on the boards of Foreign Policy Association, Dayan Center for Middle Eastern Studies and the Institute for Social and Economic Policy in the Middle East at Harvard University's JFK School of Government. He also is a member of the advisory boards of the European Institute for Peace and Security as well as the Washington Institute for Near East Policy. He is on the boards of numerous other organizations in international and national affairs.

Haig, a frequent lecturer at colleges and universities, has been a senior fellow with the Hudson Institute, visiting statesman and executive at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs and a Chubb Fellow at Yale University.

ALUMNUS IN WAR ZONE READS ABOUT TCU

Last fall's football prospects and Dan Rather's Gulf crisis discussion were topics of particular interest to a 1989 graduate in a front-line position in Saudi Arabia. Dirk Plante, a second lieutenant who is a platoon leader with engineers in Operation Desert Storm, wrote on Jan. 31 after reading the December issue of This Is TCU.

"You can tell by my return address I've been pretty busy," he wrote to Editor John Ohendalski the day after reading that issue. "It's refreshing to read about the events and accomplishments of last fall. I was back in Germany during October and November and bragged about them constantly!"

Dirk, who earned the B.S. degree with majors in astronomy and physics, was commissioned after completing the Army ROTC program here. He completed combat engineers training before attending Army Ranger school.

In his letter, Dirk noted that Rather's discussion "of the Gulf crisis really hit home. From the Class of '89 alone, there are at least five of us here. We're a diverse bunch, too, assigned to units at the leading edge of the front and to the much-appreciated support units to our rear.

"My decision to attend TCU has turned out to be the best one I've ever made," he added in a P.S. "I appreciate that more than ever now."

RETIREEES WILL HEAR YUSUF

"Islam Today" will be the topic for Thursday's presentation by Imtiyaz Yusuf for the TCU Retirees Association. The monthly luncheon meeting of the group will begin at 11:30 a.m. at Colonial Cafeteria on Trail Lake Drive.

A member of the religion studies department since last fall, Imtiyaz earned bachelor's and master's degrees in India and the Ph.D. from Temple University. In 1983 he was a lecturer at India's Aligarh Muslim University and Thailand's Mahidol University. The Tanzania native is active in the American Academy of Religion and the Association of Muslim Social Scientists.

JAZZ HISTORIAN TO LECTURE

Mark C. Gridley, who played jazz with Les Elgart and Ray McKinley, then wrote the world's best-selling jazz textbook, will lecture March 6 on "African Elements in Jazz, Jazz Rock and Funk." His talk will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Room 103 of Ed Landreth Hall.

His involvement with jazz is life-long. He began seriously collecting jazz records at the age of nine. When he finished junior high school, he was already lecturing on jazz. In high school he created and produced the series "Jazz: That Lively Art," which ran from 1962 to 1965 on WOAK-FM radio in Detroit. By the time he earned a bachelor's degree at Michigan State University, Gridley had won honors playing flute, oboe and saxophone. His Mark Gridley Quartet tied for first place at the 1968 Notre Dame Collegiate Jazz Festival.

Gridley earned master's and Ph.D. degrees at Case Western Reserve University and taught jazz history there from 1971 to 1981. Besides touring with big bands, Gridley also has accompanied such popular singers as Lou Rawls, Sammy Davis Jr., Tony Bennett, the Fifth Dimension, the Jacksons and the Temptations.

His critically acclaimed textbook, "Jazz Styles: History and Analysis," has been translated into Polish, Bulgarian, Japanese and Danish. A number of major musicians, including Benny Goodman, Stan Kenton and Gerry Mulligan, have served as consultants for the work.

MATH DEPARTMENT HOSTING LECTURE SERIES

"Singular Integrals and Harmonic Analysis" is the title of the TCU Research Fund Lectureship to be hosted tomorrow (Wednesday) by the mathematics department. Professor B. Frank Jones from Rice University will be featured speaker for this event at 4 p.m. in Winton-Scott 145. Additional information is available from the math department, Ext. 7335.

