BULLETIN Issued by the Division of University Relations

Vol. 66, No. 39, Aug. 7, 1990

APPROXIMATELY 250 WILL RECEIVE DEGREES

Degrees will be conferred upon approximately 250 persons as members of the summer Class of '90 during commencement Friday. With Chancellor Bill Tucker presiding, the event will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum.

For the fifth year, three persons will be presented Burlington Northern Faculty Achievement Awards by Vice Chancellor Bill Koehler during the ceremony. Names of nominees and details of the honor are included elsewhere in this bulletin.

Special music will be presented by Willie Martinez, graduate student in organ. The call to worship and litany of thanksgiving will be led by Minister to the University John Butler. Leading the hymns will be Professor Ken Raessler.

Chancellor Tucker's remarks will be followed by the awarding of degrees. Taking part will be Vice Chancellor Koehler and Deans Mike McCracken, Kirk Downey, Doug Simpson, Bob Garwell, Pat Scearse and Joe Helmick along with Registrar Pat Miller. Ted Klein, Faculty Senate chairman for 1990-91, will assist with doctoral investments.

Chief marshal is Anantha Babbili; associate marshal is Jim Henley; and assistant marshals are Ron Flowers and Morry Wong. Assisting will be Nowell Donovan, Arturo Flores, Alice Gaul, Dave Harbeck, Bill Jurma, Roger Pfaffenberger and Jennifer Watson. Flag bearers will be Ed McNertney and David Vanderwerken.

The academic procession will form at 6:45 p.m. with students and faculty members assembling under the east stand of Amon Carter Stadium.

LINK WILL TEACH EVENING RANCH COURSE

Jim Link, associate director of Ranch Management, will teach the program's fall semester evening class on "Animal Health and Reproduction."

The class, meeting from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays beginning Aug. 28, will study anatomy and physiology of cattle, development of immunity, specific diseases, control of internal and external parasites, toxicology, breeding and calving management, problems of reproduction and a coordinated animal health program.

Evening courses are designed for those who are unable to attend TCU's full-time Ranch Management Program. One course is offered each semester until the full cycle is completed, and persons finishing all seven courses are awarded a certificate of completion. Prospective students should call Ext. 7145 for registration and course information.

180 ATTEND GOVERNMENT WORKSHOP

Representing 30 states, some 180 delegates were on campus July 28-31 participating in the student government workshop hosted by the National Association for Campus Activities. Events were coordinated by Larry Markley, Student Center director.

Educational sessions were given by professional student activities personnel on developing leadership skills and identifying resources and networks available to them as student leaders. Sessions on motivation, diversity, values and ethics, implementing change and leadership styles were conducted for the delegates. More than 1,400 students have taken advantage of learning more about student government issues during the seven-year history of the NACA workshop.

EIGHT ARE NOMINEES FOR FACULTY AWARDS

Eight persons are nominees for the Burlington Northern Faculty Achievement Awards for 1990. The three recipients of the $2,500-each awards from the Seattle-based foundation will be announced during commencement Friday night.

Nominated by their colleges and recommended to the academic vice chancellor by their deans, the nominees are John Breyer of geology, Mike Dodson of political science, David Gouwens of Brite Divinity School, Jack Jones of management, Joel Mitchell of physical education, Ruth Whitlock of music, Tommy Thomason of journalism and Alice Gaul of nursing.

Teaching, research or creative activity, service to the University and professional organizations, academic advising and continuing professional development are important factors in the final selection. The Burlington Northern Foundation's grant provides for three awards annually in recognition of faculty members whose teaching in the immediately preceding academic year has been significant as well as meritorious.

The major philanthropic channel for Burlington Northern Inc., the foundation administers its contributions program in recognition of the company's responsibility to improve the general welfare and quality of life in the community it serves. Incorporated in 1970, the foundation was a major contributor to the funding of TCU's educational leadership academy in 1986 and 1987. The University has been among beneficiaries of the foundation's grants to the Texas Independent College Fund.

