COLUMNIST GEORGE WILL TO SPEAK NOV. 14

Syndicated columnist George F. Will will speak on campus Nov. 14. To begin at 7 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium, the event will be the third in the Distinguished Speakers Forum sponsored by Team Bank in conjunction with TCU and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The series was inaugurated in March of 1988 with a presentation by former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Ted Koppell of ABC News was featured last fall.

Tickets, priced at $15 each excepting a limited number of $25 reserved seats, must be ordered by faculty and staff members as well as the public from Team Bank, Box 2050, Fort Worth 76113. Checks should be made payable to the bank. Student tickets at $5 each will be available at the Student Center information desk.

Will, whose newspaper column has been syndicated by the Washington Post since 1974, appears in more than 460 newspapers. As a contributing editor, he has written provocative columns on every subject from baseball to politics for Newsweek for 12 years.

Formerly Washington editor of National Review, the leading conservative journal of ideas and political commentary, Will received the Pulitzer Prize for commentary at the age of 35. Washington Magazine named him "the best" newspaper columnist of 1986, and the Washington Journalism Review honored him in 1985 as "best writer, any subject."

Will appears on the ABC-Capital Cities network as a news analyst, and for seven years he was a regular on "Agronsky & Company." In 1981 he was a founding member of the panel on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley," and since 1984 he has been the occasional news commentator for ABC News, "World News Tonight with Peter Jennings."

Following his education at Trinity College in Connecticut, Oxford and Princeton universities, he began his career teaching political philosophy at Michigan State University and the University of Toronto. He later joined the staff of Senator Gordon Allott of Colorado.

With a book on baseball due for publication in 1990, Will is the author of "The New Season: A Spectators Guide to the 1988 Election" and "The Morning After: American Successes and Excess, 1981-1986." His "Statecraft as Soulcraft," published in 1983 and described as his "most ambitious work thus far," began as the Godkin Lecture at Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government.

NSF FUNDS MATH CONFERENCE HERE

Mathematician Bob Doran has been notified by the National Science Foundation that he has received an NSF grant to host an international conference in mathematics here next spring.

The conference, one of 10 in the nation, will focus on recent developments in "operator algebras and representations of locally compact groups." Mathematicians from throughout the United States and several foreign countries will be on campus during the week of May 20-26 to lecture, discuss their research and exchange ideas.

DANCE MASTER CLASSES OFFERED

Two visiting modern dancers--Loretta Livingston of Los Angeles and teaching artist Steven Walker of Texas Institute for the Arts in Education--are teaching master classes here during October and November that will be open to all interested dancers and teachers.

Classes are subsidized by the New Century Dance Project and are being offered to the public at no charge, said project director Susan Douglas Roberts.

Livingston, who directs her own company in Los Angeles and who formerly danced with Bella Lewitsky Dance Company, will teach modern dance technique classes from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday and from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Monday. Walker, who performed with Houston's Space/Dance Theater, will offer classes in teaching methods and creative dance for children from 11 a.m. to 12:20 p.m. Nov. 10 and Nov. 17 and 5-6:30 p.m. Nov. 15.

All classes will be in the TCU Ballet Building, and reservations must be made by calling Susan at Ext. 7615. Observers also are welcome.

New Century Dance Project is a three-year plan to build a long-term, diversified modern dance audience in Fort Worth. The plan is funded by a grant from the Bass Foundation through the Arts Council of Fort Worth and Tarrant County to TCU with support from New Works Project, Inc.

As a part of the goal of educating new audiences for modern dance, New Century Danscene performers recently completed a tour of 10 elementary and four middle schools in Fort Worth. Danscene members also participated in the Dreamspace Festival Oct. 7-8 at Caravan of Dreams.

NON-VIOLENCE SPEAKER HERE THURSDAY

Liam Mahoney, a volunteer with Peace Brigades International in Guatemala, will lecture on "Non-Violence at Work in Central America" at 8 p.m. Thursday in Room 205-6 of the Student Center. The program is sponsored by the TCU Organization of Latin American Students, Brite Student Government Outreach, political science department and the Fort Worth Interreligious Task Force. Mahoney will discuss his experiences in Guatemala and the work of Peace Brigades International throughout Central America.

