

BULLETIN

Issued by the Division of University Relations

Vol. 66, No. 10, Oct. 24, 1989

IBR GRANT IS LARGEST EVER FOR RESEARCH

A $7.7 million grant from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to the Institute of Behavioral Research will be used for a study of improving drug abuse treatment for AIDS-risk reduction. As announced by Chancellor Bill Tucker during a news conference last week, "This is the largest single research grant in the history of TCU."

The five-year study, headed by IBR Director Dwayne Simpson as principal investigator, will focus on development of treatment that will help reduce client dropout and relapse rates as well as AIDS-risky behaviors of intravenous drug users (IVDUs). The research will involve an estimated 1,500 persons at established treatment agencies in Texas. The collaborative effort is designed to implement and to evaluate new intervention strategies within the context of outpatient drug-free and methadone maintenance services. Follow-up interviews conducted up to two years after treatment will be included.

"This study comes at a time when HIV infection rates are low enough to allow intervention efforts to have a major preventive impact on potential outbreaks of AIDS in the Southwest," Dwayne said. The IBR project, along with other NIDA-funded studies across the nation, should demonstrate ways to improve the quality and effectiveness of treatment of drug abusers, he added.

A report by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse showed that 13,200 drug abuse patients were admitted to programs it administers for fiscal year 1989. The total does not include patients on waiting lists, those seen in private for-profit facilities or those who used only self-help resources. Of the 13,200, the study showed that the 55 percent who were needle users included 26 percent female, 25 percent Hispanic and 23 percent black. While AIDS is not as severe in Texas as elsewhere, 6,929 cases were reported for the week ending July 7, 1989.

Three major components are included in the research objective of isolating and evaluating overall behavioral intervention process as outlined by Dwayne. These include a cognitive learning strategy, adapted from work of other TCU psychologists as a method of improving communication and understanding AIDS information, and contingency management involving evaluation of client-contracted schedules of treatment and economic incentives as positive reinforcers for changing target behaviors during and after treatment. Effectiveness of life skills and ancillary training, ranging from assertiveness training to increase self-esteem and protections from risky interactions to relapse prevention methods, will be the third major part.

(continued)

To be studied as predictors at different stages of the intervention process will be client sociodemographic, family and cultural background, behavioral function and psychological adjustment measures.

Social and behavioral research approaches to understanding health-related and organizational issues which impact local, regional and national levels are emphasized by IBR. Organized in 1962 by the late Saul Sells and re-established earlier this year under Dwayne's direction, it has given special attention to substance abuse and treatment intervention evaluations.

Pioneering work by IBR in the field of drug abuse treatment and long-term follow-up of heroin addicts has been used in congressional hearings and helped guide federal policy regarding treatment since 1970. A 20-year project based on a nationwide sample of 44,000 treatment admissions completed last summer examined comparative effectiveness of different types of treatment and later followed a sample of 500 addicts for 12 years after treatment. Research under the new grant continues this previous work and will focus on ways to improve treatment further.

Other research currently being done at the IBR is addressing the prevalence and impact of drug use in the workplace. It is being conducted in collaboration with San Antonio and 2,000 municipal employees.

In addition to its research, IBR provides graduate students in the behavioral sciences with significant learning experiences in methodological, quantitative research, according to Graduate Studies and Research interim dean Joe Helmick. "The institute also will generate new information regarding treatment efficacy for important social problems such as drug abuse and AIDS that can be incorporated into several areas of graduate study at TCU as well as being used by community treatment agencies dealing with these important problems in society," Joe added.

