TCU/CLIBURN RECITALS START JUNE 2

Recitals by noted pianists Vladimir Viardo, Abbey Simon, Arie Vardi and Alexander Shtarkman will be presented June 2-11 by the TCU/Cliburn Piano Institute. Also scheduled during the annual two-week institute are two evenings of concertos played by institute performers with the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra, conducted by John Giordano.

The four pianists are among faculty members for the institute, which this year has attracted 28 juried student performers from the United States and Canada. Tamas Ungar is institute director.

The solo recitals will be in University Theatre. A series ticket for those recitals plus the two concerto performances costs $70 ($50 for teachers or senior citizens and $25 for students). Single ticket prices are $15 for the recitals, $10 for the concerto performances. For each of the events, teachers and senior citizens will pay $10, students $5. Ticket information is available at 335-9000 or Metro 988-7250.

Winner of the 1973 Van Cliburn International Piano Competition, Viardo will open the recital series at 8 p.m. June 2 performing Sonata in A minor by Medtner, Vladimir Ryabov's "Two Romantic Pieces" and "Echo of the Mephisto Waltz," Five Songs by Schubert/Liszt and Prokofiev's Sonata No. 4.

After his victory in the 1973 Cliburn competition, Viardo played his Carnegie Hall debut that year and made highly successful U.S. concert tours in 1974 and 1975. He was prohibited by the Soviets from returning to the West until 1988 but finally received permission to remain in this country as artist-in-residence at the University of North Texas. He had studied and later taught at the Moscow Conservatory.

One of the most recorded classical artists of all time, Simon will perform at 8 p.m. June 4. His program will include Beethoven's Sonata in A flat, Sonata in B minor by Chopin, Rachmaninoff's Variations on a Theme by Correlli and Three Pieces from "Miroirs" by Ravel. Simon, winner of multiple performing awards, has recorded all the concerti of Rachmaninoff and the complete works of Ravel and currently is recording the entire Chopin repertoire.

Vardi, professor of piano at the Rubin Academy of Music at Tel-Aviv University who also teaches at the Hochschule fur Musik in Hannover, Germany, will present a 4 p.m. recital June 9 playing Sonata in E flat by Haydn, "on the verge of time" by Zvi Avni, Five Preludes by Debussy and Schubert's Sonata in B flat.

Recognized as one of Israel's finest concert pianists, Vardi has performed as soloist with major orchestras conducted by Gary Bertini,

Lukas Foss, Kurt Masur, Zubin Mehta, Paul Paray and others. He concertizes in Europe, the United States, Latin America, the Far East, Australia and Japan. Recently he has specialized in Impressionist literature, including the entire piano repertoire of Debussy and Ravel.

In recital at 8 p.m. June 11, Shtarkman will present Schubert's Sonata in C major, Prelude and Fugue in D flat major by Shostakovitch, Fantasy from "Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart/Liszt and Debussy's "Children's Corner."

Born in Moscow, Shtarkman is the son of Naum Shtarkman, who was third behind winner Van Cliburn in the 1958 Tchaikovsky Competition. He has toured Europe as soloist with the Moscow Conservatory Orchestra, won first prize at the National Competition in Riga in 1985 and fourth prize at the 1989 Cliburn Competition, where he also received the Steven De Groote Memorial Chamber Music Award for his performance of Franck's Piano Quintet in F minor in the semifinal round.

The two concerto concerts, one at 8 p.m. June 6 and the other at 8 p.m. June 13, are dedicated to the memory of TCU artists-in-residence Mme. Lili Kraus and De Groote, respectively. All participants in the piano institute are eligible to perform, and the winners will be selected in auditions by faculty members. Repertoire will be Concertos in A major and D minor by Bach, 10 of Mozart's piano concertos, all five piano concertos by Beethoven and the Piano Concerto in G minor by Mendelssohn.

SUMMER CLASSES OFFER FUN, FITNESS

Several summer extended education classes emphasizing fun and fitness will begin in June. Discounts of 50 percent are offered for faculty and staff members and their dependents, except for the fitness classes which also have been discounted. To register or to obtain more information, call Ext. 7132 or stop by Sadler Hall 212.

Aerobics will be offered Mondays and Wednesdays from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. beginning June 3, while water aerobics will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays, 1:30-2:15 p.m., beginning June 4. Cost for either class for faculty and staff members is $25 or $35 for both.