'A SMASHING CELEBRATION' IS WEEKEND THEME

An array of activities for alumni, students and friends are planned for this weekend on the theme of "Homecoming '89: A Smashing Celebration." Corbett and Debra Dotson Christie, members of the Class of '75 and '76, respectively, are co-chairpersons. Heading student events is Kari Jane Kolflat, senior from Houston.

As part of this year's Homecoming, the City Council of Fort Worth has declared Oct. 20-22 as TCU/Fort Worth Weekend in honor of the many TCU graduates who live in the area. The proclamation was presented during today's City Council meeting. Representing TCU were Kristin Chambers, president of the Student House of Representatives, and Kari.

Organized 40 years ago to recognize donors of annual gifts of $100 or more, Century Club will have its luncheon at noon Friday as the traditional opening for the weekend. The Student Center ballroom will be the site of the event that will include a welcome from Century Club chairperson Robert Johnson of Houston and remarks by Vice Chancellor William Wehner.

A highlight of the program will be a presentation by three student performers, all winners in the Parents Weekend talent show. Stephanie Robertson will head a skit entitled "Little Orphan Horned Frog," Gina Puente will tap dance, and Jennifer Martin will provide song and music.

Eight Classes Plan Reunions

Eight classes will hold reunions as part of this year's activities. These include:

- Class of 1939, headed by Richard Crews, will celebrate its 50th anniversary with a 6:30 p.m. dinner Friday at Colonial Country Club and a reception Saturday at 7 p.m. at Green Oaks Inn;
- Under the leadership of Charles Mays, the Class of '44 reunion will be a reception, buffet and dance Friday at 7 p.m. at the Petroleum Club. Chairing the event will be Don Pierson and Matt E. Rudd Jr.;
- A reception, buffet and dance at the Petroleum Club, beginning at 7 p.m. Friday, will mark the reunion of the Class of 1949 with 1948 graduates also taking part. Marihelen Miller Hickey is chairperson;
- Chaired by Paul and Elene Corder Ondo, the Class of '64 reunion will be held Saturday, beginning at 6:30 p.m. at Hyatt Regency Hotel;
- The 20-year reunion of the Class of '69 will begin at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, under the leadership of Steve and Merri Leon Siddons and Scott and Sally Potter Mooring, at Juanita's Restaurant;
- Two events will mark the Class of '79's 10-year gathering, chaired by Tod and Laura Shrode Miller. A Friday reception will begin at 7:30 p.m. at Joe T. Garcia's, and a reception and cocktail buffet will begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Petroleum Club;
- The first gathering of the Class of 1984, chaired by Mark and Janice Clement Wilson, will be held Saturday. Mira Vista Country Club will be the setting for the 6:30 p.m. reception and dinner.

Sports Also on Weekend Schedule

A shotgun start at 8:30 a.m. will open Friday's alumni golf tournament, Florida-scramble style, at Marriott's Golf Club at Fossil Creek. Players are encouraged to form foursomes; others will be assigned. Competition is limited to 144 participants. Registration fee is $50.

An open house is planned for 10 a.m. to noon Friday at the Mary Potishman Lard Center for alumni who were varsity tennis players as well as other alumni interested in the sport.

In addition to their annual meeting at Ridglea Country Club, beginning at 6 p.m. Friday, the Lettermen's Association will hold its golf tournament at Ridglea Country Club Friday morning.

Parade, Brunch Fill Morning

An array of activities await alumni and friends Saturday morning. The annual parade, moving from Bluebonnet Circle north on University to Cantey, to Stadium and into the campus, will begin at 9 a.m. Floats will be displayed around the Student Center quadrangle.

In the grassy area directly east of Amon Carter Stadium, a barbecue brunch will begin at 10 a.m. Reservations, $6 each for adults and $4.50 for children under 10, can be made through the alumni office, Ext. 7803.