ISA 'SALUTE' BRINGS INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR

Salute the World will continue this week with an exhibit of handicrafts from the Western Hemisphere at 11 a.m. today (Tuesday) in the Student Center. Students who have studied abroad and international students studying here will have the opportunity to make cultural ties at the Study Abroad reception at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the Student Center. Those who are interested in international study are invited to attend. Also tomorrow, the recreational sports department will host international games, including cricket, at 6 p.m. in the Rickel Building.

Delicious food will highlight the celebration's ending events. Taste of the World will feature snacks from around the world, free to those who can volunteer some fact about the country the food comes from. The taste treat will begin at noon Friday in the Student Center. A talent show and a feast of foods from a variety of countries will be featured at the International Student Association banquet at 6 p.m. Saturday in the Student Center ballroom. Tickets for the event are $8 and can be purchased in the International Student Affairs office and from international students.

REYNOLDS LEADS FROGS IN SWC MEET

Jordy Reynolds' second-place showing was the top spot for Horned Frogs competing in the recent SWC Relays held in Fort Worth. His shot put distance of 61 feet 9 1/2 inches was only one inch behind first-place winner Lance Wilson of the University of Texas.

Horatio Porter posted times of 6.409 for fourth place in the 55 hurdles and 21.95 in the 200-meter run for sixth place. With a sixth place in the 4x800 relay, the Frogs finished seventh in total points in the men's division.

Five seemed the dominant number for the Lady Frogs with fifth places in the 4x400 and the 4x800-meter relays. The competitors finished eighth in total points.

1991 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE SET

The Horned Frogs 1991 football schedule of six home games will have one new twist. That will be a Thursday night game Nov. 7 with Texas A&M. The game has been chosen for national telecast by ESPN, "providing good exposure for our program and the Southwest Conference," according to Athletic Director Frank Windegger.

After opening the season at home Sept. 7 against New Mexico, the Frogs will play Ball State here Sept. 14. Both will begin at 7 p.m. as will the Oct. 5 game against Arkansas, which will be part of Parents Weekend. The SMU game on Nov. 2 has been designated for Homecoming '91. After the 6:30 p.m. game with the Aggies, the Frogs will close the season Nov. 23 here against the University of Houston. Dates for out-of-town games are Sept. 21 at Oklahoma State; Sept. 28, Texas Tech; Oct. 19, Rice; Oct. 26, Baylor; and Nov. 16, University of Texas.

MARCH 4 IS 'CABARET' DINNER DEADLINE

March 7 may be the only chance you'll ever have to see the Student Center ballroom transformed into the Kit Kat Klub, to say nothing of the opportunity to dine there on Beef Wellington and Cherries Jubilee. The transformation will take place in honor of opening night of Theatre TCU's "Cabaret" production, when the 6:30 p.m. dinner will offer a choice of Beef Wellington Sauce Bernaise or grilled Southwestern chicken breast, either served with Caesar salad, cloverleaf rolls, sauteed asparagus, a choice of glazed carrots or beans almondine, all topped off with flaming Cherries Jubilee.

Cost of the dinner and a ticket to the 8 p.m. "Cabaret" performance is $20 with TCU ID, and reservations are due no later than 5 p.m. March 4 at the TCU box office, Ext. 7626.

Dinner entertainment will include the first public performance of "Home to Me" by Fort Worth musician Dave Cave, songs by students Melissa Drumm and Danny Baker and tap dancing by David Conner.

PROMINENT SPANISH POET TO LECTURE

One of Spain's most important contemporary poets, Antonio Porpetta y Roman, will lecture Thursday on "Spanish Poetry of the Last 50 Years". The event will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Rooms 205-206 of the Student Center.

Porpetta's work includes 10 books, 27 articles and numerous poems. "Decade of Insomnia," an anthology of Porpetta's poetry of the last 10 years, will be published in October. Seven other collections of his poetry also have been published.