THE IBR research staff includes four formerly associated with the TCU institute. They are Drs. Jeanie Boatler, with the Tarrant County Mental Health Mental Retardation Services and Psychiatric Institute of Fort Worth since 1981; Jack Greener, Ph.D. graduate of the University of Houston who has been an independent management consultant since 1983 and visiting associate professor at Texas A&M; George Joe and Wayne Lehman, who earned their doctorates at TCU and came from A&M's behavioral research program. Others are Lois Chatham, holder of the Ph.D. from the University of Houston who has been with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, where she directed nationwide research, research training and treatment programs; and Ramdas Menon, Ph.D. graduate of McGill University who was also at A&M and is a research fellow in the Population Research Center at the University of Texas at Austin.

*** **

TAGER TO AIR AIDS PROGRAM

The National University Teleconference Network will present "AIDS in the College Community: From Crisis to Management" at the TAGER-TV building Nov. 16. Sponsored by the Student Affairs staff development committee for the Student Affairs division, the program is set for noon to 3 p.m. Additional information is available from Jack Scott, Counseling Center, Ext. 7863.

RETIREEES TO HEAR DORAN THURSDAY

Bob Doran, recently honored as Texas Professor of the Year by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE), will speak at Thursday's meeting of the TCU Retirees Association. The retirees meeting will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the Trinity Room of Jetton's at 1700 Rogers Road.

*** **

MEDICAL ETHICS IS BRITE TOPIC

Dr. John B. Cobb Jr., prominent process theologian and author, will deal with medical ethics as he delivers Brite Series lectures tomorrow (Wednesday) and Thursday at Robert Carr Chapel. His first address, "The Right to Die," will be presented at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, followed by a reception in Weatherly Hall. At 11 a.m. Thursday, Dr. Cobb will speak on "The Right to Live," also in Carr Chapel. A brown bag luncheon and informal discussion with the speaker will follow in Weatherly Hall.

Dr. Cobb is Ingraham Professor of Theology at the School of Theology at Claremont, CA, the Avery Professor in Claremont Graduate School and director of the Center for Process Studies. Born to missionaries in Japan, Dr. Cobb went to classes at a Canadian academy there until 1940, when unessential Americans were encouraged to leave. After completing high school in Georgia, he attended Emory University and the University of Michigan. At the University of Chicago Divinity School, he earned the M.A. in 1949 and the Ph.D. in 1952.

In 1960, he published his first book, "Varieties of Protestantism," in which he argued that the central concerns of each denomination do not necessarily conflict with each other. His other works include "Living Options in Protestant Theology: A Survey of Methods," "A Christian Natural Theology: Based on the Thought of Alfred North Whitehead," "The Structure of Christian Existence," "Theology and Pastoral Care," "Beyond Dialogue: Towards a Mutual Transformation of Christianity and Buddhism," "Praying for Jennifer" and "Christian Identity and Theological Education." His latest book, "For the Common Good," is being published this month.

*** **

LIBRARY FRIENDS MEET FRIDAY

"An Evening at the TCU Library" will be held Friday under the sponsorship of Friends of the TCU Libraries. Hours are 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and light refreshments will be served. Library director Fred Heath and other staff members will discuss the library automation project and demonstrate the new CD ROM data bases. A highlight of the meeting will be a silent auction of some 25 duplicates of important Texana materials donated to the library.

INTERIOR DESIGN SEMINARS SET

TCU is joining again with Ellison's Studio of Interior Design in conjunction with the Star-Telegram and KMEZ Radio to present a series of interior design seminars exploring the latest in trends and technology for the home. Set for Nov. 2, 9 and 16, the sessions will be held in Ellison's showroom at 7000 Camp Bowie Blvd. On each date, presentations will be made at 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Proceeds from sale of tickets, priced at $40 for the series or $15 per individual session, will benefit the University's interior design program, headed by David Sloan and widely recognized for its accreditation by the Foundation for Interior Design Education and Research. Tickets can be ordered from Ellison's with checks payable to TCU/New Directions in Design, 7000 Camp Bowie Blvd., Fort Worth 76116.