Interest Groups Plan Gatherings

A number of special interest groups plan events for Saturday. These will include:

- Journalism Exes Breakfast, beginning at 8 a.m. at Colonial in the Park, will feature Ken Bunting of Austin, Class of '70 member, as speaker. The Star-Telegram's state capitol bureau chief, he formerly was with the Los Angeles Times and serves on the journalism department's advisory board and on the board of directors of the Freedom of Information Foundation;
- Former Horned Frog Band members also will gather at 8 a.m. in the Student Center for a continental breakfast and their annual meeting. At 10 a.m. they will rehearse for the pre-game show. The group is headed by John McDonald.
- Starpoint School will be the site of Saturday's post-game reception for alumni, families, friends and former School of Education faculty members;
- A breakfast event for Harris College of Nursing alumni will begin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in the Student Center's Woodson Room;
- Alpha Epsilon Delta will hold a reception for premedical/pre dental alumni, students and faculty at 10 a.m. Saturday in Room M16 of the Sid Richardson Building;
- Former cheerleaders, Addies and Super Frogs will take part in Friday's pep rally. For the TCU-Air Force game, they will encourage cheering from the west side of the playing field.
- Delta Delta Delta and Pi Beta Phi sororities will have pre-game open houses, while Alpha Delta Pi will have open house from 3 to 5 p.m.

Frogs, Falcons Kickoff at Noon

Kickoff for the game between the Horned Frogs and Air Force's Falcons is noon Saturday in Amon Carter Stadium. The halftime show will include presentation of the 1989 Homecoming Queen and her court, chosen earlier in the week in a campus-wide election.

Recognized, too, at halftime will be Lou Hill Davidson of New York City, this year's Coming Home Queen. Before graduating in 1964, she was active on campus as a cheerleader, member of Bryson Club and Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She also was named TCU Sweetheart. Her coronation as Homecoming Queen in 1963 was delayed when the reunion weekend was postponed from Nov. 23 after the assassination of then-President John Kennedy the previous day. The event was held in conjunction with a later game.

Hyatt Regency to Be Dance Site

Music by Sons of the Beaches will be featured at the Homecoming Dance for alumni and friends on Saturday evening. The event, with an $8-per-person charge, will begin at 9 p.m. at the Hyatt-Regency Hotel.

Bookstore Will Honor Alumni

The University Store will be open from 8 a.m. until noon Saturday, where alumni will receive a merchandise discount of one percent for each year since graduation. Members of the Quing Club and Class of 1939 will be permitted to make purchases on Friday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Student Activities Light Up Campus

The approval of a fireworks display after Friday's pep rally, a City Council resolution spotlighting the Homecoming celebration and approximately 60 Homecoming Court nominees show that student involvement in Homecoming is already a "smashing success," said Homecoming chair Kari Kolflat.

Today (Tuesday) students will go to the polls outside the Worth Hills and main campus cafeterias between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. to cast their votes among 60 students vying for places on the Homecoming court.

If one Purple and White Day builds spirit, then two must build even more, so both Wednesday and Friday have been designated as days when Horned Frog fans show their true colors. Wednesday will feature a banner contest, and on Thursday runoff votes will be cast for the Homecoming court.

A five- to seven-minute firework display will be the finale for Friday night's pep rally. Beginning at 8:30 p.m. on the "beach" between Sherley and Colby residence halls, the event will feature the announcement of the five couple Homecoming court.

Saturday's celebration will begin with a parade at 9 a.m. that will include such diverse elements as a steer, a grocery cart and high school bands, Kari said. After the noon football game against the Air Force Academy, fans can rest in preparation for a night of dancing to the Killer Bees at the all-campus party beginning at 9 p.m. in the coliseum.

BAND HONORS WILSON, VAUGHAN

Ken Vaughan, who arranged jazz for the TCU Swing Band more than half a century ago when it was the first college swing band in the nation, and Curt Wilson, who directs jazz studies at TCU today, will be inducted into the Horned Frog Band Hall of Fame at Homecoming Saturday. The pair will be honored on the field at Amon Carter Stadium prior to the TCU-Air Force Academy football game at noon.