Continuing Country and Western Dance for $45 will provide a review of the two-step and waltz and instruction in basic and intricate wraps and turns on Mondays, 7:30-9 p.m., beginning June 3.

Those wishing to see their words in print can attend Writers Continuous Workshop 8 on Thursdays, 7-9 p.m., starting June 13. Cost is $72. Also offered will be Continuing Piano 8 on Tuesdays, 7-8 p.m., beginning June 4. Cost is $40, and extended education's beginning piano course is a prerequisite.

PHONE MOVES TAKE A WEEK

Telephone moves and changes now require one week for order processing and scheduling because of a recent change in AT&T procedures, says Darlene Housewright, communications system assistant. All departmental requests need to be sent to Business Services, Box 30800, accompanied by purchase orders.

DRENNER DIRECTS HATCHERY, WINS CONTRACT

Biologist Ray Drenner now is directing operation of Eagle Mountain Hatchery since the University has leased it from the Tarrant County Water Control and Improvement District for a research facility. Ray also has been awarded a contract by the water control district for research on water quality in its balancing reservoirs.

The fish hatchery, previously operated by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, is composed of 30 ponds and small holding troughs located immediately below Eagle Mountain Dam.

An initial research project, now being conducted in collaboration with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, focuses on interactions between various species of fish, plankton communities and water chemistry.

Long-term plans for research at Eagle Mountain Hatchery include conducting simultaneous experiments with the hatchery ponds and mesocosms (tank facilities) on campus to examine ecological questions from different perspectives. "Few universities have both experimental pond and tank mesocosm systems," Ray said.

Recently Ray was awarded a three-year contract with the Tarrant County Water Control and Improvement District to assess whether biomanipulation (manipulation of the food chain) can be used to improve water quality in the district's balancing reservoirs.

ORIENTATION SESSIONS BEGIN JUNE 12

The first of eight new student orientation sessions will be conducted June 12-14. Others are scheduled June 16-18, June 23-25, June 26-28, June 30-July 2, Aug. 14-16 and Aug. 18-20.

A separate session for transfers only will be held Aug. 20-21, although persons transferring to TCU will be welcome at earlier sessions.

The August sessions are reserved for persons who live more than 500 miles from Fort Worth and are unable to attend earlier in the summer.

Ranging from campus tours to meeting with academic advisers and registering for fall classes, the sessions include meetings just for parents, others for students and some for combined audiences. Orientation is required of all entering freshman, including those transferring to the University, according to coordinator Kay Higgins.

VARIED ACTIVITIES ATTRACT LARGE NUMBERS

If all the activities planned by non-TCU persons for campus during May happened as scheduled, more than 15,000 people have been on campus so far this month for events ranging from the Grand Council of Camp Fire Girls to the Everman High School prom.

Daniel-Meyer Coliseum was the setting for Castleberry high's commencement last night (Monday). Other high school graduations include Paschal tonight, Southwest high tomorrow, Western Hills on Thursday and Crowley high on Friday.

MONCRIEF, KING ACCEPT POSITIONS

Bill Moncrief of marketing and Paul King of speech communication have accepted administrative appointments effective with the fall semester's opening.

Author of some 50 studies published in leading journals, Bill will begin his second three-year term as marketing chairman. Holder of two degrees from the University of Mississippi and the Ph.D. from Louisiana State, he was on the LSU faculty before coming to TCU in 1982. He was among those named as Outstanding Young Men in America in 1987 and was a Burlington Northern Foundation Faculty Award recipient in 1989.

Named interim chair of the speech communication department for 1991-92, Paul joined the faculty in 1980 after being associated with KRBC Radio-TV in Abilene. The Hardin-Simmons University alumnus earned the master's degree here and the Ph.D. at the University of North Texas. His research has been published in the Journal of Technical Writing and Communication, Educational Technology and Communication in Education.

NEW FACULTY,STAFF APPOINTMENTS

Two persons, VICKI LOVIN and ERIC WEBBER, will join the development staff June 1 as major gifts officers. A Fort Worth native and graduate of the University of Oklahoma, Lovin has been associated with Tejas Communications Consulting since 1987 after serving as executive director of City Westwood Association, a non-profit urban organization. Her experience also includes being marketing manager for CRS Sistine Inc., a planning design research corporation

Webber, currently director of communications and development for Delta Sigma Phi Foundation, was assistant dean of student affairs at Tulane University after three years as fraternity director at the University of Texas at Austin, where he completed the B.S. degree in 1983. He has continued his studies at Indiana University and the University of New Orleans. He is active in National Society of Fund Raising Executives.