"Haute Looks for the Home" will be the theme for the Nov. 2 seminar by Mary Jane Pool, former editor-in-chief of House and Garden who is consultant to Baker Fine Furniture. Following her presentation, Ellison's designer will conduct a tour of vignettes they have created. On Nov. 9 David will moderate a panel of Ellison's design professionals for a session on "Trends for Today -- and Tomorrow." Design basics, use of texture and materials as well as concerns of space and scale will be discussed.

"Dress Up Your Home with Style" will be the Nov. 16 seminar conducted by Richard Fenton, president of Nora Fenton Inc., regarded as one of the nation's leaders in decorative accessories for the home. Ellison's designers will demonstrate creating "personality" in a room and providing creative options.

*** **

TWO INDIAN SCHOLARS ARE GUESTS

The journalism department has been host to two journalism scholars from India this month. They are Dr. K. E. Eapen, professor and former dean at India's Nagpur, Bangalore and Kerala universities, and Professor Syed Basheeruddin, head of the journalism department at India's Osmania University.

During his Oct. 16-19 visit, Eapen lectured to graduate and undergraduate classes on satellite communications for national development, status of communication research in Commonwealth countries and media scenarios in Third World Nations. A prominent scholar on the press in developing countries, he is author of some 100 articles and several books. Eapen holds the Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and the master's from Syracuse University.

A representative of India at the UNESCO, he is vice president of the Commonwealth Association for Education in Journalism and Communication and executive vice president for the international Association for Mass Communication Research.

A visiting Fulbright Fellow in the journalism department, Basheeruddin is "at home" at TCU while studying newsroom technology and journalism education at Columbia University, University of Oklahoma and several other U.S. institutions. He has served as India's ambassador to the United Arab Emirates and has been a consultant to several developing nations on policies dealing with communication technology and education of future journalists. He will be available for guest lectures until Nov. 2.

GREENPEACE ACTIVIST SPEAKS TONIGHT

Efforts to halt the exploitation of Antarctica, the last remaining unspoiled continent, will be a major focus for a slide-illustrated presentation by a Greenpeace activist tonight (Tuesday). Greenpeace is an international organization known for its non-violent, confrontational approach for protecting and preserving the environment. The organization's global effort to save endangered species, its campaign for nuclear disarmament and its confrontational approach to the problem of global warming also will be addressed by Greenpeace moderator Christopher Childs.

Sponsored by TCU Forums, the presentation will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center ballroom. Admission will be $1 for those with a TCU ID and $3 for the public.

*** **

NEW ENSEMBLE TO PERFORM HERE

Ayres and Fancies, the first viola da gamba ensemble in the Southwest, will perform its debut concert at 8 p.m. Monday in Robert Carr Chapel as a part of the TCU Music Series.

Ayres and Fancies will be joined by Brazos Baroque, an ensemble which has performed throughout the Southwest during the last five years, to present "An Evening with Henry Purcell." The program will include Purcell's Incidental music to "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Songs for baritone and continuo, Trio Sonata in G minor, duets for soprano and baritone from "King Arthur" and Five fantasias for viols. Vocalists will be voice faculty members Judith Gans and Vincent Russo.

Music faculty member Harriet Risk Woldt, a founding member of both Ayres and Fancies and Brazos Baroque, explained that the viola da gamba was an old musical instrument of the viol family, the most popular string instrument during the Renaissance and early Baroque periods. The viol was superceded by the violin family but has been revived for the performance of early music. "There is a growing demand for such ensembles, considering the richness of the Renaissance and Baroque repertoire for these combinations of instruments," Woldt said.

Ayres and Fancies members, in addition to Woldt, are Sheila Madden of TCU, Karen Hall of Fort Worth and Barrett Sills, who teaches at Southwestern University in Georgetown. Brazos Baroque members include Woldt, Hall, faculty member Cynthia Folio, Janet Bond of Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra and Lenora McCroskey of the University of North Texas faculty.