TCU INVOLVED IN PROJECT REDIRECTORY

TCU is taking part in Project ReDirectory, the first telephone book recycling project in Texas. Sponsored by Southwestern Bell and Fort Worth Clean City Inc., the project has a goal of recycling 1,000 tons of white- and yellow-page directories, a total of 571,428 books.

Delivery of new Fort Worth directories on campus will begin Aug. 27. The new phone books will be delivered to central, first-floor locations in office and classroom buildings. Collection containers for old directories will be located adjacent to the delivery areas, said Jill Estes of Business Services and Joe Laster of Facility Services. Old directories should be brought for recycling at the time new ones are collected.

University personnel also may bring old directories from home to the recycling areas. Anyone with questions may call Ext. 7798 or 7957 for information.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON TO BE AUG. 23

Aug. 23 is the date for the annual luncheon for faculty and University staff members. Signaling the official opening of the University's 118th academic year, the complimentary event will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the Student Center ballroom. Chancellor Bill Tucker will preside.

FIVE ACCEPT ADMINISTRATIVE POSITIONS

Five faculty members have accepted new administrative responsibilities. They are Dan French, Bill Jurma, Ellen Garrison, Bill Pohl and Glenn Routt.

A member of the business faculty since 1984, Dan will begin his three-year term as chairman of the finance/decision sciences department with the fall semester's opening. The associate professor holds the Ph.D. degree from Louisiana Tech.

Jurma, who will continue as speech communication chairman during the coming year, assumed his responsibilities June 1 as associate dean and director of graduate studies in the College of Fine Arts and Communication. The Oberlin and Indiana alumnus came to TCU in 1979.

A two-time TCU graduate, Ellen will serve as interim chairwoman of ballet and modern dance for 1990-91. The associate professor has been a member of the faculty since 1973.

Pohl, who has been modern languages chairman, will assume the title of interim chairman while incoming chairwoman Sharon Fairchild is in Paris taking part in the Fulbright Teacher Exchange. On TCU's faculty since 1967, he is a graduate of the College of Idaho and the University of Michigan.

Glenn, who retired last year after 41 years on the Brite faculty, rejoined his colleagues there July 1 as part-time interim director of the Doctor of Ministry Program. He will continue in that role through next June.

ARMY ROTC CADET WINS NATIONAL AWARD

Army ROTC cadet Brian Buege has won the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association Educational Foundation Scholarship. He competed with Army, Air Force, Marine and Navy cadets from across the nation for the $1,000 award.

"Brian's academic excellence and leadership capabilities coupled with his computer science major set him apart from the other outstanding students competing for this national-level award," said Fred Teresa, director of the military science department. Brian's plans include earning a doctorate in computer science followed by work in research and development that he hopes "will benefit our nation's defense."

BOOKLET REQUESTED FROM FAR AND NEAR

Since a reference was made last month in The Futurist magazine to "Into the '90s," the News Service booklet quoting TCU faculty and staff members, requests for copies have arrived from a variety of places. Among the latest were from Buro Hamburg, a design publication in Hamburg, Germany, and Finland's Finnish Society for Futures Studies in Espoo. Others have come from a hospital in Michigan, Southwestern Bell in St. Louis, a South Dakota family and Whittle Communications in San Francisco, which produces programs for Channel 1 that 90 to public schools across the nation.

DANSCENE EARNS MID-AMERICA GRANT

New Century Danscene, a long-term project set up to enlarge and diversify the audience for modern dance in Fort Worth and the Metroplex, will host three major dance companies in 1990-91, thanks to grants from Mid-America Arts Alliance.

Creach/Koester Dance Company, a New York-based all-male company, will perform Oct. 5-6 at Fort Worth Caravan of Dreams Theater as a part of TCU/Fort Worth Week.

One of this country's leading African-American dance groups, the Cleo Park Robinson Dance Ensemble, will perform Feb. 2 in Ed Landreth Auditorium after presenting mini-performances in four Fort Worth middle schools Jan. 31 and Feb. 1. The company is based in Denver.

Utah Repertory Dance Theatre will be in residence in Fort Worth for a week next April, presenting a historical lecture/ demonstration and two performances at the Caravan of Dreams as well as master classes throughout the community.