News Service assistant since 1989, DEE DODSON will join the development division as communications associate June 1. The University of Florida alumna, a former public school teacher, also served as editor of an Austin magazine in 1989-90.

DAVID HENNING, who earned the Master of Music Education degree here in 1982 and then went on to conduct bands for the Arlington Independent School District for eight years, has been named associate director of bands/marching band coordinator. A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, David belongs to Texas Music Educators Association, College Band Directors National Association and other musical groups.

Effective May 1, KERRY BOUCHARD assumed the position of interim systems librarian. An assistant in that division since early 1989, he earned the bachelor's degree in English and journalism here in 1984 and completed the M.F.A. at the University of Iowa in 1986.

SWIMMING, DIVING CAMPS SET

June 3 is the beginning date for this summer's swimming and diving camps in the Rickel Building.

To be supervised by Richard Sybesma, the 1989 Southwest Conference "Coach of the Year," swimming camps are set June 3-13, June 17-27 and July 1-12. Beginning classes will be from 9 to 9:40 a.m., intermediate from 9:45 to 10:25 a.m. and advanced from 10:30 to 11:10 a.m.

Children six and older are eligible for the four learn-to-dive camps planned June 3-13, June 17-27, July 1-12 and July 15-25 under the direction of Scott Anderson, also named SWC "Coach of the Year" in 1989. The 40-minute sessions will include basic diving skills, diving safety and basic tumbling skills.

Cost for the public for the swimming camps, open to children four and over, and the diving camps, is $60 per child per session. Cost for faculty and staff members' children will be $55 each.

Reservations can be made by contacting Richard or Scott at Box 32924 or by calling Ext. 7963.

JACOBSEN HAS THE ANSWER

Retired band director Jim Jacobsen came through first with the question of "What are Ephmen?" posed in the May 14 bulletin regarding a Readers' Digest story about unusual athletic team nicknames at colleges. The name Williams Ephmen comes from Ephraim Williams, the name of the Massachusetts college's founder.

Jim's familiarity with the institution is the result of his grandson, son of Carol Jacobsen and Denny Alexander, being a student there.

Answers to the question also came from Mildred Payne of recreational sports and Chancellor Bill Tucker.

BASKETBALL CAMPS SET FOR SUMMER

Basketball camps for boys and girls will be conducted this summer. Faculty and staff members will receive a 10 percent discount on public price for their dependents.

Three sessions are scheduled for Coach Moe Iba's program for boys. Priced for the public at $270 for overnight stays or $170 for day camps only, these are planned July 7-11, July 14-18 and July 21-25.

Coach Fran Garmon's Lady Frog camp will include two sessions. A day camp is planned June 17-20, while the overnight camp will be held June 23-27. Public price for day session is $80, while the overnight fee is $260.

Reservations can be made and more information received through the basketball office in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. A deposit of $25 for each participant is required.

FROGS ENJOY POST-SEASON SUCCESS

With a 34-25 season and a tie for fourth place in the conference, the Frog baseball team entered its first-ever post-season tournament against the University of Texas. After an opening night loss to the eventual champion, the TCU team bounced back to eliminate both Baylor and host Texas A&M.

In a championship game, the Frogs lost an 8-6 decision to the Longhorns.

As a team, the Horned Frogs enjoyed several record-setting performances in 1991, including a record 12-game winning streak. Individually, Scott Malone won the SWC batting crown, with teammate Chris Thomsen finishing as runner-up. Chris cranked 21 home runs on the year, putting himself among the top five power hitters in the nation.

Several Frogs earned post-season honors, as both Scott Malone and Chris were named to both UPI and AP all-conference squads. Head Coach Lance Brown was honored as the AP's SWC Coach of the Year. Also, five Frogs were named to the SWC all-Tournament team, including Chris (first base), Mike Macko (second base), Rick Hinojosa (shortstop) and pitchers Jared Shope and Kelly Johns.

FROGS MAKE 6TH TRIP TO NCAA FINALS

The men's tennis team wrapped up its outstanding season May 17-19 with a trip to the NCAA Championships in Athens, GA.