*** **

COLBY HALL TO PROVIDE TRICK, TREATS

Munchkin Madness will reign Halloween night as little ones up to 12 years old don costumes for trick-or-treating at Colby Hall. The 6:30-8:30 p.m. event is sponsored by the residence hall and Student Activities.

PREMED PROGRAM IS Rx FOR SUCCESS

The 90 percent medical school acceptance rate of students in the premedical program is twice the national average. Its success is due to the counseling process that guides prospective medical, dental, veterinary and optometry students through their undergraduate careers, according to Manny Reinecke, who chairs the Health Advisory Program.

Eighty-one percent of the 1989 graduates already have gained acceptance, as did 97 percent of the 1988 graduates. Of the 1989 class, 27 were accepted by medical schools, six by dental schools, one by a veterinary school and one by an optometry school.

Only one class between 1974 and 1988 has placed fewer than 85 percent of its graduates in programs leading to doctorates in medical professions. Ninety-seven percent were admitted from the Class of 1981, 98 percent from the Class of 1984 and 100 percent from the Class of 1980. Four years is the longest period a student has had to wait before gaining admission.

*** **

WESTERN FRONTIER IS NEW BOOK'S THEME

The western frontier, whether as historical fact or as imaginative symbol and myth, has contributed significantly to American culture and its literature. In "Beyond the Frontier: Writers, Western Regionalism, and a Sense of Place," Harold Simonson studies the meanings associated with the contrary terms of "open" and "closed" frontier, the optimism and infinite possibilities suggested by the former and the human finitude and tragedy brought to mind by the latter.

"Beyond the Frontier" is an October issue by TCU Press.

Discussing American western writers who treated the open and closed frontiers and the synthesis implicit in regionalism and a sense of place, Simonson studies the work of historian Frederick Jackson Turner, naturalist John Muir, novelists Mark Twain, Ole Rolvaag, Nathanael West and Montana regionalists Ivan Doig, James Welsh and Norman Maclean.

Simonson, professor of English at the University of Washington, is the author of numerous articles and seven other books, including the 1970 study, "The Closed Frontier," out of which his new work grew. In addition to western American literature, he is particularly interested in Norwegian immigrant literature and the literature of American Puritanism.

A member of the Western Literature Association, the Norwegian-American Historical Association, the Washington State Historical Society and the Willa Cather Pioneer Memorial and Educational Foundation, Simonson holds M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Northwestern University, the B.A. and B.Ed. from the University of Puget Sound and a B.Phil. in Divinity from the University of St. Andrews in Scotland.

The 192-page "Beyond the Frontier" is clothbound and sells for $15.95 in the bookstore. It contains endnotes, a bibliography and an index.

CHAPEL CHOIR WILL SING SUNDAY

The Chapel Choir, conducted by Ron Shirey and accompanied by Janet Pummill, will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Robert Carr Chapel.

The program will include With a Voice of Singing by Ken Jennings, Cantique de Jean Racine (Psalm 84) by Gabriel Faure, Sine Nomine (For All the Saints) by Ralph Vaughan Williams, George Oldroyd's Prayer to Jesus, the Oratorio by Antonio Vivaldi and Blessed Is the Man and Awake, My Heart, both by Jane Marshall.

*** **

DANSCENE CONCERTS ARE THIS WEEK

New Century Danscene, with guest performers from New York, Los Angeles and Houston, will present modern dance concerts at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Caravan of Dreams Theater. Tickets at $6 ($3 for students and senior citizens) may be reserved at (817) 877-3000 or metro 420-4000. Danscene is funded by a grant from the Bass Foundation through the Arts Council of Fort Worth and Tarrant County to TCU with support from New Works Project, Inc.

Choreographers for the concerts include Loretta Livingston, a former dancer with Bella Lewitsky who now is artistic director of her own six-member ensemble in Los Angeles. Critics and audiences alike recognize Livingston as an important emerging choreographer. Others are David Hochoy, new member of the dance faculty who formerly danced with and directed rehearsals for Martha Graham Dance Company; modern dance faculty members Ellen Page Garrison and Susan Douglas Roberts; and Dana Nicolay of the Sam Houston State University faculty, who earned his master's degree here in modern dance.