Porpetta has won 10 literary prizes, including the Spanish Royal Academy's Primo Fastenath in 1987. He has lectured in 30 countries, and his works have been translated into several languages. More than 50 critics have published articles on his work.

Additional information is available from Lee Daniel of modern languages and literature at Ext. 7355.

REPRESENTATIVES TO BE ON CAMPUS MARCH 7

A representative of the Pension Fund of the Christian Church will be on campus for personal conferences with faculty and staff March 7. This affords opportunity for many to obtain current information about the Pension Fund, taxes, Social Security, etc.

Personal conferences will be held in the Brown-Lupton Student Center, Room 211, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Interested employees may schedule appointments with the representative by calling Benefits at Ext. 7792.

LEADERSHIP VIDEO TO BE ON TV

A current events forum from extended education's summer Leadership Development Conference will air on Sammon's Cable Channel 45 in March. The conference, presented in conjunction with the Fort Worth Jaycees Youth Salute Program, brought to campus Fort Worth high school juniors who were in the top 10 percent of their class and who were involved in community and school activities.

The current events forum was taped in the Charles Tandy American Enterprise Center by Deana Muirheid of the Center for Instructional Services, TAGER TV/Telecommunications. The program will air at 5 p.m. March 2, 3 and 9.

LONDON INTERN PROSPECTS MEET TOMORROW

Prospective London interns through TCU's affiliation with Regent's College may get information about spring 1992 internships at a meeting at 4 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday) in the political science conference room, Sadler Hall Room 205.

Don Jackson, program director, said application deadline for the 10 internships is April 15. Names of the selected students will be sent to Regent's College by May 1, and TCU will be notified by Nov. 1 of the confirmed internship offered each student.

TCU's first five London interns are working there this semester, and Don will visit them during spring break.

Pre-law student Tracy Graves of Westchester, CA, is working in a community law centre, and English major Jane Waller of Bryan is assigned to the office of Sir John Wheeler, Conservative member of Parliament for the Westminster North Constituency. Two advertising/public relations majors, Chris Harper of Sanger and Sarah Glanville of Edina, MN, are working for the London department store Harrods and for an advertising agency, respectively. Theatre major Andrew Trevino of Arlington is assigned to the actor/director of a small London theatrical company.

Students in the London internships work the equivalent of three days each week for nine credit hours. In addition, each takes two courses at Regent's College for an additional six to eight credit hours. Most of the courses offered there are in the humanities and social sciences. Tuition and fees for the spring 1992 terms tentatively will be about $3,700. Room and board adds $2,350 for a double room and 12 meals per week.

Don said Regent's College has worked closely with the American Embassy and the Metropolitan Police (Scotland Yard) to devise a campus security plan.

Application forms for the internships are available from Don. In addition, each applicant must furnish at least one letter of recommendation, preferably from a professor in his/her major field, and an unofficial TCU transcript copy.

NOTES ON FOLKS

After 18 years in admissions, AL YOUNG is retiring this week. The TCU graduate has served 15-1/2 years as an admissions counselor and directed transfer admissions in 1978-88. Earlier he had coordinated the TCU Today events and was responsible for church programs, Disciples student recruitment and minority student recruitment. Beginning with the 1973 centennial program, "Sights and Sounds of TCU," the former Air Force lieutenant colonel represented the University until 1979 with audio visual presentations at church assemblies, youth conferences, civic gatherings and to groups visiting campus.

LALONNIE LEHMAN and NANCY MCCAULEY of theatre presented workshops at the state meeting of the U.S. Institute for Theatre Technology in Fort Worth in late January. Nancy was a judge for the design competition, which included stage, costume and lighting design. LaLonnie is a vice chairwoman of the institute.

One of their students, senior theatre major BARRY DOSS, earned one of two cash awards for theatrical design in the state competition. He received a $100 prize for his costume design for "Mad Dog Blues," which was produced by the theatre department last fall at the Caravan of Dreams.