The Frogs won their inaugural match of the tournament against Harvard, 5-1, to advance to the second round, where they faced the tournament's No. 3 seed, Louisiana State. LSU was able to avenge an earlier loss this season to the Frogs as they downed TCU 5-3. This marked the sixth NCAA team appearance by TCU since the inception of the association's team tournament in 1977.

Individually, Tony Bujan and Luis Ruetter represented TCU in the NCAA singles competition which began May 22. The two also teamed in doubles competition as play for the 32-team field began May 23.

For the season, TCU finished with a 16-7 dual match mark and a No. 11 national ranking, the 14th top 20 ranking in 15 years.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Sympathy is extended to DOUG NEWSOM (journalism) whose mother, Ruth Grace Johnson, died May 10 in a Fort Worth nursing home. Funeral services for the longtime Dallas resident, an alumna of Mary Hardin College and North Texas State, were held May 13 at Sparkman/Hillcrest in Dallas.

CAROLYN SPENCE CAGLE (Harris College) has been notified of her election to the nominating committee of the Texas Nurses' Association to represent the Northern region of the association. Carolyn, who has been active on the TNA by-laws committee this year in refining the rules of the association, will serve a two-year term on the nominating committee.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

Several members of the computer science department attended the 15th annual Computer Science Conference sponsored by the Federation of North Texas Area Universities. The event was held April 26 at the Hewlett-Packard offices in Dallas. Seniors CARLAJO BONNER, BRIAN BUEGE, STEVE DEVOLL, STEVE GEHRMAN, ROLENA KING and BRIAN LICHTENWALTER presented papers that discussed the results of their senior design projects.

GILBERT DAVIS (development) spoke at the Christian Church Tres Rios Area assembly April 19-21 in Odessa and at the church's district assembly in Jacksonville, FL, May 18-19.

Funeral services and burial were held in Fort Worth May 17 for W.C. (JACK) MILLER, 91, founder and operator of Miller Veterinary Supply Company for 60 years. Miller Speech and Hearing Clinic was named for Miller and his late wife, Maude Y. Miller, and family members requested that expressions of sympathy be in the form of memorials to the clinic or to Arlington Heights United Methodist Church, where he was a longtime member and board member. Survivors include his daughter and son-in-law, TCU alumni Wilma and Bennie Smith.

MICHAEL MECKNA (music) was a featured speaker during the May 13-18 International Horn Symposium, which attracted horn players from all over the world to Denton. His topic was "Dennis Brain at 70," and he discussed the legacy of the horn player who, even though he died tragically in 1957 at age 36, established the horn as a modern solo instrument.

STEPHANIE WOODS and LI-CHOU CHENG (ballet) were invited guest faculty members at the recent South Central American College Dance Festival in Denton. Both also attended the Southwest Regional Ballet Association Dance Festival in Houston in April to represent the TCU Department of Ballet and Modern Dance. In addition, Stephanie represented Interlochen Arts Academy in high school recruiting at the Southwest festival.

Funeral services were conducted May 13 for FRANK LUKACS, TCU soccer coach in 1979-80 who died at his home May 10. A professional soccer player in his native Hungary, he continued his career in the United States as a coach at Fort Worth's Nolan high and TCU. Burial was in Azle. Survivors include his wife, Maria Lukacs; a daughter, Gloria Seay; and two sons, Frank Jr. and Kenneth Lukacs, all of Fort Worth.

ARNOLD BARKMAN (accounting), LARRY PETERS (management) and John Sheridan (University of Alabama at Birmingham) have been notified that their article "Survival Models of Professional Staff Retention in Public Accounting Firms" has been accepted for publication by the Journal of Managerial Issues.

Alumnus GARY HODGE, who earned the master's here, has been named a 1991 Piper Professor by the Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation. One of 10 in Texas honored this year, he has taught in the sociology department at Collin County Community College in McKinney since 1986.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

The geology department was well represented at the annual meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. ART BUSBEY, accompanied by graduate students RANDY HOSEY, BOB MCCALL, and KEVIN SCHMIDT, ran the TCU courtesy booth. Art displayed his wizardry on computers and was able to interface with many of the readers of his popular column in Geobyte Magazine. Several of the faculty met with TCU alumni at the "ice breaker" for the conference.

In addition, the department hosted a well-attended Geo-Frog Luncheon for alumni. This year TCU has two people running for national office in what is the world's largest organization for geologists.