Guest performers will be Lone Larsen of New York, solo performer for Martha Graham's company; David Plettner, managing director of Livingston's Los Angeles company; and Christy Sadler of Houston, who is associated with Texas Institute for the Arts in Education and was a founding member of Houston's Space/Dance/Theater. Amistad, Fort Worth ensemble dedicated to performing music by Latin American composers, will play for "Brazilian Piece," choreographed by Garrison to music by Guarnieri.

*** **

AAUP BOOK SHOW OPENS IN LIBRARY

The 1989-90 AAUP (Association of American University Presses) Book Show will be on display in the library beginning today (Wednesday) through Nov. 1. The juried show contains 30 books chosen for typographic excellence and 16 chosen for their illustrations. Thirty jackets also are displayed.

The exhibition of the show on campus was arranged by TCU Press and the library's display committee. A limited number of catalogs are available at the reference desk.

RUETTE WINS ROLEX SINGLES TITLE

TCU's Luis Ruette captured the singles title of the men's 1989 Rolex Southwest Collegiate Tennis Championships with his Oct. 16 defeat of Cha Hoon Im of Arkansas, 7-6, 6-3, at Mary Potishman Lard Tennis Center.

The tournament's No. 1 seed, Luis won all six of his matches in straight sets. The sophomore from Sao Paulo, Brazil, is ranked 28th in the preseason Volvo Tennis/Collegiate Rankings after garnering all-Southwest Conference last spring. Both he and Im, by virtue of making the finals, qualified to compete in the 1990 Rolex National Indoor Intercollegiate Tennis Championships, scheduled for Feb. 8-11, 1990, at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Luis and Sandon Stolle, the tourney's No. 1 seed in the doubles draw and the sixth-ranked doubles combination in the nation, fell in the doubles finals to the Texas duo of Mitch Michulka and Michael Penman, 6-4, 6-4. Michulka and Penman will represent the Southwest region at the national championships, as only the champions advance in doubles play.

*** **

TEEN PREGNANCY IS VIDEO TOPIC

A live videoconference targeting the national dilemma of teen-age pregnancy will be presented from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Thursday at the Center for Instructional Services, TAGER TV/Telecommunications Studio. The program is open to all faculty, staff and students, but reservations must be made in advance by calling Ext. 7632.

The conference, originating at the University of Georgia, will present specific strategies to implement, promote and maintain sex education programs in the community. Additional information regarding content may be obtained by calling Betty Benison at Ext. 7665.

*** **

BUELL WILL HEAD '90 PHONOTHON

Julie Buell, a senior from Houston, has been named chairperson of the 1990 TCU Student National Phonothon, scheduled for Feb. 4-Mar. 1 in the Faculty Center in Reed Hall.

Recruitment of student organizations for Phonothon participation will begin later this semester and continue in January. Last year 20 Greek and independent campus organizations took part in the phonothon, raising over $237,000 for the Annual Fund for TCU. For the fourth consecutive year, Army ROTC was the leading money-raising organization in 1989, earning a $1,000 cash prize for its treasury. Prizes also were awarded to leading individual callers.

Other members of the 1990 Phonothon organizing committee are juniors Todd Blouin and Jennifer Dolt, Greek recruitment; sophomore Jon Buell and senior Susan Castellano, independent recruitment; junior Karen Casper, incentives; and junior Barbara Leu and sophomore Ernie Ross, publicity.

AUSTRALIAN SCHOLAR TO TALK TODAY

Professor Edwin Judge of the Department of History, Philosophy and Politics at the University of Sydney, Australia, will lecture at 4:30 p.m. today (Tuesday) in the Brite Divinity School lounge. His subject will be "The Appeal to Convention in Paul."