Ken's biography reads like Fort Worth music history. He performed with the Fort Worth Centennial Band in 1936 and the old Casa Manana Band for the Billy Rose Show here. Besides playing with TCU's swing and concert bands and orchestra, he was trumpeter with The Collegians Orchestra and organized The Dictators Jazz and Dance Band on campus.

Ken holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from TCU and taught 33 years in Texas public schools, spending 29 years as a band director, first in McCamey High School, then in Fort Worth schools. He composed the fight songs for McCamey, North Side and Eastern Hills high schools.

A member of Musicians Union Local #72 since 1933, Ken organized and directed The Melodiers dance orchestra, which played at Fort Worth and Dallas country clubs for 14 years, and played in the Ice Capades and rodeo bands here. A longtime Shriner, he played 29 years with the Moslah Shrine Circus Band. Currently Ken is assistant director of the Moslah Shrine Temple Band and of Fort Worth City Band and manages the chromaharp department for Rhythm Band, Inc. He has been married 54 years to the former Elizabeth Chaddock, his TCU classmate in the Class of 1938.

In Curt's Horned Frog Band years, he served as its president and student conductor and won the outstanding bandsman award. He earned the Bachelor of Music Education degree in 1963, then worked as the band's graduate assistant while studying for his 1966 master's in theory and composition. He also has done graduate work at the University of North Texas.

As a professional woodwind player, Curt toured with Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians from 1966 to 1968. He taught theory, woodwinds and jazz ensembles at Valley City State College in North Dakota and was director of bands for Ashland College in Ohio before coming home to TCU in 1976. Under Curt, TCU's jazz program has grown impressively. The jazz band won first place in the 1977 Wichita, KS, Collegiate Jazz Festival, and its tenor saxophonist, Mario Cruz, was voted outstanding musician. Cruz now performs with Bruce Springsteen.

TCU jazz musicians have been featured twice in performance at Texas Music Educators Association conventions as well as at the 1985 National Association of Jazz Educators convention. He has directed the jazz ensembles on tour in the Soviet Union and Poland, the New York City area, the Midwest and Texas. In 1987 a bluegrass band made up of TCU jazz performers won a competition to play for a week in Tokyo in conjunction with an American trade fair.

Curt also plays with the Harvey Anderson Orchestra and has played with the Tex Beneke-Glenn Miller Orchestra, Warren Covington-Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, Dionne Warwick, Mel Torme and others.

RECITAL WILL HONOR WINESANKER

Olivier Latry, who at the age of 23 won a competition to become titular organist of the Cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris, will play a public recital Oct. 23 at St. Stephen Presbyterian Church, 2600 Merida. The 8 p.m. program is dedicated to the memory of Dr. Michael Winesanker, longtime chairman of the TCU Department of Music. Sponsors are St. Stephen, the TCU music department and Dr. and Mrs. William R. Gardner.

Latry's program, "The Organists of Notre Dame," will be made up of compositions by cathedral organists from the 18th Century (Louis Claude Daguin, A. Calviere, Claude Benigne Balbastre and Armand-Louis Couperin) to the present. Latry will perform his own Improvisation on a submitted theme. Admission is free, and audience members are invited to a reception in the Parish Hall following the performance.

Now 27, Latry was born in Boulogne-sur-Mer, France, and began his organ study at the age of 12. He attended the Academy of Music of St.-Maur-des Fosses, where he earned numerous prizes for both organ and piano excellence and was graduated with distinction. At the Conservatory of Paris he took first place in Jean-Claude Raynaud's harmony course.

A finalist in both the 1980 and 1982 international competitions at Chartres, Latry, then 18, was the only European finalist in 1980. From 1981 to 1985 he was titular organist of Meaux Cathedral. In addition to his Notre Dame position, Latry teaches organ at both the Catholic Institute of Paris and the National Academy of Reims.

Latry made his first American concert tour in the fall of 1986 and has returned at least once each year since that time. He performed two major recitals for the national convention of the American Guild of Organists in Houston in June 1988.