Adjunct journalism faculty member TOM WILLIAMS was named Outstanding Young Leader for 1990 by the Fort Worth Jaycees. The award was presented Feb. 14 at a Fort Worth Club luncheon. One of six finalists for the award, he was named Tarrant County Outstanding Young Lawyer in 1986. The communication law specialist has been vice president of the Tarrant County Bar Association and director of the Tarrant County Young Lawyers Association.

RUTH WHITLOCK (music) presented an audiation workshop for the Fort Worth ISD secondary school choral directors Jan. 15 in the Texas Boys Choir Great Hall. Her review of "Group Vocal Technique" by Haaseman and Jordan appears in the February issue of Choral Journal. Participants in Ruth's tonal audiation field study reported their findings at a meeting Feb. 6 in San Antonio. The participants report that the materials are ideal for use with middle school/beginning high school choirs and in university freshman ear-training classes.

Funeral services were conducted Feb. 16 for Grace Watson Wallace, widow of the late ARCH WALLACE, math department faculty member in 1943-61. The former public school music teacher who had been active in the TCU Faculty Woman's Club died Feb. 13 in a local nursing home.

The 1991 Texas Library Association Annual Conference will be April 8-12 in Fort Worth. DENNIS GIBBONS, JANET DOUGLASS, AUDREY VANDERHOOF, PATT HAYS and LOUISE VANTILBURG (library) are on the local arrangements committee. SARA DILLARD (library) is on the program committee. Conference attendance is generally between 5,000 and 6,000.

TRACY ROW and JUDY ALTER (TCU Press) appeared on a publishing panel at the midwinter meeting of the East Texas Historical Society Feb. 16 in Fort Worth. Tracy spoke on historical journals and Judy on university presses and self-publishing.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

Physicist BRUCE MILLER presented a paper at the 63rd Statistical Mechanics Meeting at Rutgers University. Titled "Particle Dynamics In A Discontinuous Field: The Smooth Fermi Piston," it described a new type of bounded chaos which occurs when a force periodically changes direction. The research for the paper was carried out with Greg Worrel of General Dynamics and Alex Matulich, former TCU undergraduate.

Bruce was pleased to learn that his article, "Gravity In One Dimension: Diffusion In Acceleration," was accepted for publication in the Journal of Statistical Physics. The work presents a derivation of laws governing fluctuations in acceleration and velocity which occur in gravitating systems. It predicts that unusually large periodic fluctuations occur for highly energetic masses. Preliminary computer simulations of the system by WILLARD MAIER, part-time graduate student, qualitatively confirm the predictions.

Another paper dealing with the one-dimensional system co-authored by CHARLES REIDL, physics graduate student, and Bruce, "Gravity In One Dimension: A Correction For Ensemble Averaging," recently was accepted for publication in the Astrophysical Journal. It concerns the first application of dynamical ensemble averaging to a system governed by long range forces. Both of these papers will appear in April.

LARRY PETERS (management) made a presentation on "Career Opportunities for Women Professionals in the 21st Century" to the Business and Professional Woman's Association of Fort Worth Feb. 14.

Fort Worth native TALDON "TILLIE" MANTON, who scored TCU's winning points in the 3-2 Sugar Bowl victory in 1935, died Feb. 15 in Houston. As a 185-pound fullback in 1934, he led in rushing with 343 yards and kicked the winning field goal in the season-ending win over Santa Clara. Also an outstanding baseball player in 1933-35, he played three seasons with the New York Giants and one each with the Washington Redskins and Brooklyn Dodgers. Prior to his retirement, he was involved in automotive sales in the Houston area.

An article, "Effective Diplomat of 'Petty Spy': the Role of George Beckwith," by FRANK REUTER (history) appeared in the winter issue of the Journal of the Early Republic. Last summer another of his articles, "George Washington's Inadvertent Politics," was published in the Valley Forge Review.