Professor Judge, educated at King's College, Cambridge, is credited with initiating a new approach to understanding earliest Christianity in interaction with the Greco-Roman world. He has shed new light on the social customs, values and tensions at issue in Mediterranean culture of the first century A.D., said David Balch of Brite.

*** **

NOTES ON FOLKS

An essay by LINDA HUGHES (English) entitled "From Parlor to Concert Hall: Arthur Somervell's Song-cycle on Tennyson's 'Maud'" appears in The Lost Chord: Essays on Victorian Music, recently published by Indiana University Press. The collection is edited by University of Illinois musicologist Nicholas Temperley, and all copies of the book are accompanied by an audiocassette recording of music discussed in each essay. Most of the essays, including Linda's, first appeared in a special issue of the journal Victorian Studies.

PHYLLIS MILLER (journalism) and RALPH BEHNKE (speech communication) have had a synopsis of their research entitled "Public Relations and Journalism: A Contrast and Comparison" published in Public Relations Review.

JOHN BREYER (geology) and Tom Bulling (MS '87) recently spoke to the geological societies in Fort Worth and San Antonio, respectively, about their work, "Exploring for Subtle Traps with High Resolution Paleogeographic Maps: The Reklaw 1 Interval in South Texas."

JERRY GROTTA (journalism) was keynote speaker at the opening banquet for a conference at the University of Wisconsin in Madison Oct. 19. The conference, sponsored by the University of Wisconsin's Division of University Outreach Communication Programs, was titled "Circulation Marketing Strategies: Romancing the Reader," and Jerry's talk was on "Challenges Ahead in Romancing the Reader." On Oct. 20, Jerry gave the opening address on "Stopping the Churn and Satisfying the Customer" and then served on a panel to discuss "Circulation and Editorial: Are They Happily Married?" Jerry has been invited to conduct a seminar for the American Press Institute in Reston, VA, on Dec. 1. He will present a special program on newspaper circulation.

"Communication Systems and Cultural Identity" was the topic discussed by a panel that included DOUG NEWSOM (journalism) at the Oct. 5-7 international Conference on Culture and Communication. Doug drew from her Fulbright experience in talking about "Cultural Influences on Mass Communication Practices in India" at the conference in Philadelphia.

An article, "Effective Diplomat or Petty Spy: The Role of George Beckwith," by historian FRANK REUTER has been accepted by The Journal of the Early Republic for publication in its fall 1990 issue.

(continued)

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

After directing the TCU/Cliburn Piano Institute during the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition on campus, TAMAS UNGAR (music) left for Rutgers University to perform and teach master classes during its SummerFest.

From July to September, Tamas toured Thailand, Australia and China. In Bangkok, he and Thai pianist Nat Yontarak performed the first two piano recitals of classical music given in Thailand. In the audience was the Thai king's sister. Tamas presented 13 concerts on the east coast of Australia and taught at the Sydney Conservatorium of Music in Beijing and at the Shanghai Conservatorium.

Sympathy is extended to ROBERT SULAK (physical plant), whose father, Justin Joseph Sulak, died Oct. 13. Funeral services were conducted Oct. 16 at St. John the Apostle Parish in North Richland Hills.

At the Western Literature Association conference Oct. 11-14 in Coeur d'Alene, ID, FRED ERISMAN (English) moderated a debate between historians Gerald Nash of the University of New Mexico and Patricia Nelson Limerick of the University of Colorado and presented a paper on "Rupert Brooke's Flight to the West." The paper examines the poet's 1913-1914 trip to the United States and Canada and his dismay when he found that the Old West of his imagination was no more.