JUST IN TIME FOR HALLOWEEN!

The theatre department couldn't have picked a better time to clean out its costume closets. The costumes for men and women, stage makeup, hats and accessories can make anyone the splashiest spook at the Halloween soiree.

The department is staging a costume sale from 2 to 7 p.m. Oct. 24-25 in Basement Room 3 of Ed Landreth Hall. Wares lean heavily toward Renaissance, medieval, Greek and Roman garb in a variety of sizes, though there also are some glitzy spangled creations available. Call Ext. 7625 for information.

ECO HUT MOVES NORTH

Ecology-minded newspaper savers shouldn't be alarmed when they find the ECO hut missing from its longtime spot in the stadium parking lot. The hut has been moved into the northernmost parking lot facing Stadium Drive and now is located next to the KTCU tower, said John Wortham.

NOTES ON FOLKS

This fall, Ballet Omaha has been negotiating with LISA FUSILLO (ballet) to stage the ballet "Gaité Parisienne" for the company's 1990-91 season. The ballet was originally choreographed by Leonide Massine, a leading dancer in the movie "The Red Shoes," and Lisa received permission from Massine to stage his ballets after working with him as choreographic assistant and artistic collaborator from 1975 to 1979. Lisa was also a guest teacher for the Ballet Omaha Summer Workshop last July.

BILL BEEZLEY (Penrose Professor of History) delivered a series of lectures on 19th-Century Mexico to the honors students at the United States Naval Academy Sept. 27-28.

On Sept. 29 LINDA GUY (art) conducted a lecture and demonstration on the printmaking process of screenprinting for 25 docents from the Fort Worth Museum of Modern Art. Yesterday docents from the Amon Carter Museum attended another TCU lecture demonstration on the four basic printmaking processes.

RICHARD FENKER (psychology) was an invited speaker at the recent United States Gymnastics Congress in Philadelphia. He gave an address on "Coaching Stress and Burnout" and presented a research paper on "An Analysis of Mistakes in Rhythmic Gymnastics." Richard served as sport psychologist and team member of the United States delegation at the World Championships of Rhythmic Gymnastics in Serajavo, Yugoslavia, where the United State's 12th place finish was the best ever in world championship competition.

A paper entitled "Initial Public Offering Underpricing: The Issuer's View -- A Comment" by CHRIS BARRY (finance) appeared in the September issue of the Journal of Finance. On Oct. 6 Chris presented two papers on the role of venture capital in initial public offerings at the Texas Finance Syposium at the University of Texas at Austin. The papers were jointly authored with former colleagues from SMU.

KEITH ODOM (English) presented a workshop on "Literature As a Context for Writing" Oct. 7 at Haltom High School for the Districts X-XI fall conference of the Texas Joint Council of Teachers of English. Co-presenters were Dr. William E. Tanner of Texas Woman's University and Dr. Neil Duncan of Texas Wesleyan University.

JANET LANZA and CAROLYN WILSON (speech-language pathology) presented an all-day workshop to the speech-language pathologists in Abilene I.S.D. Aug. 25. The presentation, "Making Children's Language Bloom," focused on developing children's language and critical thinking skills through activities based on Benjamin Bloom's Taxonomy of Educational Objectives.

An essay by BOB FRYE (English) entitled "Imagination, the Shared Use of Symbols, and the Struggle for Certainty: Failing at a Very High Level" has been published in the Summer 1989 issue of Perspectives, journal of the Association for General and Liberal Studies.

COPTIC POPE TO VISIT FRIDAY

Pope Shenouda III, leader of the Coptic Orthodox Church, largest Christian body in Egypt, will be a campus visitor Friday. In this area to visit St. Mary's Coptic Orthodox Church in Colleyville, Pope Shenouda will talk and lead prayers at an 11 a.m. meeting in Robert Carr Chapel. He will be accompanied by seven bishops.

In the midst of a 3 1/2-month journey that includes Great Britain, Canada and Australia as well as the United States, he has called on Western Christian churches to do more than just pay lip service to peace in the Middle East. In Toronto he suggested that churches negotiate with national leaders and politicians in an effort to bring peace to the Middle East. Establishing a homeland for Palestinians would do much to end conflict there, the pope said.