New Century Danscene, under the direction of dance faculty member Susan Douglas Roberts, is funded by a grant from the Bass Foundation through the Arts Council of Fort Worth and Tarrant County to TCU with support from Contemporary Dance/Fort Worth. The project is based on the belief that, if audiences are to grow, they must be taught over a period of time. The New Century project not only brings quality modern dance performances to Fort Worth audiences but also provides guest artist master classes for area dancers and takes modern dance performances into schools.

NOTES ON FOLKS

Connecting performance to curriculum was the subject for workshops presented by RUTH WHITLOCK (music) for secondary choral directors in Nashville at the Tennessee Arts Academy June 25-29 and in San Antonio at St. Mary's University July 16-18. A special treat for Ruth was a visit in Tennessee with RAPHAEL BUNDAGE (B.M.E. '76), who completed his D.M.A. at Eastman School of Music and is director of choral activities at Middle Tennessee State University. He also serves as associate conductor of the Nashville Opera.

Radio-TV-film's PUNCH SHAW and journalism's JACK RASKOPF were among those honored in the eighth annual Bronze Quill competition of the International Association of Business Communicators. Punch received honorable mention in the audiovisual category for a public service announcement for the Fort Worth Boys Club, which aired on several stations in April. He also was recently appointed to head the student affairs committee for the Dallas chapter of the International Television Association.

In the video presentation division, Jack shared an honorable mention with Gale Metcalk of Corporate Slides for their "Dammed If You Don't" training videotape.

A review by FRED ERISMAN (English) of Stephen Trimble's The Village of Blue Stone, an account of Anasazi culture for young readers, has been published in the July/August issue of The Bloomsbury Review.

SALLY FORTENBERRY (design and fashion) took part in the American Home Economics Association annual meeting June 24-28 in San Antonio. With Virginia Felstehausen of Texas Tech, Nancy Bowman-Upton of Baylor and entrepreneur Lisa Albertson, she gave a panel presentation entitled "The Entrepreneurial Challenge: How Home Economics Can Meet It." The program topic is directly related to the research work of Sally, Felstehausen and Bowman-Upton.

Sally also took part in the national conclave of Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics honor society, June 22-24 in Houston, where she presented a seminar on "The U.S. Textile Industry: 1990 Update." She is the 1990-91 vice president of the society's Beta Zeta alumni chapter. Also attending from TCU were NELL ROBINSON, collegiate chapter advisor; MYRTLE BAILEY, alumni chapter president and TCU emeritus professor; and the collegiate chapter president and vice president, Michelle Simpson and JoAnn Morris, respectively. TCU's Beta Zeta collegiate and alumni chapters sponsored a luncheon June 22 for more than 200 collegiate and alumni members attending the conclave.

Sally was one of 25 participants selected to attend the American Textile Manufacturers Association and Association of College Professors of Textiles and Clothing 1990 Textile Technology Update Tour June 19-22. The four-day conference included tours of Russell Corporation in Alexander City, AL, Avondale Mills in Sylacauga, AL, and Southern Mills in Union City, GA. Presentations about the domestic and global textile and apparel industry were made by executives from those mills, from the Alabama Textile Manufacturers Association and administrators from Auburn University's textile engineering department and School of Human Resources.

MORE NOTES ON FOLKS

JANE MACKAY (management) and CHUCK LAMB (marketing) have been notified that their manuscript entitled "Training Needs of Novices and Experts with Referent Experience and Task Domain Knowledge" has been accepted for publication in the journal Information & Management.

VICKI SCEARSE, member of the School of Business staff for four years, has been appointed director of admissions for Tarleton State university in Stephenville. The alumna of Michigan State and TCU had served as the Neeley School's associate director of graduate admissions and financial aid since 1987.

Director LARRY KITCHENS of the Center for Instructional Services has been named president-elect of the Association for Educational Communications and Technology. A member of AECT for more than 15 years, he has served on its board and several committees and is national convention chairman for the 1991 gathering in Florida. He also has headed AECT's educational media management division.

RHONDA HATCHER (mathematics) has received word that her article entitled "Special Values of L-Series" has been accepted for publication in the Proceedings of the American Mathematical Society.