ANANTHA BABBILI (journalism) was the John F. Murray Visiting Lecturer at the University of Iowa School of Journalism and Mass Communication Oct. 1-4. His lectures were delivered at Iowa's Ph.D. symposium on critical theory and international communication. Anantha also presented a paper titled "Bias Against the Oppressed: Law and Disorder in Global Communication" at the 12th annual Third World Studies Conference Oct. 5-6 at the University of Nebraska-Omaha.

"The next 25 years should be the best ever for range and pasture management," JOHN MERRILL (Ranch Management) predicted in an article in September's 25th anniversary issue of Beef magazine. John also was interviewed here for two hours Oct. 12 by Tony Thomas, New York bureau chief for London's prestigious publication The Economist. Topic was the economy of the Red River Valley, which Thomas told John was of great interest in England.

John and other Ranch Management staff members were hosts recently to government and educational leaders from Bophuthatswana, one of nine South Africa homelands, who are taking the lead in establishing an intensive agricultural education program. Visitors included The Honorable Chief K.E. Jantjie, deputy minister of agriculture and natural resources and a tribal chief, and W. A. Maree, managing director of the Agricultural Bank of Bophuthatswana, as well as the headmaster of its new school system. The visit was arrangement by J.O. (Hannes) Glatthau, agricultural/scientific counselor for the South African Embassy.

An article by BOB FRYE (English) entitled "Humor and a Sense of Place in Winston Estes's 'A Streetful of People'" has been published in the Fall 1989 issue of Concho River Review.

Dean of Students LIBBY PROFFER has moved since Frog Calls was printed. She's now at 4213 Lake Vista, Fort Worth 76132, and her home phone is 737-7048.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

- Oct. 24 --Men's soccer, TCU vs. St. Edwards, TCU soccer field, 4 p.m.
 --TCU Forums lecture by environmentalist Christopher Childs of Greenpeace, Brown-Lupton Student Center ballroom, 7:30 p.m. Admission $3 ($1 with TCU ID).
- Oct. 25 --University Chapel, Robert Carr Chapel, noon.
 --Brite Series lecture, "The Right to Die," by Dr. John B. Cobb Jr., author and theologian from Claremont (CA) Graduate School and Claremont School of Theology, TCU Robert Carr Chapel, 7:30 p.m., followed by a reception in TCU's Weatherly Hall.
 --Women's soccer, TCU at SMU.
- Oct. 26 --Brite Series lecture, "The Right to Live," by Dr. John B. Cobb, TCU Robert Carr Chapel, 11 a.m., followed by brown bag lunch and informal discussion with Dr. Cobb in Weatherly Hall at noon.
 --TCU Retirees Association luncheon, Trinity Room of Jetton's Cafeteria, 1700 Rogers Rd., 11:30 a.m. Bob Doran of math will talk on his experiences as a visiting professor at Oxford University last year.
 --Videoconference on teenage pregnancy, TAGER TV/Telecommunications Studio, 4:30 to 7 p.m. Call Ext. 7632 for reservations.
- Oct. 27 --Film, "Dangerous Liaisons," Student Center ballroom, 7 & 10 p.m. $1.50.
 --Men's soccer, TCU at Southwest Missouri State.
- Oct. 28 --Football, TCU at Baylor.
 --Women's soccer, TCU vs. Lindenwood, TCU soccer field, 3 p.m.
 --Film, "U2 Rattle and Hum," Student Center ballroom, 7 & 10 p.m. $1.50.
- Oct. 29 --TCU Chapel Choir concert, Robert Carr Chapel, 7:30 p.m.
 --Men's soccer, TCU vs. Illinois State, TCU soccer field, 1 p.m.
- Oct. 30 --TCU Music Series recital by Ayres and Fancies and Brazos Baroque of music by Henry Purcell, Robert Carr Chapel, 8 p.m.

liburn
 t for Fest.

. In piano
 e Thai ia and anghai

Justin at St.