The journal Contemporary Educational Psychology has accepted an article, "Knowledge Maps and Information Processing Strategies," by KRIS REWEY (Ph.D. 1990), DON DANSEREAU (psychology) and JENNIFER PEEL (Ph.D. 1990).

The U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs will have a show of RICHARD FENKER's (psychology) sport-related photographic work at the Rhythmic Gymnastics National Championships May 1-5.

COL. ANDY RIVERA was master of ceremonies for a day of activities at the recent "Vietnam Wall Experience" in Arlington which provided a chance for North Texans to view a 240-foot replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C. Among the many activities Andy presided over were a roll call of Texas Vietnam casualties and a POW/MIA memorial ceremony.

HERE NOTES ON FOLKS

DON FRISCHMAN (modern languages) has returned from University of California-Irvine where he spent last fall as Resident Research Fellow at the Humanities Research Institute, collaborating with a team of specialists on the theme of "Transculturation in Contemporary Latin American Theatre."

In October and November, Don presented results of his research at two conferences, one at University of California-Irvine and another at Mexico City's Center for Theatrical Research and Documentation, National Institute of Fine Arts. He also attended the National Showing of Community Theatre in Oaxaca, Mexico, for the third consecutive year as guest critic. In January he was in Yucatàn for field research on theatre among the Maya and meetings with artists and scholars.

Ceramic mosaic amphoras and pitchers by BETH THOMAS (art) were on display Feb. 2-22 at D-Art Visual Art Center in Dallas. The major exhibit, "The Clay Vessel: Visions and Revisions," featured works by 14 Dallas-based artists who have worked for a number of years to develop the "pot" or "vessel" as an art form. Beth's work is directly inspired by pots of ancient Crete and Egypt and the material of clay itself, "which is a material of flexibility and change that requires an understanding of the basic relationship between opposing forces in nature: water, earth, air and fire."

PANEL REVIEWS WOMEN'S ROLES IN BUSINESS

Women in Communication, Business and Professional Speaking and the speech communication department are sponsoring a March 5 panel discussion entitled "Women in Management and Leadership."

The panel will include Kay Granger, Fort Worth city councilwoman and candidate for mayor; Dr. Susan Sportsman, director of Tarrant County Psychiatric Center; Wanda Burghart, manager of Total Improvement Resources at Bell Helicopter; and Michael Blackman, editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The program will begin at 12:30 p.m. in the Student Center ballroom with a reception following.

BULLETIN WILL TAKE SPRING BREAK, TOO

While students and faculty members have opportunity for a "breather" during spring recess, the Weekly Bulletin will take a holiday, too. No issue will be published March 19.

Information needing to reach the campus community prior to March 26 will be carried in the March 12 issue. Copy for that bulletin is due in the News Service office, Sadler 321, by noon March 6.

TCU IN THE NEWS

Vice Chancellor BRONSON DAVIS is among persons quoted in the February issue of CURRENTS, the magazine of the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education, in its article entitled "Desperately Seeking Staff: Corporate-Style Executive Search Invades the Academy."

"It's healthy when people drop their facades and show their partners who they really are," according to LOUIS ADAMS (Pastoral Care Center) as quoted in the Feb. 13 Dallas Morning News Valentine-related story entitled "Love means never having to say you're sorry for..."

"Demand grows for student help program" was the headline for the Feb. 14 Star-Telegram feature on Project Future, a program by TCU students "intent on helping elementary school students develop their potential." The program was organized in September by senior marketing major MICHAEL CAREY, who was pictured along with Oakhurst Elementary School counselor Paul Reece and Growth Center facilitator Lila Cristol. Fourteen other members of Lambda Chi fraternity are working on the project with Michael.

Ranch Management director JOHN MERRILL was quoted in the Feb. 16 Star-Telegram story about the 12,266-acre ranch in Tarrant, Parker and Johnson counties recently purchased by Ed Bass. Originally owned by Winfield Scott, noted Fort Worth commercial real estate developer in the late 1880s, the land was described by John as "one of the most beautiful and productive ranches in the country."