At the meeting NOWELL DONOVAN presented two papers: the first, given with Deborah Ragland, an independent geologist from Ponca City, OK, was entitled "Bedded cherts in the early Ordovician Arbuckle Group of southwestern Oklahoma." The second paper was entitled "Preservation of high primary porosity in Paleozoic crinoidal and bioclastic grainstones: Mississippian and Permian subsurface examples from Canada and West Texas." This paper was given with Dave Eby and Ken Kirby from Calgary.

Prior to the meeting, KEN MORGAN and Nowell were joint leaders of a one-day field seminar entitled "Remote Sensing techniques applied to structural geology and oil exploration in south central Oklahoma." After the meeting, Nowell led another three-day field seminar entitled "The Slick Hills of Southwestern Oklahoma: fragments of an aulacogen."

At the intersectional meeting of the Geological Society of America at Albuquerque, Nowell presented two papers. The first, given with graduate student TODD BUTAUD, was entitled "The Vanoss Conglomerate-upper Pennsylvanian detritus shed from the Arbuckle uplift." The second, given with graduate student MIKE STEPHENSON, was entitled "Pennsylvania deformation in the eastern Slick Hills, southwestern Oklahoma."

Recently Nowell gave a lecture entitled "The origin and genesis of the Ardmore Basin, Oklahoma" to the Houston Geological Society. Subsequently he led members of the society on a two-day field seminar to southern Oklahoma.

HALF-PRICE RANGER TICKETS AVAILABLE

Tickets to two upcoming Texas Rangers games are available at the Student Center information desk for $6, half the regular price. Applicable games are the Rangers vs. Seattle Thursday night and the Rangers and Oakland on Wednesday, July 3.

TCU IN THE NEWS

Director JACK SCOTT of the Counseling Center was quoted in the May/June issue of Executive Female magazine in a feature article written by SHARON BARNES (personnel office). Title of the feature was "Lean on Me: If your mate lost his job tomorrow, would you be ready to handle it?"

In its June issue, Popular Science magazine mentioned geologist RICHARD HANSON in a story titled "Rewriting Antarctic history." It told of the discovery of prehistoric leaves and dinosaur bones in the Transantarctic Mountains near the South Pole.

Anthropologist ANDY MIRACLE, who also heads the Tandy Scholar program, was the subject of Sheila Taylor's feature in the May 16 Star-Telegram. Among his research interests, according to the story, are ritual -- examining what ritual does physiologically and neurologically to persons -- and athletics.

"Smaller firms is where the future lies," according to CAROLYN ULRICKSON, Career Center director quoted in the Star-Telegram's May 19 story on job prospects for the Class of 1991. Some 15 percent fewer companies interviewed at TCU this year than last, according to the story, while 30 percent fewer interviewed at the University of North Texas. Also quoted in the the story were May graduates MONICA LANDERS, who still is job hunting, and MATT HOOD, who is going to work as direct-marketing coordinator for BizMart.

The Star-Telegram's Arlington section featured graduate student DON FRAZIER May 16 with a color photograph and a story about miniature Civil War battles he uses to teach TCU history students. Don, a doctoral candidate, uses 800 miniature Union and Confederate soldiers to set up the apocryphal Civil War battles.

"A driving ambition" was the title of Aura' magazine's story on GEORGE TADE, fine arts dean emeritus, and his collection of Checker cabs that appeared in the most recent issue. The only person in Texas to have more than one of the durable Checkers, he bought his first one in order to have room to transport his Irish wolfhounds to shows.

Alumnus/trustee BOB SCHIEFFER has been named anchor and moderator of CBS News' "Face the Nation" show, succeeding Lesley Stahl, now with "60 Minutes". Bob will continue to anchor the Saturday editions of CBS Evening News and serve as chief Washington correspondent.

"If there is sense and justice in the music world, the new Concerto for Trumpet by Fort Worth composer CURTIS WILSON should become a repertory piece," was the opening paragraph in Wayne Lee Gay's May 22 Star-Telegram review of the world premiere of Curt's work. It was performed by the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra under the baton of JOHN GIORDANO and soloist STEVE WEGER in Ed Landreth May 21.

Journalism chairman ANANTHA BABBILI was among India-born Fort Worth residents quoted in the Star-Telegram's May 22 story about the assassination of Rajiv Gandhi. Anantha expressed optimism for the future of India.