Alene,
 l Nash
 iversity
 West."
 Canada
 more.

at the His
 y and
 "Bias
 12th y of ent," 25th r two gious

 alley,

y to South
 sive
 K.E. ribal k of isit elor

e in 1989 he's

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE: '87 Dodge Omni, 4-door sedan, excellent condition in and out, $3,700 or best offer. Call 292-1870 or 924-9073.

FOR SALE: Winter white skirt and blazer, lined, great condition, size 12; bought at Stripling & Cox; paid $95, asking $30. Call Linda, Ext. 7355 or 926-4034.

FOR SALE: TCU classic, two-bedroom home, hardwood floors, woodburning fireplace, deck with privacy, fence, 2600 Lubbock; $69,000. Call 921-3575.

FOR SALE: 1929 6'4" Knabe grand piano, good condition; $4,000. Call 921-3575.

FOR SALE: '80 Honda Civic, runs good, new tires and stereo. Call Jamie Alter, 924-8557.

HOLIDAY SALE: Crafts, gifts and junque, Oct. 27-28, 8 a.m. - 6 p.m., 3201 Stadium Dr.

FOR SALE: Information Services has a limited amount of 9 1/2" X 11" two- and three- part blank carbonless and 4- part blank carbon paper for sale at $5 per box. Interested persons should contact Wanda Sherman, Ext. 6850, or bring a stamped departmental requisition to the distribution desk in SWR 152.

SITTERS NEEDED: A southwest area church seeks to hire responsible individuals to tend infants and toddlers on Sundays and some evenings. Call Stacy Bogle at 926-5281.

*** **

OFFICIAL ABSENCES

Oct. 18, 1989

Students listed below must make up any class assignments that were missed. It is the responsibility of the student to arrange with his/her professor for the make-up. If you have any questions, call 921-7855.

Students who missed classes on Thursday, Oct. 12 for a field trip to Law Fair held at SMU in Dallas:

Group attending 11:15 session

Grazulis, Ian	Thompson, Lou	Rodriguez, Russell A.
Hester, Mimi	Hawkins, Brandon	Juban, Allison

Group attending 12:45 session

Muccilli, Robin	Cavazos, Jaime	Lurvey, Shauna
Clark, Alan Phillip	Nieswiadomy, Mark	Body, Alison
Karpinski, Katie	Blouin, Todd

Students who went to the Fort Worth City Council from 9 to 11 a.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 17, to receive the proclamation for the Homecoming TCU/Fort Worth Weekend:

Kolflat, Kari	Kelly, Chris	Barham, Stacy
Chambers, Kristin	Andrus, John	Dresher, Stacey
McGlinchey, Parnell	Eggleston, Lyle

Students attending the National Collegiate Honors Council Conference in New Orleans, LA, Oct. 26-27, 1989:

Boone, Scott	Lawrence, David	Vanderbilt, Brad
Casper, Karen

Students who missed your classes on Oct. 10, 1989 from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. to participate in the Horned Frog Marching Band performance for U.I.L. in Lewisville, Texas:

Burton, Alan	Flynn, Keith	Morgan, John
Drinane, Jennifer	Harris, Steve

Men's tennis team members who participated in the Southwest Region Rolex Tournament on campus on Monday, Oct. 16, and participated in the Volvo All American Invitational at Athens, Georgia, on Oct. 18, 19, and 20:

Ruette, Luis	Stolle, Sandon
--------------	----------------

Men's Soccer Team members who missed classes on Oct. 19 to participate in a soccer tournament at Centenary, Shreveport, LA.:

All, Huvishka	Duppstadt, Eddie	Mungioli, Armando
Amos, Blake	Frauenheim, Darrell	Netherland, David
Blocker, Truman	Groth, Todd	Poer, Evan (Trainer)
Burnam, Trip	Hall, Ryker	Villella, Jerry
Chaney, Bill	Helling, Troy	Wallace, Stephen
Danford, Chase	Malachino, Joe	Whitten, Jack
Davidson, Vance	Mestanzo, Pedro	Martin, Jeff