Pope Shenouda, spiritual leader of some nine million people, earned a history degree from Cairo University and taught in a Cairo high school while attending evening classes at the Coptic Theological Seminary. He later taught at the seminary. In 1954 he retired to the monastic life, lived in a cave, slept on stones and dedicated his days to meditation, prayer and fasting. He was ordained a bishop in 1962.

Consecrated as pope in 1971, he has led the Coptic Church's active membership in World Council of Churches. Under his direction, more than 60 churches have been added in Egypt, 38 in the United States, seven in Canada, 11 in Australia, seven in Great Britain, seven in Germany, two in Austria and others in major European cities. A new diocese has been established in East Africa and two bishops ordained in North and East Africa.

NINE-COLLEGE CONSORTIUM TO FIGHT DRUGS

TCU is among nine colleges and universities in the North Texas area which will form a consortium to strengthen their drug education and prevention programs with a grant from the Fund for Improvement for Post Secondary Education (FIPSE). The public and private two- and four-year institutions have a combined enrollment of more than 90,000. National statistics show that at least 75 percent of all college students have experimented with drugs and/or alcohol and that a minimum of 10 percent will become addicted, said Barbara Brown Herman, director of TCU's Drug and Alcohol Prevention Program.

The most serious problem the consortium will address is the limited number of professional staff serving this large, vulnerable community. By uniting their drug prevention efforts, the institutions will share resources, increase training and eliminate duplication of effort. With the $31,565 two-year grant, the consortium will produce a clearinghouse of resources available to member campuses, increase staff training, expand the consortium network statewide by linking up with an existing state-wide network and develop a student survey instrument for use on all consortium member campuses.

The nine institutions include TCU, Southern Methodist University, University of North Texas, University of Texas at Arlington, Texas Wesleyan University, McLennan County Community College, Austin College, Midwestern State University and the University of Dallas. The grant will be administered by SMU.

TCU COED NAMED RELIGIOUS LEADER

Carlajo Bonner, junior from Tyler, was recognized Sunday as one of 10 top young religious leaders in the United States. The university and college students were honored by Religious Heritage of America, a non-profit, interfaith organization, at its annual National Youth Awards Program in Birmingham. The program was a highlight of the RHA National Leadership Conference Oct. 13-16.

Nominated by University Minister John Butler, Bonner lives up to the award's criteria of outstanding service to her church, school and community. A TCU computer science major, she is a member of Fort Worth's First United Methodist Church who volunteers her time as youth director of Grace Methodist Church, working with its junior high and high school students.

Bonner learned of the church's need for a youth director from Rev. John Valles, TCU minister with minority students, with whom she works in AGAPE, an inter-religious fellowship that meets weekly for dinner and discussion. A member of the Wesley Foundation, Bonner also is the Methodist representative to the TCU Campus Christian Community and serves on the CCC worship task force. In that capacity, she helps to plan special services like a relaxing outdoor service on a Sunday evening before final exams began last spring.

A graduate of Robert E. Lee High School in Tyler who tested high enough to place out of 10 hours of required classes when she entered TCU, Bonner will finish her four years of college in three years while working at two jobs--one in the computer science department, another in the Neeley School of Business computer lab.

Bonner also plays the oboe in the TCU Symphony and works with Rainbow Girls.

LOVIE HILL SENDS THANKS

Lovie Hill, who was associated with Facility Services for five years before retiring in August, sends this message to her friends across campus:

"I want to thank all of you from the bottom of my heart for your prayers and support during the past few weeks. I have always appreciated the close family kind of feeling that we have in Facility Services, but it has really blessed my soul to receive encouragement from so many faculty and staff people in the areas where I worked. May the good Lord bless you all."

Russell Gray, assistant director of facility services, said Lovie, who is ill with terminal cancer, still needs prayers and support. Tax-deductible contributions may be made to University Ministries, Box 32898, designated for Lovie Hill.
